It is almost impossible to tell what enormous number of sheep and cattle Patagonia could produce for the providing of the world, if capital and enterprise would but pave the way.

It enjoys a fine climate, which, in spite of hard winters, is exceptionally healthy. Patagonia cries aloud for railway enterprise to become its salvation; nevertheless, even now it is a good country for a man ready and able to work. A capable man would make £6 a month and his keep but he must know the work required of him.

One of the most dangerous and repulsive forms of Kidney Disease is for which Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only certain cure. In Dropsy the Kidneys are actually dammed up, and the water, which should be expelled in the form of urine, flows back and lodges in the cells of the flesh and puffs out the skin. Remove the filth which plugs up the drain. Restore the Kidneys to health. There is only one Kidney Medicine

DROPSY

That Gold Spoon.

There are some men who seem to be favorites of fortune. They are industrious, cheerful workers, full to overflowing of the energy of splendid health, and success seems fairly to drop into their hands. It is of such as these that the less hardy and less successful man says enviously, "That fellow was born with a gold spoon in his mouth." And yet on analysis it will be found that this success is largely due to splendid health, the endowment of a healthy mother.

Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the mother health to give her child. It cures nervousness, nausea and sleeplessness. It makes the body comfortable and the mind content. It gives physical vigor and muscular elasticity so that the baby's advent is practically painless.

"I will endeavor to tell you of the many benefits I have derived from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. B E. Robertson, of Medicine Lodge, Barber Co., Kans. "In the fall of 1894 I was expecting to become a mother and suffered terribly with pains in the back of head; in fact I ached all over. Suffered with awful bearing-down pains; I was threatened for weeks with miskap. A lady friend told me to use Dr. Pierce's medicines. She had taken them and felt like a new woman. I began using the 'Favorite Prescription' and took four bottles before my baby came and two afterwards. I suffered almost death with my other two children, but hardly realised that I was sick when this baby was born and she weighed twelve and one-quarter pounds. She is now eleven months old and has never known an hour's sickness; at present she weighs thirty-seven pounds. I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, and sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

DUTIES OF A SOLDIER.

Dundonald Believes in More Thorough Theoretical Training.

At a recent dinner Lord Dundonald said he was of the opinion that the theoretical training of the soldier was not carried to the highest point. For example, in barrack rooms, drill sheds and other places in which soldiers meet there should be instructional placards dealing with every duty of the soldier in large type, and illustrated by diagrams. These might be changed week by week, so that the men might gather instruction while they smoked their pipes. Then, again, photography might be called in to help in instruction. There was no reason why every movement and every portion of the soldiers training from that of the recruit up to the advanced training of the soldiers should not be shown by the process of photography, going bit by bit through the various stages, group leaders, section company and other commanders, should be clearly indicated by various marks.

Then, again, there was no reason why we should not have movable canvas war maps on the floor of a drill hall with the configuration of the country painted on them, showing roads, villages, woods, etc. The various units should be shown by means of small blocks or other means of showing members and composition of the forces employed. These could be worked on the maps by men in their socks or in list slippers. He would suggest the use of a scale of one yard to a mile. For the purpose of the game commanders of divisions and brigades, colonel, captains, and even down to smaller commands, would be appointed. In this way an immense deal could be learned.

In fact what he suggested was only a large war-game placed on a gigantic scale, and, therefore, far more realistic and far more useful as a means of instruction. He felt certain that large numbers of men from city corps would like to get training in the camps of instruction if they could select their own time and train for as short a time as they liked. He suggested that depot battalions could be formed in the training camps for rural infantry and that officers and men of city corps should be encouraged to go there, and there be encouraged to go there, and there was no reason why a couple of friends could not use a small shelter tent by themselves if they preferred it to being with a lot of other men they did not know.

Too Cautious.

"I have the greatest confidence in Doctor Slocum as a physician," said one of the doctor's patients. "He never gives an opinion till he has waited and weighted a case and looked at it from every side."

"Um-m!" said the skeptical friend. "That's all right if you don't carry it too far. There have been times, you know, when he's been so cautious that his diagnosis has come near getting mixed up with the post-mortem."

Stuffed With Food, Starved For Air.

You can live forty days without food, but you cannot live four minutes without air. These things being true, is it wise to stuff ourselves with food and starve ourselves for want of air?—Philistine.

People Who Enjoy Being Miserable.

How can anybody enjoy being miserable?

Men do, and so do women. They surround themselves with an atmosphere of gloom. They hug trouble to their breasts. They make mountains out of molehills, and there are tears and groans when there should be smiles.

Perhaps you have a cynic in your employ. You can pick him out with your eyes shut. He has the blues from Monday morning till Saturday night. He will tell you that he always gets the worst of it from everybody; that his talent isn't recognized; that his genius is wasted; that he isn't getting enough money; that there is no future for him, and a lot of tommyrot like that.

After that comes the brooding stage. Any man who broods over real or fancied wrongs is dangerous. He is not sane, and he is also a mighty poor workman, whether he is making hoe handles or counting money in a bank. He deliberately destroys his own efficiency and chance for success, and all for the perilous and questionable happiness of being miserable.

A GUARANTEED CURE For all Forms of Kidney Disease.

We the undersigned Druggists are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, the only remedy in the world that positively cures all troubles arising from weak or diseased kidneys:—

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after use of one bottle. Three to six bottles effect astonishing and permanent cures. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money."

Ormond & Walsh, Druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

Great Men and Large Families.

A careful study of the circumstances of birth and childhood of what were considered to be the fifty greatest men of modern times disclosed the fact, interesting in comparison, that the average great man was born in a family of six children, not including half brothers or half sisters. It was figured from the data that the chances for greatness in a child are two to one in favor of the older half of the family.

Improving on Euclid.

The Pioneer of Ahalubad tells stories of some "kindergarten" classes in the English army. Among the definitions given in an examination is one of a circle peculiarly happy, which gives a freshness to Euclid. It is, "A straight line which starts at a certain point and gets back to the same point as quickly as possible."

Unfair.

"Don't you sometimes feel that wealth is unfairly distributed?" asked the social reformer.

"I do," answered Senator Sorghum. "Many is the dollar I have given away in a campaign that didn't do me a cent's worth of good."

Rain In Manila.

"When it rains in Manila," says a man who has been there, "you think the first time you see the spectacle that the end of the world has come. Why, one day in September that I was there it rained thirteen inches. Think of that, will you—more than a foot of water! You would think that would weary the elements for some time, but it didn't. The next day it rained half a foot, the day after that seven inches. That month we had fifty-seven inches of rain."

"Where does all the water go to?"

"Right back where it came from," was the prompt reply. "After a downpour the sun will come out hotter than ever, and you can fairly see everything steam. And yet there are a great many people that wouldn't live anywhere else except in Manila."

The Milk Was Too Blue.

A certain wise youngster of my acquaintance was presented on his seventh birthday with a beautiful blue glass goblet, whereupon said goblet straightway became the indispensable meal companion of said youngster. One evening when George had received his usual allowance of milk in the blue goblet his mother became aware that he was gazing in deeply contemplative fashion at the contents of the glass. What he saw can best be imagined, for he raised his eyes suddenly and said wonderingly:

"Why, mother, this cow couldn't have been ripe!"

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Pousett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Dec. 13th.—Situation is clearing—the banks gained almost $3,000,000 on the direct interior movement. It depends upon to what extent loans are contracted, whether the bank statement will be favourable or unfavourable to-day. Under any circumstances, we do not look for a material decrease in surplus reserve. The entire liquidation of this week will not be reflected as it appeared too late, but the banks will really be in better shape than the statement indicates. Concensus of opinion at the worst is over, and the situation is eminently safe. The clearing of the Venezuealan sky is welcomed. Do not buy stocks on rallies. These are purchases on their merits—Atch., U. P., M.O.P., R.I. and P.C

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

New York, Dec. 13th, 1.20 p.m.—Stock market situation and outlook is not sufficiently clear to warrant the expectation of immediate prospect of a change in the tendency of prices for the better. While liquidation of the pool holdings has been extensive the last three days, and the technical speculative position of the market for the general list has improved, the money situation is so implicated that there is still some possibility of even tighter and dearer conditions developing in that quarter of the market before the close of the year. Chances at best are that we can have nothing better than a steady market until yearly settlements have been met, and January 1st interest and dividends payments been disposed of. In the mean time we will do well to pass the next fortnight without witnessing some further calling of loans, calculated to foresee a renewal of pool liquidation and precipitate some further slump in prices. The fact that the largest market interests and institutions are the largest holders of stocks and the amount of securities carried in recent years, and that the basic conditions of the general trade show every prospect of a continuance of the country's prosperity, stimulates the hope that there cannot be much further decline in prices, and encourages belief of a substantial recovery with the turn of the year. The bank statement to-day is decidedly less unfavourable than expected, but after that appeared, there was re-selling of stocks by the trading element for a decline and some further pool liquidation, presumably based on fears of unfavourable developments in Venezuelan situation over Sunday from to-day's reported bombarding of ports by allied fleets and the possibility of further unsettlement of the money market next week.

FARMERS TAKING CONTRACTS.

Those Engaged in Canvassing are Well Pleased With Results.

Yesterday afternoon the Examiner received a call from Mr. T. M. Hunter, who is a member of the provisional board of directors of the Peterborough Beet Sugar Company, and who made the following statement, supplemented by the necessary statistics:

The farmers in the vicinity of both Berlin and Peterborough are evidently taking hold of the beet sugar idea quite freely. At Berlin the farmers have now contracted for some five thousand acres, and it is expected that over seven thousand acres will be taken before January first.

At home here Messrs. Bradburn and Hunter have been canvassing in North Monaghan for the past day or two, and they report most encouraging progress, nearly every farmer canvassed taking from one to four acres.

Dying by Slow Degrees.

Although not always aware of it yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Every breath from the Inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration, and relieves the pain across the eyes. THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

W. F. M. S. of St. Paul's, Re-organized Yesterday.

The Annual Report—Officers Elected—A Successful Year Just Finished.

For some years the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Paul's church has been growing steadily both in point of numbers and in the interest taken in the work. Yesterday this was shown by the attendance at the annual meeting of that Society. Representatives from several of the churches were present showing the unity of feeling existing between the different societies. The President, Miss Dickson, occupied the chair and after the meeting had been opened with the usual devotional exercises, the secretary's report was read as follows:

Of the true influence and work of the Auxiliary for the past year God alone can judge. A report can only deal with the outward working, which changes little from year to year. Our efforts may appear feeble and the results indefinite to us; but no service is too small to be used by God. So if we believe, and act on our belief, that mission work, as carried on by our Society, is not merely a side issue or pastime, but one phase of life's chief end, one way of living not for self, but for others, one way of being workers together with Christ for the world's uplifting to a better, happier and holier life, then it cannot fail to bear fruit to life everlasting.

The membership this year is 105, of the Auxiliary members, 56 are members of the General Society, and 16 are life members, two having been added this year. The meetings have been characterized throughout the year by interesting programmes, arranged by two different ladies for each month. In April we commenced the study of "Via Cruce's," a book recommended by the Central Board to be studied in all Auxiliaries of the W.F.M.S. It gives a glimpse at the lives and work of all the great missionaries, beginning with St. Paul, up to the present century. Its study ought to be a great stimulus to us, and lead to further investigation of the work done for Christ in the past ages. It shows us also how, line by line, step by step, the present Christian nations have been brought out of heathen darkness into the light of Christ, at the cost of numerous lives spent for Him throughout the bygone centuries. And so it brings hope and courage to all striving for the conversion of the heathen nations of to-day. Every life and gift given now will prove in the end to be a stepping stone to carry the heathen into the Light. At our last annual meeting we had the pleasure of hearing an address from Mrs. Wilkie, who with her husband, Dr. Wilkie, gave so many years of faithful service in the mission field of Central India.

On June 3rd the annual meeting of the Presbyterial Society was held in this church, when Miss White, one of our missionaries then home on furlough, from India, gave an address telling of her work among the women and children of that land. There was a number of delegates present from different parts of the Presbytery, whom the ladies of this Auxiliary entertained at tea in the schoolroom of the church.

The Auxiliary continues to send—as has for many years—"The Interior," one of the best religious papers published, to our lady missionaries in Central India. This is only a little thing to do, but—aside from the value of the reading matter—how it must cheer the hearts of these women, so far away from home, to feel that they are regularly remembered by a band of women interested in their work. And not only do the missionaries enjoy the paper, but they tell us that the Hindoo students in the Mission College also eagerly look forward to its coming.

The Missionary Review is also subscribed for, for the use of our own members, and it is the earnest desire of your committee that the members should freely circulate it among them. We would also draw attention to the missionary library in connection with the Auxiliary. Several valuable new books have been added to it this year; altogether it is a collection of books well worth reading. The number of subscribers to the Missionary Tidings is not as large as it should be. We would not only ask for more subscribers to this magazine, the organ of our Society, but we would plead with those who do take it to read it, being persuaded, that without fail, it will awaken a deeper interest in the cause it deals with.

In September, a box was sent to the Hurricane Hill Reserve. It contained a bountiful supply of warm clothing — mostly new—for the old men and women on the reserve, and for the small children, besides many fine quilts, yarn and other useful articles. The total value was $67.72. Of the great help this clothing is to the missionaries and the teachers in their work among the Indians, few of us realize. One missionary says in last month's "Tidings" —"If only the ladies who send the clothing knew how important a part it is in our work, they would feel that they are doing greater work than they at present imagine." And another missionary tells us that if it were not for the very judicious distribution of the clothing sent by the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, the Indian children could not be kept in school. Anu, of course, the education, religious and secular, of the young, is the only hope for our Indians.

The annual Thanksgiving meeting was held in October, when the thank offering was the largest ever yet received, being $233.00. Again this year the Stuart Settlement Sunday school favoured us with a subscription of $4.00. Total amount contributed $434.33. In November Mrs. Laing, one of our oldest and most faithful members, passed away. For many years she was unable to attend the meetings of the Auxiliary; but to the last she continued to show her interest in the work by the many loving stitches she put in the quilts she unfailingly sent in every box for the Indians in the North-west.

Now at the close of the year, let us resolve that while life lasts to work, pray and bring our willing offerings, that so we may help to make straight in the desert a highway for our God; that we may at last share honourably in His joy, when there appears before Him a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and peoples, clothed in white robes, and with palms in their hands, crying, "Salvation to our God, who sitteth upon the Throne, and unto the Lamb."

M. H. LECH, Secretary.

After the adoption of this report Mrs. McClelland, of Toronto, addressed the meeting, following which Mrs. Sanderson sang a solo in excellent voice.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows:

President—Miss Dickson.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. J. F. Dennistoun.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. McPherson.
Secretary—Mrs. A. E. Lech.
Treasurer—Miss Kingan.

This meeting, one of the best in some years, was closed with song and prayer.

is taken by the skin becoming colder than is natural. The instant a chilly sensation is felt the mischief is done; but it can always be rectified so that no appreciable ill results will follow, by the immediate use of Dr. Humphreys' "77" restoring the checked circulation, starting the blood coursing through the veins and "breaking up" the cold. This may be hastened by taking some form of gentle exercise or work, and continuing it until a perspiration is induced, manifested by a slight moisture on the forehead. 25 cents, all druggists.

VERY COSTLY INSULT.

Puerto Cabello Fort Demolished by British and Germans.

VENEZUELANS RETURNED FIRE.

British Vessel Seized and Pillaged by the Mob — When Demanded Satisfaction Was Not Given and Allied Fleets Went Into Action and Shelled the Forts Solano and the Castle Libertador.

Puerto Cabello, Dec. 15.—The British cruiser Charybdis and the German cruiser Vineta bombarded the fortress here at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The fire was returned, but after a bombardment of 45 minutes the Venezuelan guns were silenced. The fortress is composed of forts Solano and the Castle Libertador. After the firing ceased the Charybdis sent marines to occupy the Castle. The fortress was almost demolished. It is probable that only a few persons were injured by the shelling. The commander of Castle Libertador has been taken prisoner. The cruisers are still here.

At 7 o'clock yesterday morning the Charybdis and the Vineta arrived here, searching for Venezuelan gunboats. The two cruisers sent their boats into the inner port, but finding no gunboats the boats returned. The captain of the British merchant steamer Topaze, which was seized by the mob here last Wednesday then visited the American commodore on board the Charybdis and lodged a protest against the violation of his ship. The British captain returned an hour later with a detachment of fifty marines, who took charge of the Topaze. The populace were greatly excited at this incident and raised the cry "To arms!" but there was no disorder.

Insult to Flag.

The British commodore then sent a message to the authorities at Puerto Cabello, demanding immediate satisfaction for the action of the mob in having hauled down the British flag from the Topaze, saying that if this satisfaction was not forthcoming in two hours, at 5 o'clock, the fortress and the custom house would be bombarded. On the receipt of this demand the authorities sent a messenger to President Castro asking for instructions.

A committee of merchants of Puerto Cabello then approached the American consul here, petitioning him to intervene. The consul accepted this mission and visited the cruisers, but he could obtain no alteration in the decision of the allies.

At 4.45 a reply was received from President Castro, who authorized the chief official here to give the British commodore ample satisfaction. Before this answer could be communicated to the American consul the hour stipulated for its receipt had arrived: the cruisers immediately opened fire on the fortress. The fire was returned from Fort Solano and Castle Libertador. While the fire continued there was intense excitement in this port. Every house in town was closed. The British marines purpose to make use of the cannon in Castle Libertador. No damage was done to the town.

Blockading La Guayra.

London, Dec. 15. — In a despatch from Willemstad, Curacoa, dated Dec. 14, the correspondent of The Daily Mail says the Anglo-German warships are blockading La Guayra. The steamer Yucatan was warned by the British cruiser Indefatigable not to enter La Guayra and returned to Curacoa.

The Venezuelan Government has declined the offer of a loan, made by a German banker of Caracas, to settle the claims against it.

Blockade Demanded.

Caracas, Dec. 15.—A note from the commanders of the allied Anglo-German fleet, which the Venezuelan Government refused to receive Saturday at La Guayra, was sent yesterday to United States Minister Bowen, at Caracas, and forwarded by him to the proper Government official here. The note is in the name of Great Britain and Germany; it requests all Venezuelan ships, after the elapse of five days, to refrain from sailing from the port of La Guayra, until the present difficulties are over.

People are asking by what right Great Britain and Germany coerce Venezuela without declaring a blockade.

"El Mocho" Hermandez, and certain other revolutionary leaders, left Maracaibo yesterday for Curacao, on their way to Caracas. Hermandez is probably the most popular of the revolutionary leaders. President Castro has kept him imprisoned at Maracaibo for several years past.

The news of the shelling of the fortress and custom house at Puerto Cabello yesterday afternoon by the British cruiser Charybdis and the German cruiser Vineta, reached Caracas last night. It caused considerable excitement.

Italy With the Others.

It is now stated Italy has handed to the Venezuelan Government similar demands to those made by Germany and Great Britain for the payment of her claims.

The situation here continues to be critical, and there is much excitement among the German residents of Caracas, many of whom have called at the American legation to seek refuge there.

The people of Caracas are astonished that the Government at Washington remains silent in spite of the recent act of the allied fleet.

The enlistment of Venezuelan soldiers continues, 2,000 men from the interior reached Caracas yesterday.

The British legation here was opened last night under the American flag, by W. W. Russell, Secretary of the American legation.

Leading German and British residents of Caracas are very bitter against their respective ministers whom they accuse of leaving Caracas without giving any intimation of their intention to abandon the city.

UNITED STATES INFORMED.

Official Notice of the Bombardment Sent to the State Department.

Washington, Dec. 15. — Minister Bowen, in a despatch received by the State Department, yesterday afternoon, cabled that he had been informed by President Castro that British and German warships were bombarding Puerto Cabello.

The United States consul went on board the two cruisers and was informed by their commanders that they had come to this port in search of the Venezuelan warships.

In the matter of blockade the Secretary has instructed the American Ambassadors at Berlin and London to represent to those Governments that the United States must not be understood as giving its consent to any extension of the international right of peaceful blockade. Secretary Moody said last night that it had not been decided to send any vessels of war to Venezuelan waters.

Powers Conceal Real Motive.

New York, Dec. 15.—The Herald has the following from Caracas: President Castro yesterday morning received The Herald correspondent in the Palace of Miraflores, the executive residence of the President of Venezuela.

General Castro was very calm. His quiet, dignified manner betrayed no evidence of unusual concern or emotion. He spoke dispassionately, but in a tone of firm resolution, when he said:

"I pledge myself to organize the necessary measures of resistance only if it should become necessary to fight."

In reply to questions concerning his views of the sincerity of the British and German Governments in the statement of their purposes made through their Ministers, President Castro said among other things:

"The Venezuelan people and the Venezuelan Government believe that they discern another and a quite different purpose on the part of England and Germany than that avowed—an object which may remain concealed for the present, but which you will shortly see revealed."

COAL MINERS' WAGES.

Scranton Coal Company Presents a Statement to Commission.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 15.—Wage statements of the Scranton Coal Company were presented Saturday to the Anthracite Strike Commission. They were tendered by John B. Kerr, vice-president and general counsel for the New York, Ontario and Western Railway, which controls the Scranton Company. The statements show that during the year ending April 30, 1902, the company operated nine collieries. Two worked only 11 months on account of the fire and flooding, and one but 11½ months on account of the strike. The average earnings of miners per year were $538.90, and of mine laborers, $313.78. Average per breaker, day of 10 hours, for miners $3.13, and for mine laborers $1.82. The wages of other employes range from $1,200 per year for engineers down to $150 for breaker boys.

TO DISQUALIFY MR. BRUNET, M.P.

Argument in the St. James' Election Case Heard in Montreal.

Montreal, Dec. 15.—The argument in the St. James' contested election case was heard Saturday by Acting Chief Justice Sir M. M. Tait and Justice Loranger. They have already expressed the opinion that there is enough evidence to annul the election, and the point now is whether it is sufficient to disqualify Mr. Joseph Brunet, M.P. Mr. F. J. Bisaillon, acting for Mr. J. G. Bergeron, the Conservative candidate, recalled Mr. Joseph Brunet's admission that he had given Mr. J. Azaire Brault, an elector of the division, sums aggregating $4,000 for the Federal and municipal elections which followed each other in quick succession. It had been difficult to determine how much had been spent in the Federal election. Money had been given Brault in a leather bag. He had paid the money out on "bons," or orders given by other agents of the respondent. All these "bons" had been destroyed by the respondent himself, as he admitted in his evidence, and now the bag was empty. The respondent, Brunet, had reported his expenses to the returning officer as $6.50, whereas his legal agent had reported that he had neither received nor paid a cent before, during or after the election. The agent said in his evidence that he knew of no expenditure whatever. He had seen committees, but it appeared these resulted from the popular effervescence in favor of defendant. The failure to make a correct report of the expenditure was in itself a penal offence under the election act, and sufficiant to entail disqualification. Mr. Joseph Brunet had had an opportunity to show that the acts of corruption had been committed against his will, and contrary to his orders. He had failed to take advantage of that opportunity, and the legal presumption must apply. By his failure to disclaim responsibility, he must have held to have authorized the acts, which were paid for out of funds furnished by him. He must be assumed to have authorized payment of telegraphers by Brault, Prefontaine and others. Mr. Bastien, K. C., continued the argument, and Messrs. Solomon and Philipe Roy replied, after which the court asked that the record be sent up as soon as possible, that there might be no delay

A BLAZING SCHOONER

Ran 18 Miles in a Gale and Beached on Inhospitable Shore.

THE CREW OF SEVEN WAS SAVED

Besides the Molly, the Schooner Carmena and the Schooner Northern Light Were Out in the Awful Waste of Waters and Both Were Wrecked —Accidents to Vessels Elsewhere.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 15. — The schooner Molly, carrying a crew of seven men, was struck by a gale Saturday morning. The vessel was heeled over until the stove in her cabin upset. This resulted in setting fire to the woodwork, and the schooner was soon a mass of flames. The crew ran the Molly for outer Gooseberry Island, an uninhabited island, 18 miles off Bonivista Bay. Here the schooner was beached and the crew landed on the rocks. Residents of the mainland caught sight of the burning schooner, and the mail boat Dundee was despatched to the rescue. The members of the Molly's crew were badly frost bitten.

Two Other Schooners Wrecked.

The schooner Carmena, from Prince Edward Island, with a cargo of meat and poultry, has been wrecked at Lamaline. The crew was saved.

The schooner Northern Light, from St. John's for Fogo, Newfoundland, laden with provisions, went ashore and became a wreck near Brunt Head. The crew was rescued by the fisherfolk with boats. It is feared that other wrecks have occurred on the more remote northern coast.

The effects of the gale are almost without precedent.

LOST HER TOW.

Str. Resolute Driven Across Lake Ontario by Foul Weather.

Port Dalhousie, Dec. 15. — The steamer Resolute arrived here yesterday, having experienced a terrible time on Lake Ontario. In a blinding snowstorm Saturday she had the schooner A. L. Andrews in tow, when about 25 miles from Kingston her tow broke loose from her. The Resolute came all the way up the lake and made this port at 9 o'clock yesterday. The Resolute and Andrews left Charlotte Thursday night with a load of coal for Deseronto. She is covered with ice, and the seas were so heavy that it broke the windows in the pilot house, smashed her lifeboat on deck into kindling wood. Her bulwarks are smashed in, and she will lay here until they think it safe to proceed further. The ice being so thick at Deseronto she expects to take her cargo to Kingston and ship her cargo by rail from there.

QUEEN AS SANTA CLAUS.

Her Majesty Will Be Hostess to War Widows and Orphans.

London, Dec. 15.—The Associated Press learns that Queen Alexandra intends to mark her sympathy for the sufferers in the recent South African war by giving a Christmas dinner to all the widows and children now in London, of those who fell in the war. The dinner will be given on Dec. 27 at the Alexandra Trust Restaurant, of which the Queen is president, and which was founded in March, 1900, by Sir Thomas Lipton, for the benefit of the poor.

In the proclamation announcing her intention, Queen Alexandra invites all the widows and children of the soldiers and sailors belonging to the imperial and colonial forces who lost their lives in South Africa or died from the effects of the campaign. She adds:

"Her Majesty desires in the coronation year to express her heartfelt sympathy with those who have suffered the cruel bereavement of war, and to wish that happiness and comfort may, with God's blessing, be theirs in the coming year."

Her Majesty will defray all the traveling expenses of her guests.

Tragic End at the Falls.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Dec. 15. — Hanging on a piece of jutting rock on the face of the cliff below the falls, a policeman yesterday found the body of Andrew George Lister, an electrician who disappeared some time ago. The body was frozen stiff, and it was found that the skull had been crushed. It is supposed that Lister lost his balance while walking along the edge of the precipice and fell. Great difficulty was experienced in removing the body. It was lowered by means of ropes into a rowboat in the river and taken to the Maid of the Mist Landing. Lister's former home was in Toronto, Ont.

EDITORIAL NOTES

There is little danger of the Canadian young idea not learning how to shoot for lack of instructors. In response to an advertisement, 76 applications were made in the primary department of the Cayuga Public School. Four choices were made by the board, and the lucky one will be chosen therefrom.

When we say a man is worth millions, don't we sacrifice ease of expression to exact statement of fact? Shouldn't we say that a man has fmillions? He may be worth less than a cent—a positive detriment to the community—a legalised robber — an oppressor of the poor, a monopolist, a twentieth century Shylock. That is if we judge by the methods by which some American millionaires have got their hands on millions.

The world moves. The sentiment against the Government granting railway subsidies, seems to be growing. A few years ago the Canadian Pacific was not only in favour of large railway subsidies, but actually asked, and received, them; and now the leading men of the railway are expressing their opposition to giving railway subsidies to the Grand Trunk. This conversion is a sign of the times, and is especially striking at the Christmas season, when everybody is infected with the spirit of giving away a good deal more than they can afford.

London the Less is almost sure to place itself on record in the matter of electoral crookedness, the last instance being a charge of "plugging" in the referendum vote. The "plugging" in this case is said to have been done by imported Americans—a survival probably of the political "Yankee" thugs, the Conservative organization imported to "purify" Canadian electoral methods. So brilliant has London's reputation become that the Watford Guide-Advocate suggests that "It would be a hard matter to even elect Epworth League officers in London without crooked work of some kind."

CEMENT MANUFACTURE.

(The Monetary Times.)

Among the industries which have made marked progress in Canada of recent years, is the making of Portland cement. Possessing the materials for the manufacture of this important article, there was excellent reason why we should make it for ourselves rather than rely upon Germany or England for it. Of course the Maritime Provinces and Quebec could obtain it from Europe cheaply and with facility, because they were on the Atlantic, but Ontario had to pay more for the imported article by reason of her distance from the seaboard. This, and the activity in building, will help to account for a remarkable "boom" in cement making projects in Ontario during the present year.

There were five cement factories in operation in 1901, producing, say, 445,000 barrels. In 1892, the number of producing works had increased to nine, with a total output of 815,000, some of them only running three to six months. The imports of cement into Canada for 1901 were, according to the Customs' returns, 550,000 barrels, and in 1902 they are estimated at 486,000 barrels, thus making the supply for 1901, say, 995,000 barrels, and for the present year 1,301,000. Now the average Canadian consumption of Portland cement has been from 1,000,000 to 1,200,000 barrels per year.

But the production of the nine Canadian factories, which was 815,000 barrels this year, will have increased in 1903, we are told, to at least 1,515,000 barrels. . . . . .

It is time to ask ourselves can the country absorb such enormous quantities? Are we not over-producing already? Is there any likelihood that even should the activity in business which exists, be continued for the next year or two, the consumption of cement will be increased in proportion to this enormous increase in production? Canadians would do well to be warned by the experience of other nations in a like direction. There has been of late very great activity in cement production in Germany. During the last two or three years so many new factories have sprung up in that country that competition has been disastrous to the industry. In the year 1898 the leading factories were paying from 8 to 33 per cent. dividends. But by July of 1902, according to a report by the United States Consul at Brunswick "many return nothing on the capital invested in them; others are issuing preferred stock to create new working capital, a number have stopped work, and on ehas gone into bankruptcy. Th estruggle has culminated in a conflict of extermination between the larger factories and the smaller. Prices of cement have fallen so that they are now at least 20 per cent. below the cost of production of the most capably managed works." The Germans are clever and enterprising people but they sometimes overdo a thing, as well as other nations. And in the light of their experience we may well be moderate.

BENSFORT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. Walter Dawson, who has been attending Albert College, Belleville, is home for his Christmas holidays.

Mr .Herbert Perrin bad the misfortune to get severely injured some time since by getting wound up in the tumbling sh of the horse power, but I ble to be around. He wa by Dr. Montgomery of Baillieboro.

Mr. Joseph McLaren is home from North Dakota. He speaks highly of the country and reports excellent crops.

The singing class of the young people of the church here, under the careful supervision of Rev. Mr. Drew, is a decided success, and much good is being done by bringing the young people together in that way.

Threshing is the order of the day in the vicinity of Bensfort just now. Everybody and his neighbour is busily engaged finishing up the season's work. The machine belonging to Mr. William Morrison is doing a rushing business, and everybody reports good yields in everything but peas, which, owing to the wet season were almost a total failure.

The annual meeting of the cheese factory was held on Wednesday of last week. The output was greater than in any previous season in the history of the factory. The management may be congratulated upon the successful close of a big season's work and the successful manner in which the season's business has been conducted.

Game is plentiful in Bensfort. Two prominent citizens last week went to the swamp to cut wood, and do a little hunting, combining business with pleasure. At noon when they went to get their dinner they found a squirrel carrying away their pie, and a little later a woodpecker flew away with their meat. It is needless to say that two hungry men returned in the evening, bringing nothing more than blistered hands and sore backs, from which it took them some time to recover.

SOUR STOMACH (Acid Dyspepsia)

Now Recognized as the Cause of Serious Diseases.

Acid Dyspepsia, commonly called heart burn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to properly digest it the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour ,burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic, and being an every day occurrence, is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

It is now well known among able physicians that the whole constitution is gradually undermined and weakened, that the nerves and vital organs are seriously affected by any form of dyspepsia. This is plain, as every organ, every nerve in the body, is nourished by the blood, and the blood is replenished from the food digested. If the food is properly digested, the blood is pure, the nerves steady, but if supplied from a sour, fermenting, decaying mass the blood is vitiated, poisoned, and the result is shown in sleeplessness, lack of energy, poor appetite, nervousness. Every trifle is magnified, and the dyspeptic sees nothing but the dark side of everything.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and it is now becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

It is not claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia and stomach weakness in its various forms, but for this it has been shown to be unequalled The eminent specialists, Reed and O'Leary, have recently stated that they considered Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets an unfailing specific for disorders of the digestive organs, and the remarkable cures made in cases of long standing dyspepsia proves that this remedy has extraordinary merit.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package, and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion, strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

THE TARIFF ADOPTED

The German Reichstag Reads the Bill a Third Time.

SIXTEEN HOUR SITTING OF HOUSE

The Session Lasted From 10 a.m. Saturday Until 4.15 p.m. Sunday Afternoon —A Majority of 102—The Duty on Malting Barley Increased—Other Grains Stand as They Were— Exciting Closing Debate.

Berlin, Dec. 15.—In the Reichstag Saturday Chancellor Von Buelow opened the discussion of the third reading of the Tariff Bill, saying the allied governments had agreed on the bill, as it passed its second reading, and would also accept the abolition of the municipal octrois, now that the date of its taking effect had been fixed for 1910. The Governments also had agreed that at a future date, a pension fund be established for widows and orphans from the proceeds of the tariff revenues, and accepted the Herold motion, according to which animals and meats will not have minimum duties and the duties on grains as changed from the committee's figures to those of the Government, except malting barley, the duty on which is increased from 77 cents to $1, and that other barley will be without a minimum duty.

When the Government's original figures on grain are restored, the committee's increases in other sections stand, including heavy advances on animals and meats above the Government's figures. The former, therefore, became a general tariff, which will be enforced, except when commercial treaties may be made. Some of the meat duties adopted compare as follows with the Government's:

Bacon, $9 per metric 100 weight, against $7.50.

Simply prepared meat, $15, against $8.75.

Meat delicacies, $30, against $18.75.

Oysters, $25, against $12.50.

After Herr Richter and others had spoken, Dr. Barth made a sharp attack on Chancellor Von Buelow, who replied, praising the patriotic spirit of the majority parties, and admitting that he had taken an active part in effecting a compromise on the Tariff Bill in the form of a practical basis for arranging efficient commercial treaties, which would surely be reached with the good-will of both sides.

It was on Herr Spahn's proposal that the house proceeded to the ballots on the Tariff Bill. The introduction of the proposal created great disorder, but the debate was closured and the motion adopted. The balloting lasted until 4.15 yesterday morning, when the bill was read a third time, by 202 votes to 100.

CLASH AT MARSEILLES.

First Collision Between Strikers and Police—Butchers and Bakers Have Joined the Strike.

Marseilles, Dec. 13.—The first collision between strikers and the police occurred yesterday, and as a result several persons on both sides, including a commissary of police were injured. The clash was an outcome of an attempt on the part of strikers to destroy the track in front of a car loaded with coal, which was being sent to the port. The gendarmes charged the crowd and made fifteen arrests. The remainder of the strikers were dispersed.

Cordons of troops now guard all approaches to the port and disperse all assemblages. A strong force of soldier and police occupy the streets surrounding the Bourse de Travail, the headquarters of the strikers. When a detachment of cavalry approached the Bourse with drawn sabres they were met by a storm of hooting, but no resistance was made.

The journeymen butchers and bakers have joined the strikers. In order to prevent a bread famine the authorities have requisitioned the services of all the bakers in the fifteenth army corps.

Coal Strike Commission.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 13.—The greater part of yesterday's session of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission was taken up in presenting cumulative testimony on matters that have already been heard by the commission. This testimony tended to show that there has been excessive docking, that many men were discriminated against because they went on strike rather than do the work of strikers, that they are paid one price for mine cars of all sizes, that they do not get paid for all the coal mined, that they should have the eight-hour day because the mines are unhealthy and dangerous, and that they ought to recive higher wages.

THREE PEOPLE MISSING.

Many Narrow Escapes From the Blazing Hotel Victoria in Quebec—An Old Man Burned to Death.

Quebec, Dec. 15.—The Victoria Hotel, one of the most important hotels of Quebec, was completely reduced to ashes yesterday afternoon. Many guests and employes had narrow escapes. Two servant girls, Lizzie Bourdames and Clara Jackson, and one of the stokers, named Cote, have not been found since the fire. Some travelers have lost very valuable goods. Mr. Resther, the proprietor of the hotel, estimates his loss at $90,000. He is insured for $43,000.

Burned All Alone.

Belleville, Dec. 15.—A fatal conflagration took place Friday morning on the 7th concession of Thurlow, about six miles north of this city. The building was occupied by an aged man, named John Hall. After the fire was out no trace of the old man could be found, and when a search was made, his remains were found burned entirely beyond recognition. He was 60 years of age.

Big Fire in Montreal.

Montreal, Dec. 15.—H. Jacobs & Company's Stonewall Jackson cigar factory, situated on McGill street, was wholly destroyed by a fire which started early yesterday morning and burned during the greater portion of the day. The building, which was a large five-storey big building, contained a valuable stock and cigars and tobacco, and it was completely gutted, only the walls being left standing. It is estimated that nearly a million cigars were burned. The loss is placed by the firm at between $60,000 and $70,000, covered by insurance. The building, which is a total loss, was valued at $10,000.

Fire at Ladysmith.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 15.—A telephone message from Ladysmith says that fire broke out in the store of Leiser & Hamburger, at the coal port, about 1 a.m., Saturday. Store was soon ablaze, and as there was no water available, it was feared that not only this store, which has a stock valued at $100,000, but also the postoffice, Rhodes' hardware store, Jones' Hotel, and two other buildings in the block, would be destroyed.

Fire at Sundridge.

Sundridge, Dec. 15.—A fire occurred here about 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Jones Bros.' dwelling-house and P. Williams' jewelry store were completely destroyed; J. A. Riddell's tailor shop damaged.

Fifty Rendered Homeless.

Bowdoinham, Maine, Dec. 15.—Fire made a big gap in the business section of this village early yesterday, the buildings destroyed including an hotel, four blocks and eight dwellings. Families whose aggregate membership is fifty lost their homes.

BEFORE THE COMMISSION.

Evidence Given Against Mr. Baer's Company by Miners.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 15.—The miners called witnesses Saturday before the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission to testify to the conditions existing at the collieries of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company. These were the first persons to appear against this company, of which George F. Baer is the head. Eight witnesses were called, and the principal grievance presented was that some men who went on strike were discriminated against. Testimony was heard relating mostly to alleged unfair local conditions. President Mitchell gave evidence as to the manner in which he computed the averages he gave Friday, in which he showed that bituminous men received from 40 to 50 per cent. more wages than the anthracite miners. Counsel for the Delaware & Hudson disputed Mr. Mitchell's method of arriving at the averages.

The Racing Camel.

The ordinary camel, which will never hurry under any circumstances, has been transformed in southern Algeria into an animal so different in size, temper and appearance that it may almost be looked upon as a different race. This is the racing camel, prized for its speed. The result of many generations of careful breeding, which has been encouraged by valuable prizes, it can be depended upon for nine or ten miles an hour, which it can keep up for sixteen or seventeen hours, almost without a stop. Its value is five or ten times that of the beast of burden. The camel races are popular sport and are made exciting by the evident interest of the Halifax, N. S., Dec. 15.—The announcement is made in a semi-official way that Signor Marconi has another invention, which, he expects, will startle the world. He will not formally announce it until the wireless experiments are completed, which, he says, will be before the end of the year. There is much speculation as to what turn the inventor will next take, but Signor Marconi will make no statement whatever concerning his new invention.

FEAR OUR BULLETS

SOUTHERNER DEPICTS US AS DEADLY SHOTS, PREPARING FOR WAR.

Every Man in Canada an Expert Shot—Half a Million Sharpshooters Who Could Lay Uncle Uncle Sam's Army in the Dust—One of the Results of the Boer War—A Direful Prospect for Our Neighbors.

The following extraordinary and to Canadians highly amusing, article was published in a newspaper in the Southern States the other day. Big scare headlines were placed on it, as follows: "Menace Uncle Sam—Canada Making Extraordinary Efforts to Create a Nation of Sharpshooters—Is She Preparing for War?—Rifle Practice a National Sport, Encouraged by the Government—500,000 Dead Shots Now." But alarming as were the headlines they are as nothing compared with the statements made in the body of the article:

Canada is rapidly becoming a nation of sharpshooters. This is one of the results of the Boer war. If the other colonies of Great Britain have learned this lesson, the next campaign in which England is engaged will be a bloody affair.

Canada sent several thousand young men to South Africa, and they have profited from their contact with the Boer sharpshooters. To-day enthusiasm prevails all over Canada on this subject.

The Government is encouraging the development of marksmanship to an extraordinary degree. The result is surprising. Every village in Canada sports a rifle range, and every Province is a school for sharpshooters. It is not a fad, but has seized upon the Canadians with a firmness that promises to leave an indelible stamp upon the people for a generation. Of Canada's 6,000,000 of people, there are more than 500,000 capable of bearing arms. This vast army is developing into a fighting machine of colossal proportions.

Here is an aspect of the case that may interest the people of America. If this art of hitting the bull's eye at from 1,000 to 2,000 yards continues with the singular unanimity that now prevails, a conflict in which the people of the States must reckon with Canada as a hostile force may mean a serious thing.

The lessons of the South African veldt indicated with frightful force just what a body of sharpshooters can do when opposed to armies trained in the old school of war. Imagine an army of 500,000 Canadians invading the States, every man of them capable of doing the execution that Cronje and the Boer warriors wrought along the Modder River, Colenso, and the other death traps of South Africa! That is what the Canadian riflemen will be capable of doing if this enthusiasm continues for another year.

If England should suddenly become involved with the United States these fast riders and fast shooters would menace a given point in the States in less than a week, and they could form the nucleus for the other cavalry forces of Canada, no mean adversaries by any means.

With the 10,000 cavalry of sharpshooters, backed by several hundred thousand fine infantry sharpshooters, Canada could throw across the line into the States some keen fighting men. The writer has seen Uncle Sam's "Buffalo Soldiers," the splendid rough riders of Grigsby, Roosevelt, and Terry, and the "Long Knives" of the Western prairie, those fine cavalry soldiers whom the Indians gave that name because of the sabers they formerly carried, and the "Walk 'em fasts," the foot soldiers of the prairie, also named because of their superior qualities as foot soldiers, and he knows the prowess of these brave and hardy fighters, but the Canadian forces, whom these fighters would have to meet, would produce such a sanguinary result as would make the bloody battlefields of South Africa veritable playgrounds.

At the annual contest of the Ontario Rifle Association, the last week of August, at the Long Branch range, there were some 300 men present from all over Canada. British Columbia sent a crack team, as did Halifax on the east. Over $4,000 was distributed in cash prizes, and much in trophies. In the 1,200-yard target work, where a man was expected to fire six shots without using his magazine, in forty-five seconds, scores of 96 out of a possible 100 were the rule. The bull's eye of the target is about sixteen inches in diameter, and at 1,200 yards resembles more the bottom of a small oyster can.

Bull's eyes were frequently made by such men as Capt. Elliott, 12th Regiment; Sergt. Graham, 48th; Private McLaren, 48th; and Sergt.-Major Richardson, 5th Artillery. These men tied with a score of 96, and in the shoot-off two more ties of bull's eyes resulted. This work was done in a high wind, and a fierce sun. Quartermaster-Sergt. McVittie of the Highlanders and Capt. Buckley of the 32nd Regiment tied in the same shoot, with a score of 94. In this contest, in which there were seventy-six entires, there was not a shot fired that would not have struck a space as large as the trunk of a man.

In other words, in these 478 shots, all fired in a space of 15 seconds, each would have either killed a soldier or placed him out of the firing line. Again, in a match at 500 yards, of five shots each, with ninety-six entries, the following made five straight bull's eyes: Capt. Tom Mitchell, Lieut. W. L. Ross, and Sergt. Boyles. Capt. Mitchell is the most famous shot in Canada. He makes bull's eyes as far as he can see his target.

These men from all over Canada are being taught daily, not only to shoot, but what is still more important, as proved by the deadly work of the Boers, to estimate distances and the wind. In this is nine-tenths of the work of the marksman.

The Subtle East Indian.

It is told of an East Indian law student that he once threw his examiners into confusion by declaring matrimony to be an illegal state. "How so? How so?" he was asked by the perturbed examiners, many of them married men. The student smiled beatifically. "Marriages," quoth he, "is a lottery, and lotte-

EGYPTIAN RELICS.

About 200 Objects of From 1,500 to 7,000 Years, With Some of Prehistoric Origin, for Victoria College.

The first large collection of Egyptian relics to reach Canada has just been unpacked and classified by Mr. Edward Burwash at Victoria College, Toronto. It will form a most valuable addition to the already interesting assortment of curios there, and has already added force to the suggestion that a museum should be built in connection with the university. In this last addition there are about 200 articles, and almost every one represents some individual phase of the civilization of the people who lived in Egypt from the time of Christ and a little later back to 5,000 years B. C., and even to prehistoric ages. The relics were unearthed through the agency of the Egyptian Exploration Fund of London, under the direction of Prof. Flinde s Petrie. It is due to good fortune that Victoria College has been able to procure them for ever since the excavating began the Egyptian Government has maintained a strict censorship, setting aside for their own museum such specimens as they may from time to time desire. The objects that the censor permits to leave the country are taken to England, where the British Museum has first choice. Now, however, that museum is pretty well supplied, and one-half of what it does not reserve is distributed amongst other British institutions and the other half comes to America. Heretofore the collections that have crossed the Atlantic have gone to the United States. But last year Mr. C. T. Currelly of Victoria College, who is now in Egypt, was appointed assistant to Prof. Petrie, and he was instrumental in inducing the authorities to give this last collection to a Canadian institution. All that the college has had to do in the matter is to pay for transportation and to agree to exhibit the collection at the annual conversazione.

The collection comprises specimens of pottery, glassware, earthenware, wood-carving, embalming, toilet articles, coins and bronze ornaments. There are earthen pots 7,000 years old, of graceful design and clever workmanship. They are hand-made, as the potter's wheel was then unknown. Most of them have round bottoms, showing that they were intended to be placed in the earth, probably to contain water and to keep it cool. One, a particularly good specimen of the Roman amphera, was found in a cellar and was full of coins, a number of which accompanied it. The rope with which it had been tied is still there and in remarkably good condition. The coins are Greek and Roman, and some of them bear the features and the name of Tiberius Caesar. They are the same as the coins over which Christ said, "Render unto Caesar, etc." There is one fine sample of the Egyptian blue glaze, the secret of which has never since been discovered. It decorates a ushafti, a small figure that the ancients used to bury with their dead. There are a number of lamps of the same sort as those referred to in the parable of the foolish virgins. They are quite small and would hold enough olive oil to burn about half an hour. Some of them are carved and have the maker's stamp on the bottom. They might be compared to a diminutive tea pot with a short, straight spout, which served as a support for the wick.

One of the most interesting articles is a Ptolmaic alabaster box, doubtless of the same sort as that which contained the precious ointment with which Mary anointed Christ. It is about five inches long and shaped very much like a fancy pointed bottle for holding smelling salts. The workmanship is exquisite. A tinted glass vase of Roman make is of much interest and might offer some suggestions to Tiffany. Around its neck coils a light greenish snake. A Roman lady's jewel box 2,500 years old is interesting. It is of crudely carved wood and contains glass and amber beads and a Greek coin. Owing to decay good specimens of ancient Egyptian wood-carving are not plentiful. This collection contains a partly-decayed piece of wood in the shape of a crocodile, and there are parts of several pieces of furniture. The ancient Egyptians largely worshiped animals, and an example of this is shown in a mummified crocodile. It is encased in bands of linen and canvas, resembling modern weaving, and the bands were placed doubtless with great care, forming small squares.

A number of objects in the collection have religious significance. There is a part of the judgment scene from the Book of the Dead. It is a stone slab taken from one of the Egyptian temples, and carved thereon are representations of a spirit about to be judged and an attendant. There are also the head piece and the breast piece of the cartilage of an Egyptian mummy. They are decorated in colors well preserved, and the face looks as if covered with gold leaf. On both are various religious symbols. There is also a wreath of flowers taken from the head of a mummy said to be 2,000 years old. There are as well crude flint heads of prehistoric ages, curry combs, spindle knobs, marbles, bronze statuettes, bronze bracelets, bells, vases, mace heads, ivory needles, ivory ornaments, a crude painting on wood, and many other articles that might give an insight into the domestic and religious condition of the ancient Egyptians. The collection will prove of great interest and value to students of theology and others.

Many a man is looking out for his health, but looking for disease in the wrong direction. He takes medicine for his nerves, which seem "gone to pieces." He "doctors" for his heart, which is acting irregularly. He constantly stirs up his liver with pills and powder. But he does not get any better. He is looking for the cause of his complaints in the wrong direction.

It is a common thing for some one who has used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for "stomach trouble" to find that when the diseased stomach is cured the "weak" heart is made sound, the sluggish liver stimulated, and the throbbing nerves tranquilized. This fact alone suggests the truth which every leading medical scientist knows and recognizes—that diseases which seem remote from the stomach are often caused by the disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When the diseased stomach and the digestive and nutritive system are cured of disease, the other organs are cured with them.

Food is the basis of life and of strength. But it is not the quantity of food eaten which supports the life and health of the body. The body is sustained by that portion of the food which after being eaten is converted into nourishment and properly assimilated. When the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased or "weak," only part of the food eaten is converted into nutrition, and the body and its organs are therefore only partly nourished. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures the diseases of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system which prevent the proper nourishment of the body. In that way the body is once more strengthened in the only way possible, by food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

Any person suffering from disease in chronic or aggravated form, is invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence strictly private and confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." The main motive of substitution is the desire of the dealer to make a little more profit out of you by selling you a less meritorious medicine.

ABLE TO WORK AGAIN.

Mr. John L. Coughenour, of Glenmawr, Somerset Co., Penna., writes: "I had been doctoring for about a year and a half, being unable to work most of the time. The doctor said I had heart disease and indigestion. It began with a choking and oppressed feeling in the chest; later on I was troubled with a hungry feeling, and I seemed to be raw from my throat clear down into my stomach. My appetite was unusually poor, I was weak and nervous, and my heart kept throbbing continually, and I was short of breath. Finally I wrote to you for advice. I did not think your diagnosis was right, but I ordered six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and began its use. After using three bottles I began to improve slowly and soon went to work, and I have been working ever since."

"SUFFERED ALL THE TIME."

"I feel that I would be doing an injustice to you if I did not send you a statement of my case," writes Mrs. David W. Guice, of Hamburg, Franklin Co., Miss. "I had liver complaint and indigestion. Everything that I ate disagreed with me. I suffered all the time with swimming in my head; heart beat too fast; my feet and hands were cold all the time. Did not sleep well at all. Was able to get about but very little. I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' in May, 1897, and by December I could begin to get about very well. Have been doing my work ever since except washing. Feel better than I have for several years. I would recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to all who are troubled as I was. I am now sixty-one years old and I thank you most kindly for the happy relief and cure."

Dying by Slow Degrees.

Although not always aware of it yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Catarrhozzone is the only remedy that will immediately prevent the spread of this awful disease. Every breath from the Inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration, and relieves the pain across the eyes. Catarrhozone erradicates every vestige of catarrh from the system, and is highly recommended also for Bronchitis, Asthma, Deafness and Lung Trouble. Price, $1; trial size, 25c.; all druggists. Pigeon Flies 1,100 Miles.

The exhibition of racing pigeons at the Royal Aquarium, London, included 118 homers, the largest number ever shown at a single exhibition in England. The birds that completed in the recent Trans-Alpine race from Rome attracted much attention; the difficulties of their long flight may be appreciated by the fact that only 10 per cent. of the pigeons entered in the race succeeded in reaching home.

The world's champion, which has flown from Lisbon to Brussels, a distance of 1,100 miles, was on view, as well as the double-breasted champion, who has won the 600 mile race from the Shetland Islands two years in succession. This bird holds the record for a speed of fifty miles an hour.

A Royal Slave.

It would be difficult to say too much in commendation of the real merit of "A Royal Slave" in which Mr. Clarence Bennett is starring the West this season. The play may be said to be a type of its own from the rise to the fall of the curtain. It appeals to all classes, as it has the merit of the classical drama, and the strongest dramatic features of the sensational drama. It is full of heart interest and pure sentiment. The devotion of the slave to the persecuted child of his master, and the noble character of the hero-priest are true heart chords. The play is based on an actual incident in Mexican history, and gave the producers a fine

Green has Been Selected as the Long Service Colour.

When the long service medal was first issued, the ribbon was green in colour. Shortly afterwards it was stated that the colour was not correct, and many returned their ribbon to the Militia Department.

"With reference to the long service medal ribbon a later intimation has been received from the War Office that the long service medal ribbon (green) originally issued, has been decided upon as the correct pattern."

The executive of St. Peter's T.A.S. Hockey Club is at present considering the opening of an open air rink for hockey purposes on the Murray street school grounds. A Marmora gentleman, who was in town on Saturday evening, gave the executive the benefit of his experience with an open air rink in that place, and as a result the scheme is being considered by the total abstainers. The Murray street grounds are an ideal spot for a rink of this nature, being centrally located, and a splendid sheet of ice could be furnished the T.A.S. hockeyists.

Waram, District Deputy, who was chairman for the evening, for the interest of the visitors, recited a few of the principles of the order, and spoke of its progress, from its organization until the present time, after which a most enjoyable evening was spent in speech, songs and recitations. Mr. W. McCallum catered for the supper, which was everything that could be desired. A most pleasant evening was brought to a close by singing Auld Lang Syne. God Save the King.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE

Opened Before Honourable Mr. Justice Britton.

Armstrong vs. Armstring was Settled out of Court—Congratulations to His Lordship.

The non-jury sittings of the High Court of Justice for the County of Peterborough, opened at one o'clock to-day, before the Honourable Mr. Justice Britton. There are only three cases down for hearing.

The following members of the bar were in attendance: Mr. Geo. H. Watson, K.C., Toronto; R. Ruddy, Millbrook; E. B. Edwards, K. C., George Edmison, K.C., R. M. Dennistoun and R. E. Wood.

After Mr. Justice Britton had taken his seat, His Honour Deputy Judge Edmison, on behalf of the local bar, extended congratulations to His Lordship upon his elevation to the bench. This was his first official visit to Peterborough, and the bar of Peterborough desired to express to him their confidence in his ability to capably discharge the responsible duties imposed upon him.

His Lordship in reply thanked the bar for their kind wishes and congratulations and expressed the belief that they would do their share towards making the relations between the bench and the bar most pleasant.

THE CASE WAS SETTLED.

Before the first case on the list, that of Carew vs. G.T.R., was called, Mr. Ruddy, solicitor for the plaintiff, in the case of Armstrong vs. Armstrong, announced that a settlement had been reached between the parties thereto.

In this case the defendant is a farmer residing in Manvers and the plaintiff is his wife. Plaintiff made a declaration that she is entitled to alimony from defendant (and also to interim alimony) sufficient under the circumstances, and that the defendant may be ordered to pay the same, and that for these purposes all necessary directions be given. Abuse and ill-treatment on the part of defendant, and two grown-up sons, William and Norman, by a former wife, were alleged. Defendant denied these allegations and held that the plaintiff had no justification for leaving him, and that he is ready and willing to receive her back again as his wife.

Robert Ruddy, Millbrook, for the plaintiff; R. M. Dennistoun, for the defendant.

CAREW vs. G. T. R.

The next case taken up was that of Carew vs. the Grand Trunk Railway. Mr. R. Ruddy, of Millbrook, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. George H. Watson, K.C., for the defendant. The plaintiff in the action is Mr. S. B. Carew, a farmer residing in the township of Emily, and is the owner of the south half of lot 15 in the 3rd concession of that township, containing 100 acres and used as a farm. The Grand Trunk Railway line crosses the land separating one part from another, and plaintiff has frequently made requests, as entitled, that proper crossings be constructed for his convenience, but this has not been done, and plaintiff further claims that the defendants have trespassed and infringed upon his rights, property, privileges and advantages, and have been guilty of wrongful acts in the construction and operation of their railway through his land. He claims that the defendants should be enjoin-joined by the order of the Honourable Court from continuing in possession of the lands across the plaintiff's farm, and from running their engines and cars and from maintaining fences upon and across the plaintiff's property, and from maintaining a severance of other parts of land. He also claims that an order be made by the court that the defendants do construct a proper crossing for the plaintiff over the railway line, and that they comply with the provisions of the statute. He claims $1000 damages and that the defendants be enjoined from further trespass, and such other relief as the court deems necessary.

The defendants state that on March 2, 1882, John R. Carew, then owner of the land's mentioned, in consideration of $618.80, conveyed by deed a portion thereof to the Midland Railway, and that the defendants have continuously been and now are the lawful owners thereof. They long ago offered, without prejudice, a right of way to the plaintiff, but he refused. Defendants say they are not guilty as in plaintiff's statement of claim.

"A YOUNG MAN'S WAY."

A Largely Attended Meeting was Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The Y.M.C.A. Hall was crowded to the doors with men yesterday afternoon when on of the best addresses that has ever been listened to in the Y.M.C.A. was given by Mr. Thomas MasGillicuddy, of the Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. The address was most impressive, and definite results were decidedly manifest.

His theme was "A Young Man's Way," based on the question in Psalms 119; 9, "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way?" "It was a question," Mr. MacGillicuddy said, "over 3,000 years old, but fresh and timely and demanding an answer from men to-day."

First, men's ways of thinking needed cleansing. Our thoughts make or break us, for as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he. It was because the prodical stopped to think that he changed his life. If men who were in sin would only think to-day on their ways—similar results would follow.

Second men had evil ways of speaking that needed cleansing. God would not hold men guiltless who profaned His name. Men who told vile stories made their minds like a sewer—a receptacle for verbal filth. It was impossible for men to shut God out of their lives.

Third, men had bad ways of doing things. Here the speaker pointed out the sure laws of sowing and reaping. Men had to pay dear for the "good time" which the devil professed to give. Heaven was no place for men who were serving sin.

The great question was, "How to cleanse your way?" Christ alone was sufficient.

It was unsafe to follow any man. Christ is the way, truth and life. It was a question of personal surrender to Him.

Mr. MacGillicuddy will lecture to-night in the Y.M.C.A. Hall on "Homely People," under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Pocket Diaries, Office Diaries make a neat little gift. You can get them at Sallsbury's.

A LECTURE ON SOCIALISM

Delivered Here on Saturday Evening Last.

Mr. James Simpson, of Toronto, Tells of the Needs of the Union Men.

On Saturday evening last the hall of the Knights of the Maccabees was fairly well filled to hear Mr. Jas. Simpson, Provincial Chairman of the Ontario Socialistic League, deliver a lecture on Socialism. Mr. Simpson is a fluent and rapid speaker and held the attention of the audience well. Among other remarks the speaker said that owing to the existing conditions, labour found it an absolute necessity to organize in order to protect themselves. To this organization the workman owes his present condition. Great gains have been made in Ontario—legislation of a protective character passed owing to the political power of the unions. All workmen should make a study of political questions because of the power that the unions wield both in Canada and the United States. But the day has now come when it is realized that something more than mere legislation must be done for the labourer, for organized labour finds that there are different and difficult problems to be faced in the future.

While labour is fighting the capitalist in one department, th same capitalists are fighting them in others, in which the necessities of life are concerned. For instance during the coal strike the union men in other industries were making large profits for practically the same men who owned the mines thus enabling the owner to fight labour with the profits made by labour. What can be done to stop this? There is one remedy and that is the changing of the competitive system of labour. Many of the boons now being gained by the people are granted at the instance of capital because in the long run these boons pour money into their coffers.

UNIONS ARE FEARED

by the great corporations because it is easier to treat with the individuals than the mass or union and therefo e it is the object of the employer to break the unions and to prevent employees from joining them. The attempt to organize the employers shows that they are alert to their danger and are desirous to hinder unionism in all its branches. Wages have been increased, but just as they advance so does the price of the manufactured article rise so that now the better wages place the man in no better position because the price of everything has advanced. Organized labour cannot reduce the prices, because competition and industry keeps them up and so is a detriment to labour. Now, all these manufactured articles are the product of labour and the labouring man—the great producer—should receive the full product of his labour, for we all have the right to the common profit of our labour, and no one has a right to live on the profit of other's labour. This is where the close affinity between Trade Unionism and Socialism is shown. The natural resources of a country, such as the waterfalls, minerals, etc., should not fall into the hands of corporations, but should be used for the benefit of the human race. Neither should the profit of the industry of many go to the individual, but to society as a whole. To get anything like this the labour unions

MUST GO INTO POLITICS

if they wish to get their rights. Eugene Debs said, "It is better to vote for what you want, and not get it, than to vote for what you don't want and get it." The past has proven that there are laws in Canada for the benefit of the labouring man which are not enforced, and it will thus be seen that to get what is their rights the unions must become a power politically.

These are a few of the most telling selections from Mr. Simpson's address. At the conclusion he was asked his opinion re "Municipal Fuel Yards," but he hedged the question by telling how much he had done in Toronto in getting them.

Literature of a Socialistic character was then distributed, after which the meeting broke up.

MR. LaPLANTE'S ACCIDENT.

He Fell on the Pavement and Broke His Leg.

Mr. Thomas LePlante, of the local Division Court office, had the misfortune to fall on Saturday night and break one of his legs below the knee. The accident occurred on Charlotte street as Mr. LePlante was on his way to his home. He was picked up by some friends who were near at hand at the time and medical aid was summoned. The fractured limb was set and Mr. LePlanto is resting easily.

MAYORALTY FOR 1903.

Card to the Electors of Peterborough.

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In response to the numerous representations which have been made to me upon the subject—personally, by requisition, and through the press—I place my services at the disposal of the public as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the approaching municipal elections.

My association with the important municipal advances, which the Town has been making during recent years, will enable me to give continuity to the aggressive forward policy which the Council has sought to pursue, and to bring experience and information gained therein to bear upon the work and problems which still more immediately confront us.

While I cannot lay claim to all the qualifications which have been flatteringly ascribed to me, such capacity for the office as I do possess is cheerfully placed at your service, and I ask your sympathy and support in the effort to maintain the position and standing, and advance the welfare, of our already prosperous and progressive Town.

Respectfully yours,

G. M. ROGERS.

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Mr. A. W. McPherson, Vice-President, O. R. F. U.

Some Comment on Events in the Athletic World Hockey Notes of Interest.

Mr. Tod Hayden, the sporting editor of the Ottawa Citizen, was in town this morning on his way back from Toronto where he had been attending the annual meeting of the O.R.F.U. Mr. Hayden is an old Port Hope boy, and was a prominent figure on the lacrosse and football teams of that town a few years ago. Since he has assumed the editorial chair of the sporting department of the Citizen, he has made his paper one of the most widely read, and one of the most freely quoted papers in sporting circles throughout the province.

General surprise was felt by many when it was given out on Saturday that the Trent Valley League had decided not to merge itself into the O. H. A.

There was a time this fall when the amalgamation of the two leagues seemed almost a certainty, and those who are not on the inside may wonder where lay the difficulty. The delegates after careful consideration gave out two reasons. One of these was that the rink specifications of the Ontario Hockey Association would work to disadvantage. It was admitted that there might be no objections to the size of rinks on the part of teams in this district, but the meeting instanced that if Fenelon Falls were to win but the district, and were pitted against Galt, Belleville, or Peterborough, should any of the teams object to the size of Fenelon's rink, the village team would be powerless to make them submit. The other objection was that of the admission fee. They held that if they have a big, fat bank account, the O. H. A. should not demand a five dollar entrance fee and a five dollar annual fee to the association. It is to be regretted, indeed, that a compromise of some sort could not have been effected.

• • • •

At a joint meeting of the Aberdeen and Ottawa Hockey Clubs on Friday evening, a proposition to amalgamate the two Clubs did not carry. It is said that the Clubs could not agree upon a name for the new organization. It appears to be too bad that the city of Ottawa cannot place a real strong seven on the ice, as would be the case, most certainly, had an amalgamation been effected. As it is the Ottawas are likely to be weak this season, about the only members of last year's team that are available, being Westlake, Fraser, Hutton, Spittal and Pulford. It is understood that the Aberdeens are anxious to come to Peterborough for a game this winter.

The election of Mr. A. W. McPherson, of Peterborough, to the position of Vice President of the O.R.F.U., on Saturday is a well-deserved tribute to one who has such an enviable record in athletic circles throughout the province. Mr. McPherson has proved himself both on and off the field to be a true sportsman, and his service to Peterborough in this regard has been recognised in a slight degree, at least, by the frequent presentations that have from time to time been made to him by his friends. The interest he has taken in rugby has been recognized outside of Peterborough by the honour that was conferred upon him on Saturday.

HOCKEY.

CAMPBELLFORD HOCKEY CLUB.

A meeting was held on Friday night at the St. Lawrence Hall, when the Club was re-organized for the season. The rink, which is 150x66 feet, is conveniently situated on Front street and will be properly illuminated by electric lights. It was decided to enter a team in the Trent Valley League and H. B. R. Dryden was chosen to represent the Club at the annual meeting in Poterborough on Saturday, 13th inst. The following officers were elected:

Patron and Patroness—W. C. and Mrs. Boldy.
Hon. President—Dr. Macoun.

RUGBY.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Rugby Football Union was held in the Rossin House, Toronto, Saturday afternoon. The meeting was one of the largest and most important in the history of the union, and the greatest interest was manifested throughout in the proceedings. The football world in general, and especially the teams throughout Ontario, have watched the gradually-growing feeling that it was time for a change in the rules. Copies of the snap-back system of play have been sent to all the clubs in the O.R.F.U., and the delegates present were able to give their opinions. Of the twenty-one clubs in the union entitled to representation, eighteen sent delegates to the meeting. The vote in favour of the snap-back system stood 20 to 5. The only clubs opposing the proposed changes being Ottawa, Queen's Hl., and Petrolea. Dundas and Guelph, who were not represented favour the changes.

The next important question the delegates were called upon to decide was the position of the union in regard to the Canadian Rugby Union which holds its annual meeting in Toronto next Saturday. The Quebec Union has declared against the principle of the snap-back system, and as the two associations have been hitherto governed by the Canadian Union rules, it was decided to recommend these rules to the Canadian Union for adoption, failing which there will be little use for the Canadian Union, as championships could not be decided with representative clubs playing under a different set of rules. The motion to play under the snap-back rules, whether adopted by the Canadian Union or not, was carried by a vote of 19 to 4.

The all-Canadian team defeated the North of Ireland team by 11 to 8. The victory was a popular one, and the experts consider the Canadians a very strong and dangerous team. Canadians have a name for their work in South African scrimmages, and will, it is hoped, show the way in their future games.

BASKETBALL.

On Saturday evening two splendid games of basketball were played in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. The first was between a picked team and the Maple Leafs, and resulted in a win for the former by a score of 33 to 17.

In the second game the Athletics scored 45 to the Pastimes' 9.

On Saturday, December 27th, the last game of the present tournament will be played, and the winning team will receive their trophy. In order to make a fitting wind up of the season, the team of the Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, acknowledged to be one of the best in Toronto, has been secured to play a team here; it will undoubtedly be the best match of the season here.

TOO MANY LEVEL CROSSINGS

The Situation From a Railway Point of View.

Superintendent Timmerman Discusses the Number of Fatalities.

Toronto Star.

In view of the fact that seven persons have, in the last four days, been killed at railway crossings in Ontario Superintendent Timmerman, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was interviewed on Saturday morning as to the danger of level crossings and how the matter might be remedied.

"The trouble is," said Mr. Timmerman, "that people who are accustomed to driving across the track become careless, and familiarity breeds contempt. For a number of times they cross without seeing a train, and gradually take it as a matter of course that no train will be there. People should take extra care when the weather is cold and they are all muffled up. I cannot say about the accident on the G.T.R. at Cobourg, but in the case of the accident on our own line, at Havelock, on Saturday, the coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death."

"Yes, I think the railways would readily co-operate in a plan to share the cost of building bridges and subways for crossings, if the municipalities would co-operate. It would not be at all possible to have a flagman at every one of the innumerable crossings throughout the country. It is often the case that there are five or six crossings close together, where one would do just as well. If the townships would take measures to run roads close together when they are not far apart so as to make one crossing do for many, it would be of great benefit in preventing accidents. Why, I know lots of places where crossings are not more than 150 yards apart.

"It would, of course, take some time to have subways or overhead bridges for all crossings. Often the former is rendered impossible on account of drainage. Overhead bridges are often very expensive owing to the amount of grading required. A serious difficulty, too, is caused by the rigid regulations of the Railway Act. These regulations as to height and width remain the same from the Atlantic to the Pacific, although the physical conditions are vastly different. Much could be done to expedite matters if the law were changed so that that the regulations could be modified, if necessary, in minor details, to suit local conditions. The railways would be quite agreeable, I think, to any plan to eliminate danger and loss of life from the operation of their line. At the same time they don't wish to be saddled with the whole cost of doing the work."

OTONABEE TAXES.

Prompt Payment Follows a Prosperous Year.

Mr. Wm. Drummond, collector of taxes for the Township of Otonabee, called on the Examiner on Saturday and stated that the people as a rule were very prompt in making payment.

Apart from the honest and law-abiding character of the people of Otonabee, this prompt payment may be ascribed in a large measure to the prosperous year the farmers of the township have enjoyed. The cheese industry this year has placed in the purses of the farmers the large sum of $90,000.

KILLED IN THE NORTH-WEST.

A Havelock Young Man Meets Death at His Post.

Havelock Standard: On Tuesday Mr. William Maxwell of town, received a telegram from the agent at Cartier, a divisional point on the main line of the C.P.R. informing him of the death of his eldest son, James, at that place. No particulars of the sad accident were given, but a letter has since been received from Mrs. Kyle, with whom the poor boy boarded, stating that he was run over by a passenger engine, while attending to his duties as a switchman in the yard. The body was sent on to Havelock. "Jimmie" was only 20 years of age, and his early demise in such a shocking manner has been a great blow to the family and friends here. He was a bright, intelligent boy, and was rapidly making a successful career in his chosen field of railway work. The heartfelt sympathy of all is extended to the family in their hour of trouble. The funeral took place from the family residence on Saturday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock.

"GOLDEN LION'S" GAAL GARB

R. Fair & Co. Provide a Magnificent Holiday Display.

Irresistible Temptations to Holiday Purchasers.

Now that the winter season is on and the stores are assuming their holiday attire, the temptation to enter and see the displays becomes almost irresistible. This applies especially to the window dressing of the Golden Lion, where goods, artistic as to arrangement and effective as to display, give an imperfect indication of the wealth of goods within that challenge the admiration of the buyer and all but compel purchase.

This morning a representative of the Examiner visited the store. On entering one is struck by the gala appearance of the interior wrought by festoons of dainty goods suspended here and there in all directions from the ceiling. To the right of the visitor was a table of exquisite neck ribbons, and in front one of dainty linens, such as Damask table cloths with napkins to match; d'oylies, carving and tea cloths, besides pillow shams, etc., all beautifully embroidered. On the left a line of sleeveless knitted golf vests and ostrich feather boas promised protection in bitter weather. Next came a table of linen embroidered handkerchiefs in boxes and silk blouse lengths in boxes all suitable for Christmas presents, while across the store was an inviting display of belts, knitted mitts, etc., etc. Just here the caller noted a table of beautifully embroidered aprons and just back of this an arch consisting of hundreds of dainty ladies' handkerchiefs, while just to the left and near the foot of the winding stair was a splendid collection of initial silk handkerchiefs. At the back a fine display of chenelle curtains and tablecloths was draped from the ceiling so as to give an Oriental effect, and below these were silks, silk and lace collars, while festoons of lace appliqué completed the effect. Moving about amongst this splendid display of goods was a large staff of willing and courteous saleladies and men, whose chief aim was to courteously wait upon the numerous purchasers.

A more complete display of comprehensive goods, suitable for Christmas gifts, and presenting better values could, one would think, hardly be brought together. Go early to the Golden Lion for Christmas gifts, or, for the matter of that, seasonable and high-class goods for home and personal purposes.

Consumption's Small Beginning

In all this world there is not one pair of consumption-proof lungs. No lungs will stay strong unless they are constantly supplied with rich, pure, healthy blood, and you cannot have healthy blood without careful living.

The difference between a big-lunged athlete who lives carelessly and a frail person who lives carefully, is the difference between an unguarded strong box and a weaker box guarded by a good watch-dog. It is safer to trust the dog.

No matter how strong you imagine yourself to be, if you are not breathing plenty of good air every day, if you are over-working, keeping late hours, or in any way using up your energies faster than they are repaired, you are making it easier for consumption to come into your lungs. This is the small beginning.

Let your own good sense and your doctor prescribe your habits and the necessary medicine. For nourishment nothing will do you more good than Scott's Emulsion. It contains elements which you cannot get from ordinary food and is rich in the best materials for making good blood. It is taken up into the circulation without tax on the digestion.

Scott's Emulsion is not a mere extract, containing imaginary "active principles" which do not exist, but is full of actual nourishment which sustains vital force and builds up the body tissues more rapidly than any other known remedy. It is always a safe, reliable help.

Every package of Scott's Emulsion bears our trade mark label of a man with a big fish on his back.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

WILLS HIS BRAINS.

Prof. Goldwin Smith Has Donated His Grey Matter to the Collection of Prof. Wilder of Cornell.

The information about Toronto's distinguished citizen. Dr. Goldwin Smith, donating his brains to Cornell University when he is through using the organ, is attracting much attention among the newspapers of the States. For 25 years Prof. Wilder of Cornell has been making a study of human brains. He has a unique collection in this form. The Toronto citizen's brain will in time be placed among these exhibits, which include the grey matter of many honored men. This donor may know in advance just how his brain will be treated.

Every university has what a commercial traveler would call "side lines," and this brain collection of Dr. Wilder at Ithaca is one of the most important and peculiar of any of the special works of research engaged in in institutions of learning. It is a most serious work, although many persons who know Prof. Wilder in a general way regard it as one of his idiosyncracies.

The secrets of the human brain—or any other brain of considerable development, for that matter — have never yet been found out entirely. Psychological experiments have revealed much as to the operation of the human brain under various emotions, and the knife of the anatomist has laid bare many of the secrets of its structure, but the full story is yet to be revealed. The comparative study of the brain by anatomists is going on steadily, and as new curves and cavities and fissures and convolutions present themselves the puzzle becomes more involved, although many points are being cleared up gradually.

This brain study has absorbed a large part of the spare time of Prof. Wilder for twenty-five years. He has made many important discoveries and has adopted a terminology of his own to a large extent. His unceasing study has brought him fame in his profession and had added largely to the sum of scientific information. His purpose, in a general way, is to establish a standard fissural American brain. He has not yet succeeded, but he keeps at his work, and it is for that reason that he has devoted a large amount of time to inducing persons of various degrees of intelligence to leave their brains to Cornell.

A lot of fun has been poked at Dr. Wilder because of the methods he has adopted. He has desired especially to secure the brains of educated persons, whose work in life has been well known, thus giving a guide to some extent to the peculiarities of those who made an impression on the world when they were alive.

It is an easy matter to obtain large numbers of human brains from medical colleges, but little or nothing is known of the personal traits of those who once owned them. If the brains of well known educated persons could be obtained, it has been thought that by weighing them, measuring them, plotting their convolutions and cavities, some light might be thrown upon mental processes that has not yet been secured and possibly some of the secrets still hidden could be learned to the advantage of mental science.

The New York alumni of Cornell were once much amused on going to their annual dinner to find circulars at every plate asking them to sign papers willing their brains to the collection Dr. Wilder has been making.

Prof. Wilder's brain collection is not confined to those of human beings. The brain of every kind of animal that can be secured without difficulty is there and a comparative study is made with the human brain in this way. Dr. Wilder has also made special efforts to secure the brains of what are known as alcoholic persons, so as to study the effect of drink upon the human mind. He has a large collection of the brains of criminals and it is for that reason that he would like the brains of persons of high intelligence to be studied in comparison.

All brains submitted to him are treated with great respect. Few of them are destroyed. Many incisions are made in some of them, but they are preserved intact and are never mutilated. Some of his prize brains are not even cut. They are preserved most carefully and such study as is made from them is along the line of weight and form of convolutions.

In the collection are the brains of two intellectual giants, Dr. Chauncey Wright of Harvard and Prof. James Oliver of Cornell. These are treasured most carefully.

ACCIDENT TO A MINER

Strained His Back and was Sent Home in Agony.

Laid up all Winter, but Dodd's Kidney Pills put him on His Feet Again and now he is Completely Cured.

Indian Brook, Victoria Co., N. S., Dec. 15.—Special.—Angus D. McDonald, son of the postmaster here, is prominent among those in this district who swear by Dodd's Kidney Pills as a sure cure for those terrible pains in the back that are one of the surest symptoms of kidney Disease. And Mr. McDonald has good reason for the stand he takes.

While at work in the coal pits he strained his back and was sent home in an agony of pain. The nearest doctor, twenty five miles away, was sent for, but he could do little to relieve his suffering. This was in October, 1901, and he couldn't do a hand's turn of work till the spring of 1902.

Then a hotelkeeper advised him to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. That hotelkeeper didn't see him again till last August and then his first question was "Angus, how's your back?" "As well as ever it was," answered Angus. "What cured it?" "Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me completely."

And the Postmaster at Indian Brook is always ready to testify to the truth of his son's statement.

Pains in the Back, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Dropsy and Heart Disease are caused by diseased Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure them.

Possibly True.

Mamma (to a friend who is lunching with her)—I don't know why it is, but I always eat more when we have company than when we're alone.

Tommy (helping himself to the third piece of cake)—I know why it is; 'cause we have better things to eat.

NATURE STUDY.

Value Recognized and System Utilized by Canadian Educationists.

We are glad to see that the value of nature study as a means of developing the mental powers of children is being not only recognized but utilized by some of Canada's educationists. In other countries, and not the least in the United States, nature is coming to be regarded as the best school-room. The child is being brought to regard the earth's surface, the atmosphere, the heavens as the sources of his chief lessons. His senses, which have been so long neglected, are made the gateways of all his knowledge. No other method can be so successful. Every object—be it rivulet, rock, plant, insect, reptile, fish, bird, quadruped, snowflake, fog, shower, lightning-flash, or star—can be made of absorbing interest to pupils by the teacher who knows how to direct their observation. Under the common system of education the labor that most wears out the teacher is not that of simplifying the subject-matter, but that of keeping the the attention of the class. In nature study the attention is assured if the teacher's heart is in the lesson. An immense fund of knowledge can be accumulated by the pupil not only without drudgery, but with delight. Nor is the substance of the lessons their chief benefit. The boy who has become habituated to observing the ways of nature, and has come to understand a great deal about them, has had his powers of observation well exercised and strengthened. He will perceive where others will take no notice. He will reason clearly where more bookish lads will stumble in uncertainty. Of inestimable value it will be to him to have learned by his own enquiries that in all things there is order and design. In nature study every capacity is enlisted in the work of learning. A pupil is taught to draw in his effort to produce a picture of any natural object he has been made acquainted with. He is trained in both oral and written composition by being required to describe in his own language the appearance of the clouds, of a sunset, of a landscape, of a single natural object. Grammar, history, geography, arithmetic, etc., yield themselves easily to pupils who have had their powers drawn out in the study of nature. It is hoped that our teachers will fit themselves to be guides of their pupils along this path of knowledge and happiness. The lad who is conducted by a capable teacher through the course of mental culture laid out in this book will be years ahead of his less fortunate fellow who is kept in the old routine.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

If We'd Be British.

Without disparaging American sentiment for the American people, one may yet feel that if our children are to be brought up as British subjects, it is better that the flood of American periodicals which pour into this country should at least be balanced by a counter-flood of British periodicals, and this will never be the case if the present rate of postal charges is kept up. As yet we cannot build up on a solid basis a Canadian periodical literature, however desirable it may be that we should do so, and the best thing we can do is to try and mould what we have on the basis of the best English magazines and papers. There is at present only a very small proportion of the Canadian people who subscribe for English periodicals or newspapers; the majority read the cheap American publications, and the list of subscribers for the Canadian Magazine should be just double the present number. I was asked this year in London, what I considered was the radical difference between the humorous publications in England and those of the United States. I was really only familiar with Punch and The New York Life, and it was rather hard to give an opinion; but of one thing I was certain: Punch could, with impunity, always be put into the hands of children; and I should hesitate to put an unscanned copy of Life into the hands of any girl in whom I was interested. Possibly it is more the innate vulgarity than the impropriety of the jokes which so often disgust one; and even the political cartoons are coarse, and at times simply "lampoons."—Lally Bernard, in The Globe.

Must Have Been.

First Chappie—I wonder now, Cholle, how the donkey ever came to be used as the—er—emblem of stupidity?

Second Chapple (with a yawn)—Don't know, I'm sure, deah boy; must have been before our day.

Warm Advice.

Author—Oh, well, if you don't choose to publish my story I have other irons in the fire.

Publisher—Oh, you have? If I were you, I'd put this story in with 'em.

A SONG OF THE SETTLEMENT.

I sing a song of the West land
Though how shall a song but fail
That swallow the prairie trail!
To capture the blue horizons

And how shall letters and paper
Imprison the breath of life!
They know, they travel the prairie,
They know the song of its strife—

The shouting nights, when the blizzard
Is reeling across the plain,
The lazy hum of the west wind
At play with the gleaming grain.

The sigh of the sleeping grassland
To the low-hung golden moon,
The song of the waving wheat tops
Ablaze with the crown of noon.

The glint of snow through the shadows,
The echo of sharpened steel,
The crack of the falling timbers,
The poplar's earthward reel.

The ring of the sleighs on the home-trail,
The glimmer of lights afar,
The glow of the shanty firelight,
The gleam of the evening star.

The wail of wolves in the darkness,
The children's song in the light,
The large sweet grip of the daytime,
The awe of the great deep night.
—The Spectator.

The Chinese Language.

Chinese is an ideographic language. It conveys the idea and not the word for a thing, as the figure 8 represents the idea and not the word. The Chinese have invented more than 40,000 marks for their writing, but it requires only about 3,000 marks for mercantile correspondence, and it is said to be easier to learn them than the words of an ordinary foreign language. Russian is more difficult for Americans than Chinese. It takes much longer to learn the spoken language because of the variety of dialects, but any one can learn enough of the writings to answer ordinary purposes in a few months and have his knowledge perfected by a linguist within about a year. Exact instruction in one of the Chinese languages can only be given by a Chinaman.

Monkey Brand Soap cleans kitchen utensils, steel, iron and tinware, knives and forks, and all kinds of cutlery.

The Local Newspaper.

The editors of the daily and weekly papers take a greater interest in and do more for the welfare of the locality in which they live than any other class of business men, yet they are no more directly benefited by the results than the merchants and property owners who, perhaps, neglect to have their names on the editor's subscription list or fail to advertise in his paper.

In attracting trade to the town in which it is published the immense power a local newspaper possesses can hardly be estimated. He who will impartially consider this assertion will be convinced of the truth of it. The local paper is very naturally biased in favor of the place of its publication and if given a fair living patronage by home business men will guard well their interests, just as the merchant guards the interests of his individual customer.

But if a niggardly support is doled out to it and it is compelled to solicit custom from neighboring cities it cannot in justice to those patrons exert itself in behalf of its own town as it otherwise would. Try a system of liberality in the matter of advertising expenditure and mark the result.

Street Improvement.

No possible expenditure of public moneys will yield one-tenth of the benefit to a town that will result from the laying of a good macadam or similar pavement. Every live town is asking itself if it can afford the necessary outlay. There can be no doubt in this respect. The experience of hundreds of towns in the land proves that the increase in taxes from the enhanced value of property is greater than the expense incurred.

Eczema and Itching Skin

Defied Many Expensive Remedies but Were Thoroughly Cured by

Dr. Chase's Ointment

It is a mistake to judge Dr. Chase's Ointment by the results obtained from the use of ordinary salves and ointments. It is not to be compared with any preparation on the market to-day.

Some of these remedies give temporary relief but they do not strike deep enough to eradicate disease. You need not be alarmed if Dr. Chase's Ointment causes a little irritation at first; this is necessary in order to root out the disease. When the cure is brought about the skin will be left smooth and clear, without scar and blemish.

Mr. Hiram Frey, Norwood, Ont., states: "I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg. The itching was terrible, and when scratched the blood would come. Fortunately I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and its persistent use has completely cured me. There is now no trace of the disease left.

"My little girl, two years old, has also been cured of Eczema by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her face was a mass of sores and we hand to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching it. To-day her face is clear of even the scars which the ugly sores made, and she is thoroughly cured. I am glad of an opportunity to let people know what a blessing Dr. Chase's Ointment has proved itself to us."

Miss Levina Diotte, Clarence Creek, Ont., writes: "I suffered with eczema for over a year and a half and tried all the remedies I could hear of, some of them costing considerable money, and not doing me any good. I was enduring great torture when I read an advertisement of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and resolved to give it a trial.

"I began using Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it has completely cured me. Though I do not need it any more I keep a box in the house in case of emergency. I hope that people who suffer as I did may read this testimonial and for this reason you have my permission to publish it. It is only just that such a good remedy for eczema and itching skin should be made known to those who suffer."

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

A DEFLECTED DUEL

By William J. Lampton

Copyright, 1901, by W. J. Lampton

"Why didn't I marry Mirandy Howe? exclaimed Hiram Hostetter, flushing angrily in response to a taunt from the hostler. "S'pose you ask Milt Burgess over there why he didn't marry her!"

The little crowd loafing in front of the livery stable in the country town pricked up its ears and concentrated its interest on the hostler and Mr. Hostetter, Mr. Burgess in the meantime becoming more intent upon the corncob pipe he was laboriously constructing.

"How's that, Milt?" inquired the hostler in the same taunting tone. Evidently he knew more of the inner history of Hostetter and Burgess than the others did, for they were all curiosity and had no comments whatever to make. Both men were considerably past middle age and had come to the town several years before from the hill country, bringing no credentials other than a desire to better their condition and a fair ability to do so. They were sober, honest and industrious, and beyond that their acquaintances took no concern. The hostler in his more prosperous days had made a number of trips into the hill country, buying horses, and had heard some of the legends of that section.

"Oh, you git it out of Hi if you kin," responded Mr. Burgess, without looking up from his work.

"I never did hear the straight of it," said the hostler, the taunting tone giving place to one of soft persuasion, "and I'm sure these gents ought to know it just for the sake of your reputations. Don't you think so?"

"Well, I ain't objectin'," admitted Mr. Burgess, "if Hi wants to tell about it."

"You tell it, Milt," pleaded Mr. Hostetter.

"No, you do it, Hi," insisted Mr. Burgess. "I kin make a better cob pipe than you kin, but you kin outtalk me. You know that's what Mirandy al'ays said."

Mr. Hostetter's face flushed, partly with pride, partly with embarrassment.

"If you re'ly want to know the pertickelars," he said, "and Milt's willin', I reckon I might as well tell it so's you'll git it kerrect. You see, me and Milt was both courtin' Mirandy fit to kill and murder, and it was nip and tuck atween us fer two year er more. As Milt says, I was a talkin'er man than him, but he owned a farm, and there is women that sees more in a farm than perlite conversation, other things bein' equal. As fer me and Milt, disrespective of substantials, Mirandy liked me"—

"Hi was a heap sight better lookin' in them days than he is now," explained Mr. Burgess, whose personal beauty was not, to put it mildly, exactly phenomenal.

"Much obleeged, Milt," said Mr. Hostetter modestly. "But, as I was sayin', Mirandy kinder liked me a shade better, and with that and my talkin' I was neck and neck with Milt's farm. It kep' gittin' from bad to wuss 'twixt me and Milt, though we'd been purdners fer years, so's to'rds the last we got riled every time we met up with each other, and folks begun sayin' there was as likely to be a funeral on the creek as a weddin'. Mirandy seemed to injoy it, though, and kep' us on the tenter hooks, smilin' fust one way and then t'other, and aggin' us on all the time."

"Mirandy could be the aggravatin'est critter," commented Mr. Burgess half to himself and dreamily, as out of the dead past.

"Much obleeged, Milt," acknowledged Mr. Hostetter. "As I was sayin', things kep' gittin' more skeow-wowed, and me and Milt kep' gittin' closeter and closeter, and like as not we'd a clinched some day right where we met, but Mirandy packed up her duds and went over into the adj'inin' county to teach winter school, and when she was gone me and Milt shied off for awhile and didn't have no grievance ag'in each other, leastways not in sight. Mirandy, so we heard, had a sight of beaus where she was teachin', but she never told nobody at home about her business in that line when she come back three er four times visitin'. The school lasted three months, and when it was out Mirandy showed up ag'in, and was jist as smilin' at me and Milt as ever—smilin'er, I reckon, fer before we knowed where we was at we had fit, tooth and toe nail, fer her, right in the road. Neither one of us got the wust, but both of us got it purty bad, and so we agreed to shoot it off with our shotguns and settle it fer once and all."

Mr. Burgess stopped work on his cob pipe long enough to chuckle audibly at something or other which Mr. Hostetter's remarks had suggested.

"Much obleeged, Milt," said Mr. Hostetter, smiling himself. "As I was sayin', we agreed to shoot off the prize, and the live man left over was to git the gal. You see, each one of us was bettin' odds that he was the chosing people."

Again Mr. Burgess chuckled audibly.

"Much obleeged, Milt," said Mr. Hostetter. "As I was sayin', when we agreed to the shootin' proposition we got a second apiece and a kind of general superintendent to manage the match, and we picked out a nice, quiet place over in Brand's holler, where there was a moonshine still once, and nobody had ever been there since the revenoos had scattered it to the four winds and wasn't likely to go, it was so dern lonesome. In course we swore everybody to eternal secrecy, but there's no tellin' how leaky a bar'l is till you put water in it. Anyway we was on hand prompt, fer we meant business, didn't we, Milt?"

"Ruther, I reckon," responded Mr. Burgess to Mr. Hostetter's appeal. "And we wasn't no cowards neither."

"Much obleeged, Milt," said Mr. Hostetter gratefully. "As I was sayin', we was there prompt, and the general superintendent ranged us up about twenty feet apart and give orders that we was not to shoot till we got the word 'Fire!' after he had counted three and drapped a hat."

"There wasn't no foolishness about it neither," put in Mr. Burgess, "fer me and Hi seen to it that they didn't put up no job on us by not loadin' the guns right, fer when they handed them to us, sayin' they was all right, we poured a handful of duck shot in each bar'l, so's there wouldn't be any mistakes."

"Much obleeged, Milt," said Mr. Hostetter. "As I was sayin', we was to shoot at the word, and we stood lookin' at each other, with murder stickin' out all over us till you could 'a' scraped it off with a chip. When a man is bad in love, he's the wust, I reckon. Anyway, we never said a word; no handshakin', no nothin'; just cold killin' was what we was there fer, and we was goin' to have it. Our seconds kinder dallied around as if they was waitin' fer somethin', but we stood there waitin' fer the word to shoot."

"It gives me goosefiesh to think about it even this fur off," commented Mr. Burgess, with a shiver.

"Much obleeged, Milt," nodded Mr. Hostetter in full sympathy with his late antagonist. "As I was sayin', we stood there waitin' with our guns cocked and drawed tight to our shoulders, and the general superintendent begun to count one, two, three, and we tuck sight with intent to kill. The superintendent stopped at three, holdin' the hat ready to drap and say 'Fire!' when all to once there was a rustle in the bresh, and Mirandy come bouncin' through and landed smack between the muzzles of the guns."

"Dern if I didn't think it was an angel drapped out of the sky," exclaimed Mr. Burgess feelingly.

"Much obleeged, Milt," responded Mr. Hostetter. "As I was sayin', Mirandy landed right betwixt us and throwed up one hand.

"'What air you plumb ijits goin' to do?' says she, lookin' first at one of us and then at t'other.

"'Goin' to shoot each other,' said the superintendent, bowin' low.

"'What fer?' says she, lookin' at us.

"'Fer you,' says I.

"'Fer you,' says Milt.

"Then she laughed so loud and kinder raw that it shuck the bark off a hickory tree standin' jist by the edge of the clearin'.

"'Well, gentlemen,' says she, startin' to git out of the way and talkin' in reg'ler book langwidge and as perlite as a basket of chips, 'don't let me interfere with the festivities, but before actual hostilities begin I think I owe it to each of you to say that you had better go over to Pleasant Ridge first and shoot John Henshaw, for I am goin' to marry him next Tuesday week, Providence permittin'. Fire!'

"Mirandy stood lookin' at us, the superintendent snorted, the seconds laid down in the weeds and rolled over and me and Milt shuck hands and walked off the field, not sayin' a dern word to nobody, and we didn't go to the weddin' neither."

"It's a affydavit fact, gents," corroborated Mr. Burgess.

"Much obleeged, Milt," said Mr. Hostetter. "It shore is."

HOPELESS CASES.

When the doctor leaves and says the case is hopeless, what remains to be done? Nothing, if the doctor's word is final. Much, if you will listen to the statements of men and women who were once "hopeless cases" given up by doctors, and who were perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Nothing is more sure than that thousands of men and women with diseased lungs, obstinate coughs, hemorrhage, emaciation and night-sweats, have been restored to perfect health by the use of the "Discovery." Will it cure you?

It has cured in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred where it was given a fair and faithful trial. By that record you have only two chances in a hundred of failure and ninety-eight chances of being restored to perfect health. It is worth trying.

Abram Freer, Esq., of Rockbridge, Greene Co., Ill., writes: "My wife had a severe attack of pleurisy and lung trouble; the doctors gave her up to die. She commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she began to improve from the first dose. By the time she had taken eight or ten bottles she was cured, and it was the cause of a large amount being sold here. I think the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is the best medicine in the world for lung trouble."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser containing over a thousand large pages is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A BAD CASE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE CURED BY DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Kidney Troubles, no matter of what kind or what stage of the disease, can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of these wonderful pills. Mr. Joseph Leland, Alma, N.W.T., recommends them to all kidney trouble sufferers, when he says:—I was troubled with dull headaches, had frightful dreams, terrible pains in my legs and a frequent desire to urinate. Noticing DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS recommended for just such annoyances as mine, it occurred to me to give them a trial, so I procured a box of them, and was very much surprised at the effectual cure they made. I take a great deal of pleasure in recommending them to all kidney trouble sufferers.

Price 50c. per box, or 3 for $1.25; all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

A Spoiled Climax.

There was once an old time "religious revival" meeting at a negro church near Savannah. In order that the revival spirit might be quickened it was arranged that the preacher should give a signal when he thought the excitement was highest, and from the attic through a hole cut in the ceiling directly over the pulpit the sexton was to shove down a pure white dove, whose flight around the church and over the heads of the audience was expected to have an inspiring effect and, as far as emotional excitement was concerned, to cap the climax. All went well at the start. The church was packed. The preacher's text was "In the form of a dove," and as he piled up his eloquent periods the excitement was strong. Then the opportune moment arrived, the signal was given, and the packed audience was scared out of its wits on looking up to the ceiling and beholding a cat, with a clothesline around its middle, yowling and spitting, being slowly lowered over the preacher's head. The preacher called out to the sexton in the attic, "Whar's de dove?" And the sexton's voice came down through the opening so you could hear it a block, "Inside the cat!"

Philadelphia's Old Clothes.

Philadelphia is said to do a bigger business in old clothes, says the New York Commercial—that is, of course, in the cast off or second and third hand clothes of men—than any other city on the American continent. It is the center of the trade in the east, and the buyers of New York, men with their bags from Canal, Hester and Baxter streets and from all over the middle states, "work" the City of Brotherly Love for old clothes every business day of the year. These outsiders number nearly 600 on an average. The capital invested in the old clothes trade of Philadelphia aggregates $3,500,000. There are about 1,000 flourishing retail stores, and the average value of their stock is set by experts in the trade at $3,000. Each of a half dozen stores carries goods valued at $15,000 or $20,000. Each store gives employment to three persons on an average—the proprietor, his wife and the "busheler," or mender. In all there are fully 3,000 in the retail shops.

The world is full of sickly, despondent, tired, enervated people, all hoping to be well some day. The surest road to health is along the way of taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone is a great appetizer and enables one to eat plenty of wholesome food without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia. This results in the rapid formation of an abundance of red, vitalizing blood, which will restore the nerves, increase flesh and vigor, and nourish and feed every organ of the body. Ferrozone is an ideal restorative and invigorant. It is a tonic of unequalled merit that anyone can use with benefit. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

Singing and Education.

A large number of Toronto public school teachers and their friends recently gathered in the Normal School auditorium to hear Professor Tomlin of New York lecture on the relation of song and music to education. Professor Tomlin, who has for almost twenty years lectured on this subject, held his audience deeply interested from his first sentence to his last. He said the time had come when the spirit must be taken care of. At the present everything, even education, seemed in a way to be accomplished by machinery. There was great danger of getting into a rut. The individuality of men was being lost. Music raised ideals and elevated above the common rut. It was not necessary to understand music, music seemed to understand us. The agile and perfect vocal performer was not necessarily a singer. To be musical one must have the life of music and the life of song.

Man had a dual nature, high and low. There is a plane where both meet and struggle for the supremacy. As Tolstoi had said, "We have made a great mistake in separating art and life." "Art must impress all life," said the lecturer, and he proceeded to show how music accomplished this desired end. Man had always had music, first rhythm only, as in the drum or tom-tom of the savage, then came melody, and then last of all harmony was added.

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY.

Summing Up of the Situation As It Appears to the Globe.

Rural delivery of postal matter has proved so much of a success in the United States that it is being steadily extended. The first year but $50,000 was appropriated for the service. For the current fiscal year $7,000,000 has been appropriated. During the interval the number of rural delivery routes has been expanded from 148 to 11,650. The area covered by rural delivery carriers now comprehends 300,000 square miles and contains 7,000,000 inhabitants. The whole area to which the Postoffice Department intends ultimately to give rural delivery embraces a million square miles, and the cost of such service is computed at $24,000,000. From that cost, however, must be deducted the additional revenue. How considerable an income may be counted upon from this source will be evident when it is pointed out that last year, while the increase of receipts in the rural regions generally was only 2.4 per cent. there was, on the other hand, in those sections which enjoyed a full rural delivery service an increase of receipts amounting to 10 per cent. Neither is the income derivable from the sale of money orders and the registration of letters by rural delivery carriers to be overlooked. Last year nearly 115,000 letters and packages were registered by carriers in isolated farming communities.

In view of these figures, it is certain not only that rural deliveries render a material service to farmers, of which hitherto they have been deprived, but also that such deliveries tend to become self-supporting. Last year, although the rural deliveries had been in operation on a continually increasing scale since 1898, the postal deficit had shrunk from $11,000,000 in 1897 to a little over $2,000,000. It is calculated that no fewer than 20,000,000 inhabitants of the United States are interested in the extension of free deliveries to the rural districts.

In Canada the distribution of population may not as yet be favorable to any extensive employment of a rural free delivery system. Free city delivery is defended on the score that as much is charged for a letter which is not carried on the railways at all as for one that is carried hundreds, perhaps thousands, of miles before reaching the addresses. Some persons point out that there is a special stamp by which one can have a letter delivered by a special messenger. A further application, they say, might be made of that principle, which would entitle a letter to be delivered to an address in the country. The difficulties to be solved in connection with this proposal are not small, although perhaps not insuperable. Increased population is the best solution, even though it may be a slow one.—Toronto Globe.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Holiday Displays in the Stores—Clarendon House Appointments—Local Items.

Our village merchants are out-doing themselves this year in the attractiveness of their displays of holiday goods. Mr. Harry McClelland's is an inviting place for shoppers. His showing of Christmas cards, holiday books, fancy leather goods, jewellery, watches and select novelties is large and well chosen, and everything is in such good taste that Santa Claus should be in all his glory here. Mr. Thos. Howard, in addition to his regular lines, has laid in a catchy stock of cute mechanical toys, and other interesting articles, which is attracting the young folk. His Christmas window is a fairy scene and has proved a great drawing card. What you don't see in Tom's, ask for it. Many a stocking will be filled from his stock.

The Clarendon House has a growing cinch on the travelling fraternity. It's appointments are being constantly improved; and the accommodation and comforts of the house are creditable to mine host Spellman. The commodious sample rooms are as good as any in the province. The heating during the below zero weather, is all the most exacting guest could wish for. Mr. Jack Londerville is the obliging wine clerk.

Mr. John Ryan, the liveryman, keeps a number of tip-top rigs and well groomed horses, which gives him quite a pull on the livery trade of the village. He is much sought after by travellers and agents, as he has a thorough knowledge of the country round about—in fact, John's a regular Columbus at finding out the lay of the land, and the people in it. Besides he is obliging and careful to everyone, and gets there everytime.

The Government dredge "Trent" is operating across the river, near the bridge, making improvements along the west shore.

Mr. J. E. Wilcox, our hustling insurance solicitor, is up to highest water mark with business this season. He doesn't wait for business to come in, but gets out and brings it in. He always has some good live "prospects," because he keeps after them, and never lets go until he writes them up. Besides being energetic, Mr. Wilcox is as popular with the country people as with the villages. If you need insurance on your life or buildings consult Wilcox.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Dec. 15, 1.30 p.m.—Wheat 1-4 to 3 1-8 higher. Corn 1-8 lower.
Supporting orders coming all round.
M. & M.

Market has been very ragged. However, better buying than selling. Stocks may go some lower, as money conditions are still unsettled. Time now to take bull side of market on a scale down, and anybody that can take good care of stocks on even some further decline, will ultimately see good profits in purchases made on this level.
J. G. MARSHALL.

Our Mr. Fay says there is a better feeling on the exchange, and he looks for a little rally.
DENISON.

Visible — Wheat increase, 2,211,000; corn increase, 1,603,000; oats decrease, 561,000. Car lots, wheat, 71; corn, 223; oats, 166.
London cables American stocks closed weak generally.
M. & M.

Trade in all the pits has been fairly active all day with locals about best sellers. Armour was a liberal buyer of May wheat. Early commission houses also bought. Offerings of Dec. corn quite heavy which has weakened May.
DENISON.

New York, Dec. 15, 9.45 a.m.—Stocks plentiful in loan crowd at 2 per cent. High rates for money have brought offerings of bankers' bills, with an easing effect on exchange. Probable Nor. Sec. dividend be raised to 4 1-2 basis. Shortage of cotton crop affecting Texas earnings. No likelihood of an early dividend on T. C. I. Forecast of U.S. earnings indicates not more than $11,500,000 for November. Persistent reports of increase in N. Y. C. dividend. Payments to be made to-day. Standard Oil dividends. $10,000,000. Consumers Gas, $3,000,000.
DOW, JONES & CO.

The very pessimistic interview with J. J. Hill, which was printed in Chicago on Saturday, turns out to have been false. At least Mr. Hill is quoted in despatches from St. Paul to-day as emphatically denying whole interview, and claiming that it was purely imaginative. London has about met our decline of Saturday, and is now waiting for our market. Money situation in London is regarded as somewhat easier, but more attention is being paid to uncertainty of Venezuelan affairs. This is regarded as having developed entirely unexpected seriousness, and apprehension exists regarding its possibility. We still advise against buying stocks until our money situation clears, and we are not unlikely to have an irregular market to-day, with possibly lower tendency to prices.

HORSE JUMPED OFF TRAIN

And Escaped Injury Though Cars Were Going at Fair Speed.

Cats are said to have nine lives, but there is one horse which must have more than the ordinary allowance given to him, says an Ottawa despatch. On Monday two carloads of horses were shipped from the union depot, Ottawa, to Gracefield, on their way to the shanties, by the W. C. Edwards Company. When nearing Venosta one of the horses kicked open the car door, and while the train was going at fair speed he dropped out. It was thought that he was killed, but he has since been found wandering by the roadside without a scratch. His owner was overjoyed at the recovery of his animal. It was sent on to Gracefield as frisky as could be.

LOCAL LEGAL.

The following appears in the report of the proceedings of the Divisional Court, Osgood Hall, on Thursday:—

Wason v. Douglas.—E. B. Edwards, K.C., for defendant, appealed from judgment of Lount, J., at a trial dismissing the action, which was brought for damages for trespass on an island between two branches of a stream, to which plaintiff claimed title, and for a declaration as to the boundary of his land. The defendant also claimed title to the island, the dispute being as to the land intended to be conveyed by the respective deeds. The trial Judge entered judgment for plaintiff, and made the declaration asked. The appeal was taken on the grounds that the judgment of the boundary had been determined by a former judgment of a Divisional Court in granting a new trial, or by a survey made by consent of both parties, and that the findings were not supported by the evidence. G. H. Watson, K.C., and G. Edmison, for plaintiff, opposed appeal. Judgment reserved.

THE SMITHS.

As to Family's Origin They Are Long Both in Age and Interest.

"It my be generally noted," says Mr. Compton Reade, author of "The Smith Family," "as regards the great genus Smith, that the prime foundations of their opulence have been laid in some one of the forms of Protestant dissent. Upon this I make no comment, simply these pages attest the fact. These tradesmen Smiths, whose patient labor and willing self-denial have so largely assisted in the creation of a national reserve of wealth, have often been accused of serving Mammon, rather than God, while their phase of religion has been denounced as hypocrisy. Consistent lives, philanthropic zeal, above all, the blessing which has attended them to the third and fourth generation, afford a rejoinder to any such calumnies." Unbiased evidence this, when one remembers that Mr. Reade himself is a Church of England rector.

It is curious, Mr. Reade continues, how the little letter "y" has proved a huge differentia. For, whereas, the "Smiths," as a rule, have been money-making, the "Smyths" have shown themselves chivalrous and aristocratic. While the Smiths were Roundhead, the Smyths suffered for Tory or Jacobite principles.

Apropos of these variations in the spelling of the great patronymic, Mr. Compton Reade propounds a theory which should prove of comfort to both branches of the family. He hotly combats the notion that the Smyths, Smythes and Smijths have assumed a variation of spelling to lend an aristocratic flavor to a homely name. "Nothing," he declares, "can be further from the truth. The original form was Smyth, just as the modern 'cider' is a corruption of the ancient 'eyder.' So far from the Smyths having Smythed themselves, I can discover barely one notable instance of the change from 'i' to 'y,' but I can trace numberless instances of Elizabethan Smyths having become Victorian Smiths. The rococo spelling of the word Smijth is apparently due to the ingeniousness of some mediaeval clerk who in writing Smyth took upon himself to dot both points of the 'y,' thus producing 'Smijth.'"

But what is the origin of this great family? The following couplet furnishes the answer:

Whence cometh Smith, be he knight or be he squire,
But from the Smith that forgeth at the fire?

Not that this is any disgrace. The name is old enough, at any rate, Professor Mahaffy has discovered that a man named Smith lived in the days of Ptolemy III., B. C. 227, and the occupation from which the name is derived was originally one of great honor. David was armourer to King Saul; Vulcan was a person of distinction in Olympus. In the days of Thor, when none but the mightiest could wield the hammer, he was a cynosure; in the heroic days of gallant little Wales he sat upon the right hand of the King.

But from his high estate he fell to become a mere mechanic in Norman times, only, however, to blossom into the gold-storing goldsmith of Queen Anne's days, from which trade sprung the great industry of banking. It was, indeed, a gentleman of the name of Smith, a banker of Nottingham, who was the founder of the present noble house of Carrington.

With the associations of the names Smith and Carrington there is bound up a highly interesting romance. Briefly, it is this: A certain Sir Michael Carrington was standard-bearer to Richard I. A descendant of this same standard-bearer espoused the losing side in the latter stages of the Wars of the Roses and had to fly the country. He returned disguised as "Smyth" and settled down, his descendants gradually reassuming the name of Carington. Finally Charles I. created a Carington viscountcy, but the house, however, came to a violent end.

Then in 1796 Mr. Pitt, in spite of the opposition of George III., succeeded in getting Mr. Smith, banker and member for Nottingham, raised to the peerage. Mr. Smith, a very honest and worthy gentleman, under the impression that he was a descendant of the Carington who had been forced to disguise his aristocratic identity beneath the name of Smith, chose the name of Carrington—spelt with two "r's"—for his title. Later, his son, in perfect good faith, eliminated the second "r" in the name of the new title, and restored the ancient Carington monuments in Ashby Folvile Church, with the idea that they were those of his ancestors. This was a delusion, which Mr. Augustus Smith, M. P., of Tresco, in his "Stemmata Ferrariæ," rather rudely disposed of, nor does the present holder of the Carrington title—with the second "r" restored—believe in the theory of the Nottingham banker.

With the assistance of pedigrees and other matter, Mr. Reade sets to work to prove the doctrine of hereditary characteristics: "For the ranks of these descendants of primitive iron workers," he says, include scarcely a poet or an idealist, while in matters practical they stand pre-eminent.

Whatever we are, we are,
And whatever we were, we are,
And whatever we are, and whatever we were,
That name shall we always be.

Certainly Mr. Reade's pedigrees and the list of celebrities which he gives at the end of his book contain the names of many well-known men of affairs, not to mention lawyers, sailors and soldiers. Charitable Smiths without number have proved the old proverb, "There is that scattereth, but yet increaseth." From Land's End to Berwick Bounds institutions in remote towns and obscure village testify to the good heart of Smith.

Her Hunting Mistake.

Only In the Pail.

An Irish soldier was crossing a barrack square with a pail in which he was going to get some water.

A sergeant, passing at the time, noticed that Pat had a very disreputable looking pair of trousers on and, wishing to make a report, stopped the man and asked:

"Where are you going?"
"To get some water."
"What! In those trousers?"
"No, sergeant; in the pail!"

A Temperance Champion.

Mrs. Teacup—Oh, Mr. Tubbs, I was so delighted when I heard that you were such a stanch champion of the temperance cause!

Tubbs—Why—er—I'm not exactly—

"Now, don't try to hide your light under a bushel, Mr. Tubbs. I know, because I heard George say that you have been a booze fighter all your life. He said you punished more of it than any ten men in the state."

Street Car Speed.

"Ever notice," asked the street car philosopher, "how the speed of street cars is regulated by our frame of mind?"

"In what way?"

"Notice how slow a street car is when you are in a hurry to catch a train and how fast it goes when you run to catch it."

TITLED CANADIANS.

Something About Those Who Have Been Thus Honored

The current Queen's Quarterly contains a comprehensive article on "Titles of Honor in Canada," by Mr. Frank Ford of Toronto.

Not many of us, if asked how many Canadians have been made members of his Majesty's Privy Council, could guess anywhere near the mark, and regarding the personnel of those thus honored, the Sphinx would be as communicative as most people. As a matter of fact, only five Canadians have yet attained this dignity. The appointments are: Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir John Rose, appointed in 1886; Sir John S. D. Thompson, in 1893; Sir Samuel Harry Strong, in 1897; and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, also in 1897. (Since the article was printed Sir Richard Cartwright has likewise been so honored.)

Prior to 1891 no Canadian had been raised to the Peerage. In that year Lady Macdonald was made a Baroness in her own right. Since then three Canadian men have been made peers—Baron Mount Stephen, Baron Strathcona and Mount Royal, and Baron Haliburton. Baronetcies have been conferred on Sir George Cartier and Sir Charles Tupper, while Sir William Johnson, Sir Bache Cunard, Sir William Rose, Sir John Beverley Robinson, and Sir E. A. Stuart, fell heir to Baronetcies conferred before Confederation. The only gentleman who for services distinctly Canadian has been raised to a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath was Sir John A. Macdonald. G. C. M. G.'s have been conferred on Sir A. T. Galt, Sir John Rose, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Richard Cartwright, and Sir Oliver Mowat, who is the only member of a Provincial Ministry who, while an Executive Councillor, has received any such Imperial honor since Confederation, a statement which Mr. Ford considers important enough to orint in italics.

Down to this point titular honors have been distributed sparingly enough in Canada, but there is a greater number of Knight Commanders of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. Altogether since Confederation 31 K. C. M. G.'s have been granted. Sixteen of these have been added in the last eight years. Rev. Robert Machray, D.D., Primate of Canada, is a prelate of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. Of the lower but more Ancient Order of Knighthood, Knights Bachelors, 33 (not including Sir Gilbert Parker, M. P.) have been created since Confederation, of which 12 in the last eight years. This is a favorite method of honoring Chief Justices. The Companionage of the Bath (C.B.), the third-class of the order, was conferred once in 1867 and not again until the distribution of South African honors, when it was conferred on Col. Drury, Col. Otter, Col. Evans, Col. Lessard, and Col. Steele, Of C. M. G.'s, the third-class of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, there have been 48 created, 22 in the last eight years. One old French title conferred while Canada was a colony of France has received recognition by the British Sovereign—that of the Baron de Longueil.

Referring to cases where titles have been declined by Canadians Mr. Ford cites the case of Messrs. Cartier and Galt, two Fathers of Confederation, who were offered in 1867 lesser honors than that conferred on their co-parent, Sir John Macdonald. Their protest was effective. There are numerous other well-authenticated instances where honors have been declined on different grounds, but Mr. Ford believes that there has recently been a change of opinion in regard to what formerly were dubbed "tin-pot titles," inasmuch as the prerogative of the Sovereign is "one of the strong connecting links which binds the colonies to the Empire."

The article is exhaustive also on the titles which may rightfully be used in speaking of statesmen of various ranks, ecclesiastical dignitaries, and the judiciary.

A Loss to Canadian Journalism.

Mr. Albert Smallfield, founder of The Renfrew Mercury and until 1896 active in its management, died on the 16th Nov., 1902. Mr. Smallfield was born in London, England, in 1826, and there learned the printing business thoroughly. He soon graduated into the literary branches of publication, and after an extensive experience in England came to America, taking service as night editor of The New York Journal of Commerce. After some years of this work he returned to England, but soon came back to The Journal. He then formed a resolution to take up land in Canada, but found that that was not suited to his temperament, and again returned to The Journal. He finally on June 30, 1871, issued the first number of The Mercury. His thorough training as a journalist has always been apparent in the columns of The Mercury, and his death is a loss to journalism, as we feel sure it is to the community in which he resided.

VENEZUELAN AFFAIRS

The British Side of the Dispute Stated in the Commons.

PREMIER MAKES EXPLANATION

Arbitration Suggestions Come From Castro's Government—The United States Had Nothing to Do With Them—Lord Cranborne Upholds the Monroe Doctrine—The Debate in the Commons.

London, Dec. 16.—The House was crowded last evening when the Venezuelan matter came up for debate. Henry White, the American Charge d'Affaires, had a seat in the diplomatic gallery. Mr. Schwann, after having expressed surprise that the Government was anxious for another war after South Africa, complained of the paucity of the information concerning the Venezuelan situation which has been given to Parliament. He said he hoped arbitration would be accepted, because the situation is full of danger and Roosevelt's hands might be forced by politicians.

Lord Cranborne spoke after Dr. Schwann. He reproached this member with a desire to discredit the Government, and exclaimed that papers in the Venezuelan matters were very voluminous, and that those issued yesterday were only a summary. He said that Great Britain had to perform police duty among the nations, and had to prevent Venezuela from breaking the law of nations. The United States took the sensible view that Great Britain's insistence that Venezuela should meet her engagements was no infraction of the Monroe Doctrine. "No country has been more anxious than Great Britain," said Lord Cranborne, "to assist the American Government in maintaining that doctrine."

This remark was greeted with cheers. Continuing, the Under Foreign Secretary said the British Government had displayed great forbearance, and that it was only after Venezuela had been thrice summoned to do right that the Government had been driven to strong measures to secure the safety, liberty and property of British subjects in Venezuela, and that in the execution of these measures the Government desired to pursue the same course of moderation.

Lord Cranborne said also that the blockade would be carried out with every regard for the interests of neutrals.

The Liberal Leader.

The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, then voiced his strong dissatisfaction with Lord Cranborne's speech. He complained of the lack of information about the German and British claims, which he said seemed to be on a different footing. The speaker said he was an advocate of the best possible feeling between the two countries, but that in this matter Great Britain seemed to be bound hand and foot to Germany. "We could do nothing with regard to our claims," continued the Liberal leader, "unless the Germans are perfectly satisfied with the settlement of their claims. Such an agreement is contrary to the country's best interest. The speaker has said nothing about an important communication received from the United States: there would be universal satisfaction if this communication were of such a nature as to lead to a peaceful solution of what, after all, seems to be a somewhat squalid difficulty."

Premier Balfour's Reply.

Premier Balfour accused the mover and the seconder of the motion to adjourn of a desire to discredit the Government and said this was not the way to approach a painful international episode. The Premier declared there was no justification for the assumption that the Government was prepared to go to war for the Venezuelan bondholders. The crux of the matter was a series of outrages by Venezuelans on British seamen and ship owners, for which not only had compensation been refused, but Great Britain's remonstrances had been entirely disregarded. It was an intolerable situation, and the Premier denied that the Government had been unduly hasty. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman appeared to desire to co-operate with Germany on his own peculiar terms, but few allies were prepared to act on such a basis.

To Assess Claims Equitably.

Continuing Mr. Balfour said that in so far as the financial claims were concerned, the Government was prepared to agree to a tribunal to assess them equitably. He said also that the United States Government had not suggested arbitration. Anglo-German interests in Venezuela had been entrusted to the American Minister at Caracas, Mr. Bowen, who, with admirable energy, had protected the lives of British and German subjects. The Premier said he understood that it was from Venezuela, through the United States, that the suggestion for arbitration had come. On that point he would only say it was unfortunate that Venezuela should not have thought of the advantages of arbitration during the long period covered by these controversies, but that on the contrary she should have refused all explanation or apology until actually engaged in hostilities; then this idea of arbitration suddenly commended itself to the minds of the Venezuelans.

The Premier said he would say nothing for or against this idea, and repeated that it had not come from the Government of the United States.

Criticized the Government.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt and other members of the House then criticized the Government for its action and pressed for additional information. Timothy M. Healy (Nationalist), declared that the Irish vote in American had driven the British Government into a humiliating alliance with Germany, and warned the Government that it was in a perilous position owing to the state of political feeling in the United States.

Replying to questions Premier Balfour said Italy was sending warships to Venezuelan waters, but that there was no agreement between Italy and Great Britain, as there was between Great Britain and Germany. Referring to the Anglo-German fleets on the Venezuelan coast, the Premier said there was no question of seniority, as the two fleets were acting along different parts of the coast, and independently of each other.

Mr. Schwann's motion was rejected without a division.

Proposal to Arbitrate.

A proposition arrived here yesterday to submit the points in difference to arbitration. This came in the form of a proposal through the United States Government to submit the claims of British and German subjects to arbitration, which Lord Lansdowne announced later in the day in the House of Lords "was under consideration by the British Government."

It was learned last evening that the proposals now before the British Government are the original proposals forwarded by Minister Bowen, but which now have received strong support from the United States Government.

Venezuela's Reply.

Lord Lansdowne said the Government had received from Minister Haggard a cabled summary of what purports to be Venezuela's reply to the British ultimatum. Therein Venezuela complains that no reparation was offered by Great Britain for the landing of the marines, or for the conduct of the British authorities of Trinidad. This despatch closed by saying Venezuela represented that as her treasury was exhausted, it was impossible for the Government to meet its debts for the moment, but directly peace was declared it would not be necessary to remind the Venezuelan Government of its obligations.

Other Tiny States Arise.

New York, Dec. 16.—The Herald correspondent in Caracas says he has learned on reliable authority that the Government of Argentina, in a despatch from Buenos Ayres, has instructed its consular representative to report to Buenos Ayres what appears to be the attitude of the United States, and what view that Government is likely to take of its obligations under the Monroe Doctrine, in the face of the aggressive action of Great Britain and Germany.

Should the United States not act, Argentina, fearing the autonomy of all Southern American States, is jeopardized, is prepared to aid Venezuela.

It is believed Chile entertains similar views.

U.S. Will Not Be Involved.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The South and Central American diplomatic representatives here are in a state of anxiety that finds expression in frequent calls at the State Department for information. No less than six Ministers were among Secretary Hay's visitors yesterday.

Among Senators and Representatives who have discussed the Venezuelan matter with President Roosevelt, the situation is regarded as serious, but it is not generally believed to be likely that the United States will become involved in the controversy.

Daily Grows Worse.

Antwerp, Dec. 16.—A firm here, which trades with Venezuela, has received a despatch from Caracas, saying that President Castro's position is growing daily more difficult. A new revolution seems imminent. Gen. Matos refuses to co-operate with President Castro against the allies.

British Flag Flies.

London, Dec. 16.—The Willemstad, Curacoa correspondent of The Daily Mail says the British flag is now flying over the fort at Puerto Cabello, and that President Castro has granted amnesty to "El Mocho" Hernandez, Paradoa and other revolutionary leaders.

DEAD IN HIS CHAIR

Grim Reaper Takes Principal MacVicar Without Warning.

HAD MANUSCRIPT IN HIS HAND

Sudden Summons to Head of Presbyterian College, Montreal—Was to Have Lectured at 5 O'clock—Found Him Unconscious at 5.30 p.m. Monday—Dead Before Medical Aid Could Be Called.

Montreal, Dec. 16. — The Presbyterian Church of Canada suffered a deep loss yesterday in the awfully sudden death of Principal MacVicar of the Presbyterian College. Dr. MacVicar attended a meeting of the French Evangelization Committee at 4 p.m., and at 4.30 left for the college to deliver his usual lecture at 5 o'clock. The students waited until 5.30, and one of their number went to the principal's study, and the doctor was found dead in his chair, with his manuscript in his hand.

Sketch of His Life.

Rev. Donald Harvey MacVicar was born at Dunglass, near Campbelltown, Argyleshire, Scotland, Nov. 29, 1831. He came to Canada when 4 years of age with his parents. He was educated first by private tutor, and afterwards at Toronto Academy. He was also a partial student at Toronto University. He studied theology at Knox College, graduating in 1859. Ordained in 1857, he performed his first mission work at Collingwood, and after declining calls to British Columbia, Brantford, Collingwood and West Toronto, accepted a unanimous call to Knox Church. Here his talents as a preacher won him a call in 1860 to Cote street Church, Montreal, to be successor of Rev. Donald Fraser, D.D., afterwards of London, Eng.

After eight years of successful labor, Mr. MacVicar was appointed by the General Assembly principal of and professor of divinity in the Presbyterian College, Montreal. This institution was then in its feebleet beginnings, with no endowment, and only five or six students. Now it possesses a handsome building, a valuable library, an endowment fund and an efficient staff of professors and lecturers, the attendance keeping place therewith.

Always taking a deep interest in French-Canadian evangelization, Principal MacVicar organized a department in the college for the training of French-Canadian ministers. He served for many years as the Protestant School Commissioner, becoming president of the board in 1879. In 1881 he was chosen moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Dr. MacVicar has lectured on logic and ethics before the Ladies' Educational Association, Montreal, and he was also for a season in 1870, a lecturer on logic at McGill University. He visited the Pan-Presbyterian councils at Edinburgh, Philadelphia and Glasgow, respectively, and took part in the discussions. He has been president of the Principal Teachers' Association, P.Q.; has received the honorary degree of LL.D. from McGill University (1870), and that of D.D. from Knox College (1883). He was also a fellow of McGill, and was a vice-president of the Lord's Day Alliance, as well as an honorary member of the Athenæ Oriental of Paris.

In addition to a primary and an advanced arithmetic, both of which became textbooks in the public Schools, he was the author of "The Office and Work of Elders"; of papers on "Romanism in Canada," of a paper on "The Catholicity of Presbyterianism," and of lectures on "Inspiration," "Miracles," "The Constitution of the Church." "The Sabbath Law," "Modern Scepticism," "Moral Culture," "The Teacher in His Study and Class Room," "Hindrances and Helps to Presbyterianism," and numerous other subjects. He declined a call to South Church, Brooklyn, N.Y., at $7,000 a year. In 1893, on the completion of 25 years in the Presbyterian College, he was presented by the citizens and students alike with a congratulatory address, accompanied with a purse of $4,000.

Action Against a Clergyman.

Hamilton, Dec. 16.—Annie Hore, formerly of Hamilton, but now a resident in Toronto, has entered an action against Rev. Thomas Geoghegan of Hamilton for $10,000 for alleged breach of promise. The case between these parties is an old one. The plaintiff formerly laid a charge against the pastor, and it was tried before the church court, resulting in his acquittal. Rev. Mr. Geoghegan is pastor of St. Peter's Church in Hamilton.

A Color Clash.

"Madam," said the maid, "the dyer has brought your silk dress back and says it is impossible to dye it to match your hair, as you requested."

"Well," said the lady, "ask him what he would charge to dye my hair to match the silk. The colors clash as they are now."

RELEASED FROM PRISON.

Citizens Showed Compassion on Men Who Committed Crime.

Orangeville, Dec. 16.—David Ballard, James Ballard, Alonzo Smith, William Reid and James E. Corbett, the Melancthon men, sentenced to long terms of imprisonment in May, 1897, for arson, have been released on ticket-of-leave, issued by the Governor-General-in-Council. The two Ballards and Smith were sentenced to 12 years' each by Mr. Justice Ferguson, and Corbett and Reid to 8 years. Their release was the result of an agitation commenced last spring by The Post, and taken up pretty generally by the citizens, it being felt that the men had suffered sufficiently for their crime.

PROVINCIAL CONFERENCE.

Meeting of Premiers to Be Held at Quebec on Dec. 18.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—Premier Ross will not attend the conference of provincial Premiers at Quebec on Dec. 18, but the views of the Ontario Government will be presented. At the time of Confederation, it was agreed to pay Ontario $80,000 a year for civil government, Quebec $70,000, Nova Scotia $60,000, and New Brunswick $50,000, and it was assured at the time that that would go a long way towards paying the expenses of civil government. But nearly all of the amount paid to Ontario is required for members' indemnity, which amounts to $59,000. There was also at the time of Confederation an allowance of 80c. a head made on the basis of population of 1861, but since then there has been an increase of about 800,000 in population. These are all matters for consideration at the conference. The Ontario Government hold that the Dominion subsidies should be re-adjusted to conform with the increased expenditure of the province.

Meet on Dec. 18.

Montreal, Dec. 16.—Word was received in the city yesterday that Hon. S. N. Parent, Premier of the Province of Quebec, has asked the Premiers of the different provinces throughout Canada to meet in Quebec on Thursday next, Dec. 18, in order to decide exactly what course the provinces would take in trying to secure from the Federal Parliament an increase in the subsidies granted to the different provinces.

Cabinet Ministers Move.

Ottawa, Dec. 16.—Sir William Mulock leaves Hot Springs, Virginia, to-day for Toronto. He will stay over a day in New York and will not reach Toronto before Friday. Hon. Raymond Prefontaine has gone to Hot Springs, Virginia, to see the Premier. He will likely wait until Sir Wilfrid returns. They will both be in Ottawa on Jan. 1. Messrs. Paterson, Blair and Borden have returned here.

Wise Ways of Women.

No "prizes" offered with common soaps will long tempt the wise woman to use common soaps. The wise woman soon sees she has to pay dearly for "prizes" in the low quality of soap, in the damage common soaps do her clothes and her hands. The wise woman considers her health—so soon ruined if she were to continue breathing the steam of adulterated common soaps. The wise woman recognizes the difference between such soaps and Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar. 212

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness, and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains, and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did."—MISS GUILA GANNON, 359 Jones St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary Amateur Art Association.

It is clearly shown in this young lady's letter that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will certainly cure the sufferings of women; and when one considers that Miss Gannon's letter is only one of the countless hundreds which we are continually publishing in the newspapers of this country, the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all; and for the absolute cure of all kinds of female ills no substitute can possibly take its place. Women should bear this important fact in mind when they go into a drug store, and be sure not to accept anything that is claimed to be "just as good" as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for no other medicine for female ills has made so many actual cures.

How Another Young Sufferer Was Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I must write and tell you what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered terribly every month at time of menstruation, and was not able to work. Your medicine has cured me of my trouble. I felt relieved after taking one bottle. I know of no medicine as good as yours for female troubles."—MISS EDITH CROSS, 109 Water Street, Haverhill, Mass

Remember, Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free, and all sick women are foolish if they do not ask for it. No other person has such vast experience, and has helped so many women. Write to-day.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

MAYOR DENNE'S FAREWELL REMARKS

At Last Night's Meeting of Town Council.

AN INTERESTING REVIEW.

Ald. Roger Moves a Resolution of Regret at the Mayor's Withdrawal From Municipal Life.

At last night's meeting of the Peterborough Town Council, Ald. G. M. Roger, chairman of the Finance Committee, introduced a resolution expressing the sincere regret of the Council in the retirement of His Worship Mayor Denne and the keen appreciation of the Aldermen of the Mayor's services to the town during his eight years connection with the Council. In moving the resolution Ald. Roger warmly eulogized Mayor Denne for the many sacrifices in the way of personal affairs he had made for the town, and the impartial manner in which he had presided over the council during his term of Mayor.

THE RESOLUTION.

Ald. Roger's resolution was as follows:

"That in view of Mayor Denne's prospective retirement from the Mayoralty of the town at the close of the present year, this Council, at this, their last regular meeting, wish to place on record their appreciation of the valuable services which he has rendered to the Town during his eight years connection with the Council—six years as Alderman and two years as Mayor. To his untiring energy and business tact, which he has brought to bear upon the public business, is unquestionably due much of the material progress which the Town has made during that period. We wish also to acknowledge the uniform courtesy which we have received at his hands, and to wish him every success and prosperity in his new field of labour."

Ald. Rush in seconding the resolution paid a warm tribute to the worth and ability of His Worship.

Ald. Shortly spoke a few words of appreciation of Mayor Denne's services. He was agreeably disappointed in him. Two years ago he thought that Mayor Denne was somewhat premature in offering himself for the office of Mayor. He had proven, however, to be a most capable and useful public servant and had done great service for the town.

Ald. McGregor heartily concurred in what had been said by Ald. Shortly. He had known Mayor Denne all his life; he had made an ideal presiding officer and personally he had always treated him in a kindly manner.

Ald. Turner was next to add his testimony to the ability of Mayor Denne.

The resolution was carried by a standing vote and admid much applause.

THE MAYOR'S REPLY.

In reply, His Worship Mayor Denne said:—

Gentlemen,—Permit me to thank you, and especially the mover and seconder, for the very kind expressions contained in this resolution, and the Aldermon for the kind words in which they have supported it. I feel that the terms of the resolution are too strong, and that in passing it you have emphasized any virtues that as a member of the Council I have possessed and have overlooked my short comings.

I feel your kindness keenly, and I am deeply gratified to know that, in leaving this Council Chamber after a service of eight years, I leave it with the good-will of all the members and with mutual friendly feeling with every member. I am deeply sensible of the assistance the members of the Council have given me in the discharge of my duties, and I desire to thank each of you, individually, for the manner in which you have faithfully attended to the business of the town and loyally supported me as head of the Council in all matters, large and small. The good feeling that has prevailed in the Council during the two years I have had the honour of being Mayor, has not only lightened the tasks that have fallen to me, but has made it a pleasure to be associated in the work of municipal administration. I desire, also, to acknowledge the good service of the officials of the corporation and to thank them for the faithful way they have performed their duties and, personally, for the assistance they have always rendered me. I would emphasize, a fact the members of the Council know and appreciate, that the Town has capable and faithful officials. I wish here to particulary mention our worthy Town Clerk, and to thank him for the many services rendered in helping to despatch the business brought forward and to say that the onerous duties of Mayor have been lightened and made pleasant by his kindly assistance and promptitude, and to compliment the town upon their good fortune in having such a painstaking and capable gentleman occupying the position.

HE HAS REGRETS.

It is with regret that I sever my connection with the council. I have been a member of it for eight years, and during that time I have held positions which have made me from the first familiar with the business of the town. During the first year, 1895, I was chairman of the Market Committee, and a member of Finance, Streets and Bridges, Charity, and Appointments and Supervision of Police Committees. In 1896 I was Chairman of the Joint with County Committee, and to the Committees of which I was a member in the previous year were added the Sewerage and Manufacturers and Railways Committees. During the next four years I held the position of Chairman of the Finance Committee, as well as membership in several other Committees, and since then I have enjoyed the honour of holding the office of Mayor. During those years I have seen the town advance a long way towards taking its place among the best cities of the Province. It is our boast based on solid fact that we have the first town in the Dominion, for in population and in every other factor that goes to make an urban community, we are in advance of every town and at least four of the cities of the Province, while if we were united with Ashburnham, which so far as every business interest is concerned makes with Peterborough one community, of the thirteen cities in Ontario only six would have a larger population. In population the town has grown during the past eight years, and in matters more directly municipal its advance has, perhaps, been even more marked. In the beginning of 1895 the only sewer we had was a small portion of the outfall south of the boundary, while now we have ten and one-fifth miles of sewers. Of this total over nine-tenths of a mile was constructed this year. This work has added to the comfort and health of the community and is a long stride in advance. It was not until several years after a beginning was made in the construction of sewers that the first granolithic sidewalk was laid. In 1895 a motion was made to enquire into the subject of more permanent sidewalks, but the Town first laid granolithic sidewalks in 1898. The length of the sidewalks now constructed of this character is 38,203 feet, or nearly 7 1-4 miles, varying in width from 4 feet to 10 feet. We have still thirty-five and a half miles of wooden walks, but a good beginning has been made in replacing these with sidewalks of permanent material. This year the town made another advance by purchasing the waterworks and placing them under municipal control. This step might be considered to be in the experimental stage yet but I have no doubt that it will be found to be of benefit to the people. In other respects the Council has advanced and made preparations for progressive development, as it is procuring machinery for better road making. This plant, which includes the stone crusher and steam roller, have not been made use of to their capacity, or near to their capacity, owing to the desire to keep down expenditure, but it has done good work, and is capable of doing much more. During the last two years we have succeeded in having at least two of the more dangerous railway crossings properly protected. In securing this we met with the determined opposition of the railway company, but the case we were able to present convinced the members of the Government composing the Railway Committee of the Privy Council, and they made an order in accordance with which the gates were this year placed at the crossings. We also this year satisfactorily closed a matter which has been before the council for about twelve years. I refer to the river front, for which the town received a patent from the Ontario Government in January last, and which gives the town control and ownership of the water lots from the Hunter street bridge to the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge on both sides of the river. This year has also seen the development of two more dams on the river, and the transmission of the power to the town to furnish motive power for machinery in our factories. The power at the Nassau dam has been developed, and is turning the shafting in the works of the Electric Company, and the Otonabee Power Company has developed the power at Dam No. 5, on the canal, and it is running the machinery in the works of the Cordage Company and other firms. A great factor in the progress of the town has been its manufacturing industries. We have some of the best industries in the Dominion, and of the older concerns nearly all have enlarged their buildings and their capacity within the past eight years, while the addition to the number of industrial establishments has been very large. When new industries are mentioned the American Cereal Company at once comes to mind, and the immense works of this company, and the large factory of the Canadian Cordage Company, have been erected during the past two years. The Council has had its share in bringing these industries to the town, and it will be found out as more industries are added the Council will have to exercise its business acumen and tact to smooth the way for their location here. While Peterborough has made progress I believe there is still greater advancement in store for it. The development of the water power into electric power, which is now delivered so cheaply to any part of the town, along with the other advantages we possess, will, with proper energy, carry this town on to still larger and greater things. Perhaps I may be considered too optimistic, but I do not think I am, and I look for a steady and more rapid advancement in the growth of the town. In this work of development the Council will have its share of care, and perhaps worry, but if I were to emphasize one word more than another to the council in parting, it would be to use all carefulness not to do anything that would check, and to do everything that can legitimately be done to help the onward march. Let the wheels go around. The interests of ratepayers must be safeguarded; that is a duty of the Council that must not be neglected. But an error on the side of liberality to secure the continued progress of the town is less culpable than an error through narrowness that would check its advancement. And one work that would aid this town and district very greatly would be the completion of the Trent Waterway. This is not, I sometimes think, realised as it should be by the people of Peterborough, but it is a something that they should press for in a way that will force it through, for there is nothing else that can be done that would help this town as much as the completed waterway would. However, I should not try to give advice. The Council has and will have men of wider knowledge and longer experience than I have, and I have already taken too much of your time. Allow me to thank you for your very kind expressions, and for the most courteous manner in which you have always treated me, despite my shortcomings, while I have been a member of this council, and especially during the last two years it has been my privilege to preside over your deliberations.

"SOO" STEEL WORKS AGAIN AT WORK.

Mr. Clergue Makes a Statement to That Effect.

Contracts for Steel Have Been Made by Both Dominion and Ontario Governments.

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 13.—A feeling of intense satisfaction prevails here over the official announcement made yesterday afternoon that the steel rail mill will resume operations on Monday, Dec. 22, orders sufficient to keep the plant running steadily all winter having just been booked. It would have spelled disaster to this town had the plant remained closed down all winter as the merchants had stocked up heavily in anticipation of a busy season.

Mr. Clergue made the following statement last night regarding the drop in L. S. stocks and the general position of the company: "I have just received," said he, "contracts from both the Ontario and Dominion Governments which will be sufficient alone to keep in continuous and successful operation the rail mills throughout the winter, running full time, and with a full complement. The mills will be started up at once and you will see the stock rise again, perhaps on Monday.

"The slump may be attributed to two things, first, probably on account of the articles published in the Canadian papers to the effect that the rail mills will not run again this winter, and, second, perhaps, some small stockholder either needing money or becoming afraid of some nameless something, offered his stock for almost nothing, and raised a general scare. Stocks are very sensitive, and the slightest break will often cause a big slump like that of yesterday, but the recovery is just as rapid, and this will be no exception.

"The condition of the company was never better, especially now that we have these big contracts, which are at a good figure. We have over one thousand men at work in the woods getting out lumber. We have a large force at work on the railroad which is being pushed rapidly. Pig iron is rapidly accumulating at the rail mills. The blast furnaces are being pushed and, although a long job, will be in operation before very long. As to the pulp mill, about which there is some uneasiness, we have orders far ahead, and the reason for shutting down was to change some of the parts from wood to steel; that will soon be completed and the plant running as usual. There is no need to fear for the success of these works, for the future looks brighter to-day than for a long time past."

Mr Clergue further pointed out that a combination exists between English and German rail makers by which the price is fixed every thirty days. Just now they are charging their home customers $32 per ton, but the Germans have sold rails to Mackenzie & Mann, to be laid down, freight paid, at Port Arthur, at $27 per ton. As the freight from Germany amounts to about $5 per ton, this means a net price to the manufactureres of only $22. The Sault rail mill cannot compete against that figure, Mr. Clergue most emphatically states.

The Age of Brain Work.

"In these days, half our diseases come from the neglect of the body in the overwork of the brain. In this railway age the wear and tear of labour and intellect go on without pause or self pity. We live longer than our forefathers but we suffer more. They fatigued only the muscles, we exhaust the finer strength of the nerves." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest medicine of this age because it is best suited to the needs of the present day. It restores and revitalizes wasted nerve cells and makes the pale, weak and exhausted strong and healthy and vigourous.

Ingersoll, Dec. 16.—While making the run to the gravel pit to the west of the town yesterday a box car of a T. L. E. & P. train, in which were eight or nine men, left the rails. I Will Cure You of

Rheumatism

Else No Money is Wanted.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer.

I am a specialist in Rheumatism and have treated more cases than any other physician, I think. For sixteen years I made 2,000 experiments with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching the world for something better. Nine years ago I found a costly chemical in Germany which, with my previous discoveries, gives me a certain cure.

I don't mean that it can turn bony joints into flesh again; but it can cure the disease at any stage, completely and forever. I have done it fully 100,000 times.

I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism, and I will mail you an order on your druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. Take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds the cost is only $5.50. If it fails I will pay the druggist myself—and your mere word shall decide it.

I mean that exactly. If you say the results are not what I claim, I don't expect a penny from you.

I have no samples. Any mere sample that can affect chronic Rheumatism, must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the oldest cases that I ever met. And in all my experience—in all my 2,000 tests—I never found another remedy that would cure one chronic case in ten.

Write me, and I will send you the order. Try my remedy for a month, as it can't harm you anyway. If it fails, it is free.

Address, Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

PREMIER'S MANIFESTO

Hon. G. W. Ross Issues an Address to the People of Ontario.

ISSUES OF THE BYE-ELECTIONS

Mr. Whitney's Fairy Stories of Liberal Corruption Riddled in the Light Furnished by the Evidence of the Election Courts—The Tactics of the Opposition During the Last Election.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—Hon. G. W. Ross, Premier of the Province of Ontario, has issued an address to the electors in the pending bye-elections. The document is a lengthy one, but in the opening paragraphs, here quoted, he deals with Mr. Whitney's stories of corruption, as seen in the light of court evidence. Mr. Ross says in part:

"As it is necessary to hold bye-elections at a period of the year when, owing to the usual condition of the weather, it is difficult for the electors to attend public meetings, and as it might be impossible for myself or any of my colleagues to meet as many of the electors as we would like, I take this method of addressing the electors in the constituencies recently opened by the courts.

"At the general election, which took place on the 29th of May, the Government, according to the official reports of the returning officers, carried 50 seats, and the Opposition 48. The returns should really have been 51 seats for the Government and 47 for the Opposition, as the Judges at the trial of the petition in North Perth struck off one of Mr. Monteith's votes on account of personation, and added to the vote of Mr. Brown, the Government candidate, a tendered ballot which could not have been counted by the Deputy Returning Officer. I admit this majority was less than I expected, and were it not for the over-confidence that prevailed in a few constituencies a good deal less than I would have obtained.

"I need not remind you that the Opposition, during the election, did not attempt to discuss the policy of the Government or present an alternative policy. While the leaders of the party were attempting to discredit the Government by a subtle criticism of some minor detail of Government measures which really did not affect their validity at all, their candidates in the different constituencies were appealing to the electors on the ground that the Government was too long in power; that they would do as well for the country as the Liberal party had been doing, and perhaps better, that it would be a great advantage to the party at Ottawa if the Opposition were in power here; that the Government was not as efficient as was claimed it was; that there was nothing to fear from a change and so on. In many cases, some local issue or the personal relationship of the candidate to the constituency, municipal or otherwise, took the place of political issues. This with the cry of universal corruption everywhere except among themselves, and of exaggerated and untruthful statements as to irregularities that were alleged to have taken place in a few places, made up the impoverished story of the campaign.

"One would readily suppose from the vehemence with which the leaders of the Opposition denounce corrupt practices that their party had never lent itself through any of its members or agents, in any corrupt way or at any time, to influence the electors. I do not propose to plead the offences of my opponents in justification of what may have happened within our own party; I shall not, however, allow my opponents to shelter themselves behind a mask of political virtue to which they have no claim. The evidence given in the election courts within the last few weeks proves that the agents of the Opposition did not pay the highest respect to the laws against illegal practices at elections, and I warn the electors against the deceit which is being practised by the Opposition in this respect.

"Previous to the last election, Mr. Whitney advised his followers to appoint committees of able-bodied men to guard the polls and to watch the deputy returning officers and others lest poll books should be tampered with and the election law placed at defiance by personators and heels, etc., etc. Well, the elections have passed over and what has he to show by way of proof that there was any foundation for such outcry? Not a single case of corrupt practices, not a single suspicion of any irregularity, except in one case, and that was only a suspicion, declared by a Judge of the Court of Appeal to be unwarranted.

"A brief survey of the election machinery is the best way of showing how admirably and fairly the election has been conducted: (1) The writs for a general election pass through the hands of 98 returning officers, with an equal number of election clerks and constables—total, 294. Each returning officer has to hold a public nomination of candidates for the riding. No complaint has been made, nor has there been a suspicion expressed, that one of the 98 returning officers or their assistants unduly favored the Government candidate to the slightest extent.

(2) The ballot-boxes passed through the hands of 4,191 deputy returning officers, with an equal number of poll clerks and constables, or a total of over 12,000 persons. The deputy returning officers in charge are required to administer the oath of qualification to the electors when called upon to do so by one of the scrutineers on either side, to sum up the result of the election when the polls are closed, and return the ballot-boxes within the specified time to the returning officers. Out of the 4,191 deputy returning officers appointed, chiefly from the ranks of the Liberal party, no suspicion was cast upon any act of one of them, except in one polling subdivision in the Township of St. Vincent, in the North Riding of Grey. Who, then, were the personators that Mr. Whitney conjured up? We have not heard of one except in North Perth, who voted for the Conservative candidate. Where were the ballot-stuffers? Not a single ballot has been shown to be marked except by an elector during the whole election. The number of votes cast was 427,463. No complaint has come from a single voter, out of this great army that his vote was refused or that he was treated uncivilly by any of the officers appointed to take the election. Mr. Whitney called aloud for help to prevent the ballot-boxes from being tampered with. Why this fear? Was he afraid the Liberals would adopt the methods of his own party in the Dominion? Or was he raising a false and needless alarm for party purposes?"

The Premier then deals with the findings of the election courts seriatim, and closes with an able review of the administration of the Province's affairs by the Government.

Judge Gray Says Men Should Go Out of Business That Cannot.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 16.—Judge Gray of the Coal Commission, said yesterday that the commission in a general way, is adverse to widening the scope of the investigation beyond the terms of the submissions of the miners and the operators, that in carrying on the investigation it assumes the coal companies can afford to pay fair wages; that if the coal companies, in presenting their side of the case, maintain they cannot afford to give an increase in wages, then the commission will hear what the miners have to say on the ability of the companies to do so, and if a business cannot pay fair wages the employer ought to get out of it.

TIMELY TIPS FROM

W. A. Sanderson

Importing Jeweller and Practical Optician.

Time now to avoid the Busiest Days. Christmas is coming in a gallop. We have gathered from every quarter, until this store fairly bubbles over with Christmas merchandise. Hesitate no longer. Here are a few Timely Tips :—

SOLID GOLD JEWELRY.

Things for personal adornment figure largely in our Christmas plans. That fact is very manifest in our stock of gold jewelry. We show everything usually found in progressive jewelry stores. The designs are the latest, the qualities are thoroughly reliable, and the prices are below most dealers.

DIAMOND JEWELRY.

We do not claim that our Diamonds are intrinsically superior to those sold elsewhere. Our plea for your preference is based on the fact that we secured our Diamonds at very low prices, and are selling them on exceedingly narrow margins. Many another dealer would consider three times our profit fair merchandising. However, we sell Diamonds just as we do everything else—as low as possible.

Rings, Brooches, Earrings, Lockets, Scarf Pins, Links, and many other articles appropriate for presents. Antique gold finished and enamelled effects are highest in favor.

WATCHES.

We sell hundreds of Watches—and the business keeps growing. That's because our prices are right. But it is while the Christmas spirit dominates that your expectations increase.

CLOCKS.

Did you ever see so many Clocks? Mantle Clocks, a very large assortment of marble effects, gilt trimmings, fancy dials, cathedral strike, 8-day movement. Porcelain Clocks, full size, exquisite Austrian decorations, in various designs. Cabinet Clocks, oak and maple finish, old English style, antique dial, Westminster chimes. Hall and Office Clocks, oak and maple finished, guaranteed.

BACK PAINED SO BAD COULDN'T TURN IN BED.

A citizen of Trenton, Ont., who suffered agony with his back and kidneys, tells of his rapid and complete restoration to health by the use of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

We desire to present to you the history of the case of Thomas Douglas, of Trenton, Ont., whose occupation is that of carter for the Gillman Co., an avocation which involves heavy lifts and frequent exposure to wet and cold—all hard on the kidneys. That Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets could so quickly cure a case so severe as that of Mr. Douglas is a splendid tribute to their rapid-acting, thorough-going curative qualities.

MR. DOUGLAS TELLS HIS STORY.

"I had been a very healthy man until a few months ago, when I was taken with a very severe pain across the small of the back. As I had a slight cold, I attributed the pain to that, and commenced using liniments, which I found gave me no relief.

"Seeing the testimonial of Mr. Kobold, a Trenton gentleman, who had used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, I made up my mind to try them. I had used very few Tablets before I found relief, and I can tell you I was very thankful for this, as I had been so bad that I had to lay off work for days, and at nights I could not turn in bed. Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets have made a perfect and thorough cure in my case. I am at work every day before 7 a.m., and work hard all day, and I can assure you my work is not easy, as I have a great deal of heavy lifting to do, and the constant stooping is a great strain on the back, but I am thankful to say I have never had a twinge of pain, nor has my back bothered me since Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets cured me."

(Signed) THOS. DOUGLAS.

MRS. DOUGLAS CONFIRMS IT.

"I gladly endorse all my husband says about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They acted splendidly in his case and have inspired me with such confidence of their efficacy that I am using them now myself.

"I have been troubled for some time with sick headache, weak spells, tired feelings, and generally run down. I have used the Tablets only for a short time, but feel so very much better already that you may be sure as soon as I have taken another bottle or two of the Tablets, you will hear from me.

"I tell all my friends that Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets have done splendidly for us, and both Mr. Douglas and myself have no hesitation in allowing you to use our names in endorsation of such a reliable remedy."

(Signed) MRS. THOS. DOUGLAS.

SO DOES MR. SHURIE, DRUGGIST.

"I am well acquainted with Thos. Douglas, of this town, who is a teamster in the employ of the Gillman Co.

"He is a hard-working and respectable citizen, and I have no hesitation in endorsing the statement he gives of his cure by Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, as it was from my store the Tablets were purchased, and I know the condition he was in prior to taking them, and that he is now, to the best of my knowledge, working hard every day without any trace of his former trouble."

(Signed) JAS. SHURIE.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a bottle or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

THE TRUSS COLLAPSED.

Several Hurt at the new Rink This Morning.

While working on the rink of the new rink about 10.30 this morning, one of those unfortunate accidents, which are bound to come sometimes, despite all efforts to prevent them, occurred. The carpenters were engaged in laying the large wooden ties between the last two trusses erected when the steel work buckled, and threw three of them to the ground. Those who fell the farthest escaped with a few bruises, but Mr. T. Paget, who was nearest the ground, was rather badly shaken up. A hurried call was made for medical aid but no physicians could be found, until Dr. McClelland was found on the street.

The doctor reassured his fellow-workmen, who feared that Paget's back was broken, and the man was taken to the Nicholls Hospital.

No blame can be attached to any one, it being one of those unfortunate accidents that will happen in spite of all care. The most serious consideration is the delay that will be caused, but Mr. Deannard, the foreman, says that work will be proceeded with at once; still every day, and every half-day, is valuable as regards time. No danger should be anticipated by the public as regards the general strength of the roof. This was merely a single truss that was subjected to a sudden lateral strain, and is no indication of poor workmanship or material.

It was found on arrival at hospital that the unfortunate man had seven ribs broken—three on one side and four on the other. Whether he was injured internally is not known as yet.

WATERPIPE BURST

And Damaged the Drug Store of Mr. J. D. Tully.

The drug store of Mr. J. D. Tully, corner of George and Hunter streets, was damaged by water to a very considerable extent last night, and this morning the establishment presented a pitiable looking sight. When Mr. Ernie Payne, Mr. Tully's assistant, entered the store this morning it was saturated with water, which was coming through the ceiling as if it were a sieve. Mr. Payne at once realized that a water pipe had burst and had the water connection to the building shut off. The defective pipe was discovered in a storeroom on the third floor and all the water that decended to the drug store below first passed through Mr. Manning's dental parlours. Everything was saturated and the water on the floors was at least an inch deep. Once the service was cut off the work of clearing the drug store was commenced, and by noon to-day Mr. Tully had his store in some sort of shape.

General sympathy is expressed for Mr. Tully in his loss which must be very heavy, though hard to estimate. There is no redress in such a case excepting a new dress to replace the very handsome display of Christmas novelties which Mr. Tully had in stock.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS.

He Reviewed the History of the Workingman Last Evening.

The address delivered by Mr. J. H. Burnham last evening in the T.A.S. rooms proved to be one of unusual interest, and was a splendid review of the history of labour from the earliest ages. Rev. Father McColl occupied the chair and an excellent musical programme was presented. A report of the proceedings will be published to-morrow.

A FIRE ALARM.

Turned out Last Night for a Burning Chimney.

Last night a chimney on Wolfe street burned out with more than usual vigour. It was feared that the house would become ignited and an alarm was sent in. The Fire Brigade responded promptly, but there was no need for their services as on their arrival it was seen that the fire was under control.

Mr. W. J. Morrow has opened up a new grocery store in the premises formerly occupied by the late Edward Welsh as a restaurant. Mr. Morrow is well known in business circles in Peterborough, and should receive a liberal share of the patronage of the town. He has on hand a handsome assortment of fine groceries and will be pleased to see his old friends.

COMING TO PETERBOROUGH.

Hon. J. W. Longley Will be Here Soon.

The Fortnightly Club is to be congratulated on securing the services of the Hon. J. W. Longley for their lecture of January 15th. The speaker is a well known figure in public life, as he is Attorney General of the Province of Nova Scotia. The subject selected for that evening is "Men I Have Met," and should prove an interesting and instructive lecture.

GRATEFUL ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

Mr. D. W. Little desires to take this means of publicly and most gratefully acknowledging the very great kindness received from the numerous friends of the family and the community generally during the prolonged and last illness of his late beloved wife. He can hope to make no adequate return for the kindly and helpful offices in this regard he has been the recipient of, except this feeble expression of his gratitude.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

The Committee of the Whole Council, through Ald. McGregor, reported as follows:

To the Council of the Town of Peterborough;

Gentlemen,—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report and recommend as follows;

1.—That the Council submit in January to the property owners qualified to vote on a money by-law, in question,—"Are you in favour of establishing a Municipal Fuel Yard and asking the Legislature for authority to borrow a sum not exceeding $50,000 for that purpose?"

2.—That the Provincial Legislature and Lieutenant Governor be petitioned for an amendment to the Municipal Act so as to authorize Municipal Councils to pass By-laws to prohibit spitting on the sidewalks.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. McGREGOR, Chairman.

Ald. Best moved in amendment to the report so as to permit every elector to vote instead of every qualified ratepayer as at present stipulated.

Ald. Morrison did not see why every elector should be asked for an expression of opinion on the matter instead of allowing only those who would be required to vote on the money bylaw.

Ald Best held that the scheme was to benefit the poor working men and therefor he should have a vote on the question as to whether he desired to see a fuel yard established or not.

Mayor Denne thought that the properly qualified ratepayers were the ones that would have to vote the money and it was they alone who should be asked for an expression of opinion now.

Ald. McGregor said that he was not in favour of submitting the question to the qualified ratepayers alone. Every man who pays taxes should be allowed to vote on it. He held this opinion when the matter was in Committee of the Whole. He seconded Ald. Best's motion to amend the report so as to submit the matter for an expression of opinion of every ratepayer.

The motion to adopt the report as amended was lost on the following division:

Yeas.—Aldermen Best, Clinkscale —and McGregor.

Nays. — Aldermen Batten, Morrison, Turner, Rush, Roger, Shortly and Edgecumbe.

Considerable discussion then ensued. Many of the aldermen did not know where they were at and could not apparently realize that the resolution was disposed of.

A motion to re-consider the matter was introduced by Ald. Roger and was carried, after which the report was adopted as first introduced, upon motion of Ald. McGregor, seconded by Ald. Corkery.

BOARD OF WORKS.

The Board of Works reported as follows:

To the Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works beg leave to report as follows:

1. We referred the resolution of the Board of Health in regard to the drain asked for in the lane running in the rear of the stores on Hunter street to the Town Solicitor for an opinion as to whether the drain can be constructed by the Council as a local improvement.

2. We also referred the matter of the defect in the granolithic sidewalk on the south side of Charlotte street to the Town Solicitor for a report as to the rights of the town and the liability of the contractors.

3. We recommend that Joseph Forster be paid $5.00 for work done on Bolivar street, as arranged with the chairman.

4. We recommend that the chairman of this Board be authorized to have a correct survey and plans made of the reserve on the river front from Charlotte street to Hunter street.

5. We recommend that S. Kennedy be paid $11.85 in accordance with a certificate from the Town Engineer for work done on Water street.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. BEST, Chairman.

Ald. Best moved in regard to clause 4, that the matter be left in the the hands of the Town Solicitor, and have the entire water front surveyed, and that the Treasurer be authorized to pay the expense of the same upon certificate of the Town Engineer. With this amendment the report was adopted.

Ald. Turner moved that a vote of thanks be tendered to Manager Williams and Prof. Shuttleworth of the Ontario Sugar Company, of Berlin, and the newspaper men of that town for their kindness in showing the Peterborough delegation through their sugar factory. Ald Rush seconded the motion which was carried with many expressions of approval.

Ald. Turner then asked what had been done of late regarding the proposed amalgamation of the municipalities of Peterborough and Ashburnham. He had met many Ashburnham people who had expressed themselves as desirous of joining in municipal government.

Ald. Clinkscale said that he had endeavoured to obtain a joint meeting of the two councils, but the village council had failed to name a date for such a meeting.

It was thought that the matter was too vital a question to be taken up by a dying council, and the matter was not further discussed.

Ald. Roger presented the financial statement and proposed that 200 be printed for distribution. The statement is published in another column.

At this juncture Ald. Best twitted the chairman of the Finance Committee concerning the deficit, to which Ald. Roger replied that Ald. Best was trying to make political capital.

Ald. Batten asked who was responsible for the snowploughing? He claimed that there were several blocks in the west end of the town, over which a snowplough had never gone this year.

He was informed that the Town Engineer was responsible for the matter. The clerk was instructed to draw the engineer's attention to the subject.

Ald. McGregor asked what had been done regarding the publication of the assessment roll. He was informed that it had been moved in the Finance Committee that the matter be left over until after the 15th of December, when the condition of the finances of the town would be known.

Ald. McGregor brought up the matter again later on, and contended that some action should be taken regarding it.

Ald. Clinkscale moved that no action be taken regarding the matter. The motion was seconded by Ald. Best; and carried.

A resolution of appreciation of the Mayor's services to the town during his connection with the council, was introduced, and is dealt with elsewhere in this issue.

The council then adjourned.

MAYORALTY FOR 1903.

Card to the Electors of Peterborough.

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In response to the numerous representations which have been made to me upon the subject—personally, by requisition, and through the press—I place my services at the disposal of the public as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the approaching municipal elections.

My association with the important municipal advances, which the Town has been making during recent years, will enable me to give continuity to the aggressive forward policy which the Council has sought to pursue, and to bring experience and information gained therein to bear upon the work and problems which still more immediately confront us.

While I cannot lay claim to all the qualifications which have been flatteringly ascribed to me, such capacity for the office as I do possess is cheerfully placed at your service, and I ask your sympathy and support in the effort to maintain the position and standing, and advance the welfare, of our already prosperous and progressive Town.

Respectfully yours,

G. M. ROGER

The Oddfellows Celebrated Last Evening.

A Most Enjoyable Evening—The Programme.

The twentieth anniversary of the resuscitation of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., was held last night in the Oddfellows' Hall, corner of George and Hunter streets.

Large numbers of the lodgemen and their friends took advantage of the invitations extended by the lodge and the result was that the evening was one of the most successful in the history of the lodge. In the lodge-room a carefully prepared programme was rendered as follows:

On the conclusion of this excellent programme a neat lunch was served. The majority of those present then adjourned to the assembly hall where a short programme of dances was run through. This closed the evening's entertainment, and shortly after twelve o'clock the last dancer had departed for home.

BEAUTY OF "HOMELY PEOPLE"

Mr. MacGillicuddy's Interesting Lecture.

Delivered in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Last Night.

The lecture given in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, last evening, by Mr. McGillicuddy, in aid of the piano fund, was a great success, and his humorous and instructive remarks were listened to with great attention and pleasure by a large audience. Rev. J. Bastow, B.A., occupied the chair, and opened the meeting with prayer.

Mr. McGillicuddy's opening remarks won the audience for him at once, when he announced that the subject of his lecture was "Homely People," and stating that he was glad to see so many present. He then went on to define the word "homely," as he wanted his hearers to properly understand the term, and he explained in a very impressive manner what a home should be — that place where our feet may leave, but not our hearts; where love rests and should be manifested by the persons that make up the home. Canada's future rests, not altogether on its hidden treasure, or on its vast amount of capital, but rather on the number of her Christian homes. Homes were neglected, not only by worldly people, but also by Christians, who allowed their church duties to break in upon their home life. Men also became so wrapped up in their business affairs that they make it always convenient to be absent from their homes, when they should spend their evenings mostly with their wives and families. In many cases he knew of children who hardly ever saw their father, and would not know him if they were to meet him on the street. He advised those present to remain at home—and get acquainted with their children. He said, be homely, or plain in dress, be honourable with yourself and not go in debt, because you are determined to keep in touch with the latest fashions. The woman is honourable who wears plain clothing because she wishes to put her son or daughter through college. Let love and courtship remain in the home, as it is in the hearts of lovers in the days of courtship. Be homelike, or domestic—live at home—do not use it as a place to hang your hat while you are eating your meals.

The speaker went on to show that the fashionable and high-class people were getting too refined in their home life, which was, to a certain extent, driving the real comforts out. We live too fast, he said, and do not get the real good out of life that there is for us to enjoy.

Speaking of homely people, he said, that without exception we find it the case that the homliest person is always the truest and noblest character. Let us be as Sir John A. Macdonald said of himself when at a horse race, "I'm not much to look at, but I'm a scorcher to go!"

Physical beauty is not to be taken particular notice of. We must look deeper than the skin to get the real beauty. Character and expression count for more than regularity of features. The sweetest expression comes sometimes from the homliest people. A right spirit within will create a right expression without always.

A vote of thanks was given the speaker by Col. E. B. Edwards, which was seconded by Mr. W. S. Robinson. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Mr. Angus McIntosh, who has been engaged by the curlers of the town as manager of the Charlotte street rink, is known to every man, woman and child who has patronized the old rink during the past number of years. Indeed, the curlers were fortunate in securing Mr. McIntosh for it is a well-known fact that his services were in demand elsewhere. His genial manner, the impartiality of his kindness, his honesty combined with his thorough business abilities make him just the man the curlers require. Mr. McIntosh, last night, had excellent ice for curling, but this could not be taken advantage of owing to the lighting system of the rink not being in condition.

A Royal Slave.

"A Royal Slave" was taken from an actual occurrence, the scenes being reproduced from photographs of old Mexico, around which the play was written. The characters of "Aguila," "El Capitan," a noted bandit; and Juan "Alvarez," figure in many parts of Mexican history. The cast has been carefully selected, the members of the company being especially engaged for their respective roles. Mr. Clarence Bennett, who is seen in the title-role, will be remembered as the leading actor in the great production of "Trilby," by the A. M. Palmer Co. Mr. Bennett was a pupil of the late Edwin Booth and has many of the subtle "Booth" art touches of the great master-actor of the American stage.

RARELY RADIANT CHRISTMAS STORE

Magnificent Decorations of Turnbull's Store.

A BLAZE OF BRILLIANCY.

The Whole Store in a Glow of Holiday Attire.

Myriads of Scintillating Electric Lights form a Brilliant Opening Display Thursday Evening.

The J. C. Turnbull Co's store, attired in its radiant Yuletide dress, has been transformed into a scene of brilliant beauty. Already it is a centre of incessant and enthusiastic activity. Holiday stocks are in the very acme of their attractiveness, and holiday showings are broader, better and gayer than ever before. The firm have surpassed every previous effort, as the store never looked so beautiful and so bright in honour of the Christmas festivities.

Every showcase, every table, every counter is gleaming with the most attractive things that the world's most nimble fingers have produced. Christmas suggestions in myriad numbers for almost every use, at every price. Gifts for men, gifts for women, gifts for youths and gifts for children abound. They are here in largest variety — in most permanently pleasing forms, and as elegant as values need attest. It is an ideal store from every standpoint, a pleasing picture to behold.

THE INTERIOR DECORATIONS.

No one can enter the store without being instantly impressed with the Christmas radiance which floods the entire interior. The brilliancy of the glad Christmas tide is reflected in every nook and cranny. The joyous spirit of the new holiday goods pervades everything. Personal and household needs, questions of remembrance of friends, all suggested by the season find easy and economical solution here.

But in order to do justice to the excellent decorative effects, some detail is necessary. It would seem that everything was done that brains could evolve or money accomplish to make Christmas shopping at Turnbull's a comfort and a physical pleasure. The theme of the decorations is the bounteous spirit of the season. The first thing which attracts the visitor is the continuous series of uniform lattice and spiral arched panels which span the walls, and reaching from the top of the shelving to the ceiling, along the whole length of space from one side of the store to the other. These arched panels are formed of variegated work in green and red, and sprinkled with a combination of red, white and green effects. Over each panel hangs an excellent imitation of the Christmas bells, and under each panel appears a bold letter in green and red, which when read all along the whole series of panels, forms the words, "Happy New Year," on the south side of the store, on the north side, the words "Merry Christmas." Inside each of these handsome arched panels is displayed on a blue ground some leading line of goods. For instance,—in those on the south side are shown fancy household linens, applique, table napkins, doylies, tray clothes, towels, bath mats, etc.; in those on the north side, are shown lovely silks, zebilines, cashmeres, parasols, belts, handkerchiefs, etc. Over each arch is an artistically painted card bearing the name of some appropriate Christmas suggestion of the various lines represented.

Along the middle of the store, the centre ledge is surmounted with a rich display of cream fancies, in silk and wool Bedford cord; skilfully draped and embedded in each display are huge roses, caught with long strings of fancy silk braids. Farther on, along the same ledge, is a practical display of dress corsets fitted on busts, among the best styles being the "W. B." corset, for which Turnbull & Co. are the sole agents.

A very pretty effect is made by festooning the pillars of the store with circles of handkerchiefs — Christmas 'kerchiefs, of every desireable line, linen, swiss, lawn, silk, initial and fancy.

On many tables and shelves are displayed rich designs of fancy cushions, coloured pictured cushion covers, tempting pieces of linen with drawn work, embroidery and fine needlework effects. Also, cretonnes and draperies, art silks and satins, ribbons, gloves, dress trimmings, neckwear, etc.

A number of large and handsome English Axminster floor rugs arrest the attention, and are well worthy of the admiration they receive. The carpet room also presents a gala appearance enriched as it is with a sumptuous display of rich Brussels, Tapestries, etc., and a grand display of floor coverings, lace curtains, etc.

ATTRACTIVE WINDOW DRESSING.

The blinds of the large show windows for the present are down, to permit of the window dressers completing their work. They will remain down until Thursday evening, when the curtains will be raised, amid a grand electrical illumination, and present additional attractions of a sensational character. The north window will have for a back-ground a Christmas night scene painted by a local artist, while the interior of the window will be dressed with coloured opal ware, etc. The lower half of this window will be dressed with Christmas handkerchiefs, neckwear, gloves, parasols, etc., and have an attractive lake scene for a background. The south window will disclose a colour scene with Santa Claus just alighting from his sleigh in front of the cabin. The dressing of this window will consist of snowy table linens, applique, doylies, centre pieces, etc., with mottoes festooned with English holly.

But why listen to descriptions? Everyone who can in any way reach Turnbull's is cordially invited to enjoy the wonderful sight on Thursday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock, when over 15) electric lamps will be thrown on the scene. The whole of these meritorious decorative effects were skilfully planned and designed by Mr. J. L. Maude, and carried out with the assistance of Mr. R. Billings, of the Turnbull staff, both of whom show decorative work of unusual merit.

MACEDONIAN REBEL

STRANGE COMPOUND OF HERO, PATRIOT, FANATIC AND DESPERADO.

Romantic Bulgarian Leader Who Threatens Europe's Peace—Has Already More Blood on His Hands Than Any Personage in Europe Except the Sultan—His Portrait in the Uniform of a Bulgarian Officer.

Boris Sarafoff, the sinister leader of the Macedonian revolutionary movement, is quite the most romantic figure in Europe. His power in Bulgaria and Macedonia is so great that a word from him would set the Balkan peninsula ablaze, and this, as all the world knows, would almost certainly bring about a European war. Sarafoff may therefore be said to hold the peace of Europe in his hands, and the knowledge of this fact may well inspire the monarchs and statesmen who control the destinies of European countries with anxiety and alarm.

Sarafoff has something of the fanatic and something of the desperado in him, and if he believed that the Macedonian cause would thereby be advanced he would without hesitation do his utmost to make a great European war, involving hundreds of thousands of lives, inevitable.

This young man of 30 already has more blood on his hands than any personage in Europe, except the Sultan. His name is appearing with increasing frequency in the dispatches from the troubled Balkan, yet his remarkable story has never been told before.

He was born in a Turkish village of which anyone is at liberty to pronounce the name for himself. It is spelled Ljubjochovo. His parents were Bulgarians and his ancestors, who had lived in the same village for over 200 years, had always been the leaders in risings against the tyranny of the Turks. When, in the year 1618, the Turks, took measures to compel all the Bulgarians of the district to embrace Mohammedanism, Sarafoff's ancestor, Damian, persuaded them that it was better to die than to renounce Christianity and organized a formidable revolt. Other ancestors of Sarafoff took a prominent part in a number of anti-Turkish movements in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, so that he was born with a hereditary hatred of the Turks.

The circumstances of his childhood and education all tended to strengthen this feeling. When he was 5 years of age Turkish gendarmes came to his home one night, arrested his father and grandfather on a charge of treason and dragged them off in chains, beating them cruelly with leather whips. Young as he was, the brutality of the Turks and the pitiable distress of his mother made a lasting impression on the child.

Six months later his father and grandfather were released in consequence of a general amnesty granted under pressure from the powers, and Boris was just old enough to understand the stories of the men's sufferings in Turkish captivity. Life, however, became unbearable in their native village owing to the excesses committed by Bashi Bazouks, and Sarafoff's parents removed to Nevrokop, where his father was appointed head master of the Bulgarian school.

The boy showed great mental abilities, and when he was 10 years of age his father sent him to Salonica to be educated at the Bulgarian High School there. Four years later, when he was still at this institution, his father and grandfather were brought into Salonica in chains, having been arrested for taking part in some supposed revolutionary movement. After much trouble he was admitted to the prison to see his relatives, and he visited them thereafter daily for a year.

At the age of 18 he proceeded to Sofia and succeeded in gaining admittance to the military academy there, his idea being of course to become a professional soldier in order to be able to fight the Turks more efficiently. In his enthusiasm he went so far as to serve as a common soldier in the ranks for six months, so that he might be familiar with the life and duties of the men under his command. He passed his examinations with honor and distinction, and received a commission as lieutenant of the First Bulgarian Infantry Regiment at the age of 20. He remained in the army for three years, but the life of an officer in garrison was far too tame for his restless spirit, and when the Macedonian question began to attract the attention of the world in 1895 he threw up his military career to devote himself to the new cause.

Collecting a hundred young men of his own age and position in life, Sarafoff drilled them incessantly and inspired them with his own enthusiasm. On the 1st of July, 1895, he crossed the Turkish frontier with just eighty followers and marched toward Melnik, a town of some importance, at the head of his eighty followers, and made himself master of the place. The post and telegraph office was first seized, and the wires connecting Melnik with the outside world were cut before the astonished Turks had time to summon help from the nearest garrison town.

The prefecture was next attacked, and its guard of fifteen gendarmes overpowered and captured. By this time the garrison of Melnik, numbering 100 soldiers, was alarmed and advanced to repel the invaders, who, however, met them with a deadly rifle fire and put them to flight after over fifty had been killed.

Sarafoff was now master of the town, and his first act was to run the prefecture, the gendarmerie station, the postoffice and other official buildings. The local prison was then opened and the convicts set at liberty, while the Turkish officials taken by Sarafoff were locked up in their place.

This adventure was the first of several raids into Turkey, each of which was a madly reckless undertaking, involving the gravest risks to everyone connected with it. Sarafoff would swoop down on some town in Turkey, overpower the garrison, stir up the inhabitants to active discontent and disappear over the frontier before the Turkish authorities could organize an effective pursuit. The story of his guerrilla warfare, his marvelous feats of arms and his thousand and one hairbreadth escapes would fill volumes of surpassing interest.

It was his activity during this period that made Sarafoff the idol of the Macedonians in Turkey and Bulgaria. He was feted at Sofia and throughout Bulgaria as a national hero, and his name became a household word in every Bulgarian family in the Balkan peninsula. The Turkish Government, too, paid a tribute to his importance by setting a price of 100,000 francs on his head.

Sarafoff's next task was the organization of the Macedonian revolutionary committee, which has figured so largely in all the Balkan troubles of the last year or two.

Another Canadian Soldier.

Sir John Dartnell, says M. A. P., in discussing a recent list of honors and promotions, gets the honorary rank of Major-General in the army, and no doubt there was a hot time in the Natal Mounted Police Barracks when the news arrived. For, like most strict but just disciplinarians, Sir John is adored by his black-uniformed troopers. A Canadian by birth, he served in the Inniskilling Fusiliers during the Indian mutiny —from which he brought away a medal, a brevet majority and a shattered finger—then in the Bhootan Expedition as A.D.C. to Major-General Tombs; next in the Zulu war, when he led Lord Chelmsford's left flanking column from Isandlwana, and, of course, during the Boer war, when he acted as guide to General Yule's column on the famous retreat from Dundee. Since '74 he has commanded the N.M.P., as smart a body as even the B.B.P. were under Carrington. He and Sir Albert Hime, the Natal Premier, are very close friends.

ACCIDENT TO A MINER

Strained His Back and was Sent Home in Agony.

Laid up all Winter, but Dodd's Kidney Pills put him on His Feet Again and now he is Completely Cured.

Indian Brook, Victoria Co., N. S., Dec. 15.—Special.—Angus D. McDonald, son of the postmaster here, is prominent among those in this district who swear by Dodd's Kidney Pills as a sure cure for those terrible pains in the back that are one of the surest symptoms of kidney Disease. And Mr. McDonald has good reason for the stand he takes.

While at work in the coal pits he strained his back and was sent home in an agony of pain. The nearest doctor, twenty five miles away, was sent for, but he could do little to relieve his suffering. This was in October, 1901, and he couldn't do a hand's turn of work till the spring of 1902.

Then a hotelkeeper advised him to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. That hotelkeeper didn't see him again till last August and then his first question was "Angus, how's your back?" "As well as ever it was," answered Angus. "What cured it?" "Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me completely."

And the Postmaster at Indian Brook is always ready to testify to the truth of his son's statement.

Pains in the Back, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Dropsy and Heart Disease are caused by diseased Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure them.

THE BURGHERS FALSE.

Dewet Gives This as the Reason Why Britain Did Not Find Her Graveyard in South Africa.

"Had not so many of our burghers proved false to their own colors, England, as the great Bismarck foretold, would have found her grave in South Africa." That is the keynote of the Boer General Dewet's book entitled "Three Years' War," published in London and dedicated by the Boer general to "my fellow subjects of the British Empire."

It is perhaps the most remarkable book by the most remarkable leader that any recent war has produced. The concise, simply told tale of the extraordinary campaign is marked throughout with the stamp of truth. The baldness of the narrative only serves to bring into striking relief the fiery passages where a strong man literally blurts out his soul in pathetic regret and bitter denunciation. In thus taking the public into confidence, Dewet loses nothing of the glamor with which his exploits in the field surrounded him.

In criticizing he spares no one. Boer and Briton come equally under the lash. Dewet declares that whatever the English people may have to say in discredit of Gen. Buller, he had to operate against stronger positions than any other British general. Throughout the work the Boer general has but slight praise for Lord Roberts and little more for Lord Kitchener. Gen. Knox is almost the only British general who seems to have struck Dewet as a commander with real military genius.

"Tommy Atkins" he has many kindly words to say, and declares "the British were far from being bad shots." The comparative immunity of the Boers from harm, Dewet constantly and most fervently attributes to the interposition of God. "If any reader," he says, "is eager to know how it was I kept out of the enemy's hands I can only answer, although I may not be understood, that I ascribed it to nothing else than this; it was not God's will that I should fall into their hands. Let those who rejoice at my miraculous escapes give all the praise to God."

Nevertheless, the book teems with accounts of military and other strategies by which Dewet outwitted his pursuers. Frequently he recounts cases of desertion and panic among his own men when his entreaties and slamboking were all of no avail. Dewet pays tribute to Gen. Cronje for his bravery, but declares he lost at Paardeberg only on account of his fatal obstinacy in not leaving the langer as he was advised to do by Gen. Botha and by the writer himself.

Regarding his own forces, Dewet writes: "It was far easier to fight against the great English army than against treachery among my own people, and an iron will was required to fight against both. Once, if only our orders had been carried out a little more strictly, and if only the most elementary rules of strategy had been observed in our efforts to break the English lines of communication, Lord Roberts and his thousands of troops would have found themselves shut up in Pretoria, where they would have perished of hunger. It was not the skill of their commander-in-chief that saved them."

Of the block-houses, Dewet is frankly contemptuous. "The block-house policy," he says, "might equally well have been called the policy of the extraordinary campaign is marked

The writer emphatically defends the right to blow up railroad lines and trains as the usage of war, and he declares he never missed an opportunity to do so. The so-called war against women and the misuse of the white flag by the British is sternly denounced by the Boer general, who says: "That such direct and indirect murder could have been committed against defenceless women and children is a thing I should have staked my head could never have happened in a war waged by the civilized English nation, and yet it happened."

His last word is an injunction to the new Government. "Loyalty," he says, "pays best in the end, and loyalty alone is worthy of a nation which has shed its blood for freedom."

The book contains a magnificent portrait of the author, by the painter, John S. Sargent.

Life-saving Experiments at Sea.

Some experiments in connection with life-saving at sea were made at Dover with a new ship's lifeboat, the tests being made in the presence of a number of marine experts, including the Board of Trade surveyor and the Consuls of several continental countries.

The apparatus is a small globular-shaped vessel, the invention of Captain Donvig. It is only eight feet in diameter, but twenty persons can easily get inside, while others can stand upon the outside. It can carry provisions for 30 days, and has a flat double bottom, divided into four tanks, to hold fresh water. This water acts as ballast, and as the water in each tank is consumed it is replaced by sea water by means of pumps. The vessel is entered by three water-tight manholes, and owing to its peculiar construction it cannot be drawn down by a sinking ship. One of these craft would only occupy 64 feet of deck space, as compared with 143 feet required for an ordinary ship's lifeboat. It is intended to test the life-saving craft on the Goodwin Sands during the next gale.

"Mentioned in Despatches."

A soldier who has just returned from the war and is the temporary hero of his village, in Wiltshire, England, went to Sunday morning service at the local Baptist Church. The minister, observing him among the congregation, promptly proceeded to pray for him. As Tommy left the church he remarked to his friend present, "First time I've been 'mentioned in despatches.'"

Artificial Stone Sidewalks.

It has been settled beyond dispute that an artificail stone sidewalk will outlast one of wood by fifteen years and one of brick by eight or ten years. They are smooth and firm, cost little or nothing for repairs, and, though the first cost is greater, it is a matter of economy to lay them. The enterprise of a town can always be judged by its streets and sidewalks.

A Million Dollar Province.

The farm property of Ontario has passed the billion dollar mark in value for the first time in our history. The returns of agricultural statistics, issued in a report by the Bureau of Industries, show that in 1901 the value of the farm lands, buildings, implements and live stock reached the total of $1,001,323,296, compared with $974,814,931 the previous year. The County of Middlesex leads with $50,367,864, and Huron comes around with $48,640,114. The gross value of the cheese manufactured reached $12,269,073, of which $10,-[illegible]538 was paid to the milk producers, compared with $13,023,025, and $11,682,470 respectively in 1900.

The amount of chattel mortgages against farmers in Ontario was $2,-854,759 last year, compared with $3,110,543 in 1900 and $3,826,582 in 1896.

An appendix to the report shows that in 1900, the latest year for which figures are available, the total value of farm property in the United States was only $20,514,001,838, or about half the value of farm property in Ontario, in proportion to population.

Cough to Be Thankful For.

"Nobody in your party got shot in mistake for a deer, I suppose?" said a flippant reporter to a hunter.

"No. But I'll tell you something. If you don't print my name and make my wife nervous. I'm told that there were two rifles on me the other day. When we struck the settlement on our way back the tavern-keeper heard me give a little cough that I'm subject to. 'I guess you're the fellow,' he said. And then he told me that two men who had come down the previous day had told him that they saw something moving in the scrub one day and got their guns on it, when just then they heard the object cough, and presently they saw it was a man with a gun. The landlord described the place, and I remembered being there that morning, but did not see the two men. I didn't know there was another party near us. Now, you see, maybe that cough of mine did me a good turn that morning."

Worthy of Imitation.

The farmers living near Trenton, N.J., have adopted a plan for making and keeping the county roads good which is worthy of imitation. They met recently and agreed that each man should care for the road in front of his farm. The result has been some remarkable improvements.

Do You Look on the Dark Side?

Are You Blue, Discouraged Irritable and Depressed?—It may be Your Nerves are Exhausted and You Need

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Irritability and mental depression, sometimes amounting to melancholy and despondency, are marked symptoms of nervous exhaustion.

In the beginning you feel languid and tired, find it impossible to concentrate your thoughts. The tasks of the day are put off till the morrow, little things worry you, you forget your blessings and look on the dark side of things.

At times there may be nervous headaches, spells of dizziness, indigestion, sleeplessness and general weakness of the body. You dread what the future may bring to you and feel the work and responsibilities of life more than you can bear.

Mrs. M. A. Sharp, 346 Dublin street, Peterborough, Ont., states:

"For some years I was troubled with indigestion which developed into nervous dyspepsia and besides suffering from nervousness, strange, dizzy spells would come over me. Hearing of the good results obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I decided to try it. After a pretty thorough test of this medicine I can say that I never used anything that did me so much good. It seemed to be the very treatment that I needed and as a result of its use I am quite restored to health."

The wonderful medicinal power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been demonstrated in thousands of cases. Gradually and certainly it creates new nerve cells, builds up the system, and overcomes the weakness which gives rise to nervous ailments and feelings of depression and despondency. New hopes, new confidence, new vitality are instilled into the body and health and strength take the place of disease.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

DR. JOSEPH PARKER'S

CONGREGATIONS LIMITED ONLY BY CAPACITY OF EDIFICE.

Passing of England's Great Nonconformist—A Public Orator, But Not a Sensational Preacher—Preached Himself Into Prominence—Dr. Parker's Catholicity Shown in Marked Way—The Eccentricities of Genius.

Near to the heart of London, and only a few minutes' walk from Smithfield, red with the blood of martyrs, is the City Temple, which for many years has been the shrine of the remarkable and godly man who is now no more. While other city churches were nearly empty, even on Sunday, Dr. Joseph Parker's congregation, whenever he preached, was limited only by the capacity of the edifice with which he had been so long associated.

All the year round his noonday service on Thursdays drew for thirty years hearers of all religions and of no religions. This kind of service, which had frequently been attempted by others, all of whom failed, was probably the most remarkable proof of the power of the man. By his books, which are contained in eighty volumes, he has become widely known as a prolific writer and compiler on religious subjects. On the lecture platform he attained to a commanding eminence. But his greatest work was as a preacher, and his most brilliant achievement has been the almost uninterrupted maintenance of a noonday service, always crowded with busy men, in the busiest hour in the busiest part of the busiest city of the world.

In the United States Dr. Parker was known as the Beecher of England. Likewise in Great Britain Mr. Beecher was known as the Parker of America. In no sense was Dr. Parker a sensational preacher. He chose Biblical subjects, and dwelt with them from a Scriptural standpoint. When he felt impelled to make special reference to passing events he selected another part of the service for the purpose. He trod the well-beaten paths of theological discourse, but he illuminated them wherever he went.

Yet there was something eccentric in his manner of addressing his hearers. Strong of frame, as befitted a sturdy stonemason's son, he had a large head with disordered bushy hair. A gown he wore, because, as he said, his clothes were always the least presentable of any in the congregation. The voice was the man, of sonorous proportions and of rugged formation. As a rule he spoke in moderate tones, but when he desired to emphasize a particularly strong point he thundered forth as though he would make the whole world hear. His oratory was earnest and forceful rather than flowery and touring.

Of Dr. Parker it can truly be said that he preached himself into the pulpit, and then into the front ranks of English Nonconformists. From a young man, almost from a youth, long before he was ordained, he preached. At twelve years of age he was addressing total abstinence meetings. At fourteen his humble parents decided that he should follow his father's calling. But a year as a mason's apprentice convinced them that he was fit for something better. It was then proposed to make an architect of young Parker. But all the time he had been writing hymns and studying oratory in public and in private. He committed lic and in private. He committed large portions of the Bible to memory, and would recite them in solitude. Finally one June Sunday, in 1848, he accompanied the local preachers to an open-air meeting in a saw pit, near Hexham, and without invitation or preparation, addressed the gathering. Of his first sermon Dr. Parker said lately: "Some people are kind enough to think that even now I am not wholly destitute of energy, but I can assure them that at eighteen, volcanoes, tornadoes, whirlwinds, and other energetics cut a very secondary figure when I was on the saw pit." Other sermons, not less forceful, followed. He became a school teacher, married, studied, and was ordained to a Congregational church at Banbury, Oxfordshire. Thence he went to Manchester. After eleven years' preaching there London sought his ministrations.

Poultry Chapel, to which Dr. Parker was called, was a small, obscure, dingy edifice in a by-way off the well-known thoroughfare — Poultry Soon the forceful preaching made the place too small. The premises were sold and with the proceeds the City Temple, with a seating capacity of 2,500, was built in Holborn.

Against the use of a liturgy Dr. Parker never entertained any objections. Indeed he prepared a liturgy for the opening of his church, and declared that there was nothing in the principle of Congregationalism repugnant to the use of liturgical forms. During a visit to America he wrote that he hoped that the Dean of Westminster and the Dean of Canterbury would yet preach in the City Temple. He added: "I cannot but hope and believe that in less than seven years I shall preach in Westminster Abbey, or in St. Paul's Cathedral." Though he did not see the realization of that prediction, he preached to many an Anglican, and many an Anglican clergyman, in his, the City Temple.

An effort was made on the death of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher to induce Dr. Parker to locate in Brooklyn. In an interview which the great English Nonconformist gave to a reporter while in Toronto he declared that nothing could tempt him to leave his charge in London, which he held up till the hour of his death.

Many curious stories are told of Dr. Parker. Asked at what great historical event he would like to have been present, he replied: "At the Creation." At a conference he attended one speaker called himself a "humble Presbyterian," whereupon Dr. Parker said: "I will turn aside and see this great sight." Ordering a coat from his tailor in his early days he said it must be "black, glossy, and cheap—but the greatest of these three is cheap." A publisher who asked permission to sell his sermons remarked when Dr. Parker enquired as to his terms. "It's all for the glory of God." "Very well," replied the divine, "we'll divide the profits and the glory between us." To a young dandy in the congregation who annoyed him by constantly pulling out his watch, Dr. Parker said: "Put up your watch, young man; we are speaking of eternity, not of time." One of his American lecture tours was stopped because the doctor's health would not allow him to complete it. When Major Pond, in spite of his less, tendered him a cheque for the lectures delivered, Dr. Parker tore it up, saying: "I propose to give you five hundred years to pay me, and then I'll renew five hundred years more."

LONDON STREET NAMES.

Committee to Deal With Nomenclature of Thoroughfares.

The naming of London streets, which is one of the minor duties of the County Council, has recently been transferred from the Building Act Committee to the Historical Records and Buildings Committee of that body. The change, which was not accomplished without sharp debate in the full Council, is significant, it may be hoped, of change in the spirit with which hitherto, in the main, the nomenclature of London has been regulated. The naming of streets is dealt with in the London Building Act, and for this reason it was placed in the hands of the Building Act Committee, although greatly differing from the rest of its functions. The efficiency of the committee in administering the law as to the height of buildings and width of way has never been questioned, but there is little relationship between these matters and the names which, having regard to historic associations or other sentimental as well as practical considerations, may best be given to the new streets constantly coming into being, or the old streets which, for various reasons, require rechristening. And these other duties were so onerous as to leave the members of the committee very little time, if they had the desire, to carefully weigh such "sentimental" considerations. When the proposed naming or renaming of streets was reached on the agenda the committee had usually been sitting three or four hours, and the subject could receive only jaded attention. With the formation of a committee, therefore, one of whose principal duties was concerned with the preservation of the historical and artistic amenities of London, there was good reason why the christening of our streets should be given into its hands.

The Council has already laid down for itself several useful rules from the point of view of public convenience, and these are not likely to be much disturbed. The name of a new street, for instance, must, if possible, consist of one word, with the addition of "street," "road," or other like term, and be not already in use within the county, while names for terraces or other blocks of houses and sections of streets, so dear to the heart of the suburban builder, are no longer recognized. The slightest acquaintance with the older parts of London demonstrates the wisdom of both rules. To some extent the Council has endeavored to make their operation retrospective, but meddling with existing names is usually difficult and sometimes is open to real objection, involving loss to business people even where it does not destroy ancient landmarks. London in consequence still abounds in repeated names, only about a thousand out of 7,000 having been destroyed since the Council began its work of revision. The worst offenders are undoubtedly the "Saints," who have between them no fewer than 397 streets named in their honor. There are similarly 105 Church streets and 56 Chapel streets, while the "Kings" number 66 and the "Queens" just a hundred.—London Pall Mall Gazette.

Family cares and duties do not weigh down the well woman, and the children are never in her way. But when the womanly health fails, and there is a constant struggle with weakness and pain, household duties are a burden almost past bearing, and children are a ceaseless annoyance and worry.

Weak women are made strong and sick women are made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I had been ailing some time, troubled with female weakness," writes Mrs. Wm. M. Johnson, of Avondale, Chester Co., Pa. "Every month I would have to lie on my back. I tried many different medicines and nothing gave me relief until I began Dr. Pierce's medicines, using two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines have cured me. When I began your treatment I was not able to do very much, but now I do the work for my family of nine, and feel better to-day than I have for a year. I thank you, doctor, from the bottom of my heart, for well do I know that you are the one who cured me."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best laxative for family use.

1902 Meteorological.

Here is an English journalist's description of 1902, considered meteorologically: "Everybody has been complaining of the present year, and not unreasonably. How many well-earned and longed-for holidays it has spoiled! How many days of enforced hard work have its piercing winds and cheerless skies rendered more than ordinarily trying! In a couple of months we shall have said good-bye to it, and there will be little sadness in the farewell. We said good-bye to the spring without regret, for, indeed, there was no spring. We said good-bye to the summer without regret, for, indeed, there was no summer. It seems that now we shall say good-bye to the autumn without regret, for who will dream of calling it 'a season of mellow fruitfulness, close bosom friend of the maturing sun?' The corn fields never ripened to gold. The apples never reddened in the orchards. The very blackberries on the hedgerows for all there promised profusion hang there still stunted." Our summer was not quite as bad as that. Apples, tomatoes and grapes ripened, and as a compensation for a cool, wet summer we have had a fine fall.

"Coal Oil" Candles.

According to Commercial Intelligence, an English journal, "coal oil" candles are the latest things in frauds. Commercial Intelligence says: "Some time ago we took occasion to refer to the use of powdered glass in cheap confectionery, a practice which, as The Lancet pointed out, could not have any but the most serious results to the consumer. The latest adulterant to be discovered is paraffin wax. Recently three shopkeepers in Sunderland were summoned for selling "chocolate chumps" containing paraffin wax. A fine of £5 and costs was imposed in each case, but the real culprit or culprits were evidently not before the court. It is the maker of these pernicious articles that we want to see heavily punished."

A GUARANTEED CURE

For all Forms of Kidney Disease.

We the undersigned Druggists are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, the only remedy in the world that positively cures all troubles arising from weak or diseased kidneys:—

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after use of one bottle. Three to six bottles effect astonishing and permanent cures. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money."

Ormond & Walsh, Druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

A Fish Story.

"Talk about fish and things of the sea!" said he who claimed to be a seafaring man. "'Twas in the year—well, it was a good while ago and we were floating somewhere around—well, one of the oceans. One day we were heading sou' by sou'west, latitude—I forget exactly which—when a ripple in the water suggested the presence of a shark. You can always tell a shark by its ripple. He's got one of his own. We never landed a good specimen, and when he showed his head I could well tell he was a ten footer. I always was quick and precise. A knife in me mouth, a jump, and I landed headforemost between the shark's jaws. Quick as a flash I turned around. With me knife I cut holes through his sides for my legs and arms to pass through and swam back to the ship. Well, he was a fine morsel, that fish was, and we lived on him for weeks. Is it true? Well"—and he displayed a splinter from the handle of the knife.

KING EDWARD OF ENGLAND.

In that eclipse of noon when joy was hushed,
Like the birds' song beneath unnatural night,
And Terror's footfall in the darkness crushed
The rose imperial of our delight,
Then, even then, tho' no man cried, "He comes,"
And no man turneth to greet him passing there,
With phantom heralds challenging responses
And silent-throbbing drums,
I saw the King of England, hale and fair,
Ride out with a great train through London town.

Unarmed he rode, but in his ruddy shield
The lions bore the dint of many a lance.
And up and down his mantle's azure field
Were strewn the lilies plucked in famous France.
Before him went with banner floating wide
The yeomen breed that served his honor best,
And mixed with these knights of noble blood;
But in the place of pride.
His admirals in billowy lines close abreast
Convoyed him close like galleons on the flood.

Full of a strength unbroken showed his face,
And his brow calm with youth's unclouded dawn,
But round his lips were lines of tenderest grace
Such as no hand but Time's hath ever drawn.
Surely he knew his glory had no part
In dull decay, nor into Death must head,
Yet surely too of lengthening shadows dreamed
With sunset in his heart,
So brief his beauty now, so near the end,
And now so old and so immortal seemed.

O King of men that dies, tho' we must fall
Sons of thy dust that shall inherit thee:
O King of men that lie, tho' we must fall
Thy life is breathed from thy triumphant sea.
O man that servest men by right of birth,
Our heart's content thy heart shall also keep,
Thou, too, with us shall one day lay thee down
In our dear native earth,
Full sure the King of England, while we sleep,
Forever rides abroad through London town.
—Henry Newbolt, in Independent.

No Serious Drawback.

Bridget was engaged to be married to a young plumber, Terence Dolan by name, and when, two weeks before the day set for the wedding, she fell down the cellar stairs she was in the depths of woe.

"I've broke out one o' my front teeth," she wailed to her mistress, "and my teeth has been my best beauty, ma'am! Manny's the time Terence has had me show 'em to his friends and remarked how fine they were! Oh, what'll I do? What'll I do?"

"Tell Terence all about it when he comes tonight, and I'm sure he'll say he's only glad you were not more severely injured," said her mistress, but Bridget shook her head and refused to be comforted.

"'Twould be better for me if I'd broke some of my bones," she said gloomily, "and maybe all of 'em."

That evening after Terence had come and gone Bridget appeared before her mistress, the gloom gone and her face set in a broad smile.

"I towld him all about it," she said gayly, "and he says to me, 'What's a tooth more or less when it comes to cookin'?' he says carelessilke and passed on to Cassidy's wake as if 'twas no matter at all!"

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

The market closes firmer and with better tone to-night than it has had for some time. The declin ein foreign exchange practically does away with fears of gold shipments for the balance of the year. The getting together of banking interests syndicates of $40,000,000 to take care of call money came as a relief to a good many commission houses who have time loans maturing and saw but little chance of renewing them. Liquidation as far as commission houses are concerned has been very thorough, and the selling from now on must come from a different quarter as the volume of stocks held on margin is probably considerably lower than has been for years. While we do not expect a run away bull market we feel that we have seen the worst, and believe that good stocks are a good purchase to hold on to, although of course we may see some flurry in stock market.

Two Dinners, One Meal.

"I have a lawyer friend whose name is not Henry Peck, but it might be," said a city official.

"Last week my wife and I were invited to his house for dinner, and you never saw finer silver and china on a table, but food was at extreme low tide. My wife gave me a significant glance, and I saw the color rise to the cheeks of our host, but he played the agreeable without a word or look of disapproval.

"Both my wife and I were awfully hungry when we started for home, and she at once accepted my invitation to enter the first restaurant we saw for a good square meal. We were no sooner seated than we saw our dinner host come sneaking in and take a seat in an obscure corner.

"'Make believe that we don't see him,' said my wife, with a woman's tact. We did make believe, and, the funny part is, so did our late host. By the friendly aid of a mirror I saw when he first observed us the color come to his cheeks, as it had at his own table. He turned as far from us as possible and ate as though he were not enjoying his meal very much."

PETERBOROUGHS FINANCIAL STANDING.

Treasurer Brownscombe's Annual Statement.

A $7,000 DEFICIT SHOWN.

Due to the Waterworks Debentures Selling Below Par.

At last night's meeting of the Peterborough Town Council, Alderman Roger, Chairman of the Finance Committee, presented the financial statement of the treasurer of the Town of Peterborough. It showed that the town has a deficit of $7031. This, however, is putting the matter in its worst light, as $6,831, the amount of shortage on the sale of the water works debentures, with $200 interest thereon until Jan. 1st, should in reality be charged to capital account, and would leave a surplus of $23.00.

It will be remembered that when the debentures of the Waterworks were sold they did not realise par value, but came $6,831 short. The Water Commissioners have not as yet assumed this amount, and if they do not do so it is quite likely that the town will issue additional debentures to cover the amount. Otherwise, as just stated, the treasurer's books show a small balance on the right side.

The financial statement is as follows:

NOT DUE TO CLIMATE.

Catarrh is Found Everywhere.

Catarrh is at home anywhere and everywhere. While more common in cold, changeable climates, it is by no means confined to them, but is prevalent in every state and territory in the union.

The common definition of catarrh is a chronic cold in the head, which if long neglected often destroys the sense of smell and hearing; but there are many other forms of the disease, even more obstinate and dangerous.

Catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver are almost as common as nasal catarrh and generally more difficult to cure.

Catarrh is undoubtedly a blood disease and can only be successfully eradicated by an internal treatment. Sprays, washes and powders are useless as far as reaching the real seat of the disease is concerned.

Dr. McIverney advises catarrh sufferers to use a new preparation, sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because actual analysis has shown these tablets to contain certain anti-septic qualities of the highest value and being a ninternal remedy, pleasant to the taste, convenient and harmless, can be used as freely as required, as well for children as for adults.

An attorney and public speaker, who had been a catarrh sufferer for years, says:

"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all winter long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became affected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking.

"I tried troches and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two fifty cent boxes which I bought at my druggists, cleared my head and throat in fine shape and to guard against a return of my old trouble I keep a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward off any serious developments."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets deserves to head the list as a household remedy, to check and break up coughs and colds, because unlike many other catarrh andcough cures these tablets contain no opiate, cocaine or any injurious drug.

Accident to Mr. H. H. Cook.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—On Saturday evening, when returning from his office to his house, 20 Dowling avenue, Mr. H. H. Cook fell when getting off a street car at the corner of King street and Dowling avenue. Mr Cook made three attempts to get up, but failed each time, and finally fell on the track unconscious. A had found him there, and his alarm attracted the neighbors. Mr. Cook was carried to his home on a hand sleigh, and shortly recovered consciousness. Dr. Clement, who was called, found that Mr. Cook's left ankle was broken.

Scores of Uses.

While Dr. Chase's Ointment is best known on account of its wonderful control over eczema, salt rheum and piles, it is found to be in almost daily demand in many homes as a cure for chilblains, chafing; pimples, sunburns, burns,scalds, and each and every form of itching, irritated or inflamed skin. It is invaluable in every home, and as a soothing and healing application, knows no equal.

OPINION OF MR. BAER

He Says Independent Operators Fleece the Public.

MINE OPERATOR FAVORS MINERS

John C. Haddock, an Individual Operator, Approves of an Increased Wage—Judge Gray Suggests a Law to Prevent Children Working All Night to Satisfy Rapacity of Fathers.

New York, Dec. 17.—President Baer of the Reading Road made a statement yesterday, deprecating the course pursued by the independent coal operators, who, it is alleged, have forced the price for their coal up to $11,50 a ton, to dealers, equal to $14 to the consumer.

"Unfortunately, there seems to be no way to compel them to sell down to the level fixed by the railroads," said Mr. Baer.

"If their sense of obligation to the people cannot deter them from asking prohibitive prices, nothing the public or the railroads can do would be of any effect. The railroads cannot refuse to transport their coal; the law regulating the business of all public carriers opposes it. The charge that the railroads are selling railroad coal to independents for disposal in the open market is absolutely false. We are doing everything in our power to keep down the price of coal, and to get it to market quickly."

WORKING CHILDREN.

Judge Gray Wants to Prevent Miners Making Money Out of Them.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 17.—When the Coal Strike Commission met yesterday Chairman Gray opened the proceedings by saying that the commissioners were impressed with the spectacle of the little girls who were before the commission yesterday and testified that they worked all night. He said the people of the community and citizens of the commonwealth should not let the incident pass without taking some steps to have the Legislature of Pennsylvania seriously consider the enactment of a law that would forbid the employment of children at night. At the suggestion of the commission the statement of the wages of the fathers of two of the girls were presented. One earned more than $1,000 last year, and the other over $900.

The miners sprung another surprise by presenting an individual operator on the witness stand against the operators. He was John C. Haddock of Wilkes-Barre, President of the Plymouth Coal Company. Mr. Haddock said he had been in the coal business 35 years. His company went into the hands of a receiver on March 14, and Nov. 14 trustees took it. He explained that the miner's ton, which runs from 2,700 to 3,200 pounds, was fixed years ago, so the employer could get out of the ton 2,240 pounds of pure coal above the size of pea, and all below that was waste. This waste is now being utilized. Regarding the prices of coal, Mr. Haddock said the middleman in New York is paying $11 and $12 a ton.

Judge Gray—"Do they pay the operators that price?"

"Possibly," replied the witness.

Mr. Haddock said the Lackawanna Company wanted to regulate the tonnage of his company some years ago. He opposed the proposition, for a year and a half and finally obtained the right to mine and ship coal as he pleased. Mr. Haddock said he believed in the combination of capital, and of labor. He looked upon the organization of labor as a necessity, and he had no objection to dealing with labor unions if properly conducted. He believed the mine workers, because of the good market for coal, were justified in asking for an increase in wages.

On cross-examination, Mr. Haddock said he did not know of any operator who is charging prices above the schedule list.

Bubonic Plague in New York.

New York, Dec. 17.—Three cases of bubonic plague are under treatment in the Swinburne Island Hospital, at Quarantine. The sufferers are the first and second cooks and the second steward of the Prince Line steamer Saxon Prince, which arrived from Durban, South Africa. On inspection of the crew, three were found to be ill. A thorough examination of the patients, convinced Health Officer Doty that they had all the symptoms of the plague, and they were taken to Swinburn Island. The result of the examination made known last night confirmed the diagnosis made at the inspection. Dr. Doty says that there is no danger of a spread of the plague as the whole matter is well in hand.

Lord Lansdowne's Statement on Venezuelan Case.

THE PRINCIPLE OF ARBITRATION

President Castro's Proposition Is Considered Vague and Unsatisfactory—Some Things May Be Accepted But There Are Others That Cannot Be Arbitrated—U.S. Declines Sponsorship.

London, Dec. 17. — Judging from statements given out by the Foreign Office, the Venezuelan situation last night did not appear to be any nearer a settlement. Up to a late hour last night no suggestion has been made that Great Britain could eventually see its way to submitting its claims to arbitration, and the Foreign Office points out that Venezuela's offer to arbitrate is extremely vague.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, Under Foreign Secretary Cranborne said no attempt had been made by Great Britain to refer the dispute with Venezuela to arbitration.

Replying to a question in the House of Lords, Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, said that if the seizure of the Venezuelan gunboats did not produce the desired effect further coercive measures would be employed. The matter had been considered in consultation with Germany, and it had been decided to resort to a blockade of the ports. It was not intended to land a British force and still less to occupy Venezuela territory.

President Castro, in the communication in which he expressed his willingness to resort to arbitration, provides to guarantee that the rights of British subjects in Venezuela will be respected pending award. The Foreign Office claims that some matters are impossible to arbitrate, instancing the disrespectful treatment of Mr. Haggard, British Minister to Venezuela; to arbitrate the financial claims, however, will meet with no opposition in official circles in London, nor is there any desire to stir up opposition here by the continuing unnecessarily the present armed compact with Germany; but, quoting from the Foreign Office, "at the same time there is not the slightest inclination to let Venezuela go unpunished for her repeated insults and injuries. The offer to arbitrate comes very late. We are not seeking a quarrel, but we must insure ourselves against a recurrence of the acts which led to the present situation."

The Foreign Office appears to be without official cognizance of the attitude of the Washington Government, although it is convinced unofficially that Washington is anxious that further hostilities be avoided. It is known that the Foreign Office has made inquiry as to whether the United States would be willing to guarantee the fulfilling of Venezuela's pledges, either at the immediate cessation of the present European action or pending the award of arbitrators.

The inquiry resulted in a direct negative from the United States. With the guarantee of the United States, the Foreign Office says arbitration in the Venezuelan matters would be an immediate probability, but, with only the word of a Government hitherto unreliable, arbitration is difficult of accomplishing, even upon the points where international relations admit of such a method of settlement.

U.S. Is Watchful.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Nothing was heard yesterday from Minister Bowen at Caracas, so Secretary Hay had no fresh information to carry to the Cabinet meeting yesterday relative to the Venezuelan affair.

The Venezuelan situation was discussed at the meeting yesterday in all its phases, but no recession on the part of this Government with respect to questions involving Venezuela or any of the other governments of South or Central America as laid down by the President in his messages to Congress was suggested. No apprehension exists that serious trouble is growing out of the situation will accrue to this country. It is believed both Great Britain and Germany will act within the arrangement originally presented to this Government, and to which the United States passively assented.

The Senate held a secret session yesterday on the Venezuelan affair. In none of the addresses was anything harsh or critical said. The tone of all speeches, whether by Republicans or Democrats, was that this country's position as a nation should be one of watchfulness.

Italy Self-Satisfied.

Rome, Dec. 17.—Italian participation in the Anglo-German action against Venezuela produces an effect here, not anti-American, but one of self-satisfaction and pride at taking part in what is considered the first break in the Monroe Doctrine. Parliament and the public press, without distinction of party, which is very strange in Italy, approve the action of the Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Italy's Minister Quits.

Caracas, Dec. 17.—The Italian Minister to Venezuela, Signor DeRiva, has received orders from Rome to leave Caracas this morning. He will go on board the Italian cruiser Giovanni Bausan at La Guayra.

Child Burned to Death.

Quebec, Dec. 17.—A despatch from Grondines, County of Portneuf, says about 8 o'clock Monday night fire broke out in the house owned and occupied by Louis Archambeault, cheese manufacturer. The flames spread with such rapidity that nothing could be saved. The two-year-old son of Mr. Archambeault perished in the flames.

AN UNTRUE RUMOR.

That St. John, N.B., Is Closed by English Is Officially Denied.

Montreal, Dec. 17.—Much interest was aroused in business circles yesterday morning by a rumor that the Imperial authorities had decided to prohibit the landing in England of cattle shipped from St. John, N.B.

The Deputy Minister of Agriculture, George F. O'Halloran, being communicated with by telephone said: "The statement that the port of St. John has been scheduled is absolutely unfounded. No such cable has been received from Lord Strathcona. In fact, no cable has reached us from Lord Strathcona for two days past."

St. John Not Closed.

St. John, Dec. 17.—St. John is not closed. Cattle are arriving by the Intercolonial almost every day.

No Truth in It.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—No truth whatever in report that Canadian ports are closed for shipment of cattle. If such action were taken by the British Government this department would be at once advised. Have received no communication on the subject.—George F. O'Halloran, Deputy Minister of Agriculture.

To Set Apart $500,000.

Washington, Dec. 17.—The Senate Committee on Appropriations yesterday authorized a favorable report on the bill appropriating $500,000 for the conduct of the campaign against the cattle disease in New England.

ACCLAIMED PRESIDENT.

Gen. Nord's Opponents Take Refuge at Foreign Consulates.

Port au Prince, Dec. 17.—Seneque Pienos took refuge yesterday in the German Consulate. All the military authorities who have been supporters of Seneque Pienos candidacy for the presidency, and those opposed to Gen. Nord, also sought refuge in the Consulates.

Gen. Nord is acclaimed President by the troops, and seems to be master of the situation, notwithstanding the fact that the majority of Congress is in favor of Seneque Pienos.

It is believed Gen. Nord will dissolve the Chamber of Communes, and the Senate will order the elections which will result in his favor. Firing continued yesterday afternoon in the streets, but the foreign residents are in no danger.

Shooting in the Streets.

Washington, Dec. 17.—The following cablegram was received yesterday from Vice-Consul-General Jorres, at Port au Prince:

"Gen. Nord arrived Sunday. Great excitement; shooting in the streets. Secretary of Interior with general police at Legation. Serious trouble expected."

LIVES LOST IN FLOODS.

General Rain in Kentucky, and Other Southern States.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 17.—A general rain which has prevailed over Kentucky, Arkansas, and Tennessee since Saturday ceased yesterday. Kentucky streams are all out of their banks, and in many localities rising rapidly. Extensive damage is reported, with the loss of one life. Along the Ohio, the losses are heaviest. Three lives were lost in the bottoms north of Memphis, Tenn. A levee used as a roadway broke as three farmers were passing in a wagon. They were swept away, and the bottoms are flooded for miles.

SIXTEEN MEN DROWNED.

Officers and Crew of Steamer Marlay Go Down With Ship.

London, Dec. 17.—A despatch to The Central News says that sixteen men, officers and crew of the British steamer Marlay are believed to have been drowned as a result of the foundering of their vessel. The Marlay left Liverpool for Dublin, loaded with coal Monday evening. She experienced heavy weather in mid-channel. A lifeboat was lowered, but it was washed away with one man in it. This sailor was rescued; he declares that he saw the Marlay founder.

Dire Want in Austria.

Vienna, Dec. 17.—The unprecedented severity of the weather throughout Austria has caused acute suffering among the poor and the unemployed, who are more numerous this year than for many years past. In the iron trade alone there are one hundred and forty thousand men without employment. The emigration agents are thriving. The best workmen of Austria are leaving the country, a fact which economists greatly deplore because it assists the new world to compete with Europe. In emigrating Austrian workmen help the ruin of their own country.

Three Acres Sell at $1,700.

Toronto, Dec. 17.—Acting for the widow of the late James Keough of Guelph, Charles Dunbar of Guelph, at Osgoode Hall yesterday morning, secured an order authorizing the sale of three acres of land in the suburbs of Guelph for $1,700. The widow had a lifelong interest in the land, and the property will be used for the buildings erected in affiliation with the Ontario Agricultural College by Sir William Macdonald. It is said the former earning power of the land was $7 a year, and the price it was formerly held at was $50 an acre.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1902.

BEST RESULT WAS OBTAINED.

(Toronto Star.)

A weekly newspaper that favours prohibition has complained because the vote on the question was not held on the day of the municipal elections, but we believe the last will be soon heard of this. If the vote that was polled on December 4th had been polled on municipal election day, it would have been an easy thing for the liquor interests to rob the result of all significance. They would claim that men were drawn to the polls by the municipal elections, and that thousands therefore voted who would not walk across the road to either vote for or help in enforcing the Liquor Act.

There is no chance for such talk now, and attempts to discredit the significance of the vote polled against the barrooms are bound to fail. The straight fact is that 170,838 electors went to the polls for the simple purpose and no other of voting for the Liquor Act. In the country the roads were bad, canvassing was difficult, the voter who did not want to vote had, in the condition of the roads, a fair excuse. In the cities men quit work, not to vote for a Mayor or alderman, but for the definite purpose of voting for this law. This is the most authoritative pronouncement against the liquor trade, as it is, that the temperance people of Ontario have ever procured. It cannot be talked away, as would have been the case had the poll been taken on municipal election day.

The barrooms, the treating, and the promiscuous drinking habits of the people were up for judgment, and in the whole Province only 90,310 persons came forward to drop secret ballots in defence of the liquor trade as it is. In some places it is more than likely that ballot boxes were stuffed, and that this vote, small as it is, was not honestly obtained.

The strongest denunciation has thus been given of the liquor traffic as it is. It has few to defend it, and many to denounce it, and the next duty of Government must be to thin out the barrooms, close up entirely those that are but saloons, and altogether to apply an advanced policy of restriction.

HIGH TARIFF VS. LOW TARIFF.

The great question before Canadians to-day is the tariff. From one end to the other of this broad Dominion the question of a high or low tariff is being discussed. Honest discussion is what the people of Canada want. It will be interesting to know that the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal has opened its columns for a full and free discussion of this important question. The leaders of both political parties are invited to give their views. Farmers, manufacturers, importers, etc., will have an opportunity to express themselves. The Family Herald, being a purely non-political paper, absolutely independent of all political parties or interests, is the one paper in Canada wherein such an open discussion can be carried on. With the Family Herald and Weekly Star's immense circulation at every post office in the Dominion, this will be a splendid opportunity for the leaders of both parties to air their views on the tariff question, and the public will naturally expect to hear from them through the Family Herald and Weekly Star. The discussion will be watched and read with interest.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

The council met in the town hall, on Monday, December 15th, in accordance with the R.S.O. All the members were present. The minutes of the meetings of October 13 and Nov. 10, were read and confirmed.

A communication was received and read from W. J. Harkome, of Richmond, Que., offering the structural parts of old railway bridges for sale for township purposes. This was received.

Accounts were presented as follows: D. Galloway, Com. Road Division No. 1, for work done repairing culverts and raking stones off the highway, $13.50; Jas. M. Smith, $6.50, Mat Clarke, right of way for hauling gravel, $2.

On motion of Messrs. May and Madill, these accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

The clerk fyled receipts for moneys received by him as follows:

The statement was received and the clerk was instructed to publish the same according to law.

The following salaries and sessional allowances were ordered to be paid: Treasurer, W. H. Bradburn, $40; clerk, G. W. Bennett, $37.50; Caretaker, T. R. Sanderson, $7; Reeve, T. E. Bradburn, $15; Councillors May, Madill, Smith and Dobbin, each $10.

An account for work done on the Cavan boundary was received from the Clerk of Cavan, amounting to $9.31, of which North Monaghan is asked to pay one-half. This account was received and the Clerk was instructed to render to Cavan Council a contra account for work done on the same road by North Monaghan, as shown by the pay sheets of the Road Commissioner.

Moved by Mr. Madill, seconded by Mr. May, that Mr. Smith be a Committee to act with a Committee of the Sunday School to purchase blinds for the windows of the Town Hall.—Carried.

Bylaw No. 514, a bylaw to appoint a place of nomination, etc., etc., was then read and finally passed.

By this bylaw Mr. H. G. Webber and Mr. J. J. Bennett were appointed Deputy Returning Officers for 1903.

The collector, Mr. Barnard, was reappointed and authorised to proceed and collect all unpaid taxes on or before Wednesday, Dec. 24th, 1902.

The Council then adjourned until Dec. 27th, to meet in the Reeve's office at 3 p.m.

MR. BURNHAM'S INTERESTING ADDRESS

On the Subject, History of the Workingman

IN ST. PETER'S T. A. S. ROOMS

Was Tendered a Hearty Vote of Thanks at the Conclusion of His Remarks—Rev. Father McColl in the Chair.

St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society has provided many excellent literary evenings, but Monday night's address by Mr. J. Hampden Burnham far surpassed anything furnished by the society since its organization. The subject of that gentleman's address was, "The History of the Working Man from the Earliest Times." It was unique in its character and was an intellectual effort of the highest order. The speaker possesses a splendid style of delivery, as well as a store of historical knowledge, which was evidenced Monday evening by the manner in which he handled his subject. The address was of unusual interest to the labouring element, delivered in a calm, convincing manner, free from ambiguous terms and bristling with good, sound logic.

Rev. Father McColl occupied the chair, and seated on the platform, together with the speaker of the evening, were Rev. Dr. O'rien and Mr. John Belcher.

The chairman, in introducing the speaker, paid a high compliment to that gentleman, which was warmly recognized by the audience.

Mr. Burnham assured his hearers that he was only too happy to assist the society in every way he could. In introducing his subject, Mr. Burnham stated that he knew of nothing more interesting or more intimately connected with the life of the country, than the history of labour. It was surprising the amount of literature on the subject at the disposal of the people, and the history of labour was well worth studying.

Mr. Burnham began his address proper by referring to the change that took place after the fall of the Roman Empire. The people settled down after years of warfare into settlements, and did not acquire the art of living in towns as at the present day. The condition of the masses at this time was described in a decidedly interesting manner, by the speaker, who next took his hearers to England, and incidentally dealt with the introduction of the fuedal system in the reign of William of Normandy. The people resided in settlements or communities and were under lords, who represented the king. The people, Mr. Burnham stated, did not own the land, no more than they do at the present day. It was the king's, and a tribute was paid for the privilege, in the same manner as the taxes are levied in this age. The audience was here treated to a delightful word picture of the condition of affairs in England at this time. The people were educated to an astonishing degree, as is proven by the many documents and archives, which have been preserved to this day. There were no monopolies—the people manufactured the necessaries of life in their own little circle. The shoes were made to wear and to last and were handed down from father to son. The priests and monks were the philosophers and practiced the different professions, and at this point Mr. Burnham paid a glowing tribute to the power for good exercised by the church at this period. The organizations of the guilds was next referred to, where the working men banded together for protection, and where applicants were obliged to serve apprenticeships, ranging from seven to fourteen years. The ravages of the Black Death fairly decimated the workingmen in England, and, as a result, skilled labour was at a premium, and the wage rate increased. The reign of Henry VII, however, brought about a change, and the speaker handled this monarch without gloves. A state of chaos and unrest followed, together with rebellion, and it was sometime before society settled down to what it had been prior to this monarch's accession to the throne.

In the eighteenth century—the age of great inventions—a radical change took place in the condition of the working man. The great inventions for which this period is noted, revolutionized the things from a labour standpoint. The child-labour curse fastened its fangs on the industrial activity of the country. Fathers stopped at home and rocked the cradles, while their wives and daughters went out to toil and sweat. This state of affairs existed until about the year 1824.

Coming down to the present day the speaker reviewed the labour situation, and scathingly denounced the millionaire, the monopolist and the fake stock companies who inserted falsehoods in the press as to their alleged capital stock, bleeding their innocent dupes and carrying on a system of legalized gambling. The oily-tongued politicians came in for considerable attention. Reference was made to the manner in which they belched forth their gilt-edged promises to the workingman as to what they would do when elected towards passing labour legislation. They then flood the constituency with cash, and their election is assured. They go to Parliament and legislate for the capitalist, and if by some strange coincidence labour legislation is enacted, these self same politians lose no time in telling the working man how he guarded his interests. Mr. Burnham contended that there were laws on the statute books that were never carried out. They were law in theory. Officials were appointed to carry out the laws, but where were they. The people had in their power to rectify these things at the ballot box. Yet how many are there who will sell their birthright! Glib-tongued political tricksters should be fairly met by the voter, and questioned as to what he had done for the masses in regard to lessening the cost of the necessaries of life—coal and wood, for instance.

Mr. Burnham, in closing, gave it as his opinion that if mankind reverenced their Maker in the true spirit of Christianity, and practiced and fostered higher ideals in life, in this way man would become better, would understand each other better, and as a result society would be what God intended it should be.

Mr. Burnham's address was a logical and convincing argument in favour of the contention that religion alone can accomplish what can never be brought about by legislation—the eradication of the evils of society and the betterment of the condition of the people as a whole.

At the conclusion of Mr. Burnham's address a hearty vote of thanks was accorded him by Messrs. Chas. Murty and J. P. Shevlin.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien and Mr. John Belcher also referred in warm terms to Mr. Burnham's address.

During the evening the following excellent programme was presented:—vocal solo, Miss Annie Simons; recitation, Miss Ethel Primeau; trio, Miss Nettie Lewis and Messrs. F. Pope and J. Roach; vocal solos, Mr. James Wyer and Mr. T. J. Begley.

What is Going on Around the Deserted Village.

The Belleville Intelligencer contains an account of the marriage of Rev. F. Howard, of this circuit, and Miss Minnie Johnson of that city. They are residing in Havelock.

Mrs. John Doidge returned home from Toronto last week.

Mr. J. R. Taylor, our present public school teacher, we hear is engaged at Young's Point for 1903.

On Tuesday morning last fire broke out in the residence of Mrs. Cooper, and when discovered was beyond control. Mrs. Cooper lost most of her household effects and her daughter was slightly burned in trying to save some of the contents. The house was not insured.

The Blairton Methodist church intend giving their anniversary tea meeting on Christmas night as usual. Bills are out, and an excellent programme, consisting of drills, songs, dialogues, pantomimes and speeches by prominent clergyman, is in course of preparation. Trust the ladies of the church to provide an excellent supper. Tea will be served from 6 to 8 p.m. in the school house. This tea meeting promises to outrival all preceding ones and to keep up Blairton's old time reputation in this line. Admission, adults, 35c.; children, 20c.

Mr. D. Monroe of this section, who in the fall lost 14 cattle, from what was then thought to have been anthrax, has since proved that the cattle were poisoned. A quantity of Paris Green was found mixed with the soil near where the cattle were pasturing. The villain who perpetrated this dastardly deed deserves to be tarred and feathered. Mr. Monroe's friends here have shown their sympathy by aiding him with a purse of money.

DOURO AND COUNTY COUNCIL.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

It is well known, and I think you have before announced the fact, that Mr. Dennis Moloney, our late respected and efficient reeve, has retired from the township council, to become a candidate for the representation of the Fifth Division in the County Council, and there is little doubt of his election, if the electors generally appreciate his ability to give effective service as those who know his good qualities best, and who believe that he will be able to give the County Council as good service as did his name sake and predecessor, Mr. John Moloney, who sat in the County Council as Reeve of Douro for so many years. Mr. Moloney was waited upon on Tuesday night by an influential deputation, and asked to enter the contest, and was assure dof their cordial support. Among the members of the deputation were Mr. Moloney's present colleagues in the township council, Messrs. Chas. Curtis, M. D. Sullivan, John R. Allen and J. Condon, and also Mr. Wm. O'Brien, the township clerk. The meeting was a larg eone, and Mr. Moloney was its unanimous choice. Mr. Moloney accepted the situation and will enter upon the contest with the energy that forms a part of his character. Those who know him best have faith in his capabilities to make a first class representative, and he will receive their most hearty support.

FOR PALMA TROPHY.

Next Shooting Takes Place at Bisley on July 11, 1903.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—The Militia Department has received notification from the Council of the National Rifle Association that the Palma Trophy, which was won by the British team at Ottawa Sept. 13 last, in competition with teams from the United States and Canada, will be shot for at Bisley on Saturday, July 11, 1903.

The general conditions for the match are as follows: Each team must consist of eight men; the rifle used is to be the national arm of the country the team represents; the distances are to be 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, there are to be 15 shots at each distance by each competitor; any position, without artificial rest, may be employed; members of the various teams participating must be native-born citizens and residents of the countries they respectively represent, except in the case of the teams representing provinces or territories of a Government, in which case a residence in the province will be sufficient, provided the member is a native-born subject of the parent country.

The National Rifle Association Council hope that as many nationalities as possible will take part in the match, and say they will be happy to place long-range accommodation at Bisley at the disposal of the competing teams before the match for practice. They will also do their best to forward all arrangements for their convenience and comfort.

Dying by Slow Degrees.

Although not always aware of it yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Catarrhozone is the only remedy that will immediately prevent the spread of this awful disease. Every breath from the inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration, and relieves the pain across the eyes. Catarrhozone eradicates every vestige of catarrh from the system, and is highly recommended also for Bronchitis, Asthma, Deafness and Lung Trouble. Price, $1; trial size, 25c.; all druggists. WHIRLED TO HIS DEATH.

Killed at the International Power Company's Mill at Niagara Falls.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 17.— William Gibson, a laborer, aged 35 years, whose home is in St. Catharines, was instantly killed at the mill of the International Power Company here at 11.30 o'clock yesterday morning. While on a scaffold he was caught by a belt and thrown between it and a pully. His right arm was torn off and his body thrown 30 feet. He was unmarried. A brother had the body removed to Quinn & Reardon's morgue. Coroner Slocum was notified. Gibson's work did not call him to the point where the accident occurred.

SOUR STOMACH (Acid Dyspepsia)

Now Recognized as the Cause of Serious Diseases.

Acid Dyspepsia, commonly called heart burn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to properly digest it the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour ,burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic, and being an every day occurrence, is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

It is now well known among able physicians that the whole constitution is gradually undermined and weakened, that the nerves and vital organs are seriously affected by any form of dyspepsia. This is plain, as every organ, every nerve in the body, is nourished by the blood, and the blood is replenished from the food digested. If the food is properly digested, the blood is pure, the nerves steady, but if supplied from a sour, fermenting, decaying mass the blood is vitiated, poisoned, and the result is shown in sleeplessness, lack of energy, poor appetite, nervousness. Every trifle is magnified, and the dyspeptic sees nothing but the dark side of everything.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and it is now becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

It is not claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia and stomach weakness in its various forms, but for this it has been shown to be unequalled. The eminent specialists, Reed and O'Leary, have recently stated that they considered Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets an unfailing specific for disorders of the digestive organs, and the remarkable cures made in cases of long standing dyspepsia proves that this remedy has extraordinary merit.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package, and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion, strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

GEN. BOTHA EXPLAINS

Why the Boer Generals Abandoned Their American Trip.

DID IT TO HELP CHAMBERLAIN.

Personally They Will Endeavor to Let Him See How Great Is Need in Their Devastated Country — Will Give Colonial Secretary All Possible Information—Touring Scores Do Not Represent Anything.

New York, Dec. 17.—Louis Botha, writing to Theodore M. Banta, from Brussels, under date of Dec. 3, in reply to a letter from a committee of the trustees of the Holland Society, to Gens. Botha, Dewet and Delarey, tendering the courtesies of the society and co-operation during their contemplated visit to this country, says:

"You will, no doubt, be aware that Mr. Chamberlain has left for South Africa. He has promised to investigate matters there, and to give our people further pecuniary assistance, if he finds that necessary. For this reason we shall not at present visit America, because we consider that we shall be better serving our people to meet Mr. Chamberlain there and personally help to let him see how great the need is in our devastated country by giving him all possible information there. When we have done this we propose to go to America, and will then take the liberty of informing you further about our visit.

"I regret to see that so many of our fellow-countrymen are already busy trying to raise funds in America. I wish to remark that no one there represents our people, nor is on any mission from our people or in any way connected with us and our mission."

The cash value of this cut will be fully half a million dollars. The contract includes all the board lumber to be cut at the McLachlin mills next season. Every board turned off the saws from the day the mills open in the spring to the hour it shuts down in the fall will be included.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE.

Problem of Profitably Treating Low Grade Ores Solved.

Rossland, B.C., Dec. 17.—The citizens banquet to Bernard Macdonald and William Thompson last night was an immense success. In the course of the evening Edmund B. Kirby announced that his company had solved the problem of profitably utilizing low grade ore, and that a mill would be built this winter. Later, when the mechanical process is worked out, a larger mill would be constructed, provided the two per cent. mineral tax that worked such hardship on low grade ores was withdrawn by that time.

THE B. C. FISH HATCHERY.

Prerogative of the Dominion Infringed Upon—Premier Is Well—Vastly Improved by Visit to Hot Springs.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—A clash is likely to occur between the Government of the Dominion and the authorities of British Columbia over the action of the latter in erecting a fish hatchery at Lillooet. It is held that the Province had no right to build a fish hatchery without obtaining permission from the Dominion. The necessary permission was not obtained, and hence, it is argued, British Columbia has exceeded its powers. Hon. Raymond Prefontaine will probably take the matter up on his return to the city. The hatchery in question will have accommodation for 80,000,000 eggs, and is about three times the size of the same kind of structure erected by the Dominion.

The Premier's Recovery.

A letter received in the city yesterday from an Ottawa visitor at Hot Springs, Va., says:—"You have no idea how well I have found Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He has improved wonderfully since he arrived here. It is marvellous to see how quickly he recovers. He will return at the end of the month, and I am sure everybody will be surprised to find him so different from what he was before leaving Ottawa. He is happy over the result of his cure, and I never saw him in better spirits."

FORMER PETERBOROUGH PASTOR WAS HONOURED.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson Installed in His new Parish.

Welcomed by His new Parishioners and Handsomely Remembered by his Former Flock.

The numerous friends in town of Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, at one time curate of St. Johns, while they will be pleased will not be surprised to learn of his success and popularity in New York. After being curate of St. Michaels for three years, as is known, he recently received the appointment of rector of Grace Episcopal church, Plainfield, New Jersey, of which he assumed charge on December 1st, and was formally instituted as rector on Sunday last, and on the following Monday evening at the parish house, the new rector was given a reception under the auspices of the wardens and vestrymen. While the new congregation warmly welcomed the coming, St. Michaels gracefully and kindly sped the parting, clergyman. Mr. Stevenson was presented with numerous addresses; and from the men of the congregation of St. Michaels he received a present of a splendid solid gold watch, the ladies gave him a beautiful white stole and desk outfit of stationery, ink-stand, etc. The gift of the Altar Guild was a fine altar service book. The gift of Rev. Dr. Peters, rector of St. Michaels, was two volumes de luxe of Dickens, while numerous presents of miscellaneous nature were made by individual members of the congregation.

Those who knew Rev. Mr. Stevenson as a man and a minister during his stay in Peterborough will quite understand why he has made his way so rapidly in church preferment and in the affections of those who were brought under his ministry, and will be ready to extend him the cordial congratulations the circumstances call for on the occasion of his visit to Peterborough on holiday week.

PRACTICAL GIFTS FOR BOYS.

At Gough Bros.

Boys are our weak spots.

Consequently the Boys' Department is our stronghold—we mean to get a strong hold on the boys. To do this we select their clothing with all the care that we put into the clothing of their fathers.

Just compare Gough Bros.' clothing with other kinds, and see where we get in our graft on the boys.

Everything in the wearing line that boys like for Christmas — Warm overcoats, reefers, stylish suits, stout overcoats, heavy sweaters for skating, tams, caps, hats, gloves, shirts, ties, stockings, suspenders, collars, cuffs, a complete boys' department.

No present is better for Christmas than one that is of some use.

Nothing is more useful than some garment or article of apparel.

Gough's furnishing department includes pretty much of everything that a man or boy wants.

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Lindsay Club for the Trent Valley League.

Peterborough Team Will Elect Their Captain To-night—A Curling Meeting Called.

The indications are that curling is going to have a most successful season in Peterborough this winter, and the two clubs of the town have organized under most favourable auspices. Nothing, however, arouses more interest in the game than inter-rink matches and inter-club matches. In order that there should be such it is desirable that the clubs should be divided into rinks as evenly balanced as possible. An effort to arrange matters thus will be made to-night at the Charlotte street rink, when it is to be hoped every member of the Association every curler in town, who has not yet joined either club and every person who is desirous of curling this year will be on hand. The rinks for both clubs will be selected this evening, and it is important that every person who has any intention of curling should hand in his name this evening.

• • • •

Mr. Eddie Wetlouffer, of Berlin, was in town on Tuesday and paid his respects to the sporting department of this paper. Mr. Wetlouffer is an enthusiastic supporter of hockey in his town and is the President of the Western Ontario Hockey Association. He predicts a very successful season for that body.

• • • •

The announcement that the Lindsay Hockey Club intends entering a team in the Trent Valley League this winter, will be received with much satisfaction by the officers and members of the league. Lindsay will certainly make a bold fight for the championship, and with the T.A.S., and its strong team in the field, matters promise to develop most interestingly.

• • • •

One of the most important duties the Peterborough hockey team will be called upon to perform this season, is the selection of a captain, which the members of the team are asked to do this evening. Only the members of last year's team are privileged to vote in the matter.

HOCKEY.

At a meeting of the Executive some time ago it was decided that the price of players' tickets, both junior and senior, should be $4.00. It was also decided that non-players hockey tickets should be $2.00 and ladies' non-players tickets $1.50. These tickets carry admission to all games save the finals, which are under control of the O.H.A. Ticket holders will lose nothing this year as the management have decided to bring numerous outside teams here and many good matches will be seen which are not the usual league games. Tickets may be obtained tomorrow from the treasurer, Mr. A. W. McPherson, the assistant secretary-treasurer, Mr. H. Rush and in all probability from any of the executive.

LINDSAY'S CLUB.

A meeting for the purpose of reorganizing the Lindsay Hockey Club was held Monday night in the Benson House parlours, and was largely attended, there being about 25 enthusiastic hockeyists present.

On motion, Mr. Lewis, of the Bank of Montreal, was elected chairman pro tem, and Mr. H. J. Nosworthy, secretary. After discussing several matters pertaining to the game, the nomination of officers then took place, resulting in the following being elected:

Hon. President—Mr. J. A. Paddon.
Hon. Vice-Presidents — Mr. R. Ross and Mr. H. J. Lytle.
President — Mr. Siddle.
Vice-President—Mr. George H. Taylor.
Secretary—Mr. Baldwin.
Treasurer and Manager — Mr. Lewis.
Executive Committee — Messrs. Siddle, Taylor, Baldwin, Lewis, Dr. Walters, H. Nosworthy.

The club decided to enter the Trent-Valley League.

According to the interest taken in the meeting and the enthusiasm that prevailed it is likely Lindsay will have a fast team this winter.

RUGBY.

REFORM THE GAME.

If those who play Rugby will not reform the game, those who pay money to see it played will do so. If the public must do it, it will take time, for the slow process will be followed of starving the game by remaining away from it, and allowing the players to roll on the ground and pile themselves in heaps to their hearts' content.

Of late years, Rugby has got entirely into the control of big, slow-moving men, who resist all attempts to make it anything but a contest of weight and strength. If these big fellows will go away off by themselves and play the new game of Push Ball, there will be a chance to see Rugby played once more in Toronto by young fellows who are smart enough on their feet to kick, run, pass, and tackle. The faults that some of the men who favour scrimmaging instead of Rugby find with the Burnside rules are mere trifles compared with the faults that have grown up in the game as they play it. In the Varsity-Argonaut game they say that the students won the toss, and played with the wind in the first half, making a large score, and that this would not have happened under the other rules. This may be true for under those rules, when a strong wind blows, the spectators might as well go home and the match be declared off, as one side, playing against the wind in the first half, secures the ball and lies down on it, and in the second half the other side, playing against the wind, follows the same tactics. The ball has twenty men piled on top of it all afternoon, and, for the most part, it would be almost as interesting to take a football into the yard, pile a cord of wood on it, and pay a quarter to sit on a wet board watching it.

LONDON'S ATTITUDE.

The London Rugby football club has made no application for admission to the senior ranks of the Ontario Union, although, should they be admitted to this series, it is almost a foregone conclusion that the announcement would be greeted with the kindliest feelings, says the News of that city. However, the club has, as yet, made no application neither has the representative of the London Club, to the annual meeting, of the union, which is being held to-day, been instructed to ask for London's admission to the senior company. The London club will strongly favour the Burnside rules, and it is practically dependent upon their adoption that the local intermediate would favour senior football here.

CURLING.

Mr. E. B. Edwards, of Peterborough, the ex-president of the Ontario Curling Association, and the chairman of the committee appointed by the Association to take charge of the Scottish Curlers' team during their stay in Ontario, is deserving of the thanks of the Ontario curlers for his efforts, says the Mail and Empire of to-day. He began months ago a correspondence, voluminous, and certainly irksome at times, which has enabled the committee to almost complete its work, and which promises to make the stay of the visitors in Ontario, an agreeable one from every standpoint.

Mr. Edwards forwards this communication in reference to an item which appeared in these columns under the caption of "A Bonspiel for Peterborough":—

"To prevent any misunderstanding that may possibly arise from the publication in to-day's Mail and Empire of the paragraph headed 'A Bonspiel for Peterborough,' in which it is stated that a committee was appointed to arrange for a monster bonspiel during the visit of the Scottish curlers, I have to say that the special committee of the Ontario Curling Association having in charge the making of arrangements for the proposed visit, have not yet come to any conclusion as to where the visitors are to play. The special committee of the O.C.A. has been pressing those having charge of the matter in Scotland to allot a longer time to Ontario, and has been waiting for more definite information on this point. On Saturday I received a letter from the Secretary of the R.C.C.C., stating that eleven days had been allotted to Toronto and district, this being stated to be the maximum possible, according to their present information. It is two days longer than the time previously suggested.

"I was not present when the Peterborough Committee was appointed, and I knew nothing about it until I saw the announcement in print. I can only suppose that the meeting wished to be ready, in case Peterborough should be selected as one of the places to be honoured by a visit from the Scottish curlers.

"Mr. Davidson Smith says: 'With regard to the question whether the team should meet the various clubs at Toronto, or should visit them at their various headquarters, I note that you prefer the latter. This is a matter which we would like to arrange in accordance with the views of your Association, but it can be left over meantime, and settled with the captain of the team (Rev. John Kerr) on their arrival in Canada.'

"There is no doubt that the curlers of Ontario wish to give the visitors a welcome at their various centres, rather than confine the day to one place. The special committee will endeavour to meet this wish as far as possible in the very limited time at their disposal, and so far as may be consistent with the convenience of the visiting team."

BASKETBALL.

Last night at the Y.M.C.A. the Bankers defeated the Harriers in a hard fought contest. As far as the actual play was concerned the Harriers had the better of it, but the accurate shooting of the Bankers told in the end. The proper result is not known as there was some dispute regarding the official score.

AT THE NEW RINK.

Progress Being Made Gives Great Satisfaction.

Every day numerous enquiries are made as to the progress of the new rink. Apparently the subject has been worn threadbare, but the interest displayed made perhaps justify reference to the subject again. At present there are four more trusses to be erected, and at the slowest rate of one per day, they should be all up and the roof sheeting nearly done by Tuesday next. Once the roof is up there will be little to delay the flooding of the rink, and there should be good skating by the end of next week at the latest. It will not be necessary to await the erection of the seats before skating is allowed, for this can be carried on without interfering with the ice. Tickets for skating are now on sale, and to-morrow the hockey tickets will be out. The skating season will be on before many are aware of it, and it would be wise to be prepared for it.

THE ASLING FAMILY.

Five Members of the Family Have Died of Fever.

Regarding the unfortunate Asling family, the members of which were stricken with scarlet fever a week or two ago, many reports of a contradictory nature are in circulation as to how many of the family have been carried away. As a matter of fact there have been five children who have died of this dreaded disease. The father and mother, who also contracted the disease, and the little babe, are progressing most satisfactorily. Very great sympathy is expressed on all sides for the bereaved father and mother.

St. Luke's Church.

Week-night service to-night at 8 o'clock. After the service preparations for decorating the church for Christmas will begin, and the members are asked to turn out in large numbers to help.

League Meeting.

The Young Men's Guild of the George street Methodist church held their second annual meeting last night, and it proved very successful. After the business proceedings, during which it was decided to co-operate with the league in the decoration of the church for Christmas, those present had the pleasure of listening to a very clearly outlined address on "Engineering," by a prominent local engineer. Messrs. Mulligan and Turner favoured the Guild with solos during the evening, which was closed by refreshments being served.

FROM LIVE LAKEFIELD.

The Hockey Club has Organised—Some Personal Mention—Newsy Notes.

Mr. Sidney Hunter has purchased the harness business formerly owned by the late Mr. Ben Hunter. We wish Mr. Hunter every success in his new business.

Mr. Fred Stubbs, of the School of Practical Science, Toronto, is home, being summoned to the funeral of his sister, the late Mrs. Wm. Nugent, of Smith.

Mrs. J. M. Kilbourn left on Saturday for Owen Sound to spend Christmas. She will also visit in Montreal before returning to the village.

Mr. J. M. Kilbourn left on Monday for Clinton, Ohio, to purchase machinery for the Cement Company.

Mr. Braden Fitzgerald, of Trinity Medical College, Toronto, is visiting in the village, the guest of Mrs. Robert Braden.

Miss Gertrude Wallace is home, after an extended visit with friends in New York, and other American cities.

The community of Lakefield was shocked to hear of the death of Mrs. William Nugent, which occurred on Friday last, at her home in Smith. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon to the Lakefield cemetery, and was very largely attended, showing the high esteem in which the late Mrs. Nugent was held by all who knew her.

On Tuesday evening last a meeting was held in the town hall, Lakefield, when the hockey club was organized for the coming season. The officers elected were as follows:

President—R. Bravender.
Vice-President—D. Edwards.
Sec.-Treasurer—T. Crawford.
Captain—F. Gray.
Vice-Captain—W. Stabler.
Executive Committee — The officers and Messrs. H. G. Fitzgerald, Charles Watson and H. Montgomery.
Patrons and Patronesses — Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kilbourn, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Butchart, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sherin, Mr. and Mrs. E. Rolliston Tate.

Look out for Lakefield in the Trent Valley League, as the material in the club this year surpasses any previous year.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

ALDERMAN TURNER'S move for the consideration of the annexation of Ashburnham to Peterborough comes not a moment too soon.

INDEED, if the amalgamation had taken place some time ago there would have been avoided a grave danger. For there is danger of serious financial complications between the town and village, which may lead to expensive litigation and civic estrangement, over an unadjusted balance of account.

IT APPEARS that when the commissioners sent in their bill to Ashburnham for water supply, in making up the accounts, the total, $476.13, included seven-tenths of a cent, and three-tenths of a cent was added to make the even cent. When the Ashburnham fathers sent over the cheque in alleged payment of the account, the once cent was deducted, and the town treasurer gave the village credit on account for $474.12, leaving an unpaid balance of seven-tenths of a cent. And therein lies the germ of an expensive law suit, for if this balance is not paid it will go floating through the treasurer's books, secula ad seculorum.

IF ASHBURNHAM is thus "careful and troubled about" its expenditure for water, then there is not much danger of it becoming intemperate if it takes to strong drink.

IT WOULD SEEM that the law requiring civic accounts to be made up to the very moment of the statutory meeting, should be changed. On Monday night Treasurer Brownscombe was confronted with a serious difficulty in presenting a clear and accurate financial statement right up to the hour of meeting. It would have done no harm if he had been permitted to conclude his statement a day or two previously. This would suit all practical purposes. To get at the probable standing of the town at the end of the calendar year the treasurer has to do a little guess work — estimation — anyway. The electors could vote for aldermanic candidates with as intelligent an idea of the financial statement if it were concluded a day or two before the date of the statutory meeting.

THE OTONABEE Power Company is certainly favoured by the elements. While other dams have been grievously bothered with ancnor ice and compelled in some cases to work day and night, in chilly battle with vexatious frost needles, this company has not had a moment's interruption from this cause, but their machinery has been running with unfailing regularity.

OF COURSE this apparent anomoly is to be accounted for. A wag suggests that the higher temperature is due to the retro-active effect of the hot time the Company was favoured with in the inceptive stages of its enterprise. Seriously, however, the real explanation is the sheltered position of the dam and forebay. This shelter is provided by a high wooded bluff that rises on the north and west, from which quarter the most chilling and troublesome winds come. It is stated that the thermometer registers from ten to fifteen degrees higher temperature there than at other dams not thus sheltered.

IF THIS PROTECTION is the cause of the lower temperature it should afford some hint for practically dealing with the greatest foe of the successful application of water power in this climate in winter.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING—only another week— and it will be a week of busy buying. A word or two of advice, or, rather, suggestion. Do your Christmas buying early. The shops will be thronged more especially at the close of the coming week. By buying early you will have better opportunities for choice and better service. Buy now.

AND ABOVE ALL don't go out of town for anything needed. You will spend unnecessary time and money and will not be able to get your Christmas gift as cheaply nor any better than the magnificent stocks provided by our Peterborough merchants, in every line, will afford. You will enjoy your Christmas better if you do the fair thing and refrain from doing the unfair thing. Do your Christmas buying at home.

THE CURTAIN went down on Mayor Denne, with red-fire effects, so to speak. His valedictory address gave a great deal of interesting information. But the retiring Mayor was too optimistic in his estimate of the beneficial effect of our sewer system on the public health.

SEWERS, as aids to public sanitation, are by no means an end, only means to an end. Without proper plumbing, put in according to a proper plumbing bylaw, and subject to the approval of a strict inspection, sewers will not improve the sanitary condition of dwellings.

DOES THE BOARD of Health know that there is a great deal of defective plumbing in town, some of it put in cheaply through the penny-wise and pound-foolish parsimony of owners of houses? Does the Board of Health know that with our ten miles of sewers, a cess-pool was put down this summer on a central street of the town, within fifty yards of a line of sewers, within a few feet of the street, and within a few feet of the walls of a residence, in porous soil, which will permit seepage of sewage and contaminate with sewer gas the cellars of the building?

DOES THE BOARD of Health know that there is no light prevalence of contagious diseases, burrowing quietly and sometimes with fatal results, in the homes of different parts of the town, due, in all probability, to unsanitary conditions around residences.

TAKE A CASE. A child was attacked with diphtheria, and investigation as to the cause revealed the fact that the plumbing had been changed, and that the old outlet, instead of being securely plugged, had been left open, and the sewer gas had been pouring into the house with deadly effect. This could not have happened if there had been a proper inspection of the plumbing job, under a proper bylaw; and a life and a large expense to the householder might have been saved.

AN ANTI-SPITTING bylaw may be all right, but before we apply for special legislation to permit of the passing by the town of an anti-street-spitting bylaw let us use the powers we have to pass a plumbing bylaw. An outsider would not believe that this town, with ten miles of sewers, and a first-class waterworks system, had no plumbing bylaw, and no official inspector of plumbing.

WOULD IT NOT be well for the health authorities to make a little investigation into the circumstances attending the practical wiping out of the Asling family from scarlet fever. Either isolation precautions were disregarded or the sanitary condition of the fatal premises must have been shockingly dangerous.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Conducted by Rev. J. G. Potter at Mount Pleasant.

Rev. J. G. Potter of St. Andrew's, last Sunday conducted anniversary services at Mount Pleasant, part of the pastoral charge of Rev. J. H. Edmison, B.A., formerly of Peterborough, and a graduate of Queen's, of 1901. Mr. Edmison was inducted into the congregation of Cheltenham and Mount Pleasant, in the Orangeville Presbytery, in 1901, and since that time he has gathered around him a thoroughly united and loyal people. The services last Sunday were well attended. At the evening service the edifice was crowded, and from information gleaned from the people the services of Mr. Edmison are very highly appreciated. Cheltenham and Mount Pleasant are situated in the Credit Valley, Peel County, and is one of the finest parts of Ontario.

MAYORALTY FOR 1903.

Card to the Electors of Peterborough.

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In response to the numerous representations which have been made to me upon the subject—personally, by requisition, and through the press—I place my services at the disposal of the public as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the approaching municipal elections.

My association with the important municipal advances, which the Town has been making during recent years, will enable me to give continuity to the aggressive forward policy which the Council has sought to pursue, and to bring experience and information gained therein to bear upon the work and problems which still more immediately confront us.

While I cannot lay claim to all the qualifications which have been flatteringly ascribed to me, such capacity for the office as I do possess is cheerfully placed at your service, and I ask your sympathy and support in the effort to maintain the position and standing, and advance the welfare, of our already prosperous and progressive Town.

Respectfully yours,

Those Pale Girls

How many pale girls there are! Girls who have the will, but not the power to bring out their vitality. Doctors call it anaemia, which means poor blood. They are thin, delicate and nervous. Their digestion is usually poor, the appetite not all that it should be and they do not even get all the nourishment that is in the food that they do eat. They linger between strength and weakness with no certainty as to what change a day will bring forth.

Scott's Emulsion is for all such girls. The hypophosphites combined with the cod liver oil will tone up the system, give the blood new life, improve the appetite and help digestion. Above all it gives nourishment.

Girls are more liable to anaemia than boys; this is because the blood of women contains fewer red corpuscles, more water and less albumen and salts than the blood of men. Scott's Emulsion seems to be the very thing to discount these differences. It helps all pale, thin girls when nothing else will.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

BRITAIN IS ROUSED

EDUCATION BILL DISPUTE GROWS KEENER DAY BY DAY.

Prediction Made That Revolution Will Follow Passage of Law by Parliament —Country Split Into Factions—Controversy Ranges Nonconformists on One Side and English Clergy With Premier On the Other.

The adoption by the Commons of Mr. Balfour's motion to apply automatic closure to the consideration of the Educational bill will bring this great controversy to an end by Nov. 28. The bill must be passed by that date or lapse.

Free non-religious education is said by opponents of the bill to be on trial before the people of England, and it is predicted that should this bill—which proposes to tax the nation in order to teach the state religion in the schools—be passed by Parliament its passage will be followed by a revolution of extraordinary vigor and deep-seatedness.

The measure, which is openly favored by the Premier, is said to have been drawn up by Right Rev. Edward Stuart Talbot, Bishop of Rochester. He is the grandson of the second Earl of Talbot and of the first Earl of Wharncliffe, and he stands for the aggressive party in the Anglican clergy, who would place the State religion before the very throne and the Parliament themselves.

BISHOP OF ROCHESTER.

In brief the bill provides as follows:

"In the county boroughs which comprise all the great towns of the country, the power and duty to provide public instruction of every kind are vested in the municipal councils. In the county areas (with some exceptions) the power is vested in the county councils. All these councils are composed of persons directly elected by the ratepayers and of aldermen, whom the elected members afterward choose. The bill requires that a special committee for education shall be appointed. The majority of the committee must be directly appointed by the council."

The clause affecting the elementary schools provides that in all council or public schools two-thirds of the board of managers shall be appointed by the council and one-third by the people; in the private elementary schools two-thirds of the board shall be appointed by the religious body to which the school belongs and one-third by the municipal council.

The tremendous importance of this last clause will be understood when it is stated that in 8,000 parishes of England and Wales there is no public school, the whole of the educational work being done by religious schools, the vast majority of which are ruled by the Church of England clergy.

Such is the situation which has stirred up the people of England as they were never stirred before since the day of Mr Gladstone's Reform bill.

The controversy has split the country into two factions. Both sides have strong leaders. The Nonconformists are ranged in solid phalanx against the bill. The English clergy and their friends are arrayed solidly for it.

The four statements following fairly places the arguments of both sides to the controversy. Mr. Balfour, the Premier, says:

"When I find Nonconformists really hurt and apparently suffering under a sense of wrong over this bill I quite honestly admit that it gives me great pain. Though I am told every day of my life that I am trampling upon their rights that they are being deprived of their privileges as citizens, that their consciences are being outraged, I can most truly say that I cannot understand how it is that they can find this particular class of objection ran weigh upon their mind. What is the system that this bill introduces?

"The typical case will be that whereas the clergyman of the parish is at present sole manager of the education of his parish, under the bill he will be one of six. They (the Nonconformists) wish to see the difficulty of raising subscriptions grow and grow, and with the growth of the difficulty the voluntary schools one by one extinguished like lamps at the end of a feast in order that when that happy consummation is reached they may have what they call a national system of education."

Most Rev. Frederick Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of all England:

"The proposal to put the cost of maintaining those elementary schools upon the rates sets the clergy free from the pressure, at present almost intolerable in many places, to raise sufficient money to carry the schools on in any sense whatever for the purposes for which they were built. The present system imposes on churchmen a kind of instruction which they do not recognize in any sense as their own.

"The bill gives them guarantees for the character of the religious instruction, and no system can be just which refuses such guarantees. The schools provided independent of the church have no guarantee whatever that the religious instruction will be satisfactory or sufficient. The children of the church are to be taught, in many cases are taught, the doctrines of the Unitarians, and the church is called upon to be content to have it so. The Nonconformists call this justice; the church does not. On the other hand, I am bound to say that the Nonconformists have a right to complain that the bill is not absolutely just to them."

Mr. Asquith (Liberal)—The position of the Nonconformist child in many village schools is that the profession of teaching is practically closed against them, and, so far as his parents are concerned, there is the absolutely inefficient and shadowy protection of that which is called the "conscience clause." I share to the full the sense of grievance, of gross injustice, which that state of things must produce in the mind of every man who is worthy to be called an Englishman. Dr. John Clifford, the well-known Baptist, declares that the country would have welcomed any measure which would have unified the machinery for dealing with secondary education or that would have made it possible to step from primary to secondary and to the highest form of education in the university without any break. This was a great crisis in the nation's life, and the primary rights of English people—liberty of conscience, constitutional law and order, the efficiency of their educational system and the control of the state education—were at stake.

The sense of the Congregationalists is expressed in the adoption of the following resolution by their recent convention:

"That this assembly protests most strongly against the Education bill now before Parliament, inasmuch as (1) it sacrifices educational efficiency to sectarian and priestly ends; (2) by the summary abolition of the school boards of England and Wales it has seriously impaired the direct control of the people over schools supported by public funds, while it also tends to withdraw such schools out of the range of their immediate interests * * * (4) it violates the principles of civil and religious liberty—(a) by placing the entire support of denominational schools on public funds without providing for public control in all respects of such schools, and (b) by confining the appointment of teachers in denominational schools to members of the denomination."

These extracts show the acerbity if not the bitterness with which the controversy is being carried on. Whichever way the issue is thrown the most important effects must follow in the national life of England.

ACCIDENT TO A MINER

Strained His Back and was Sent Home in Agony.

Laid up all Winter, but Dodd's Kidney Pills put him on His Feet Again and now he is Completely Cured.

Indian Brook, Victoria Co., N. S., Dec. 15.—Special.—Angus D. McDonald, son of the postmaster here, is prominent among those in this district who swear by Dodd's Kidney Pills as a sure cure for those terrible pains in the back that are one of the surest symptoms of kidney Disease. And Mr. McDonald has good reason for the stand he takes.

While at work in the coal pits he strained his back and was sent home in an agony of pain. The nearest doctor, twenty five miles away, was sent for, but he could do little to relieve his suffering. This was in October, 1901, and he couldn't do a hand's turn of work till the spring of 1902.

Then a hotelkeeper advised him to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. That hotelkeeper didn't see him again till last August and then his first question was "Angus, how's your back?" "As well as ever it was," answered Angus. "What cured it?" "Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me completely."

And the Postmaster at Indian Brook is always ready to testify to the truth of his son's statement.

Pains in the Back, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Dropsy and Heart Disease are caused by diseased Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure them.

Hard to Believe.

"Well, I never!" exclaimed Mrs. Biggins.

"What's the matter?" asked her husband in a startled tone as he turned around from his shaving glass.

"The idea of a grown man like you standing there for five minutes at a time admiring yourself!"

"I'm not admiring myself. My feelings are those of astonishment, not admiration. I can't realize that I'm the same person who years ago was called 'precious pet' and held on people's knees and kissed by the neighbors. It's an awful thought."

MRS. HALL CAINE.

Pretty Woman Who Is With Her Distinguished Husband in New York.

Mrs. Hall Caine, wife of the distinguished author and dramatist, who is now in New York superintending the dramatization of "The Eternal City," is very pretty. She is a little woman, with brown hair and pink cheeks, looking not at all like the mother of the fine eighteen-year-old lad who is her eldest son and is now with her. Ralph his name is.'

MRS. HALL CAINE.

Mrs. Caine usually dresses all in white in the house and on the street. Her manner is simple and most attractive.

Indorsed the King's Conduct.

Readers of The Sketch will recollect that on the occasion of the recent visit of the King and Queen to the Isle of Man an illustration of the royal party, including Hall Caine, who acted as cicerone, was published. In that photograph there is a picture of a small boy wearing his hat. He is Derwent, the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Caine, and is ten years old. Only he and the Marquis de Soveral, the Portuguese embassador, remained covered in the presence of the King, the marquis because he does fealty to another sovereign and Master Derwent for a reason of his own, which came out when the photograph had been printed and he was looking at it with his mother. "Derwent," said she, "why didn't you take your hat off? Didn't you see that all the gentlemen did so?" "Yes, mother," he replied, "but I kept my eye on the King because I knew whatever he did would be all right, so when he kept his hat on it would be right enough for me."—London Sketch.

"I KEPT MY EYES ON THE KING."

This Sounds Right.

Sometimes it happens that a severe shock restores health to persons who are suffering from nervous prostration, and this is how the phenomenon is explained in a foreign medical journal:

"Every external stimulus impresses the afferent centripetal fibers, or, rather, excites the molecular waves of change. The latter in turn decompose the unstable molecules of a flexus, and, through the intervention of other fibers, this decomposition, being the source of new molecular movements, gives an impulse to a certain mass of connected flexus.

"The new vibratory modification thus obtained forms a new nervous fluid. A portion of the current flows over the afferent fibers to the contractile muscles of the periphery, while the other portion is propagated by the reverberation of indistinct waves to the most ramified centers of the organic economy, and thus a complete and natural nervous diffusion takes place."

Physicians, of course, understand what this means, but how many laymen can interpret it?

Luxury as a Handicap.

The history of our country is a record of the successes of poor boys who seemed to be hopelessly shut off from books, culture and education, except that of the most meager kind—from almost every opportunity for mental development. The youthful Franklins, Lincolns, Hamiltons, Garfields, Grants and Claytons—those who become presidents, lawyers, statesmen, soldiers, orators, merchants, educators, journalists, inventors, giants in every department of life—how they stand out from the pages of history, those poor boys, an inspiration for all time to those who are born to fight their way up to their own loaf!

The youth who is reared in a luxurious home, who from the moment of his birth is waited on by an army of servants, pampered and indulged by overfond parents and deprived of every incentive to develop himself mentally or physically, although commonly regarded as one to be envied, is more to be pitied than the poorest, most humbly born boy or girl in the land. Unless he is gifted with an unusual mind he is in danger of becoming a degenerate, a parasite, a creature who lives on the labor of others, whose powers ultimately atrophy from disuse.—Success.

Substitute For Quinine.

You think you are bilious. Well, I should think you would be! What did you expect your stomach and liver could stand? You ought to be thankful that you got off with simply being bilious. The wonder is that you have any stomach or liver left at all, says Medical Talk.

What would I advise? Well, in order to stir up your liver a little and give you a slight gymnastic exercise I would advise you to go and find the doctor who gave you 100 grains of quinine and give him a good licking. Hit him with your hands. Don't hit with a club or shoot him. Just use your open hand. After you have done this right I would quit using tobacco, if not entirely at least nearly so, say a little after supper each day. Use no alcoholic stimulants of any sort. Let your diet be simple and plain. Avoid excesses. Avoid everything fried during the hot season. Eat much fruit; drink much water. Take long nights' sleep. Behave yourself. Keep away from the doctors.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Anxious Daughter—Mother, did papa have his salary increased when he was married?

Mother—No, my child.

Anxious Daughter—I don't suppose he had any money saved up, had he?

Mother—Not a penny. He spent all he earned.

Anxious Daughter—Did you get along comfortably?

Mother—We were very happy.

Anxious Daughter—Well, you know, George hasn't been able to save a penny, but—

Mother—Now, Maria, if that poverty stricken fellow dares to show his face here again I'll get your father to turn him out!

Inflamed Nose and Throat

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Constipation.

They Wanted Blood.

While a fair was being held recently in a small town in Belgium the owner of a menagerie announced that one of the villagers, who was known to possess great courage, would enter that evening a cage containing two lions and would remain there fifteen minutes.

When this was noised abroad, every one determined to witness the novel sight, and as a result there were several hundred persons in front of the lions' cage when the performance began.

At a signal from the owner the courageous villager entered the cage and stood watching the lions. They, however, took not the slightest notice of him, and after the fifteen minutes had expired he left the cage. As he did so a storm of hisses greeted him, and the next moment such an uproar arose that the owner summoned the police and the entertainment came to an end.

The fact was the people expected that the lions would attack the villager and they were disappointed because no blood had been shed.

"Yet it is exceedingly probable," says a French writer, "that if one of the lions had escaped from the cage this bloodthirsty crowd would have been terrified almost to death."

Do You Look on the Dark Side?

Are You Blue, Discouraged Irritable and Depressed?—It may be Your Nerves are Exhausted and You Need

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Irritability and mental depression, sometimes amounting to melancholy and despondency, are marked symptoms of nervous exhaustion.

In the beginning you feel languid and tired, find it impossible to concentrate your thoughts. The tasks of the day are put off till the morrow, little things worry you, you forget your blessings and look on the dark side of things.

At times there may be nervous headaches, spells of dizziness, indigestion, sleeplessness and general weakness of the body. You dread what the future may bring to you and feel the work and responsibilities of life more than you can bear.

Mrs. M. A. Sharp, 346 Dublin street, Peterborough, Ont., states:

"For some years I was troubled with indigestion which developed into nervous dyspepsia and besides suffering from nervousness, strange, dizzy spells would come over me. Hearing of the good results obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I decided to try it. After a pretty thorough test of this medicine I can say that I never used anything that did me so much good. It seemed to be the very treatment that I needed and as a result of its use I am quite restored to health."

The wonderful medicinal power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been demonstrated in thousands of cases. Gradually and certainly it creates new nerve cells, builds up the system, and overcomes the weakness which gives rise to nervous ailments and feelings of depression and despondency. New hopes, new confidence, new vitality are instilled into the body and health and strength take the place of disease.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Read of This Wonderful Cure. It May Do You or Your Friends Some Good to Know About It.

Miss Agnes Creelman, Upper Smithfield, N.S., writes:—About 18 months ago I caught cold. It settled in my kidneys, and finally turned into Dropsy. My face, limbs, and feet were very much bloated, and if I pressed my finger on them it would make a white impression that would last fully a minute before the flesh regained its natural color. I was advised to try DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, and before I had used half a box I could notice an improvement, and the one box completely cured me. I have never been troubled with it since, thanks to DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

JOHN BUNYAN'S CHAPEL.

Situated in Historic Southwark—Edifice to Be Demolished—Associations Recalled—Contributing to Charity.

All parts of central London are full of historic interest, and none more so than old Southwark. In my search this morning for one of Southwark's historic landmarks I came across many such, writes the London correspondent of The Toronto Telegram. Just over London Bridge is the Cathedral church of St. Saviour's, formerly known as Mary Overy, a very ancient fabric full of interesting monuments, while a little further up the borough is the old Tabard tavern, whence Chaucer's Canterbury pilgrims set forth on their self-imposed journey. This has lately been rebuilt, and the quaint old galleries in the courtyard have been removed, but hard by is the George tavern, part of which still stands as it did centuries ago.

In 1381 Wat Tyler and his men of Kent came in through Tabard street and after having broken down the Marshalsea and King's Bench prisons set the prisoners free. Shakespeare, when he first came to London, lived between Park street and Bankside, where now the White Bear public house stands, and earned a living by holding the horses of visitors to the Globe theatre, where later his plays were first performed, while Mrs. Thrale lived in Park street, and was visited there by Dr. Johnson, having for a near neighbor on Bankside, Oliver Goldsmith.

I was in search of Great Suffolk street, and turning off the High street borough I found it no better than many other streets I had passed through—noisy, dirty and evil-smelling. Making my way now on the narrow sidewalk then out in the roadway to pass the ragged, but yet healthy crowds of children whose only playground in the street, I at last found myself at the entrance to King's Court, down which on the right hand side, the second house from the corner, stood the building I was in search of, Bunyan's chapel. It is said to have been erected in 1650, and its appearance indicates that there might be some truth that it was. On the door there is a notice posted, "This Mission House Closed," so for further information I was directed to "knock at number one across the road." I did so, and my knock was responded to by a very aged woman. The mission house has been closed a twelve month and is to be pulled down very shortly, she informed me. It is a most disreputable neighborhood, added the old woman, and it is only yesterday that Nos. 7, 8, 9, 10 down the court have been condemned by the sanitary authorities as unfit for human habitation. I was also informed that a child lay dead in one of the houses and that a man also lay dead in one of the houses in the rear of the court. There was, according to the old woman, talk of their being some trouble over the will. One Jolly who owned the property, willed, on his death, all of it to his wife, she to allow their only son whatever she might think sufficient, but if she married again all the property was to go to the son. She married, and hence the trouble in settling the will. The housebreakers will, in a month or so, be turned loose at the building, and it should not take them but a very brief time to wreck and destroy perhaps one, if not the most, interesting in old Southward's historic buildings.

England's Political Poets.

Some gratification is expressed in a literary paper that poetry is beginning to take its place as a journalistic force. And allusions elsewhere are made to "Government by Kipling." As a mere matter of fact, rhymes have rather ceased to be an influence on public life than to have become one. All poets, even Wordsworth and Coleridge, published national verse in the public journals, and from the treasury and front opposition benches themselves came of old, not the appropriate speech only, but also the appropriate squib. Canning could use his pen in that direction as no cabinet minister now can, and the House of Commons has no laureate like its still regretted Praed, says The London Chronicle.

Tennyson did but continue, and not invent, a tradition, when, half a century ago he sent his "Riflemen, Form!" to The Times, signing them "T", and giving the guessers an easy leap at the undenying Tupper. Even Lord Houghton, during the Crimean war, had from Mr. Delane a welcome conventional in everything but its candor. "Nothing," she wrote in acknowledgment of a set of verses about Scutari, "could be more welcome than the beautiful lines with which you embellish our otherwise dreary columns."

London's Hindoo Temple.

A number of educated natives of Bengal are forming a fund to provide a Hindoo temple in London. There are very few of the great religions of the world which have not places of worship in or near London, but Hindooism is one of them, and the need for such a building is regarded as a pressing one.

The number of young Hindoos who go to London for study and other purposes grows greater every year, and they are at present unable to perform the public rites of their religion. It is hoped, moreover, that the existence of a temple in London will remove the objections of the more orthodox Hindoos to visiting that country. The great caste question at present stands in their way.

Some of the very strict Hindoos are arguing that a temple on English soil cannot possess the sanctity of one in India. Nevertheless there is said to be no doubt that the fund will be raised and that a handsome building will be erected.

Why She Didn't Go the Whole Way.

Grace—Clara says that when Charley proposed she almost cried. Maud—Well, why didn't she? Grace—I don't know. Perhaps her complexion wasn't water proof.—Melbourne Weekly Times.

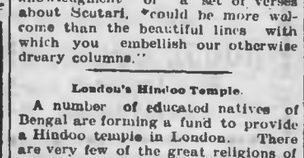
Mean Advantage.

On attempting to question a loquacious patient one day the late Dr. Sands was irritated beyond all endurance. After vainly endeavoring to stem the torrent of gabble, he said sternly:

"Madam, let me see your tongue. That's good. Now keep it there while you hear what I have to say to you."

No Annihilation.

Though man can gather and scatter, move, mix and unmix, yet he can destroy nothing. The putrefaction of one thing is a preparation for the being and bloom of another. Thus a tree gathers nourishment from its own fallen leaves when they are decayed, and something gathers up the fragments that nothing is lost.



"The square peg in the round hole" figuratively expresses the use of means unsuited to the desired end. A great many people who have been cured of dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery say: "We tried many medicines with only temporary benefit. It was not until we began the use of 'Golden Medical Discovery' that we found a complete and lasting cure."

It is undoubtedly true that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery holds the record for the perfect and permanent cure of indigestion and other diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It is not a palliative. It cures the cause of disease and builds up the body with solid healthy flesh, not flabby fat.

"It is with pleasure that I tell you what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets' have done for me," writes Mrs. T. M. Palmer, of Pecde, Kaufman Co., Texas. "Two years ago I was taken with stomach and bowel trouble. Everything I ate would put me in distress. I lived two weeks on milk and even that gave me pain. I felt as though I would starve to death. Three doctors attended me—one said I had dyspepsia, two said catarrh of the stomach and bowels. They attended me (one at a time) for one year. I stopped taking their medicine and tried other patent medicine; got no better, and I grew so weak and nervous my heart would flutter. I could not do any kind of work. Now I can do my house work very well; am gaining in flesh and strength, and can eat anything I want."

Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CLERK OF THE HOUSE.

Sketch of the Successor in the Commons of Sir John Bourinot.

Mr. Thomas Barnard Flint, M. A., LL. B., member of Parliament for Yarmouth, N.S., whose portrait is presented herewith, has been appointed Clerk of the House of Commons, in succession to the late Sir John Bourinot. Mr. Flint was born in Yarmouth on April 28, 1847, and received his education at Mount Allison College, Sackville, N. B., and Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. He graduated as B. A. and M. A. from the former institution, and received the degree of LL. B. from the latter. In 1872 he was called to the Bar, and from 1883 to 1887 was Sheriff of Yarmouth

MR. T. B. FLINT, M.A., LL.B.

County. From 1887 to 1891 he was assistant Clerk of the House of Assembly, N.S. In 1878 he unsuccessfully contested Yarmouth for the House of Commons, but was returned at the general election of 1891, and again carried the constituency at the general elections of 1896 and 1900. He is a man of genial manners and a forcible and effective speaker. He has taken an active part in the prohibition movement, and has often spoken on its behalf in the House of Commons. He was Chairman of the Standing Orders Committee of the House of Commons, and is well versed in the rules and procedure of the popular chamber. Mr. Flint's appointment as Clerk will be received with general approval. Mrs. Flint is a charming and accomplished lady, and very popular in society circles at Ottawa.

Lord Kelvin and Coal.

Apropos of Lord Kelvin's assertion that in 400 years the coal of the world will be used up, Mr. Carteux, chief engineer of the Northern Railway of France, says that in ten years, between petroleum and alcohol, coal mining will not pay.

Pays the Current Price.

My young friend Jimmy Banks was married a little over a year ago. He had previously spent twelve months in the most furious courtship. The girl had not at first cottoned to Jimmy very much, but he moved heaven and earth so vigorously that she at last consented, says the Cosmopolitan. Now, the other day who appears before me but Jimmy, with a long face, and makes a complaint that the baby keeps him awake nights. "Good gracious, Jimmy," I said. "Didn't you know that babies always do that? A baby has to have some relaxation. Go home and be thankful that it isn't twins." There is the reverse side to every joy. You can't have the advantages of bachelorhood and married life at the same time. You buy everything with a price—leisure, family, office, learning, wealth, fame, position. Nothing is free. Be sure you want the article, pay the current price and enjoy your possession.

MAD MULLAH'S PERSONALITY.

Interesting Particulars Obtained From Mohammedans.

One of the most interesting accounts of the personal characteristics of the Mad Mullah has been obtained from some charitable Mohammedans residing in Aden, who were dutiful subjects of Queen Victoria and who received Abdullah when he sought their hospitality as a pilgrim. These merchants, when asked as to the impression they had formed of their guest—who only stayed a day with them—replied that he had edified them by his knowledge and his great piety.

That was about four years ago, at which time they described Abdullah as a man of about thirty years of age, of regular features, who by his height and his whole appearance, presented the characteristic type of the Somali. His practice of shaving his upper lip is said to have given to his countenance an expression of cruelty and of cautious decision. Like most of the fanatics who have risen to a high position in Mahommedan politics, Abdullah is of very humble extraction. His father was a poor shepherd, and the Mullah passed his childhood in his native land among the flocks, but his precocity was observed by a Mussulman theologian, and he was taken while still very young away from his parenes in order to be instructed in the sacred books.

Between his twentieth and thirtieth year Abdullah's history is without exception, that of all believers who aspire to saintship. He made three or four pilgrimages to Mecca. In Somaliland his companions received him with enthusiasm, and soon his fame began to be noised abroad, and people came from far to hear him. He received a less favorable welcome among the people of the Dolbahanta, to which country his mother belonged. Abdullah appears to have desired to use his influence to police these territories, in which the Somali live a life of rapine and perpetual hostility. His object was, in the first place, to cause the British Government to look upon him as an influential person, whose assistance might be obtained by a public recognition of his religious authority; and, in the next place, he was desirous of increasing his prestige among his people, which he was sure of doing if the inhabitants of the plateau should learn that he was a friend of the powerful British nation. In this he was not very successful, and it became necessary for him frankly to confess himself an insurgent. He welcomed a band of deserters that had abandoned a European who had gone to Somaliland to hunt big game. Immediately after this incident he declared himself, assumed the title of Mullah, and boldly announced that he was a reincarnation of Mahomet.

From that time forward he has given a great deal of trouble to the British Government and, being admirably served by spies, undoubtedly occupies a very strong position.

The Aden Gazette relates that the Mullah, who had converted everyone of the plateau, had failed to convert his own father. The brave shepherd would not hear of his claims to be a reincarnation of Mahomet and roundly abused the new prophet of Islam. There was only one thing wanting to put the seal on the authority of the Mullah, and that was a miracle. Eventually, of course, the miracle arrived, and was perfectly successful.

Canute in England.

The first of our foreign masters was the Dane. It was the aim of Sweyn to form a great Scandinavian Empire, of which England should be the head, and after his death the contest was resumed with greater vigor by his son Canute. Fear of the Dane was great in the land, and Canute had no sooner appeared off the coast than the chiefs of Wessex, Mercia, and Northumberland joined in owning him for their lord and in discarding the rule of Ethelred. With the support of London and a part of Wessex Edmund Ironside struggled for a few months against the Danish forces; but, on the King's death in 1016 Canute became master of the realm. Conqueror as he was the Dane was no stranger, his language differed little, and he brought in no new system of tenure or government. His aim during twenty years seems to have been to obliterate from men's minds the foreign character of his rule and the bloodshed in which it had begun. The change in himself was as startling as the change in his policy. When he first appeared in England it was as the mere Northman, passionate, revengeful, uniting the guile of the savage with his thirst for blood. His first acts of government were a series of murders. Eric of Mercia, whose aid had given him the crown, was no sooner useless than at a sign from Canute he was felled by an axe blow in the King's presence. The King's noblest gift to his people was that of peace. In later life Canute, who married the widow of King Ethelred II., became very religious, making a pilgrimage to Rome and building monastic establishments. He died Nov. 12, 1035.

Hamilton's Pills are good Pills.

Ham Baked in Cider.

A ham baked in cider is delicious. Choose a good lean ham of about eight pounds. Wash thoroughly and over the fleshy side sprinkle a little chopped onion, a little clove and allspice, a teaspoonful of cinnamon and a half teaspoonful of ground ginger. Make flour and water into a paste as thick as dough and cover the ham. Put skin side down in a roasting pan, fill up with cider, cook slowly for three hours, basting every ten minutes. When done, take off the paste and the rind. An hour before it is wanted for the table return to the baking pan, flesh side down, brush the fat portion with beaten egg, sprinkle generously with chopped parsley and breadcrumbs and let it heat through in the oven. A gravy can be made by boiling down the cider in which the ham was first roasted.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Some Strange Translations.

The English papers have lately been having fun with a new German-English and English-German dictionary. The best example of the work is said to be the translation of our word "gimcrack." According to The London Daily Chronicle four meanings have been given for this word, which when translated back into English are: "The handsome girl," "the bad machine," "the ordinary handshake" and "a magician."

WHY ?
Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? New York, Dec. 17th, 9.45 a.m.—Car lots of wheat, 94, corn 563, oats 379. Liverpool wheat unchanged to 1-8 lower. General liquidation in May wheat causes weak feeling. Offerings free, and not much demand. Local longs best sellers, also some commission house selling. Cables about steady, wheat favourable.

DENISON.

The moral influence of the so-called $50,000,000 money pool has been felt at once. The maximum rate for money yesterday was 6 1-3 per cent., and the fair rate was considerably below six per cent. London continues a light buyer of stocks. It is natural that those who have been on the short side for any length of time should desire to cover entirely. We recognize that prices have fallen 15 to 20 points in the last 60 days. The chances favour the existence of numerous bargains. Traders are buying St. Paul.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Those who were at the Methodist church last Sunday, heard a practical discourse from Rev. Mr. Mounteer on "David and His Sling."

On the 22nd inst. the Sunday school will hold their anniversary and the Christmas tree will be filled with presents for the scholars of the Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Kenny, of Millbrook, will deliver a lecture in connection with the Christmas tree entertainment.

Rev. Mr. Kannawin chose for his text the answer to Peter which will be found in the 13th chapter of St. John, verse 36. The congregation listened with great attention as he proceeded through a highly interesting discourse.

Visitors from the Northwest are now pouring in on us. Mr. Mark Sheilds, of North Dakota, has arrived in town; he looks well.

Mr. A. Campbell, of Garden Hill, was a visitor to our town last week.

Mr. Robert McLean of the firm of McLean Bros., Toronto, passed through our town last week on a business tour.

The extremely cold weather of the last week, has caused a rush for fuel, and has been the means of advancing prices.

The storm of Saturday last has made good sleighing, which we hope will continue for the holidays, so near at hand.

Home-made Sausages.

I can now supply my customers with those delicious sausages, which gave such perfect satisfaction last season. The first consignment will arrive on Saturday morning. S. A. Oke, 376 George street. Telephone 18.

DEATH OF MRS. U. S. GRANT.

A Summer Resident of Cobourg, Passes Away.

Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant, wife of former President Grant, died at her residence in Washington, D. C., at 11.17 o'clock Sunday night. Death was due to heart failure, Mrs. Grant having suffered for some years from valvular disease of the heart, which was aggravated by a severe attack of bronchitis. Her age prevented her rallying from the attacks. Her daughter, Nellie Grant Sartoris, was the only one of her children with her at the hour of her death, her three sons, who had been summoned here all being out of the city.

Mrs. Grant, whose maiden name was Julia Dent, was born in St. Louis in 1826, and was the daughter of Frederick and Ellen Wrenshall Dent. She was married to General, then Captain Grant, in 1848. During the Civil War Mrs. Grant was with the General much of the time and remained as near as possible to him when he was campaigning. She saw her husband twice inaugurated as President, and accompanied him on his journey around the world. As mistress of the White House she gave liberally to all the charitable institutions of the city. Four children were born to General and Mrs. Grant, three sons and one daughter, all of whom are living. Miss Nellie, the daughter who became the wife of Algernon Sartoris in 1874, has lived in Washington with her mother for several years. Frederick Dent Grant, the oldest son, is in the army, and two other sons, Jesse and Ulysses Sherman, live at San Diego, Cal. Since General Grant's death Mrs. Grant has spent most of her winters in Washington city, while during the summer she usually lived at Saratoga, Manchester-by-Sea, and other popular resorts. The last two summers she resided with Mrs. Sartoris at Cobourg, Ont.

The Word "Cafe."

It is really difficult to understand how the word "cafe," a French term, has come into such general use in this country and how it happens that it is so grossly misapplied. The term means coffee, or a place where coffee is sold, and what relation there is between a coffee shop and a place where liquors are sold we are at a loss to know. It is not improbable that the idea comes from combinations of barrooms and restaurants, in the latter of which of course coffee is sold, but to our mind nothing seems more absurd or more emphatically marks the modern disposition to follow blind custom than sticking up on the window where only beer, liquor and wines are sold the word "coffee," and that in a foreign language. Were it not that an age of misnomer gives recognition to this anomaly we would just as soon the word "meat" or "bread" signalized places where liquors are sold. Either would have as much sense and logical application as "cafe."

A Delicate Position.

Wedding presents are frequently distinguished for their uselessness, and giftmaking at any time is attended with some danger. A faithful Irish employee announced his desire to take a month's holiday to visit his brother. He had worked so well and steadily that his employer not only granted the request, but made him a present of a new traveling bag.

The night before Tim was to leave he received the gift, accompanied by a few appreciative words.

Tim stared at the bag for a moment and then asked, "What am I to do with that?"

"Why, put your clothes in it when you go away, of course," answered the employer.

"Put me clothes in it, is it?" said Tim. "An' phwat will Oi wear if Oi put me clothes in that?"

Not a Compliment.

"Old war horse" has long been a complimentary and affectionate sobriquet bestowed on veteran political workers by their party confreres and admirers. A Washington correspondent once endeavored to compliment Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and other women suffragists by referring to them as "old war mares." He protested that he had heard them say there could be no opprobrium in sex, but the old ladies kicked like young fillies, and the correspondent lost his job.

A Tale of a Typewriter.

A quaint tale of a typewriter is told by an Anglo-Indian. An English judge in India, an expert on the typewriter, used it for the taking of judicial notes.

The machine was taken into court, when a certain novelty was imparted to the proceedings by the click of the keys and tinkle of the bell. The prisoner was found guilty and sentenced.

Promptly he appealed on the ground that instead of listening to the evidence the judge had whiled away his time by playing on a musical instrument.

The Age of Brain Work.

"In these days, half our diseases come from the neglect of the body in the overwork of the brain. In this railway age the wear and tear of labour and intellect go on without pause or self pity. We live longer than our forefathers but we suffer more. They fatigued only the muscles, we exhaust the finer strength of the nerves." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest medicine of this age because it is best suited to the needs of the present day. It restores and revitalizes wasted nerve cells and makes the pale, weak and exhausted strong and healthy and vigourous.

ANXIOUS TO SETTLE.

President Castro Clothes U. S. Minister Bowen With Power.

BLOCKADE EFFECTIVE SATURDAY

Answers Expected at Caracas by the Governments of Great Britain, Germany and Italy to the Arbitration Proposal of Venezuela—No Meeting of Arbitration Board on Venezuelan Soil.

Washington, Dec. 19.—President Castro has clothed Minister Bowen with full powers to effect a settlement with Great Britain, Germany and Italy. Mr. Bowen simply awaits the consent of the State Department to assume this task, assuming that the nations named are willing that he shall undertake this work. It is believed that the critical phase of the Venezuelan difficulty has been passed.

Sir Robert Giffen's Views.

London, Dec. 19.—The Times yesterday morning gave great prominence to a letter from Sir Robert Giffen declaring that the Foreign Office gravely blundered in associating itself with Germany against Venezuela. Sir Robert contends that a blockade will be useless against a bankrupt State, while the seizure of the customs will be tantamount to annexation and full of danger, considering the peculiar relations of Venezuela to the United States.

No Decision at London.

No answer has yet been sent or decided upon regarding Venezuela's arbitration proposition. The Cabinet met yesterday afternoon to discuss the matter. The question of a guarantee for the fulfillment of the decisions arrived at remains the great difficulty, in the Government's view, in the way of the acceptance of arbitration.

It is not apparent that anything definite has resulted from yesterday's Cabinet meeting with regard to the transmission by the Government of the United States of Venezuela's request for arbitration.

Charge d'Affaires White was in touch with the Foreign Office throughout the day. He transmitted a long despatch to the State Department at Washington, but this communication is not believed to contain anything in the nature of a final decision.

All negotiations are being conducted with extraordinary secrecy, but it is thought probable that Mr. White's despatches to Washington have conveyed enquiries from the British Government with regard to Secretary Hay's views as to the possibility of Venezuela carrying out the award of arbitrators. The Associated Press is in a position to say that Great Britain is making strenuous efforts to induce the United States to guarantee Venezuela's compliance with the findings of arbitration.

Inquiries made at the Foreign Office subsequent to the Cabinet meeting brought no response. The announcement that President Castro had entrusted United States Minister Bowen with full powers to arrange a settlement was received at the Foreign Office with much interest, accompanied by the remark, "So Mr. Bowen is to be the arbitrator."

The despatch which contained this announcement was immediately taken to Foreign Secretary Lansdowne; it apparently conveyed to the Foreign Office officials the first definite news that such action had been taken.

VENEZUELA'S REPRESENTATIVE.

United States Minister Bowen Authorized to Effect a Settlement.

Caracas, Dec. 19.—It has been learned from an official source that the allies yesterday notified the Venezuelan authorities at La Guayra of the blockade, to become effective Saturday, Dec. 20, at 3 p.m., of the ports of La Guayra, Puerto Cabello, Core, Maralcaibo, Carupano and Barcelona.

Lopez Baralt, Venezuelan Minister of Foreign Affairs, has transmitted to United States Minister Bowen a document signed by President Castro as constitutional president of the Republic and countersigned by himself as Minister of Foreign Affairs, in which Mr. Bowen is recognized as the only representative of Venezuela in the matter of effecting a settlement of the present difficulty.

According to the terms of this document Mr. Bowen may act without restriction, and he is to use all means possible to protect the interests of Venezuela. The document was subjected to correction Wednesday night, and again yesterday morning before delivery. The State Department at Washington has been notified of the transmission of this instrument to Mr. Bowen.

Events here are dependent upon the result through the State Department, of the answers of the Governments of Great Britain, Germany and Italy to the proposal of arbitration advanced by Venezuela; these answers are expected to-day. Should they be favorable the Venezuelan Government strongly desires that a conference of the Ambassadors of Great Britain, Germany and Italy to the United States then be held in Washington, and that Mr. Bowen leave La Guayra Dec. 23 for the United States on board the Red "D" Line steamer Caracas, which is due to reach New York Dec. 29. Mr. Bowen will meet the Ambassador in Washington. No meeting to discuss terms of settlement is to be held on Venezuela soil.

Falke Captures Sch. Victoria.

La Guayra, Dec. 19.—The German cruiser Falke which as been anchored for the past two days at the entrance of Lake Maralcaibo, yesterday captured the Venezuelan schooner Victoria. After cutting down her main mast, thus disabling her, the Germans abandoned the vessel. This action has caused great indignation among the Venezuelans and excitement runs high at Maralcaibo where the people have been parading the streets, uttering cries against Great Britain and Germany.

BRITISH PROROGATION.

The King's Speech an Unusually Lengthy One—References to War With Venezuela—South African Prospects.

London, Dec. 19.—Parliament was prorogued yesterday afternoon by royal commission. Only a score of members of the House of Commons were present when Black Rod summoned the lower House to the House of Lords to hear the King's speech, which was an unusually lengthy recapitulation of public events since January, including the action taken in connection with Venezuela, regarding which the speech said:

"I regret that the constant complaints which my Government found it necessary to address to the Government of Venezuela in regard to unjustifiable and arbitrary acts against British subjects and property during the last two years have been persistently disregarded and that it has become necessary for my Government, acting in concert with that of his Imperial Majesty the German Emperor, which also has serious causes for complaint against the Republic, to insist on measures of redress."

The speech refers to the conclusion of the South African war, and adds: "There seems to be every reason to hope that material prosperity greater than any the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies have yet experienced may visit these regions, and that all sections of the population may live together in friendship for each other and loyalty to the crown."

Many Subjects Dealt With.

Paragraphs deal with the postponed coronation, the colonial conference and Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's tour, which, together, are expected to be of the "utmost value, both in respect to their immediate effect and as precedents in the future."

Other topics touched upon were the expedition against the Mad Mullah and the co-operation of Italy therein, the acceptance by Chili and Argentina of the British boundary award, the Brussels sugar convention, and the alliance between Great Britain and Japan, "which, I believe, will be of advantage to both countries and contribute to the maintenance of general peace in the extreme east."

Parliament was prorogued until Feb. 17.

FOR GOOD MONEY ORDERS.

H. O. Hally Charged With Stealing $200 From Dominion Express Co. by Exchanging Bogus Checks.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—Robert O. Hally, ledger-keeper at the Parliament street branch of the Bank of Commerce, was taken into custody last night on the charge of stealing $200 from the Dominion Express Company. Hally, according to his own story, is but 16 years of age, but looks much older. He is a son of a prominent boot and shoe dealer living at 12 Churchill avenue. Until a week ago, when he went to stop at the Iroquois Hotel, he lived at the home of his parents. He denies his guilt.

On Wednesday afternoon a young man of respectable appearance went into the Dominion Express Company's office at Yonge and Wellington streets and called for four money orders for $50 each, payable to the order of Richard Hamilton at Hamilton. In payment an accepted cheque on the Parliament street branch of the Bank of Commerce, signed by J. D. Harvey, was given. The young man went away, taking the money with him.

Yesterday morning a little before 10 o'clock he was back at the express office. He explained that he had sent the orders to the person in whose favor they were made out, but the recipient could not cash them for the reason that he could not get identified. He produced the orders and wanted his $200 returned to him. The money was paid over, and a few hours afterwards the cheque was found to be bogus. It was thought at first that the cheque was marked with a bogus stamp of the bank on which it was drawn.

About 5 o'clock W. R. Mitchell, cashier of the Canadian Express Co., went to the Parliament street branch of the Bank of Commerce to see if J. D. Harvey had an account there. He had a talk with the manager, who summoned Hally into his office to get the required information.

Mitchell, it is said, at once recognized Hally as the man who had passed the cheque on him and told the manager so. James Walsh of the Dominion Express Co. was summoned in order that there might be no doubt about the identification. Mr. Walsh also recognized Hally and Detective Davis was called in to place him under arrest.

Hally strenuously denied all knowledge of the bogus cheques.

FUNERAL OF REV. DR. MACVICAR.

All Classes of Citizens Follow Remains to the Grave.

Montreal, Dec. 19.—The funeral of the late Rev. Dr. MacVicar took place yesterday afternoon from the David Morrice Hall of the Presbyterian College to the Crescent street Presbyterian Church, thence to Mount Royal Cemetery. It was one of the largest funerals that has been seen in this city in recent years, being attended by citizens of every shade of religious belief, by prominent educationalists of the Province of Quebec and the city of Montreal; by Presbyterian ministers from the neighboring Province of Ontario, as well as from this city; by hundreds of school children; by the teachers of the High and Public schools; by representative citizens, and by the general public. The funeral cortege was a very long one. The remains of the late Principal were removed from his late residence to the David Morrice Hall at half-past eleven o'clock in the morning. There they lay in state between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At 2 o'clock the funeral service was held in this place.

From American Designs.

Glasgow, Dec. 19.—The Canadian order for twenty high-class locomotives, which was received by the firm of Nelson, Reid & Co., of this city provides that the engines shall be built from American designs. The experiment arouses interest and there is much curiosity to see how British workmen will handle American designs.

Work and Fitting Rooms have to go a floor higher up. Christmas Goods demanded more room, customers demanded more room, assistants couldn't handle the afternoon crowds, and much larger stocks marked decidedly cheap are bringing hosts of people to this little wonderland. Mornings get for you more attention—more deliberation.

Last night all the staff was back, making a general shift on our second floor, and devising plans and means for showing the plentious Christmas-like goods this store has. We apologize for our lack of decorations, but time has not permitted us to give our usual attention to the matter.

MADE IN CANADA.

"The Temiskaming Railway Commission is giving a premium of $3 a ton for steel rails made in Canada, and rightly so," said a Made-in-Canada enthusiast to-day. "It is worth far more than $3 a ton to the Province to have those rails made in New Ontario. And it seems to me that the same principle could be applied to an extent in the case of purchases made by an individual. Most Canadian manufacturers take the stand that they want a preference given their goods only where the price and quality equal those of their foreign competitors, and I think this is the dignified and proper stand for them to take. And yet I think the community on its part could well concede a little when necessary, because the advantage of home manufacturing — development, employment, etc.—are obvious."Toronto Star.

ONTARIO FARM STATISTICS.

Farming is the backbone of our provincial industries, therefore farmers will find special interest in the following figures taken from the annual report of the Bureau of Industries of Ontadrio for the year 1901:

The table of the average rate of wages paid farm labourers during the last twenty years shows how considerable has been the enhancement of value in this respect. Last year the average amount paid, with board, for yearly engagements was $165; in 1900 it was $155; in 1899, $149; while the average for the ten years preceding 1901 was $157. Without board, in 1901 the figure was $263; in 1900, $248; in 1899, $243, and between 1882 and 1901 the average was $250. For those engaging by the month during the working season, with board, the rate was $17.78 in 1901, $16.57 in 1900 and $15.38 in 1899, while the average for the twenty years from 1882 to 1901 was $16.78, while without board the figures were, respectively, $27.05, $25.73, $24.93 and $26.19. Regarding farm values and rentals, the average value of farm lands in Ontario during 1901 was $24.76 per acre, of buildings, $9.59; of implements, $2.53; of live stock, $5.48; total, $42.36. Average rent per acre occupied, $1.77; cleared, $2.46. In 1896, the average value of the land was $24.06; buildings, $8.85; implements, $2.19; live stock, $4.18; total, $39.28. Rent was $1.88, $2.54, cleared. A computation of the average prices at thirty-two well distributed market points, of the most important farm products, shows the wide fluctuations which have taken place in the values of commodities. Fall wheat, average price for the latter six months of 1901, was 66.1c.; spring wheat, 66.8c.; barley, 45c.; oats, 36.2c.; peas, 65.3c.; beans, $1.25; rye, 49.3c.; buckwheat, 48.4c.; corn (in ear,) 38c.; hay, $7.99; potatoes, 42.6c.; wool, 13.4c. In 1900, fall wheat was 66.4c.; spring wheat, 67.5c.; barley, 38.9.; oats, 26.5c.; peas, 57.1c.; beans, 99.7c.; rye, 48.5c.; buckwheat, 43.7c.; corn, 31.7c.; hay, $8.48; potatoes, 26.1c.; wool, 15.4c. In 1895, fall wheat was 69.3c.; spring wheat, 69.8c.; barley, 40c.; oats, 29.1c.; peas, 54.8c.; beans, 94.7c.; rye, 45.8c.; buckwheat, 36.8c.; corn, 22.6c.; hay, $12.30; potatoes, 20.2c.; wool, 20c. Average prices for these products between 1882 and 1901 were: Fall wheat, 78.7c.; spring wheat, 81.2c.; barley, 44.8c.; oats, 31.3c.; peas, 57.5c.; beans, $1.01 1-2c.; rye, 51.6c.; buckwheat, 39.7c.; corn, 25c. (average for ten years, 1892-1901); hay, $9.06; potatoes, 39.4c.; wool, 17.9c.

At Guelph the other day Messrs. Whitney and Pyne posed as great friends of the Ontario Agricultural College, and in their speeches advocated the establishment of more institutions of the kind. Hon Mr. Dryden, who may well be supposed to have been surprised by such statements, expressed his pleasure at these speeches, pointing out that for many years Mr. Whitney and his following had been assailing the Government because it did not make the one college pay cash profits. Many of the farmers, says the Hamilton Times, who know the Conservative record must have laughed at Whitney's bid for sympathy.

No present is better for Christmas then one that is of some use.

Nothing is more useful than some garment or article of apparel.

HELD THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

Patrons of Central Smith Cheese Factory.

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT

Mr. D. Derbyshire, of Brockville, Delivered an Address—Town Talent was Present for the Occasion.

The annual social gathering of the patrons of the Smith Cheese Factory has for a number of years been one of those annual events which are looked forward to in much the same manner as many of our public holidays. As the time draws near the weeks and even days are counted from this date. Some time ago it was announced that the entertainment would be held this year on Dec. 18th, in the hall of the Good Templars. Owing to the prosperous season just passed a large attendance was anticipated, and arrangements were made for the entertainment of an immense number but even the largest attendance hoped for was by far exceeded last night. For miles around the patrons and their friends came to partake of the good things which they knew the good wives of Smith Central would provide.. Nor were they disappointed for the refreshments supplied were of the highest grade of excellence and what is of almost equal importance there was plenty and to spare. After the cravings of the inner man had been appeased, the tables were cleared away and of the first order was given. By the unanimous vote of those present Mr. F. D. Kerr, of the firm of O'Connell & Kerr, barristers, Peterborough, was chosen as chairman. Mr. Kerr in his opening address said that he would like to have seen a vote to the contrary called before taking the chair. He was assured, however, that the choice was unanimous. Continuing Mr. Kerr expressed his great pleasure in being present and also congratulated the Committee of Management on the splendid success of the re-union. He was, comparatively, a stranger there and felt the honour bestowed on him. He also called upon the press representatives to take the platform in order that those present would be able to recognise them in all future time and be able to deal with their bodies to their hearts' content. The chairman then read the

AN ENTERTAINMENT

Mr. Young was pleased to have Mr. Kerr present, and to his humorous banter as to Mr. Kerr's persistency in maintaining a solitary social station, the latter replied in the same jocular vein that his personal freedom from the enthralment of the gentler sex had never been seriously imperrilled till he came in contact with the fair ladies of that portion of Smith township.

Mr. D. Derbyshire, Brockville, the President of the Eastern Dairymen's Association, delivered the speech of the evening. He congratulated the patrons present on their showing this year. In Canada the increased export value of butter and cheese was $7,-000,000, and the total export value of butter, cheese and bacon was $42,000,-000. This all went to show that we were on the high road to prosperity. In Canada this year there were many factories that had fallen behind last year. This should not be the case, for these had certainly not done their best. Central Smith had done well, but he was satisfied that with better care of the milk, and selection of their herds they could do still better. Another thing, why could not the cheese factory be to some extent beautified on the exterior? It deserved it. The milk business was equal in value to the best of our gold fields. Continuing, Mr. Derbyshire said that there was no business, not even the learned professions, as good as farming, and if farming was made more attractive for the young lads, there would be fewer of them starving, almost, in the towns and cities. Another thing needed was who would be able to go to the farmers' homes, and quietly point out how to care for the milk, instead of antagonizing them by harsh criticisms at the factory. The dairymen have made Canada famous. Beginning at the Centennial the march has been a triumphal one until at the Pan-American they literally swept the prize lists, and he, the speaker, was glad to know that Smith had been in the forefront of the procession to prosperity. Mr. Derbyshire again emphasized the importance of the need of care in the handling of cows, cleanliness in the milk utensils, for the cleaner the butter and cheese the better the price, and just so long as Canada kept on improving on this line just so long would she command the market. There was no reason why this should not be the case, for with refrigerator cars and cold storage steamships we are now at the very door of the European market. In conclusion the speaker told the farmers not to be too easily discouraged, and to guard against it, for farmers generally were apt to be too easily disheartened.

Interspersed throughout the address were many interesting and apt anecdotes that enabled the speaker to hold the audience to the last.

Rev. Mr. Kannawin, of Omemee, spoke briefly and in a witty strain.

That the audience was pleased with the programme was evinced by the vociferous applause accorded those who furnished the programme. The programme was given by Misses Dobbin and Belleghem, and Messrs. Halpany and Henderson, of Peterborough, and Miss Howden, of Smith, while Miss Brown, of Peterborough, acted as accompanist. Mr. Halpany was especially well received, and was encored three times in nearly every case. He made a pleasing variety in his encores by introducing several witty monologues. At the close votes of thanks were tendered Messrs. Kerr and Derbyshire, and the entertainers.

Thus ended the reunion of 1902, and without doubt it will be long remembered with pleasure by those present.

Completely Fagged out.

The world is full of sickly, despondent, tired, enervated people, all hoping to be well some day. The surest road to health is along the way of taking Ferrosone after meals. Ferrosone is a great appetiser and enables one to eat plenty of wholesome food without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia. This results in the rapid formation of an abundance of red, vitalising blood, which will restore the nerves, increase flesh and vigor, and nourish and feed every organ of the body. Ferrosone is an ideal restorative and invigorant. It is a tonic of unequalled merit that anyone can use with benefit. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

WHY IS BRITAIN IN IT?

Some days ago the Montreal Herald ventured the suggestion that Great Britain had sent battle ships to Venezuelan waters less because of any British interest there might be to serve there, than to be on hand in case Germany undertook to do something injudicious. Comment is lent to this theory by the commentaries now appearing in the British press. The people over there are not able to find in the blue books precisely what the war is all about, and they are disposed to grumble about it a good deal. The steady-going Britisher does not so much object to the mere fighting so long as he knows what he is fighting about but when he has had his fill of war, and when the utmost enlightenment he can get is contained in Lord Lansdowne's rather flippant statement that Venezuela's average of three revolutions a year is altogether too high, he is disposed to grumble and to look around for a reason better than the one furnished. He now concludes that the British ships are there because the United States wanted them there, the American authorities not being secure in their minds that Germany could be trusted alone in front of La Guayra. The confidence shown at Washington strengthens this view, and the care the British authorities at London take to dissociate themselves from anything that Germany does that Americans do not like, encourages people to believe that Britain is in this business more to please the United States than to please Germany. If there is an understanding between Great Britain and the United States, and it is not improbable, there is little danger that Germany will make serious trouble in Venezuela, whatever risk she may be willing to run to get a footing on this continent.

The Age of Brain Work.

"In these days, half our diseases come from the neglect of the body in the overwork of the brain. In this railway age the wear and tear of labour and intellect go on without pause or self pity. We live longer than our forefathers but we suffer more. They fatigued only the muscles, we exhaust the finer strength of the nerves." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest medicine of this age because it is best suited to the needs of the present day. It restores and revitalises wasted nerve cells and makes the pale, weak and exhausted strong and healthy and vigourous.

SOUR STOMACH (Acid Dyspepsia)

Now Recognised as the Cause of Serious Diseases.

Acid Dyspepsia, commonly called heart burn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to properly digest it the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour ,burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic, and being an every day occurrence, is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

It is now well known among able physicians that the whole constitution is gradually undermined and weakened, that the nerves and vital organs are seriously affected by any form of dyspepsia. This is plain, as every organ, every nerve in the body, is nourished by the blood, and the blood is replenished from the food digested. If the food is properly digested, the blood is pure, the nerves steady, but if supplied from a sour, fermenting, decaying mass the blood is vitiated, poisoned, and the result is shown in sleeplessness, lack of energy, poor appetite, nervousness. Every trifle is magnified, and the dyspeptic sees nothing but the dark side of everything.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and it is now becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

It is not claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia and stomach weakness in its various forms, but for this it has been shown to be unequalled. The eminent specialists, Reed and O'Leary, have recently stated that they considered Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets an unfailing specific for disorders of the digestive organs, and the remarkable cures made in cases of long standing dyspepsia prove that this remedy has extraordinary merit.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package, and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion, strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

NON-UNIONISTS' TALE.

A Reign of Terror Alleged During Coal Miners' Strike.

JUDGE GRAY'S STRONG WORDS.

As the Commission Wanted to Know If a Reign of Terror Really Existed While Strike Was on the Strict Rules of Evidence Would Not Bind—Summary of Testimony Given on Thursday.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 19.—In the Coal Strike Commission yesterday in reply to the lawyers for the miners, who objected frequently to the admission of testimony on hearsay, and some times objected because of irrelevance of certain other statements, Chairman Gray said the commission was not bound by any strict rules of evidence, but asked counsel to confine themselves in examining witnesses as far as possible to direct evidence. The commission, he said, wanted to know whether a reign of terror existed in the anthracite region, and it could not get that information if the strict rules of evidence were applied. "The coward who will go to the storekeepers," he said, "and tell them not to sell the necessaries of life to a poor woman, usually seeks the obscurity that the law of evidence throws around him. If a girl is discharged from her position in a store, because she rode in a street car in inclement weather, while a street car strike was on, the coward who discharged her is coward enough to refuse to testify." He recognized, he said, why some merchants will not come forward and tell who forced him to refuse to sell necessaries of life to certain boycotted persons, but if he (Chairman Gray) were a storekeeper, he thought he would risk his all, in order to assist in breaking up the cowardly business."

Several non-union witnesses that were called, testified that their wives were insulted in the streets; the children were beaten by other children and could not safely be sent to school; that local unions requested storekeepers to refrain from selling goods to anyone related to a man working in the mines; that they were stoned, shot at and hung in effigy, and that life generally was made miserable for them and their families. Most of the witnesses connected strikers with the offences alleged.

The lawyers for the non-union men said last night they would continue calling witnesses to prove that a reign of terror existed during the strike.

The commission will adjourn at about noon on Saturday, and will reconvene in Philadelphia on Jan. 5.

DISCHARGED MRS. RAYMOND.

Judge, However, Ruled That the Counterfeiting Case Against Her Husband Must Go On—Thursday's Proceedings.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—Mrs. Elizabeth Raymond is free. She was discharged from custody yesterday afternoon in the Criminal Sessions by Judge McDougall. His Honor held that there was no evidence to connect her with the charge of knowingly possessing forged one-dollar bills, preferred against herself and her husband, Anson, by the Crown after William Stuart's counterfeit plant had been found at their hotel at Wilton avenue and Sumach street.

Crown Attorney Dewart did not unduly oppose E. F. B. Johnston's application for the discharge of the woman, because, he said, if there was any wrongdoing on her part she acted at the instance of her husband. Mrs. Raymond when leaving the box shook hands with her husband, and for the remainder of the afternoon sat beside her father, close to the jury box. To-day Mrs. Raymond will go on the witness stand on behalf of her husband.

Stuart, the aged counterfeiter, was examined, and his evidence was so satisfactory to the defence that Mr. Johnston did not hardly think it necessary to ask him any questions. During his testimony he swore that if the prisoner, Raymond, knew that he, Stuart, was making counterfeit money the latter did not know it.

His Honor ruled that the case against Mr. Raymond must go on, and Mr. Johnston called Ethel Raymand, daughter of the accused hotelkeeper.

Miss Raymond assumed the full responsibility for moving the plant from Stuart's room to the roof garden. She explained that when the officers entered she took them to be license inspectors, and hurried up stairs to get things in order. Stuart's room, she said, was always untidy. When she removed the things she was not aware that the articles made up the counterfeiting plant. Miss Raymond was under cross-examination when the court adjourned for the night.

Health and Hope.

"He who has health has hope; and he who has hope has everything." But hope flees at the approach of kidney disease with the dreadful pains which accompany it. With the flesh gradually failing, the back aching, and the despair which often comes to victims of this ailment, only the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will restore hope, confidence and health. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

BONE FOOD

The bones of a baby are soft—so very soft that at first they can scarcely be called bones. They grow hard in time, but the period of their growth is a critical one. Loose joints, bow-legs, enlarged head and hip disease are evidances of rickets. If not checked they lead to deformities of a permanent character. This is the natural result of improper bone nourishment during the period of bone development.

The child needs mineral substance to harden the bones and this is plentifully supplied in the hypophosphites of lime and soda contained in Scott's Emulsion. The cod liver oil provides the element of fat needed to reinforce the child's ordinary food.

Thus Scott's Emulsion offers in a perfect combination the very principles of proper bone and flesh nourishment most needed by a young child. The action of the Emulsion is so mild that the most delicate stomach will accept and retain it. This makes Scott's Emulsion of particular value to weak children and very young babies who are in absolute need of a mild yet effective food-medicine.

Pale-faced children show they are not getting what they ought to get from their food. They need Scott's Emulsion to enrich their blood and give them strength to start on the right road to a healthy growth.

If a child is thin, backward in growth, or slow in development it will be found that Scott's Emulsion will quickly help it. There is nothing better for babies and growing children than Scott's Emulsion.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

THE "NEWSBOY" MISER.

Eli Hyman's Wealth Is to Be Turned Over to His Wife—Married Her About 30 Years Ago.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—Unwept and unsung, old Eli Hyman, the wealthy miser will be buried to-day. The services will be in charge of Rabbi Jacobs. Interment will be made in Holy Blossom Cemetery. Fifty thousand dollars of his fortune, dug out of the rags he discarded when placed on his charity cot to die, is still at the hospital. The first new suit of clothes to adorn the shrunken figure of the miserable old man for years was placed on the corpse yesterday.

The wife of the dead man was in consultation with the Rabbi and her solicitor yesterday. The entire wealth will be turned over to her at once. In fact many of the securities in the various companies were entered in her name. The combined resources of the strange couple is said to aggregate $800,000. She is a thrifty soul, and while her husband was begging on the streets of Toronto, selling papers and picking up rags and old bones, she has been conducting a small store in Churchville.

About thirty years ago Hyman married a Miss Hamilton, who resided near Meadowville. She is his present wife. This is the only authenticated marriage known to have been entered into by the beggar. If he was previously married, as many of his acquaintances asserted, it must have occurred at a date much earlier than this.

A post-mortem examination was held upon his remains by Dr. Norman Anderson yesterday morning. Coroner Johnson has issued a warrant for an inquest into the cause of death to be held to-day.

PRIVATE BANK FAILS.

Anderson & Sons, of Oakville, Make an Assignment—A Disastrous Run on the Bank—Liabilities Large.

Oakville, Dec. 19. — The private bank of Anderson & Sons is in the hands of an assignee. The institution has been in business for many years. There was no suspicion of distress until the notice appeared on the door. The deposits are very heavy. Many depositors believe that C. A. Anderson will pay every cent. All the churches in the city are interested. The cause of the closing is attributed to the public uneasiness following the suicide of Thomas Howarth and the closing of the Andrew & Howarth Bank. Many depositors in a panic demanded their money. The bank stood the run as long as they were able, but the Bank of Hamilton, which had their account, refused to honor their checks, so the assignment became necessary.

The total liabilities are not yet known, but there is every reason to believe that they will be very heavy, probably in the neighborhood of $300,000.

A very extensive business was done by the firm, and as a consequence nearly everybody in Oakville and the surrounding country is affected more or less. The firm enjoyed a high degree the confidence of both citizens and farmers; and in many instances their all was deposited in the bank. The effect is certainly far reaching.

Among the business men, so far as it can be learned, there are only a few who did not have deposits with the firm. To some it means only a few hundred dollars, but to many three, four and five thousand; some, in fact, as high as ten and fifteen thousand.

Among the Oakville families the loss will be great. Nearly all had their money deposited in this bank, as young and old seemed to favor the firm. Among the farmers many had large deposits, and the loss will also be most keenly felt in many ways, particularly at this time of the year, with so many notes, etc., coming due.

As late as 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon many made large deposits in the bank. It was a big shock to the town. Of course the losses may not be as large as many anticipate. It is said a member of the firm has intimated that the creditors will not be as heavy losers as many anticipate.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' CONCERT

Held in Bradburn's Opera House Last Night

And was Very Successful—The Sextette was Well Produced.

A large and appreciative audience greeted Peterborough's amateur artists in the Opera House last night, when the Sextette from Florodora and a number of interesting tableaux was excellently produced. The entertainment was given by the King's Daughters of St. John's church, and the proceeds are to be devoted to the cause of charity. Those who took part were entirely local artists and the ability displayed in the various roles reflected credit upon the young people who had charge of the affair.

The entertainment opened with a series of very prettily arranged tableaux representing Christmas Eve. The feature of this tableau was the presence of six children, the smallest of whom was Master Herbert McClellan, the little four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McClellan, who looked exceedingly cute in his pjamas. The youngsters were anxiously awaiting for the arrival of Santa Claus. This tableau was followed by another, representing Christmas morning with all the accompanying joy. Then "Christmas night," was produced. This showed the little ones at the close of a day of festivity, wearied, tired and sleepy and having discarded their toys for the time being at least.

Two tableaux were then put on representing the other side of Christmas, giving a partial idea, at least, of the kind of Christmas that many hundreds of boys and girls will have who are forced to depend upon benevolent societies for luxuries.

THE SEXTETTE.

Much interest was manifested in the sextette, "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden," from Florodora. Those taking part in the affair were Miss P. Lundy, Mr. Pereira, Miss M. English, Mr. W. Hogg, Miss L. Pearse, Mr. V. McGill, Miss M. Rush, Mr. Hal. Burnham, Miss F. Belcher, Mr. Davies, Miss M. Sherwood, Mr. Cluxton.

The sextette was exceedingly well produced and the performers were attired in costumes of most attractive character. The singing was well balanced, and the acting was certainly very creditable. Miss Pearl Lundy and Miss English, and Mr. Hogg, are perhaps deserving of special mention.

A party of six old maids in the village of Crawford, about the year 1805 constituted the theme of a tableau that was put on with rare ability, and the one act farce which followed, entitled, "Box and Cox," proved to be laughable in the extreme. It drew forth repeated applause. Those taking part in the farce were Miss Helen Rogers, and Messrs. R. M. Hamilton and Jack Gracey.

"The Roll Call," and "True to the Last," were the closing tableaux.

The King's Daughters are again to be congratulated upon the success of their venture and the artists have reason to be proud of the ability they displayed in their respective roles.

The Port Hope Guide says: The Baptist Aid of Durand, Michigan, presented Mrs. J. T. McCurdy with a silver berry spoon as a token of friendship on the eve of herleaving for her new home in Peterborough. Mr. J. McCurdy, of Durand, Michigan, on her way to Peterborough, where the family is removing, made the Guide a call to-day. We are glad that our Canadian boys are returning home.

WORTHY OF ATTENTION.

Window of Mr. R. McWhinnie's Store.

Just now the competition in window dressing is at its height and it would be well to point out that of the shoe store of Mr. R. McWhinnie. While there is nothing of a gaudy character displayed, yet the arrangement of colour is a rest to the eye. These colours, pink and white, are combined to form a pretty draped background to the window, and over all is strewn a large quantity of holly. In the window men and women's durable and comfortable foot wear, arranged by way of contrast with the lighter shoes used at home and in dancing, make the picture one worthy of attention.

TURNBULL'S FINE OPENING.

An Elegant Display Witnessed Last Night.

Many Electric Lights Were Used in the Decorations—Store Visited by Hundreds.

Messrs. J. C. Turnbull and Company had a most brilliant Christmas opening last night. It is seldom, indeed that an establishment is ever crowded to such an extent as it was last night, and it is seldom that visitors are treated to such a magnificent display of wares as were so beautifully displayed at Turnbull's last night.

There were no goods for sale—it was a season of exhibition only, and it was amply taken advantage of by the hundreds of townspeople who paid their respects to this well-known establishment. Mr. Fred Might, the manager of the store, and his efficient staff, were on hand to welcome their friends, all of whom were greeted most cordially. The 250 electric lights, arranged in an artistic manner, sent a great glare of brilliancy throughout the premises, and altogether the opening passed off in a very delightful manner.

No one can enter the store without being instantly impressed with the Christmas radiance which floods the entire interior. The brilliancy of the glad Christmas tide is reflected in every nook and cranny. The joyous spirit of the new holiday goods pervades everything. Personal and household needs, questions of remembrance of friends, all suggested by the season, find easy and economical solution here.

Put in order to do justice to the excellent decorative effects, some detail is necessary. It would seem that everything was done that brains could evolve or money accompish to make Christmas shopping at Turnbull's a comfort and a physical pleasure. The theme of the decorations is the bounteous spirit of the season. The first thing which attracts the visitor is the continuous series of uniform lattice and spiral arched panels which span the walls, and reaching from the top of the shelving to the ceiling, along the whole length of space from one side of the store to the other. These arched panels are formed of variegated work in green and red and spiralled with a combination of red, white and green effects. Over each panel hangs an excellent imitation of the Christmas bells, and under each panel appears a bold letter in green and red, which when read all along the whole series of panels, forms the words, "Happy New Year," on the south side of the store, on the north side, the words, "Merry Christmas." Inside each of these handsome arched panels is displayed on a blue ground some leading line of goods. For instance:—in those on the south side are shown fancy household linens, applique, table napkins, doylies, tray clothes, towels, bath mats, etc., in those on the north side are shown lovely silks, zebilines, cashmeres, parasols, belts, handkerchiefs, etc. Over each arch is an artistically painted card, bearing the name of some appropriate Christmas suggestion of the various lines represented.

Along the middle of the store, the centre ledge is surmounted with a rich display of cream fancies in silk and wool Bedford cord; skilfully draped and embedded in each display are huge roses, caught with long strings of fancy silk braids. Further on, along the same ledge, is a practical display of dress corsets, fitted on busts, among the best styles being the "W.B." corset, for which Turnbull & Co. are the sole agents.

A very pretty effect is made by festooning the pillars of the store with circles of handkerchiefs—Christmas handkerchiefs, of every desirable line, linen, Swiss, lawn, silk initial and fancy.

Turnbull's windows are arranged in a like artistic manner, and reflect much credit on the entire staff of the firm.

A DECEMBER WEDDING

Which Took Place at St. Andrew's Manse on Wednesday.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday evening of this week at St. Andrew's manse, when Mr. Wilfred Theobald and Miss Fannie Griffin were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. J. G. Potter, assisted by Rev. Mr. McKay.

The bride was attired in a handsome suit of silver gray. After the wedding ceremony the wedding party returned to the bride's home, No. 325 Aylmer street, where a wedding supper was served. Among the presents to the bride was a handsome China tea set and a beautiful parlour lamp, presented by Mr. Theobald's fellow-employees of the Cereal Works.

KINDERGARTEN CLOSING.

The Ashburnham School Had a Grand Entertainment.

For some time past the efforts of the children of the Ashburnham Kindergarten, have been directed to the attainment of perfection, or as near that as possible, for their closing exercises. These were held yesterday afternoon before a large audience of interested relatives and friends. Yesterday's exercises instanced the degree to which the Kindergarten movement has spread. The work done was of such a class that had Froebel himself been there, he must have been gratified. The following was the programme:

In the Dramatic Games, Rainbow Fairies was very pretty and wee Miss Conroy was an exceptionally pretty Queen.

The degree of perfection that was evidenced is a matter of congratulation to the principal and to Miss Thompson, the assistant.

Annual Business Meeting of the Local Y. M. C. A.

SOME INTERESTING REPORTS

A Successful Year has Been Brought to a Close—The Boys' Department—Committees Appointed.

The active members, committeemen, officers and directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of the Town of Peterborough, met last night in the parlour of that institution, it being the twenty-first annual meeting.

The reports of the different committees were read, which showed that the association has in the past year gone ahead by great strides. It has more members now than ever before in its history. The past year has been the heaviest financial year since the association was organized. The gymnasium classes have almost doubled, and yet the Bible and training classes were never on a better footing. The financial statement shows a balance of $4.56 on the right side.

This success is due to the untiring efforts of the worthy secretary, who is a specialist in his line, and of whom too much cannot be said; to his able assistant, Mr. E. A. Froude, who looks after the business connected with the Boys' Department, which is no mean factor in the Association; and none the less to the efficient Physical Director, Mr. H. E. Ayers, who understands his business in dealing with the physical needs of those brought under his supervision. The classes in some cases have almost doubled over those of last year, and the fact that there is a Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough has made many a man more able to stand the ills of life than he otherwise would have been.

The chair was occupied by the President, Mr. B. F. Ackerman, and shortly after eight o'clock the meeting was called to order. The Association hymn, "Blessed Be the Tie that Binds," was sung, after which Mr. Wm. Madill led in prayer.

LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The first report was that of the Ladies' Auxiliary, who look after the needs of the Social Committe and the furnishings of the rooms. The report is as appended:

The Secretary begs leave to offer the following report of the year's work:

During the past year nine regular meeting were held, with an average attendance of seven. A special meeting was held on Nov. 17th, to elect officers and arrange for the handkerchief sale and concert, by which the ladies realized $100.00. The New Year's reception was held as usual.

In January the ladies purchased a piano for the hall for $250.00, also table cloths, dishes and cutlery. Mrs. Brown was our delegate to the convention in Berlin in January.

At the request of the Strangers' Fellowship Club, the monthly strangers' teas have been arranged by the ladies. The plan has been most successful, committees from the different churches serving in turn.

The annual membership banquet was arranged by the ladies and held in April. The anniversary of the opening of the new building was held in June.

At the September meeting Mrs. Jas. Hall, who has for the past five years filled the office of President, tendered her resignation. It was with deep regret that the ladies accepted her resignation, and heartfelt sympathy was expressed at the cause which necessitated her withdrawal.

(Signed.) M. G. FROST, Sec. Auxiliary.

The Treasurer of the Auxiliary begs leave to report as follows for the year ending Oct. 1st, 1902:

This report was read by Mr. H. A. Pearson, who moved its adoption, seconded by Mr. R. S. Merrell.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

The Association recognizes the fact that "the boy is the father of the man," and a great deal of attention is given to this important department. The boys have well furnished rooms, a library, and special gymnasium classes, etc., and the report is as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen, — In rising to present the report of the Boys' Department for the year 1902, I can say that it is with the greatest pleasure that I accept the task assigned to me; from the fact that I have a very high regard for this branch of Y.M.C.A. work, and feel that it is worthy of our best efforts to advance the same. And I am sure you will all agree with me when I say that, if we make this branch of the work the success we would desire it to be, you will recognize at once that the future of the senior work of this Institution is assured from the fact that if we get the youth of our town deeply interested in the work, both spiritual and physical, we can rest assured that as they grow in years and knowledge it will be their one ambition to retain their connection with the Association as long as they remain in our midst. And I can say that when the time comes for them to leave our town and their homes to seek their living in other spheres, that they will still retain their connection with the Y.M.C.A., as it is both ennobling and instructive. It was with this one idea in my mind that I was led to accept the responsible position of Chairman of the Boys' Committee for the present year, and would here take this opportunity of thanking those who so kindly nominated me as Chairman of said Committee, and I can assure them that I will do my very best to advance the interests of the Boys' Department.

I will now submit for your consideration the report of the Boys' Department for 1902:

The year's work for boys has been very gratifying to those connected and chiefly interested in the work. The season started off with a grand banquet, given in honour of the new rooms, which were to be used for the first time. The banquet was provided by the parents and friends of the work, who generously contributed provisions. About 150 school boys participated, and judging from the appearance of the table afterwards, it was appreciated. Speeches were made by members of the Boys' Committee, and responded to by the boys.

The election of officers took place the following week, amid much enthusiasm. On New Year's morning a reception to all the boys of the town was held. The gymnasium was entirely given up to them to do as they wished and have a good time, ending up with a good supply of stuff which boys like, in the form of candy and taffy.

All the while the boys were working hard preparing for their first annual concert, which was a decided success. About $20.00 clear of all expenses was realized and used in purchasing carpets, magazines, and games for the rooms. The programme consisted of gymnastics, dumb bell drill, pyramids, dialogues, songs, recitations, all of which were performed by the boys.

A library of 150 volumes was started, suitable cases were procured, and a book day held. The library is well used, over 250 books being used in five months.

The boys' meetings, held every Friday evening, though not as large in numbers as last year, were productive of good results. The average attendance was 21, the largest number being 28.

The Bible Classes, four in number, were continued up until the end of June, with an average attendance of 21. These classes were held on Sunday morning at ten o'clock, and were taught by Messrs. Hall, Pearson, Laing and Frowde. The classes ended with a closing rally addressed by Mr. Colville, Sec. of the Railway Branch, Toronto.

Also a prayer circle was held on Monday evenings, from which definite results were seen in the lives of many boys. A number of conversions were made as a result.

The annual summer camp was held in the latter part of August, 6th to the 19th. It was attended by thirty boys, and was generally acknowledged to be the most successful ever held. Time and space here prevent a great deal that might be said about the camp, its purpose, its aims, and what it has accomplished. A study was held every morning immediately after breakfast, when the lakeside scenes in Christ's life were taken up by the leaders of camp sections. If necessary we could fill several sheets on our doings at the camp, which combined pleasure with profit. Altogether we feel that we have had a most successful year, and feel thankful for the way in which God has blessed us.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. S. ROBINSON, Chairman Committee. E. A. FROWDE, Assist. Sec.

This report was read by the chairman of the committee which controls the affairs of the department, Mr. W. S. Robinson, who also moved its adoption, seconded by Mr. A. E. Dixon. The report contains much interesting reading.

GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The General Secretary's Report came next, and was carefully listened to. It is a story of the year's onward march, but much that has been done for the welfare of men cannot be written here, as it will not be made known till the day of reckoning. The report was as appended:

For 21 successive years the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association has stood for all that contributes to a well rounded Christian manhood.

We are truly thankful to God for the large measure of success which has made the year now closed the best in the history of the work; at the same time we recognize that we have fallen far short of measuring up to the possibilities afforded by our excellently equipped building and largely increased membership.

The reports will speak for themselves but better still are the results apparent in changed lives, maturing Christian characters and the aggressive effort of men at work for men. The Physical and Boys' Department reports are given separately, hearing this report to deal with the other lines of work.

Religious.—This work has been promoted by means of the Men's Meeting, Bible Classes and Clubs and personal effort. 52 Men's Meetings were held, with a total attendance of 1729. 46 men have been personally dealt with, and 15 professed conversion. 125 men and boys were enrolled in different Bible Classes, led by eight different men. Total number of sessions was 223. Attendance was 1453. Average weekly. Rev. Elmore Harris, D.D., conducted the Bible Study Rally at the beginning of the season.

A conference on Foreign Work was conducted in March by Mr. F. W. Anderson, Sec.-elect to India, as representative of the Provincial work, resulting in the beginning of a movement among the members to help in the Foreign work. A larger expenditure is needed for Religious Work in order to carry out the enlarged plan for the new season, in connection with this Department.

Strangers' Fellowship Club.—This organization, the object of which is to locate strangers and welcome them to the town, Association and Church where they should attend. This has proven a most helpful feature to the work, as well as to new comers. 327 men have been given visitor's tickets, entitling them to the freedom of the building during their first month in town. The monthly Sunday evening teas for strangers began in January, and provided a new point of contact. Eight teas have been held, with a total attendance of 143.

Social Department.—Never in the new building has the social life been so strong as during the past year. Special events have been held under the direction of a most successful Social Committee, and every effort made to make young men feel at home. The second annual banquet was held on April 17th, and was attended by a large number of members and business men.

Educational.—Six branches of study were taught in the evening school. These included Mechanical Drawing by Messrs. Collier and Cliff, Arithmetic by Mr. William Smith, Algebra and Trigonometry by Mr. J. A. Fife, Book-keeping by Mr. W. D. Campbell, and a special course for working boys in Arithmetic, Writing and Spelling by Mr. H. Finney. Total enrollment was 72. Total attendance 1199. Sessions 133. Recitation hours, 250. The two reading rooms have been the most used in connection with the work and a number of new magazines added to the list. A quantity of literature has been sent out to lumber camps.

Membership and Finances.— We are glad to report a large increase in membership, the total being as follows:—Honourary, 10; Sustaining 69; Senior, full, 300; Limited, 150; Intermediate 141; boys 126; total 796. Of these 650 are active and 546 associate. We regret to record the death of two former officers, the late Dr. J. A. Fife, who was for a term President of the Association, and the late J. H. Roper, a former Treasurer.

We are grateful to the friends of the work who have by their contributions made it possible to meet the increased needs of the financial year. Great credit is due Mr. J. S. Knapman and other directors for the satisfactory showing. By comparison with other Associations with similar equipment and work, we find that our annual budget is in most cases smaller and in keeping with the work done. Two prominent manufacturers have for the past two years provided membership tickets for their apprentices, recognizing the fact that the Association contributes to make a better man, and consequently a better workman. The increasing work lays upon officers, members and contributors alike increased obligations which should lead us all to prosecute the new season's work with greater vigour than ever before, ever keeping before us the object of our organization, going forward in His Name and Strength, trusting in which we shall surely succeed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

G. H. WILLIAMSON, General Secretary.

In moving the adoption of the report, Mr. Bennett referred to the excellent work done by the Strangers' Fellowship Club, who located strangers as soon as they arrived in town, and provided a place where they might spend their spare time, free from questionable influences. He thought the work of the Association had been well managed during the past year. The report was seconded by Mr. W. S. Robinson.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

Next in order came the report of the Physical Department, and the way in which the physical needs of the men have been met is explained:

To the President and Members of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A.:

Gentlemen.—Your Physical Committee beg leave to report as follows:

In presenting the fifth annual report of this department from October 1st, 1901 to October 1st, 1902, it affords the Committee considerable pleasure to do so as the total attendance of members during the past year surpassed any year since the building was opened in 1897. To make the information more detailed we give the attendance in total by years.

In 1897 the attendance was 5,630; in 1898, 4,939; in 1899, 5,396; in 1900, 5,936. In 1901 the attendance was 6,155, with a daily average attendance of forty as against 27 the year previous. The increase was found particularly in the number of young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five, who not only worked for the benefit of themselves, but for those who had less advantages. On December 19th, a gymnastic exhibition was conducted in the gymnasium from which was realized a sum of thirty dollars, which was granted towards equipping the Young Womans' Christian Association gymnasium. They also gave a benefit basketball game, and allowed the proceeds for the Children's Aid Society which amounted to $20.00. One of our number who was

MAYORALTY FOR 1903.

Card to the Electors of Peterborough.

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In response to the numerous representations which have been made to me upon the subject—personally, by requisition, and through the press—I place my services at the disposal of the public as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the approaching municipal elections.

My association with the important municipal advances, which the Town has been making during recent years, will enable me to give continuity to the aggressive forward policy which the Council has sought to pursue, and to bring experience and information gained therein to bear upon the work and problems which still more immediately confront us.

While I cannot lay claim to all the qualifications which have been flatteringly ascribed to me, such capacity for the office as I do possess is cheerfully placed at your service, and I ask your sympathy and support in the effort to maintain the position and standing, and advance the welfare, of our already prosperous and progressive Town.

Respectfully yours,

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Que., Dec. 18.—There were about 400 head of butchers' cattle, 15 calves and 300 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, but trade was slow, as prime cattle were scarce, and brought about ½c per lb. more than on Monday's market. A remarkably fine heifer from the township was sold at 7 cents per pound. Christmas cattle sold at from 5¼c to near 6½c per lb. Medium beasts brought from 4c to 5c, and the common stock from 2½c to 3½c per lb. Calves sold at from $3 to $8 each.

Impossible.

Biggs—They say Mrs. Gabbleton is guilty of an attempt at blackmail.

Diggs—I don't believe it.

Biggs—Why not?

Diggs—No woman on earth would think of accepting "hush money."—Chicago News.

BAD BLOOD.

Miss Mary M. Allen, Antigonish, N.S., says:—For nearly 4 years I was troubled with pimples on my face. I tried several remedies but none of them seemed to help me until I got Burdock Blood Bitters. I think it is a great remedy for bad blood, and take pleasure in letting you know that it did me more good than all the other remedies I tried.

DYSPEPSIA.

Miss Alberta Murray, Campbellton, N.B., says:—For five years I was troubled with Dyspepsia, and whenever I ate anything I suffered untold agony. My parents got numerous medicines for me but they did me no good. I saw Burdock Blood Bitters advertised and something seemed to say, "get a bottle." I did so, and to my surprise before I finished the bottle I found relief. I took all told 3 bottles, and have had no return of the trouble.

B.B.B. Cures Boils, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, and all Skin Diseases.

B

HEADACHES.

Miss Peter Bondreau, Glen Levit, N.B., says:—It is with pleasure and gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful power of Burdock Blood Bitters. My daughter was ailing for three years with headache and run down system. I tried several kinds of medicine but to no effect. At last a friend urged me to try B.B.B. for her, and after using two bottles she was like another being. I can never praise it enough. It is a God-send to all.

CONSTIPATION.

Miss Nellie Huggan, Marigonish, N.S., says:—I was troubled with constipation for a year and tried different medicines, but they did me no good. I then took Burdock Blood Bitters and it cured me so that I have not been troubled since.

Mr. Wharton Barkley, Morrisburg, Ont., says:—I took three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters for constipation and found a complete cure effected.

FEEDING THE ANIMALS.

How Some Wild Captives Act When Mealtime Arrives.

An animal is almost as demonstrative when he is hungry as when he is in a rage. They are both natural feelings, and he sees no reason for disguising them. Human beings who are affected in the same way as animals by hunger pay tribute to civilization by not letting this appear. At an animal show in this city the wild occupants of the cages get very wild when the hour comes for them to be fed. A truck laden with meat and vegetables is wheeled around. Long before it gets to their cages the lions act as if beside themselves over the maddening prospect of food. The cages are very small, and yet a lion and lioness will often be in one. They tear from one side to the other, the lion jumping over the body of the lioness rather than make a "longer trip around." Though they ought to have learned that each will get a share, they both plunge for the great chunk of meat. Once they get it they eat it with a certain intensity, but deliberation.

The hyenas, "bounders" of the animal realm, are horribly greedy and will steal from each other every chance they get. The apes, the "snobs" of animal kind, are rather fastidious, if greedy. The ostrich, large, robust bird that it is, awaits its food with much stolidity and when it gets its head of cabbage pecks at it in a most contained, ladylike fashion. The stoical elephant is a placid eater also.

THAT HEADACHE

Is Only a Symptom of Dyspepsia, and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Drive it Away Once and for all.

So many ailments come from the improper digestion of food that it is almost impossible to overestimate the value of having the stomach in good working order. That headache that makes brain work an impossibility, that heartburn, those pains in the stomach are only some of the symptoms of Dyspepsia that nerve destroying terror of these days of hurry and bustle. Nearly everyone has it in some shape or other and many do not know that it can be easily and permanently cured. It is to these that Marie Ann Bujold, of Bonaventure Co., Quebec, wants to talk. She has suffered from Dyspepsia and tells how Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cured her.

"For two years my life had been a burden," she says. "I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach.

"I finally consulted some doctors but they did me no good. Then I saw an advertisement of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and resolved to try them. They relieved me almost immediately and cured me so completely that I have not been troubled since.

"I am always glad to tell others what Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets did for me."

Thousands of other people will tell you that Dyspepsia cannot live in the same stomach with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Speed of Racing Camels.

The racing camel is very carefully bred and valuable prizes are offered by a racing society at Biskra for the fleetest racer, says Pearson's Magazine. I have seen the start of a race and it reminded me, in a faroff sort of way, of a horse race. The camels were all arranged in line and they sniffed the air in their anxiety to be off. A flag was waved and they set off at a terrible pace, as if they were only racing for a short distance. They kept together until they were almost out of sight. Then they seemed to settle down to their habitual pace and the race proceeded with long intervals between the competitors. I have also seen the finish of a camel race, and it reminded me of the first motor car promenade between London and Brighton. The camels were certainly not so broken down and bedraggled, but they came in at intervals of several hours and great patience was necessary to watch them arrive.

A Mystic Volume.

A good story is told of the Russian police, who are very careful lest any literature of an atheistic character shall fall into the hands of the peasants.

A peasant in the province of Minsk went to a publisher's shop and asked for a Bible. Unwittingly the shopman gave him an algebra primer.

On opening the book when he reached home, the peasant was surprised to find it full of mystic signs and hieroglyphics. The peasant showed it to a policeman, who felt convinced that the signs were of an "extremely freethinking character," and so arrested the owner.

At the trial the peasant was discharged, and the policeman, instead of being rewarded for his religious zeal, was reprimanded.

Oil of Rattlesnakes.

In Pennsylvania the oil of rattlesnakes is preserved most carefully as a liniment especially good for sore joints and for rheumatism. In procuring the oil the dead snake is nailed head and tail to a board and cut open. The fat is taken out and laid upon a cloth in the hot sun, from which the filtered oil drips into a jar. From fear that the reptile may have bitten itself the clear oil is tested by dropping a portion of it into milk. If it floats in one globule, it is regarded as unaffected; if, on the other hand, it breaks into beads and curdles the milk, it is judged to be poisonous and thrown away.

He Knew Some Costly Ones.

In order to discourage the use of objectionable words, says the Chicago Post, the father had evolved a system of fines, somewhat after this fashion:

Hang it, 1 cent.
Darn it, 2 cents.
Gosh, 3 cents.
Gosh darn it, 5 cents.

The boy who was to be reformed by this method studied the tariff with considerable interest, but it was some time before he spoke.

"Well," he said at last, "I guess I know some words that would cost a quarter!"

To Clean Nickel Clocks.

Cheap nickel clocks that have proved their convenience through much popular use play tricks with their timekeeping occasionally for want of cleaning. This fault may be quickly remedied with naphtha. The backs should be unscrewed and the works taken out and immersed in the fluid, a treatment that will speedily restore their service unless some more radical defect than dust is the trouble.

Meanness of Brown.

Green—Brown told an acquaintance of mine that he could have beat my time and married you himself if he had wanted to.

Mrs. Green—The ideal I wonder why he didn't do it, then?

Green—Oh, I can readily understand why he didn't. He had a grudge against me.

Her Idea of It.

"Do you believe in short engagements?"

"Yes, indeed, and lots of them!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Dog.

Man is the best friend of the dog. Horses come next, but between the dog and all other farm animals, from the house cat to the cow and the beef steer, there seems to be a natural enmity. Dogs, however, are fond of sheep and goats—but as diet, not as living friends. Cows and sheep and goats should be kept as free from association with dogs as is possible, with the exception of the trained shepherd dog. A dog walking through a cowpen will often cause a decrease in milk flow that amounts to more than the cash value of the dog. Many dogs are worth considerably less than $0.00.

THE TOP OF VESUVIUS.

A Visit to the Crater of the Seething Volcano.

There was no life on that bare, black, birdless cone, and as we climbed an icy wind began to blow, and the lava dust stung the face like hail. The crust was warm to the feet. I dipped my hand into an aperture the size of a rabbit hole and withdrew it hot and wet. On every side the smoke eddied up from tiny craters, but all these things were details in face of that everlasting vomit of black smoke from the crater.

The wind raged above us as we drew near the crater, and the lava dust spat more viciously; the sulphurous smoke hid the world from our view. It was as if the lieutenants of that angry monarch strove to prevent mortals from gazing too closely at her infernal orgies. On hands and knees we grabbed our way up the cone, coughing, blinded by the smoke, buffeted by the icy wind. We reached the verge of the crater and threw ourselves on our faces. I peered for one moment into that caldron of fire and smoke. The guide clutched my arm and motioned me to follow him round the edge of the crater. I crawled after him, crying, "Enough!" But he did not hear. He could not have heard a foghorn in the roar of that wind.

"Enough!" I bawled, trying to grab him. "E-nough!" I roared, clutching at his leg. He shrugged his shoulders, and, taking my arm, we plunged down through the lava. A few paces below he stopped. I bent toward him and through the screams of the wind heard him say, "Give me a leetle present to buy macaroni."—Academy.

Vitality of the Centiped.

The sight of a full grown centiped is said by travelers in tropical lands to be enough to affect the strongest nerves. Ten to eleven inches is the average length, although larger ones have been seen. Lafcadio Hearn in "Two Years In the French West Indies" says that the vitality of the centiped is amazing.

Mr. Hearn kept one in a bottle, without food or water, for thirteen weeks, at the end of which time it remained active and dangerous as ever. The centiped has one natural enemy able to cope with him—the hen.

The hen attacks him with delight and often swallows him, head first, without taking the trouble to kill him. The cat hunts him, but she is careful never to put her head near him. She has a trick of whirling him round and round upon the floor so quickly as to stupefy him; then, when she sees a good chance, she strikes him dead with her claws.

There are superstitions concerning the creature which have a good effect in diminishing his tribe. If you kill a centiped, you are sure to receive money soon, and even if you dream of killing one it is good luck.

An Unlucky Citizen.

"Yes, sir," said the town story teller, "he was the onluckiest feller that ever drawed the breath of life an' a week's wages."

"You don't say?"

"Fact. Climb a pine tree once when he seen the sheriff comin' to levy on him, harricane come along, blowed the tree down an' landed him in the only vacant seat in the sheriff's buggy; sheriff started to jail with him; met by lynchin' party, who mistook him fer 'nuther man, an' strung him up, an' he'd almost quit kickin' when some un cut him down an' hauled him home jest as his mother-in-law had finished writin' his obituary an' was standin' before the glass to see how well she looked in mournin'."

Singular Marriage Custom.

When two Negritos, a people of the Philippine Islands, are united, the whole tribe is assembled, and the affianced pair climb two trees growing near to each other. The elders then bend the branches until the heads of the couple meet. When the heads have thus come into contact, the marriage is legally accomplished, and great rejoicings take place, a fantastic dance completing the ceremony.

"Exactly Suited To My Case"

Says Mr. Baker, and He Voices the Opinion of Hosts of Kidney Sufferers Regarding

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It frequently happens that people who are cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have previously experimented with other medicines without obtaining the desired results, and consequently a great many make use of this expression, "exactly suited to my case."

The action of this great medicine is so wonderfully prompt and direct, and the effects so marked that people naturally feel that it is particularly suited to their case. Time has proven the merits of this preparation, and consequently it has attained an enormous sale.

Mr. John Baker, Deseronto, Ont., states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and can truthfully say that they are perfect in their work. I was subject to pain in my sides and back. At times I had to lay off work, and feared that I would never get rid of the ailment which was causing my sufferings. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended to me, and I found them to be exactly suited to my case. Since using them I have never had a return of my old troubles."

Mr. Jas. H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab with a knife and caused me great suffering.

"I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

CHINAMAN AT A TELEPHONE

Celestial Gets the Worth of His Money Every Time.

"A Chinaman at the telephone is a funny thing," remarked a long distance telephone operator in the Denver News a few days ago. "You see, it is impossible to tell whether one person or half a dozen are talking, and we often become mixed up in listening to them. When one is speaking, it seems as if half a dozen are talking, and we often imagine the wires are out of order. To make matters worse the Chinese delight in talking as fast as possible, and we never know whether the Chinaman at this end of the wire is talking or if it is the one at the other end. After the conversation is ended the Chink walks out of the booth with a self satisfied smile on his face and pays for a three minutes' talk. We have lately discovered that he invariably says as much during that time as could have been said by a white man in fifteen minutes."

To be sure, the telephone company is not really "out" anything by the transaction, as it is paid by the minute; but, nevertheless, in the case of Chinamen, the company would be the gainer by charging for volume instead of time. A Chinaman always begins his talk in pidgin English. He says: "Hello. Is this Sam Ling. I bettee you don't know —yi hi ki yi he yay bo benno ne," and so on, and it sounds on the wires as if several persons were at work.

Switched the Train.

A certain judge is much given to meditating upon his work while walking along the street, and his acquaintances and friends recognize his air of abstraction, pass him by with a friendly nod and never mind if he does not appear to notice the salutation. A little colored newsboy not familiar with this peculiarity of the judge accosted him one day with persistent appeals:

"Buy the mornin' news, boss. Have a paper, boss."

The judge waved the tiny mite of humanity aside and went on abstractedly, his mind engrossed with the case that was to come up that day in the court to which he was on the way. The dusky newsboy was not easily evaded, and he kept pace with the judge, shouting his paper cry at frequent intervals. At last the judge stopped and, grabbing his youthful tormentor by the shoulder, he said in his most severe manner:

"How dare you interrupt me when I am following out a line of argument? Don't you ever speak to me when I am pursuing a train of thought."

The small boy looked up in surprise and said in a most apologetic tone:

"Befor' de Lord, massa, I didn't know you was tryin' to cotch a train. Excus' me."

The Nose.

Nothing is more rare than a really perfect nose—that is, one which unites harmony of form, correctness of proportion and proper affinity with the other features.

The following are, according to the rules of art, the conditions requisite to the beauty of this organ:

The nose should have the same length as the forehead and have a slight depression at its root. From its root to its extremity it should follow a perfectly straight line and come exactly over the center of the upper lip. The bridge of the nose, parallel on both sides, should be a little wider in the center. The tip should be neither too thin nor too fleshy, and its lower outline neither narrow nor too wide. The lobes must be gracefully defined by a slight depression. Seen sideways, the lower part of the nose will have but a third of its total length.

His One Regret.

A fare was being rattled through a Dublin suburb on a rickety jaunting car drawn by a no less rickety horse. Having proceeded some distance, the horse, owing to apparent old age and sheer exhaustion, fell, never to rise again. The fare was very profuse in his sympathies toward the driver, who, however, appeared to take the whole thing very coolly and explained:

"It's just like this with me, your honor. I don't regret the old brute a bit. He was bad from the start. But, somehow or other, I can't help thinking of the beautiful feed of oats I gave him this morning."

The Power of a Tip.

Experienced Traveler (at railway restaurant)—When did that man at the other table give his order?

Waiter—'Bout ten minutes ago, sir.

"What did he order?"

"Beefsteak and potatoes, sir."

"How much did he tip you?"

"Sixpence, sir."

"Well, here's a shilling. Cook him another steak and bring me his."

"Yes, sir."—London Telegraph.

Too Much Like Work.

"It's terrible to be sleepy so much of the time," said Meandering Mike.

"Why don't you go to sleep?" rejoined Plodding Pete. "You might as well."

"Dat's where you're wrong. If dere is anyt'ing I dreads, it's goin' to sleep. I might dream I was workin'."

Irene's Opportunity.

Willie—What makes you come to our house so often, Mr. Hankinson? Do you want to marry our Irene?

Miss Irene (taken by surprise, but realising with rare presence of mind that Mr. Hankinson has to say something now)—Willie, you impertinent boy, leave the room!

Usually the opportunities that come to a man are those that knock on his door on a cold morning and he has to go out in his bare feet and coax in.—Atchison Globe.

The Middle Class.

Society has been likened to a barrel of pork. The upper and lower layers are sometimes a little tainted, but what is between is always good.

Bridle your tongue and you saddle your temper.

Out of Plumb.

When the wall is out of plumb the building is more or less unsafe, and the higher the wall is carried out of the perpendicular the greater the danger of collapse. It's about so with the health; it is out of plumb when the digestion is impaired, when there is a dull, sluggish feeling, with nervousness, irritability and sleeplessness. Every day that these symptoms are neglected increases the liability to physical collapse.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood and cures nervousness, irritability and sleeplessness by curing the diseases in which they originate.

"For three years I suffered untold agony," writes Mrs. H. R. White, of Stanstead, Stanstead Co., Quebec. "I would have spells of trembling and being sick at my stomach, pain in right side all the time; then it would work up into my stomach and such distress it is impossible to describe. I wrote to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, stating my case to them, and they very promptly answered and told me what to do. I took eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and five vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Thanks to Dr. Pierce and his medicine I am a well woman to-day. Dr. Pierce's medicines also cured my mother of liver complaint from which she has been a sufferer for fifteen years. We highly recommend these medicines to all suffering people."

O'CONNELL'S COOLNESS.

A Story of the Irish Liberator and a Falling Floor.

Daniel O'Connell was once addressing an enormous meeting in Kingstown, and the crowd was so large that fear was felt for the safety of the building. As he was about to speak a gentleman ascended the platform and said, trembling with fear: "Liberator, the floor is giving way! The beams are cracking, and we shall all fall through in a few minutes." It is not given to many men to live through such moments as O'Connell lived through as he rose to address the meeting nor to preserve such magnificent courage in the face of great peril. Warning the man to keep quiet, the liberator said, "I find this room too small to contain the number who desire to come in, so we must therefore leave it and hold the meeting outside." A few rose to leave, but the hall was still packed, and then O'Connell said: "Then I will tell you the truth. You are Irishmen and therefore brave men. The floor is giving way, and we must leave this room at once. If there is a panic and a rush to the door, we shall all be precipitated into the room below, but if you obey my orders we shall be safe. Let the dozen men nearest the door go quietly out, then the next dozen, and so on until all have gone. I shall be the last to leave." The Irishmen followed the advice, the hall was quickly cleared, and as O'Connell walked across the floor the broken beams gave way.

Some British Lawmaking.

It may surprise some folks to learn that plenty of British laws have been drawn up so carelessly and written in such muddled language that they are quite useless for their intended purpose.

One of the acts passed in George III.'s reign, for instance, states that the proceeds of penalties were to be given half to the informer and half to the poor of the parish. The absurdity lies in the fact that the only penalty which could be inflicted was one of transportation for fourteen years.

In 1805 a well known Q. C. created a lot of amusement by proposing an amendment worded as follows: "Every dog found trespassing on inclosed land unaccompanied by the registered owner of such dog or other person, who shall on being asked for his true name and address may be then and there destroyed by such occupier or by his orders." This gem of meaninglessness was, however, not passed.—London Tit-Bits.

Ebony, the Wood of Kings.

While many of the hardwoods in use at the present day are of comparatively recent introduction, ebony was known and highly esteemed by a number of ancient races and used by them for kingly and other purposes. While the name ebony is given to the wood of several varieties of trees, all kinds are of great density and dark color, the heaviest varieties being, as a rule, also the darkest. There are three varieties of ebony well known in the trade. The ebony from the Gaboon coast of Africa is the darkest. The Madagascar ebony is the densest. The Macassar ebony furnishes the largest pieces. London is still the chief mart for this wood, and from there it is shipped to the various countries in which it is used for manufacturing purposes. — Popular Mechanics.

THE SEWING MACHINE.

Unsuccessful Inventions That Preceded Howe's Patent In 1846.

The technical beginning of the sewing machine industry in this country was Sept. 10, 1846, when Elias Howe, Jr., obtained a patent for what grew into the first really practical sewing machine. Only three of the first Howe machines were made, however, and one of these was deposited in the patent office in Washington as a model. It was not until after 1850 that a factory for the making of sewing machines was built, so the enormous business of today has grown up in a short half century.

While Howe's invention marked the beginning of a successful industry, he was by no means the pioneer in efforts to substitute mechanical for hand sewing. As far back as 1770 Thomas Alsop patented in England a machine for embroidering. Another machine for embroidering in a loom was invented by John Duncan in 1804, and twenty-five years later another Englishman named Heilman patented still another embroidering machine.

The first recorded attempt at mechanical sewing was the invention of Thomas Saint, who took out a patent in England in 1790 for a machine which executed the old crochet stitch. It was not a success, but some of the features of the Saint machine appear in the perfected machine of today.

Bartholemy Thimonnier patented in France in 1830 the first sewing machine put to practical use. Eighty of his machines were in use for sewing army clothing in 1841, when a mob destroyed them because convinced they would drive seamstresses out of employment. Thimonnier built new and better machines, but all his work was again destroyed by angry artisans in 1848.

John J. Greenough took out the first patent for a sewing machine issued in the United States in 1842. It was intended to sew leather, but was of no practical use.

Walter Hunt of New York built a sewing machine in 1834, but failed to protect it by a patent. After Howe's machine appeared Hunt declared it embodied the ideas of his machine of 1834, but he was unable to establish his claim.

A small army of inventors appeared after Howe's patent had proved successful, and their genius was devoted to perfecting every part of the machine. How well they have succeeded is shown in the 8,500 patents for sewing machines and attachments issued by the United States since 1850 and in the fact that the American sewing machine leads all others in every country in the world.

Care In Choosing Glasses.

A dealer in optical instruments declared that it gave him real pain to note the careless manner in which half the persons in New York wear glasses. "It is a wonder to me," he said, "that they don't bring on blindness. In the first place, the frames should always be fitted to individual faces instead of being picked up indiscriminately without regard for facial peculiarities. The size of the lenses is another important consideration. Most of the glasses I see on the street are too small. They should be as large as the face of the wearer will permit, for a lens of good size not only affords better protection to the eye, but is more becoming than a smaller one. Another tribulation of the weak eyed is due to the reflection from the edges of unframed glasses. The eyelashes should be attended to in order to get the best results from a pair of spectacles. Many lashes are worn so long that they brush against the glass. This is decidedly injurious.

A Lesson in Hospitality.

A curious instance of provincial hospitality in a small Tuscan town is recorded by Luigi Villari in "Italian Life in Town and Country."

A lady of very noble birth and of considerable wealth was giving a musical party—it was the first time she had invited friends to her house that season. The entertainment began at 2 p. m. and lasted till 7. No refreshments were provided for the guests, but at half past 4 a servant appeared and solemnly presented a cup of chocolate to the hostess and one to her mother. This, of course, would only be possible in a very provincial town. In the more civilised spots excellent refreshments are always offered to the guests.

A Scriptural Weapon.

Children tumble into strange morasses when they grapple with theology. They trip over words. For example, the other day a teacher at Stepney took for the Bible lesson the story of Samson. At the end of the lesson questions were put to test the understanding of the scholars. "With what weapon did Samson slay a thousand Philistines?" was the question. For a space there was silence. Then a little girl spoke up. "With the ax of the apostles," she said.—London Chronicle.

Inflamed Nose and Throat

And such diseases of the respiratory organs as Bronchitis, Weak Lungs, Cold in the Head and Nasal Catarrh, are treated with marvellous success on strictly scientific principles by Catarrhozone. The medicated vapour of Catarrhozone quickly traverses every air passage possible to be reached by any treatment. All soreness, pain, congestion and inflammation are at once dispelled, and by means of the healing powers of Catarrhozone the vitiated tissues are quickly restored. Where Catarrhozone is used colds last ten minutes, coughs half an hour, and Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma and Bronchitis flee as from fire. A trial will convince anyone of the startling merit of Catarrhozone. Costs $1.00, small size 25c. At druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Deteriorating Turkish Lady.

Eating sweetmeats, smoking cigarettes, scolding the slaves and talking scandal are the chief diversions of the Turkish lady, with now and then a visit to a low class theater, and her physique, and with it that of the race, is rapidly deteriorating for want of fresh air and exercise. The much disputed question as to whether woman is the possessor of an immortal soul has left its mark on the female population. They have ceased to base any great hopes on such an uncertainty and live, feed and behave so like the "beasts that perish" that to the flippant modern Turk it seems that, if endowed with souls at all, they must be so small as to be scarcely worth the trouble of saving.—Chambers' Magazine.

The Card Table In Crimson Gulch.

"Do you think it is polite," said the foolish stranger in Crimson Gulch, "for a man to sit in his shirt sleeves and play cards all day?"

"Yes, sir," answered Three Finger Sam, "and maybe it'll be for your own good to remind you that the fewer sleeves a man has on when he plays cards around here the less liable he is to fall under suspicion."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Pousett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Dec. 19th, 9.55 a.m.—London cables report that after buoyant opening for our stocks at generally higher prices, under lead of steel stocks, the market has turned heavy under profit-taking and selling orders from this side. The stock market was firm yesterday, with advances along the whole line. Many conservative traders thought the advance too rapid, and we may have some slight easing off to-day on profit-taking, but money situation improving, and we believe after first of year, market will sell higher. We believe good stocks a purchase on declines.
M. & M.

New York, Dec. 19th, 11.10 a.m.—Brokers report stock market feverish with trading mixed, but there is very good buying in spots, notably in St. Paul, N.Y.C., Pa., R.I. and equally good selling on advance in Man. B.O., Steels. London trading light in American stocks. Trading element and bull operators placing their reliance on prospects of excellent statement to-morrow, and the belief that there is still a large short interest to cover. Venezuelan trouble settled. Germany and England each get $5,000,000. It is expected that the whole matter will be settled in a few days.

MR. WM. MADILL WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT.

a member of the Gymnasium Leaders' Corps became a director at Port Hope Trinity College School as the result of his training in this class.

The facilities for the carrying on of gymnasium work were supplemented at the beginning of the year with new apparatus. On New Years Day the gymnasium was attended by 100 boys and young men, the morning being given up to the boys exclusively, the afternoon to young men for games and gymnastics. During the latter part of the season an athletic contest was held with 30 participants. A basketball league was running the entire season comprising 46 different players. The season for the indoor gymnasium work closed on April 4th, when the school boys, intermediates and the young men gave an exhibition of the work they had taken up during the season. Just here we wish to thank the Leaders' Corps for their service in aiding the Physical Director in his work. During the Easter holidays the Ottawa Basketball team called here for a game and defeated our local team by a close score. The game was a fast one and most friendly on the part of all the players. The junior Brownie basketball team took a tour about this time to Brantford, Hamilton and Toronto, playing the junior association teams of those places, winning two of the three played. The boys as a result of the trip saw the Association's work in all its branches and came home with loyal hearts and more willingness to serve the Association in which they took pride in holding membership.

The outdoor work was certainly successful from many standpoints. The juniors had a Baseball Club of twenty-five members and entered a City League along with two other teams and managed to land the championship by winning the final game against the Victorias, the Rosedales having been defeated four times. The lacrosse season opened with good interest. About forty-five members played under Y. M. C. A. colours during the whole season. The first team entered the City League, and while they were not successful in winning the championship they played every game scheduled and endeavoured to play such a game as would encourage clean sport on and off the field. The second team won a handsome trophy from the junior Athletics in a matched game at the Douro picnic. The Club closed its season with a surplus of $17.55 on the right side. The Tennis Club grew to such an extent that the grass courts at the Nicholls Oval were taken over under their management, making in total five tennis courts. The season closed after having two tournaments and financial obligations met.

Just here the Committee would express their regret that they have no permanent athletic grounds at their disposal, consequently the members are forced to find recreation in whatever surroundings may be convenient.

The boys' camp this year at Clear Lake was undoubtedly a great physical feature. Out of the thirty boys present over half that number recuperated physically to such an extent that the result proved itself in pounds, avoirdupois. Nearly all the boys had accomplished the art of swimming before they left the sandy shore. These camps have proved such a success that the Committee purpose holding a senior camp next year in the same spot following the junior camp.

In conclusion, we feel grateful for the co-operation of the members in helping to make this department answer the need for which it was intended, of making an all-round-man. Our policy for the coming year is onward and upward in reaching out for the greatest good to the greatest number.

The report was read by the chairman of the Physical Committee, Mr. J. H. Connal, who moved its adoption, seconded by Mr. William Madill.

We have examined the books and vouchers of the association in connection with the above treasurer's report, and find them to be correct.

R. S. MERRILL,
GEO. ROBERTSON.
Auditors.

The report was adopted on motion of Mr. Kidd, seconded by Mr. H. C. Stabler.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE.

The Nominating Committee, with Mr. Dixon as chairman, reported through Mr. J. H. Connal, as follows:

The Nominating Committee appointed by the Board, in accordance with the constitution of the Association, beg to submit their report as follows, recommending the following for the year ending October 1st, 1903;

President, William Madill.
1st Vice-President, Frank Adams.
2nd Vice-President, H. C. Stabler.
Treasurer, R. J. Kidd.

We recommend the election of the following directors, the term of office in each case to extend to October 1st, 1905;

J. W. Bennet, William Madill, Frank Adams, H. C. Stabler, Samuel Taylor, J. S. Knapman.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. E. DIXON,
Chairman.

Mr. R. S. Merrell seconded Mr. Connal's motion to adopted the report, and Mr. Wm. Madill accordingly took the chair, and in a neat speech thanked those who had give him such an honourable position. He would do his best to forward the schemes of so great an organization, and hoped to achieve even greater things in the new year than in the past, knowing that he had for supporters such men as the Secretary, Physical Director, etc.

The singing of the doxology brought the meeting to a close, and the Association have entered upon another year, to help men in their endeavours to be of use to the community where they reside, to keep their bodies as fit "temples of the soul," to provide intellectual food, and most of all to lead them into Christian lives, where their spiritual natures may develop into strong characters.

A nation's wealth lies in the character of its men, and by the policy which the Young Men's Christian Association pursues, Canada is coming into possession of great riches, and the Town of Peterborough contains no more greater asset than that which it has in the Y.M.C.A.

MR. LOUNT REMEMBERED

By his Friends Before Leaving Cobourg for Peterborough.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says: On Wednesday evening a number of his friends met in the Bank of Toronto and presented Mr. F. A. Lount, who has been promoted as accountant of the Peterborough branch of that bank, with a well filled purse of gold, the presentation being made by Mr. A. J. Armstrong, on behalf of his Cobourg friends. The manager, Mr. J. S. Skeaff, made a few suitable remarks, and spoke of the efficient work and faithful services of Mr. Lount as teller in the bank here for the past five and a half years. Mr. J. W. Bickle also made a few feeling and complimentary remarks. Mr. Lount thanked them for their very handsome remembrance, and said his stay in Cobourg had been very pleasant. He had tried to do his duty, and was glad to see that his efforts were appreciated. Mr. Lount left yesterday morning to fill his new position.

Quebec Conference Held at Ancient Capital in Camera.

ONTARIO VIEW WELL RECEIVED.

Two Sessions of the Premiers Held Friday—All the Delegates Were Present—None of the Resolutions to Be Given Out Until They Have Been Officially Received at Ottawa—The Break-Up.

Quebec, Dec. 20.—All the delegates of the Inter-Provincial Conference were present at the meeting yesterday at 11 o'clock, and remained in session for a couple of hours, but nothing of the proceedings was given out. In fact, it is said that none of the resolutions to be adopted will be furnished the press until they have been officially received at Ottawa.

Received With Applause.

It is understood that the memorandum sent by the Premier of Ontario, setting forth the views of his Government on the questions to come before the conference, was read the first thing by the Secretary after the President's opening remarks at the morning session yesterday, and that it was received with general applause.

The Board of Trade is tendering the delegates a banquet, which will probably take place at the Kent House.

Premier Parent entertained the delegates and a few other friends, twenty in all, to lunch at the Garrison Club yesterday afternoon. Among others present were: Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Hon. Mr. Garneau, M.L.C.; Ald. George Tanguay and Mr. Gus Grenier, who has been named secretary of the conference. The Premiers met again last night at 8 o'clock. They will meet again for the last time this morning at 11 o'clock.

The delegates intend to leave Quebec Sunday by the C.P.R. and I.C.

THE BRITISH REPLY.

Will Tend to Arrive at Satisfactory Venezuelan Solution.

A SETTLEMENT BY ARBITRATION

According to Reuter President Castro May Be Considered Out of It as a Factor in the Arbitration—The Proposal to Arbitrate, While Accepted by the Powers in Principle Has Strings on It.

London, Dec. 20.—Great Britain has sent a reply to the United States in regard to the suggestion that the Venezuelan question should be submitted to arbitration. The tenor of the reply, it is expected here, will tend to bring about some arrangement for a satisfactory solution, while thoroughly safeguarding the interests of the powers concerned.

A note to Reuter's Telegram Company, announcing that Great Britain has sent a reply to the United States, adds:

"The statements issuing from Caracas, to the effect that President Castro has empowered Minister Bowen to act as the representative of Venezuela are regarded in London as open to question. Any such action on the part of President Castro would be considered wholly beside the mark. The powers concerned will deal solely with the United States in the matter of arbitration. The Government of President Castro will not be consulted in any form, not even as to the terms on which arbitration might be acceptable to the powers."

The forms and conditions to be observed in any settlement by arbitration are still the subject of an extensive exchange of views between the powers and the United States prior to the embodiment of the several replies in one harmonious instrument. Until this is elaborated no definite arrangement is possible.

Germany Accepts Arbitration.

Berlin, Dec. 20. — The answer of Germany to the arbitration proposal in behalf of Venezuela, received through the United States Government, is its acceptance. The delivery of this reply to the United States for transmission to Minister Bowen is delayed for a day or two for tactical reasons, probably through the expectation that another solution may be found, possibly by President Castro yielding.

Secretary Hay Willing.

Rome, Dec. 20.—U. S. Ambassador Meyer visited Foreign Minister Prinetti at the Foreign Office yesterday and communicated to him a cable message from Secretary Hay saying the Secretary was disposed to consent to the investment of Minister Bowen with full powers to settle the Venezuelan controversy, if agreeable to Germany, Great Britain and Italy.

A String to Arbitration.

Washington, Dec. 20. — Secretary Hay has received partial responses from the Governments of Great Britain, Germany and Italy respecting the proposal to arbitrate the Venezuelan difficulties. Great Britain is favorable to arbitration with proper safeguards; Germany accepts arbitration in principle but finds a multitude of small adjustments to be made before entering into the agreement; Italy, as the junior partner of the allies, declares that she is favorable to arbitration, but probably will be bound by the action of the senior partners.

It is gathered that the attitude of the United States is for the present a waiting one, in the hope that the three allies will soon be able to agree upon the basis for arbitration.

The French Government has served notice that without abating her claims, the payment for which have been arranged, she also claims the right to have the claims of French citizens considered by joint tribunal.

A POPULAR CANDIDATE.

Enthusiastically Unanimous Nomination of Mr. A. G. Mackay by the Liberals of North Grey.

Owen Sound, Dec. 20.—The Liberals of North Grey yesterday nominated Mr. A. G. Mackay to again contest the riding for the Legislature. There has never been a more enthusiastic and harmonious nominating convention in this riding, and Hon. E. J. Davis, who was present, said that in his long experience he had never seen a finer convention in any constituency in the Province. Mr. Mackay's popularity was strikingly demonstrated at the convention. When his nomination had been moved and seconded the Chairman asked, "Are there any other nominations?" and at once from all quarters of the hall came cries of "No! No!"—and there were no other nominations. Mr. Davis made a great speech in favor of the Government's administration of Ontario affairs.

An Anarchist Killed.

Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—Miss Voltairine Le Cleyre, a noted Anarchist and a teacher of languages, was yesterday shot and mortally wounded by Herman Helscher, a former pupil. The woman is dying in a hospital and Helscher is in custody. Unrequitted love is said to have prompted the deed. Helscher's only explanation was the following: "We were sweethearts, she and I. She broke my heart, and deserved to be killed."

Hally in the Police Court.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—Robert O. Hally, the ledger-keeper, of the Parliament street branch of the Bank of Commerce, charged with swindling the Dominion Express Co. out of $200, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday. T. C. Robinette, K.C., appeared for the young man, pleaded not guilty and reserved election. Hally was remanded till Monday, without bail.

MANY PEOPLE IN TOWN.

Christmas Trade Came With a Rush.

A Large Market This Morning—Incoming Trains Crowded.

Considering the fine weather combined with the good sleighing of the past few days, a large crowd was expected in town this morning. The highest expectations were by far exceeded. From early morning the different roads leading to town were filled to such an extent that it could almost be called a procession. At an early hour the majority of the places in the market square were occupied, and in the market hall, all the available tables were filled and farm produce was displayed on chairs and in baskets on the floor, in fact in every vacant space. Although a large quantity of fowl offered, the price was quite high and the buyers were a little backward.

The crowding of the market hall by those who have no desire to buy makes it almost impossible for buyers to see tables. Another thing is the tiresome manner in which those who wish to gossip block the passageways. Eggs sold readily at 28c. per dozen and butter from 19 to 22c. per lb., although many were asking more. Turkeys sold all the way from 85c. to $2.00 each, according to the weight. Geese brought from 75 to 90c., and while for ducks 50c to 70c. per pair was asked, chickens were not numerous and were held at 40 to 60c. per pair.

On the outside market, potatoes still keep $1.25 per bag, and the other farm produce was the same as on other Saturday's. Beef was higher, selling at 5 and 6c. per lb. for front and hind quarters respectively. Quite a few loads of dry hard wood were sold at $6.50 per cord.

THE FEDERATION OF LABOUR

Matters of Municipal Nature Were Discussed.

Regular Meeting of Outside Workers' Union, No. 9245—Nomination of Officers.

There was a lively interest taken in the regular meeting of Union No. 9240, Outside Workers, held last night, in the Central Labour Hall, Water street. The attendance was the largest for some time, and the members appeared to be on business bent.

Municipal matters were up for discussion. A very decided opinion was expressed in regard to the election of Aldermen known to be favourable to the workingmen's interests. The members were unanimous in testifying their confidence in those Aldermen who were known to have supported measures during the year favorable to the union movement. While it was not deemed advisable to place any union candidates in the field for aldermen officially endorsed by the American Federation of Labour, it was unanimously decided to pledge support to the election of men of well known union sympathies.

The question of printing the assessment roll also received a good deal of attention. The members were strongly of the opinion that a thorough revision of the assessment system was of vital importance to the workingmen of Peterborough. It was not so much a question of having the roll printed for circulation as a practical investigation by a competent commission free from all bias and influence. And it was suggested that before any workingman pledge support to a candidate that he should ask the question, "Are you in favour of an honest revision of the assessment roll?"

The nominating of officers for the ensuing year resulted in nearly all the old officers being selected without opposition. This was looked upon as a very satisfactory state of affairs. It certainly was a good indication of the harmony that prevails in Union No. 9240.

POCKET BOOK LOST.

Man Seen to Pick it up Kept it—Was Recognised.

Yesterday noon a lady dropped her pocketbook in front of Davis, Thompson Co's office. The purse was picked up by a man who was seen and recognised. This man has not as yet reported the find and the Chief of Police would like to have the pocketbook as soon as possible for he is loth to take active steps in the matter. Still if the missing article is not soon forth coming he will proceed to investigate the reason why the man delayed.

All Saints' Church.

There will be the usual celebration of the Holy Communion Sunday at the eleven o'clock service. Rev. W. L. Armitage will preach at both services, the subject in the morning being "St. Thomas, the Doubting Apostle," and in the evening the last of the series of sermons on the Book of Malachi, "The Day Cometh." The Bible Class, at 3 p.m., will study the Epistle to the Romans. Contributions for the Christmas cheer should be sent in on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Perpetual Motion.

When George Stephenson was asked, "Do you believe in perpetual motion?" he replied, "Yes, if you lift yourself by the waist-band of the trousers, and carry yourself three times round the room."

Just so, and a woman would just as soon believe that she has not to pay dearly for common premium soaps, in the low quality of soap, in ruined hands and clothes. She would be kept in perpetual motion trying to do with common soap what she could so easily do with Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar. 216

TO WORKING GIRLS

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE

Every working girl who is not well is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice; it is freely given, and has restored thousands to health.

Miss Paine's Experience.

"I want to thank you for what you have done for me, and recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all girls whose work keeps them standing on their feet in the store. The doctor said I must stop work; he did not seem to realize that a girl cannot afford to stop working. My back ached, my appetite was poor, I could not sleep, and menstruation was scanty and very painful. One day when suffering I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and found that it helped me. I continued its use, and soon found that my menstrual periods were free from pain and natural; everyone is surprised at the change in me, and I am well, and cannot be too grateful for what you have done for me."—MISS JANET PAINE, 530 West 125th St., New York City. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

HOW THE SCOTT ACT FAILED

His Honour Judge Dean Expresses His Views.

The Law Itself was Quite Capable of Enforcement—Remarks to Jurors.

(Lindsay Watchman-Warder.)

His Honour Judge Dean's address to the grand jury at the opening of the County Court in Lindsay, on Wednesday, occupied nearly an hour, and in it the Judge talked most interestingly of some present-day questions. Among these was the referendum and the liquor problem in general. After reviewing the liquor question of some years ago, and the organization of Temperance Societies, His Honour Judge Dean continued:

Things gradually improved until the Scott Act. From Trenton to Georgian Bay — over a tract twice the size of the German principalities that la w was adopted. It was a failure, and on that account many think prohibition would be a failure. After the first two or three months of it liquor was sold about as openly as it is to-day, and under worse conditions. There was a very saturnalia of whiskey. Perjury was common. Men who paid money to carry the Scott Act, would not inform on those who violated it.

It may startle some people for me to express my conviction that the Scott Act failed for lack of money. The fines went half to the informer and half to the Government. As a result there was nothing left to the municipalities. Hence, there was no money to prosecute with.

I was visiting in a section of the United States at one time, where a prohibition law was in force. I was shown one place in which liquor was still sold. In it a small keg sat on a chair, on top of it was a tumbler and at the tap another. That constituted the liquor-selling outfit of that part of the country. In that state the temperance people had formed a league, subscribed money and carried on prosecutions vigorously. Once they got five or six hotelmen fined for $1,000 each. They then went to these men and said: "If you will stop selling liquor we will not collect more than $100 of the fine—enough to pay expenses of the prosecution." All agreed but two, and these soon went to jail, broke out and were being pursued for that offence.

I do not favour a prohibitionry law; I believe in license; for under that system you know where to find the traffic, instead of having to look for it in blacksmith or shoe shops. I would now so amend the license law as to prohibit treating. I would fine the man who treats, takes the treat or sells liquor for treating with. Young men are made drunkards by the system; it is when they go into hotels in groups and buy for each other that they drink too much. I believe a law to stop treating would be popular with drinkers, for many a good fellow is bled for treats, who would gladly escape that process. I would make the bar-room a public place exposed to the sight of everybody; so that when a man goes in it will be clearly seen that he drinks alone.

I would have suggested such a law instead of the proposed Liquor Act of 1902, when that was before the courts, but that I knew that temperance people were in a white heat of enthusiasm for prohibition and would misconstrue my motive. People get very extreme on this question; at anyrate no great reformer is perfectly sane, and always wants you to pronounce his shibboleth. I am satisfied now, however, that if the treating system were abolished, there would soon be few drunkards.

MATTERS MILITARY

BY SENTRY.

The Sergeants' Mess of the 57th Regiment has issued a very neat little card which will be sent out at Christmas to the friends of the regiment.

General Christian De Wet, like Caesar, is his own historian, and one of the strongest characteristics of his book which has just been published, "The Three Years' War," is that he rarely tells about what he himself has not seen. For nearly three years, owing to the peculiar circumstances of the war, the British side has had almost a complete monopoly of the publishers. A few sketchy narratives by foreign volunteers or war correspondents confined to the earlier stages of the operations were all that the opponents of Great Britain could put into the field against an avalanche of "war books" that poured from the pens of military critics, war correspondents, yeomen, doctors, chaplains, and even hospital nurses; but with peace has come the turn of the Boers. Although late in appearing, these books have the advantage in this, that no fetters of discipline or etiquette can exist to debar the principal actors from telling freely all they remember or choose to publish of their part in the great world drama which closed at Vereeniging. With the exception of Sir H. Colville's account of the doings of the ninth division, which probably did not tell the whole story, and the despatches that appeared in the London Gazette, no works have yet been presented in which the leading soldiers on the British side have told the world what they did or meant to do. Now there come simultaneously from the press the narratives of General De Wet and General Ben Viljoen, and they are to be followed before long by the narratives of General Louis Botha and De La Rey and others of less importance.

The Cobourg Sentinal-Star says:

"On Tuesday morning the guns for the new Collegiate Institute corps arrived. There are forty of the new Martini-Henry carbine, with bayonets and belts. The corps is supposed to be 40 strong, but this corps is over strength. They are also supposed to have hats of uniform pattern, which will have to be supplied by the Board. Lieut. Odell is in command, and has been drilling the corps lately in company drill. The fifteen Lee Enfield rifles for the Civilian Rifle Association also arrived, and 2000 rounds of ammunition for the year. The Government now wants to fix up the range which is badly needed, as there is none here now. This is badly needed here, as Cobourg is now the largest military centre outside of the large cities, being the headquarters now for the Cobourg Company Garrison Artillery, 14th Field Battery, 46th Regiment and the Collegiate Institute corps."

The Sentinel-Star is evidently swept away by military enthusiasm when it makes such an assertion as this. What about Peterborough as a military centre? We have two out of three sections of the 14th Field Battery located here, we are the head quarters for the 3rd Dragoons, we are the home of the 57th Regiment, which has been increased to eight companies; one company of the 46th Durham Regiment of Infantry is located here, whilst in addition to all this we have an elegant Collegiate Institute Corps.

Lieut.-Col. John Mutrie was in Ottawa a few days ago and interviewed the Minister of Militia on a matter of local interest to his regiment, the 20th Wellington Rifles. It appears that when Major-General O'Grady-Haly, commanded the militia, orders were given for the reduction of ten-company regiments to corps of eight companies. It is said that the 20th Rifles is the only regiment in Ontario of ten companies, and the obstacle in the way of executing the order is that all the companies are equally efficient and it would be a difficult matter to decide which of them should go. Moreover, the reduction would be taken seriously to heart by the County of Wellington, whose people take great pride in the regiment. This is illustrated by the fact that the County Council grants the men of the regiment 25 cents a day when they turn out to camp and also vote annually other moneys for regimental purposes. The first contingent that went from Canada to South Africa comprised forty or fifty men from Wellington County, and to each of these the county paid 25 cents a day from the date of their departure until the 30th June, ensuing. Probably no other county in Canada adopted the same course.

The Army and Navy Gazette announces "that Major-General Sir Reginald Hart, V. C., R. E., on relief in the Quetta command by Sir Alfred Gaselee, will revert to the rank of colonel and proceed to England to await re-employment. This, in the case of an officer of such exceptional merit ought not long to be withheld." This is the man who chased the Royal Canadian Regiment of Infantry all over the western Transvaal, at the rate of twenty-five miles per day, trying to catch De Wet. He had an infantry brigade made up of three Irish regiments and the First Contingent and seemed to have the idea that they could travel as far and as fast as the cavalry who formed the advance guard. It was supper and blankets at midnight and reveille at four a.m. with him.

A young recruit, says the Canadian Military Gazette, was set on sentry-go, and was, of course, new to his duty. A good natured comrade brought him a snadwich from the canteen, and the recruit was about to eat it when the Major appeared. As the officer was in mufti the sentry did not recognize him and did not salute. The Major took in the situation and asked;

"What's that?"

"A sandwich," replied the recruit; "have a bit?"

"Do you know who I am?" asked the Major.

"Don't know you from a crow; perhaps you're the Major's coachy?"

"No, I am not."

"His groom, perhaps?"

"No, try it again."

"Perhaps the old chap himself?"

"Right this time," said the Major.

"Oh, good gracious," exclaimed the sentry, "hold the sandwich while I present arms."

The distinction of being the first volunteer to locate under the grant by the Ontario Legislature has been won by Private Geo. Howard Williams, of the 20th Lambton Battalion, who has selected the south-west quarter of section 3, in the Township of Taft, Rainy River District. This is the first report received at the Crown Lands Department from any agent of the location of a volunteer. Mr. Williams, who is now in the Rainy River District, made the selection after a personal inspection.

THE UNSCRUPULOUS CORRESPONDENTS.

Ottawa, December 17.—Some evil-disposed persons are endeavouring to injure the Canadian cattle trade through the use of the New York press cable agencies. Three times during the past week unscrupulously false rumours have been sent to the British press concerning the alleged spread of foot and mouth disease into Canada. These messages have in some cases emanated from Canadian sources, and are evidently being used for political purposes regardless of the general effect on the Canadian cattle trade.

No reports whatever have been received at the Agriculture Department of any sign of the disease in Canada. The department has a special service of inspection all along the frontier of the States affected, and any sign of the disease in Canada would at once be detected. While these rumours have stated that cable messages have been received from the Canadian High Commissioner, it is a fact that within the past two days there has been no communication between the department and the Canadian office in London.

The Age of Brain Work.

"In these days, half our diseases come from the neglect of the body in the overwork of the brain. In this railway age the wear and tear of labour and intellect go on without pause or self pity. We live longer than our forefathers but we suffer more. They fatigued only the muscles, we exhaust the finer strength of the nerves." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest medicine of this age because it is best suited to the needs of the present day. It restores and revitalizes wasted nerve cells and makes the pale, weak and exhausted strong and healthy and vigourous.

BANKERS: THE ONTARIO BANK.

TRUSTEES: THE TORONTO GENERAL TRUSTS CORPORATION.

Purposes and Objects of the Company.

This Company was organised for the purposes set forth in their Charter, under the Ontario Companies' Act, namely, to manufacture, sell, and deal in Henderson Roller Bearings, and other bearings, end thrusts, and running parts, and to manufacture bicycles, motor carriages, car wheels, shaftings, cylinders, wheel parts, and attachments of every kind capable of being used with the said Roller Bearings, and to take over the patents and rights to manufacture the same.

To carry out the purpose above mentioned, the Company proposes to equip a factory for the manufacture of these Bearings, and the parts above mentioned, so as to place the same on the market in all forms at as early a date as possible.

Field of Operation.

The demand for Power-saving Devices has never been greater than at present. to Reduce friction is to create power, without any extra expense. The Henderson Roller Bearing is the most effective and durable power saver in existence. By actual testing a saving of 75 per cent. of power has been effected under heavy weight, while in many instances a much greater saving has been shown. With its application to rolling stock of railways, both steam and electric, to mill shafting, vehicles of all classes, whether light or heavy, stationary engines, and journals of all descriptions, its value in the mechanical world cannot be overestimated.

Patents.

Several Patents have been issued fully covering and protecting the various forms of the Bearings. The Company is taking over these Patents for Canada, and the right to use the "Henderson End Thrust Bearing" in connection therewith.

Merits of the Bearing.

This Bearing provides bearing surface proportional to the weight to be carried. The rollers are held in perfect alignment by anti-friction devices, which are effective and durable, and the end thrust is received in such a manner that there is practically no friction between the bearing parts, so that durability, adaptability, and anti-frictional qualities are combined more perfectly in this than in any form of bearing ever presented to the public. We herewith present a cut of one form of our Bearing, which has demonstrated, in various ways, a marvelous reduction of friction.

Equipment.

The Company is arranging for a large factory, and will equip the same with the latest improved automatic machinery, specially adapted for the economic manufacture of the various parts of these Bearings, so that, with the minimum amount of expenditure for wages, the greatest amount of product, uniform in quality, may result. Within a short period Bearings can be supplied in all standard sizes, for carriages, bicycles, automobiles, shafting, street car journals, and railroad boxings, and also adapted for any special forms that may be required. The Company will be in a position to supply Bearings for the coming season.

Prospects and Profits.

The profits of the Company will be obtained from the direct sale of the Bearings as manufactured, from the sale of rights to various corporations, such as railroads, etc.

Some conception of the prospect of the Company may be obtained when it is stated that there are, in the Dominion of Canada, upwards of 80,000 cars on the steam railways, having approximately 800,000 journals; and upwards of 3,000 cars on the electrical railways, having approximately 30,000 journals; and upwards of 90,000 factories with numberless journals, besides the scores of thousands of reaping and threshing machines in use on farms; and the hundreds of thousands of wagons, carriages, bicycles, and other rolling vehicles.

The saving in the item of Lubrication alone is a matter of great moment, when one of the railways expends about $100,000 per year for this purpose.

The foregoing, when taken in conjunction with the prospective increase in railway construction and erection of factories, furnishes a prospective field unequaled.

As soon as the merits of the Bearings become known, the owners and users of all classes of machinery, railway rolling stock, and vehicles will insist on having them applied.

It would require to be applied to but a very small percentage of the journals above referred to, and at a small profit in each case, to give a very handsome dividend for the Shareholders.

The Company is now offering for subscription, at par value, a block of 3,000 Shares, upon which a cash payment of 25 per cent. will be required, and an additional 25 per cent. on the 15th day of January, 1903, the balance at the call of the Directors.

Cheques on account of Stock may be made payable to the Trustees.

For booklet and further information write the Head Office of the Company.

Don't Stay Sick

When a Postal Will Bring You a Way to Get Well.

You who stay sick and don't write me—I address this to you.

While you are waiting I am curing thousands just like you. They simply write me a postal, then I do this—

I mail the sick one my book, and with it an order on his druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He takes it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I pay the druggist myself. And the sick one's mere word decides it.

I am ready to do that with you.

My book will tell you how I cure these troubles, and it tells you so clearly that you will know that I am right. If you then wish to test the remedy, your druggist will supply it on trial. If it succeeds, you are well. If it fails, it is free.

Two facts make this offer possible. One is that people in general are honest. The other is that I have learned how to cure. In the past 12 years I have supplied my Restorative on trial to over half a million sick ones, and 39 out of each 40 have paid for the treatment gladly, because they were cured. I have willingly paid for the rest.

My Restorative strengthens the inside nerves.

For a lifetime I have studied to perfect a way to bring back the nerve power, which alone makes the vital organs act.

When an organ is weak we know that its nerve power is weak. It is like a weak engine—it needs more steam. When we restore that nerve power, the organ does its duty, and the cure is permanent.

To doctor the organ is useless. The best results are but temporary; and that is why common treatments fail. My Restorative cures the cause, and when the cure is complete the sick one is well all over.

Simply state which book you want, and address to Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Book No. 1. on Dyspepsia
Book No. 2. on the Heart
Book No. 3. on the Kidneys
Book No. 4. for Women
Book No. 5. for Men (Sealed)
Book No. 6. on Rheumatism

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is sold by all druggists.

CONCERNING THE MODERN YOUNG MAN.

An Interesting Article by Max O'Rell.

FROM "BETWEEN YOU AND I"

He Tells of the Ideal Man and the Ideal Woman—A Touch of Bohemianism.

The more I study the ways of the modern young man, the better I can understand why women say that the society of a man is seldom enjoyable before he has attained the age of forty. The modern young man is conceited, assertive, blase. He settles the questions of the day with an air of supreme authority; he patronizes "the girls," crosses his legs half sitting, half lying on easy chairs in the presence of ladies, and thinks he confers a great honour upon them in condescending to dance with them or listen to their conversation.

In France and in England he is objectionable, and in Germany absolutely intolerable. In America, from a few scenes I have witnessed, he is pretty bad, although American women are about the best to put a man in his proper place.

The modern young man pats the girls of his acquaintance on the back, sends the smoke of his cigarette in their faces, and waves his hand to them when he meets them in the street.

In the street cars it is the men of forty, fifty and sixty years of age who rise and offer their seats to the ladies; the young men remain seated. Even with us older men they are often assertive and almost rude. They do not listen and learn; they hold the floor and entertain and edify us with their reminiscences and impressions and not uncommonly with their opinions.

They settle political, social religious, literary, artistic questions; and their judgments are delivered in a manner that disposes of all possibilities of appeal. They do not bear in mind the salutary piece of advice once given to the students of the Cambridge University in England by the Vice-Chancellor, the late Doctor Thompson:—"Young men," he said to them, "remember that we are all of us liable to make mistakes, even the youngest of us."

Their knowledge of the world, and of all the things therein, extends so far that sometimes you catch yourself regretting that they are not a bit older, as we might thus have their impressions of George Washington and their reminiscences of the battle of Waterloo.

I like the man of twenty who does not believe that no woman can resist him, who is considerate and respectful to ladies and people of old age, who admits that he is ten years younger than his father, who remains with his head uncovered while engaged conversing with ladies, who listens to older men, who airs his views and gives his advice when he is invited to do so, who enjoys the natural pursuits of youth, who does not think it beneath his dignity to pay some attention to children, who is modest and retiring, and who succeeds in making himself pleasant and useful.

A TOUCH OF BOHEMIANISM.

Be yourself, follow your own inclinations, imitate nobody, be cheerful, considerate, and unconventional. Indulge all those who love you and whom you love; don't spend your life keeping your children in order, telling them constantly that this or that is bad form; rather behave like a dear father I know who, being rather boisterous at the table, was reproached by his young daughter. "Father," she said, "I wish you could behave yourself."

A cheerful, childlike, unrestrained father in a houseful of cheerful, and boisterous, unrestrained children, is a sight for the gods. Ask the mother in that house if she does not think so, too.

The sweetest pleasures of life are the pleasures of poverty; there is no pleasure in life for the man who can afford everything; there is hardly a smile left in him, unless he is intelligent enough now and then to introduce a little Bohemianism into his life that will make him forget that he is a millionaire; those that cost us a sacrifice of some sort or other, and that is why the very wealthy enjoy practically none, except when they ar emore or less playing at Bohemianism.

The millionaire who orders a thousand dollar jewel at Tiffany's to be sent to his wife gives her a present which, for appreciation, cannot be mentioned in the same breath with that jewel which a man has been able to buy for fifty dollars by saving five dollars a week during ten weeks of thoughtful love.

THE IDEAL MAN.

The man whom all women like is the considerate man, who will get out all the thorns that are in their path without ever doing anything that may tend to make him lose his dignity, the man who will listen to long stories and even childish prattle without looking bored, who has a smile and a friendly word for everybody, who likes children and is eagerly sought by them, who is chivalrous, never fussy, always cool, who does not let a women stand while he is comfortably sitting, who opens the door for her, but who never carries her parcels.

The man whom all women like is cheerful, witty, but kind, never biting. He always defends a woman who is spoken ill of before him, and invariably remembers every woman he met.

He is absolutely reliable. If he promises to do a thing, he keeps his word. You know you can trust him, even in the smallest trifles. Women love men they can respect, and they respect men whom they can blindly trust.

THE IDEAL WOMAN.

Marry a woman smaller than yourself.

Don't marry a woman who has thin lips or who cannot laugh heartily. The character of a person is ascertained from the way they laugh. Do not marry a woman whose smiles are forced. Marry one who looks amiable when she laughs.

Marry a woman who can see a joke, who has a sense of humour, and who looks on the bright side of things.

Don't marry a critical woman who makes fun of her friends behind their backs; marry one who has a good word for every one who is abused before her.

Marry a philosopher. If you take your girl to a theatre and you have not engaged your seats, marry her if, on hearing that all the stalls in the orchestra and the dress circle are taken, she says to you; "Never mind, let's go to the pit and have fun." That girl is a good fellow; you will get along very well with a seat in the pit with her, when the best stalls in life are taken.

If a girl out of her little pocket money saves a dollar a week to make you a little present on your birthday, marry her. If she does not give you anything because she cannot afford to buy an expensive present, don't marry her.

Try to ascertain how she wakes up, however suddenly roused from her sleep. If she wakes up with an immediate smile, marry her. If she wakes up with a frown saying, "What is it?" don't marry her; she is neither amiable nor cheerful. This test is an infallible one. Half awake, half asleep, she has no time to think; she reveals herself.

Mr. Jas. Walker Attributes his Good Health to Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

They Cured Him of Swelling of the Limbs, Urinary Troubles and Violent Backache.

Those who desire a hale and hearty old age, full of vim and vigour and freedom from kidney ailments, should take Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. It is simply wonderful how they allay the irritation of the urinary passages, render unnecessary the frequent rising at night, and give healthful vigour to the whole system. Many old people write and tell us that they feel ten years younger since taking the Tablets.

Mr. Jas. Walker, whose address is Sheldon, Iowa, U.S.A., is one of the old folks who is enthusiastic about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Just read what he says, and write him for further particulars if you like:

"Along last September I began to be troubled with my urine. It gave me pain at times, and I had to go quite often, sometimes having to rise out of bed four or five times during the night. I had a great thrist and a violent headache. My limbs swelled to twice their natural size, and my appetite left me.

"I happened to get an Ontario paper, the Lindsay Post, and saw there that Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets were highly spoken of. I determined to try them and after using them for one week I got great relief. The pain left my back and I did not need to get up so often during the night. I continued their use and the results have been wonderful for a man of my age, 83. I am not bothered with that terrible thirst, my appetite is good, and the swelling has left my limbs, and I can tell you that the Tablets have proved a great boon to me. You are at liberity to use my letter in any way you choose, as what I say is the truth."

(Signed) "Jas. Walker."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a bottle, or 3 for $1.25, at druggists, or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

London, Dec. 20.—After a long trial in the King's Bench division of the High Court of Justice the case of the Taff Vale Railroad Company against the Amalgamated Society of Railroad Servants, involving many questions of the utmost importance to trade unionism, resulted yesterday in a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs. The latter complained of malicious molestation, picketing, intimidation, etc., during the strike of 1900. The judge reserved his decision on the question of damages until the next sitting of the court.

NON-UNION SIDE.

Stories of Violence Around the Miners and in Mining Districts During the Great Coal Strike.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 20.—Non-union men, some of their relatives and others to the number of 30 appeared before the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission yesterday and told their stories of alleged boycotts, intimidations, dynamiting and violence in various forms during the late strike. Each witness called was a sufferer in one form or another at the hands, they alleged, of union men. Four witnesses said attempts were made to blow up their houses, one house was badly damaged; many of the witnesses were threatened with bodily harm; several were beaten, one was shot in the leg and every one stoned, boycotted or hung in effigy. One school teacher testified to having lost his position because his father did not strike. One man was asked to resign from a Catholic Temperance Society and another witness was expelled from a local lodge of the Ancient Order of Hibernians after a membership of twenty-six or twenty-eight years, because they were classed as unfair workmen.

Dying by Slow Degrees.

Although not always aware of it yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Catarrhozone is the only remedy that will immediately prevent the spread of this awful disease. Every breath from the Inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration, and relieves the pain across the eyes. Catarrhozone erradicates every vestige of catarrh from the system, and is highly recommended also for Bronchitis, Asthma, Deafness and Lung Trouble. Price, $1; trial size, 25c.; all druggists. Health and Hope.

"He who has health has hope; and he who has hope has everything." But hope flees at the approach of kidney disease with the dreadful pains which accompany it. With the flesh gradually failing, the back aching, and the despair which often comes to victims of this ailment, only the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will restore hope, confidence and health. MASONIC OFFICERS JOINTLY INSTALLED.

Large and Interesting St. John's Communication.

Officers of Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges Jointly Installed.

The Masonic Temple was the scene of a most interesting Masonic gathering and function on the Festival of St. John the Evangelist, last night, when a very large gathering of Masonic brethren convened to assist in the installing of the officers of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, and of Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A.F. & A.M.

In addition to the very considerable number of the fraternity present, it may be mentioned that there were in attendance no fewer than 39 Past Masters, a number greater than ever was known on a similar occasion in Peterborough. The visiting brethren, too, were well represented, many being present from Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Belleville, Middleburg, New York, Gananoque and Shannonville.

The installing ceremonies were performed in a skilful manner by Rt. W. Bro. Rev. W. L. Armitage, Grand Chaplain, assisted by Rt. W. Bro. H. Rush, V. Wor. Bro. H. C. Winch, Rt. Wor. Bro. H. Walkey, V. Wor. Bro. A. Dawson, and V. Wor. Bro. R. M. Dennistoun.

Among the visitors were Rt. W. Bro. T. G. O'Flynn, of Belleville, D.D. G.M. of Prince Edward district, who was warm in his congratulations which the successful and impressive installation ceremonies were of a character to evoke.

THE BANQUET.

At the conclusion of the installation ceremonies a well appointed banquet was enjoyed by the brethren, succeeded by the presentation of the following toast list:

The King and the Craft—

"Monarchs themselves have not thought it derogatory to their dignity to exchange the Sceptre for the Gavel."

The Grand Master and the Grand Lodge of Canada—

"A superstructure perfect in its parts and honourable to the builder."

This brought responses from Rt. W. Bro. T. E. O'Flynn and Rt. W. Bro. Bro. R. E. Wood.

The Newly Installed Officers—

"Let Prudence direct you, temperance chasten you, fortitude support you, and Justice be the guide of all your actions."

W. Bro. D. Walker, of Corinthian Lodge, and W. Bro. J. Crane, of Peterborough Lodge, fittingly acknowledged the toast.

The Visiting Brethren—

"A Freemason's Lodge is the Temple of Peace, Harmony, and Brotherly Love."

Responded to by Bro. Rev. W. J. Jolliffe.

The Retiring Officers—

"Rising to eminence by merit you may live respected and die regretted."

This toast brought speeches from W. Bro. T. N. Greer, of Corinthian Lodge, and W. Bro. W. Stocker, of Corinthian Lodge.

The Installing Master—

"On you favours have not been undeservedly bestowed."

This toast and sentiment were spoken to by Rt. W. Bro. Rev. W. L. Armitage, Grand Chaplain.

The Junior Warden's Toast—

"Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again."

The presiding officers of the banquet were Rt. Wor. Bro. W. L. Armitage, chairman; Rt. W. Bro Walkey, First Vice-Chairman; V. W. Bro. A. Dawson, Second Vice-Chairman, and the occasion represented a most enjoyable feature of the more social features of the highly successful annual occasion.

IT WAS PRESENTATION DAY.

Principal Smith, of the Central School Remembered.

Business College Students Make a Presentation to Their Teachers.

At the Peterborough Bunsiness College yesterday afternoon the present term was brought to a close by the presentation to Mr. Pringle and his assistant, Mr. Harnett, of a joint address and neat tokens of esteem, on behalf of the students of the college. The address was read by Mr. Maynard Brown, and Mr. Trefle Sevegue made the presentation. The address was as follows;

Dear Teachers,—We are taking advantage of this opportunity to express to you, as well as mere words can do so, our earnest and heart felt gratitude for the intense and perpetual interest you have always taken in us, both as a class, and individually, and also for your numerous kind and thoughtful acts, which have proven to us that you have, not only our welfare as students at heart, but also, that you entertain for us that affection and sympathy which are, perhaps, the highest trait of the true teacher.

Your scholarly talks and explanatory lectures concerning subjects under study have proven a wonderful impetus, and we have watched, with growing esteem, your patient and persistent efforts to initiate us into the mysteries of the arts to which we have dedicated what little talent and genius we possess.

And now, we beg of you to accept these trifling gifts, not by any means, as ample remunerations for the debt we owe you, but, as slight tokens of our love and esteem, and minute souvenirs of the many pleasant hours we have spent together.

As time rolls on, and the future years bring with them new faces and new associations, we trust, that the students of nineteen hundred and two will not be altogether obliterated from your memories, while on our part, we feel sure that fancy will often carry us back to the days we spent here in the college, Gratitude will claim for our teachers more than a passing thought.

In conclusion, let us wish you all the joys and blessings attendant upon a happy Christmas-tide; while our constant prayer shall be that He, who has rendered this a season of felicity and gladness, will spare you for many years to participate in the happiness of many anniversaries of this time honoured festival.

Signed on behalf of the College,
Miss M. Blois, Miss L. Alkens,
Miss M. Sherlock, Miss T. Shea,
E. H. Howson, Ira E. Ivey, Jas. Hall, Chas. Harmer.
Peterborough, Dec. 19th, 1902.

The Christmas closing of the Central School yesterday afternoon was marked by the presentation of suitably worded addresses and presentations to Mr. Wm. Smith, Principal of the school and his assistant Mr. J. C. Smythe. During the afternoon also an interesting programme of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, etc., was rendered, those taking part being the members of the entrance "A" and "B" classes.

The address to Mr. Wm. Smith, the Principal, was read by Miss Hazel Pentland, whilst Miss Ruby Fitzgerald made the presentation. The address was as follows:

William Smith, Esq.,

Principal of the Central School.—

Dear Teacher, — The members of the Entrance Class of the Central School, who have enjoyed the advantages of your instruction, would like, at this happy Christmas season of peace and good will, to testify in a tangible form form, to our sense of the obligation we are under to you, not only in the matter of painstaking interest in our educational progress, but also of kind forbearance on account of our shortcomings, and for uniformly gentlemanly and considerate treatment, which has made intercourse as teacher and pupils agreeable to ourselves, as we know, and, we hope, mutually agreeable.

In evidence of our feelings of respect and good will, and as a material token of the happy relations which have existed between us, we ask your acceptance of this little gift, hoping you may long be spared to wear it in memory of the givers, who need no aid to hold in their hearts the memory of the happy days we have spent under your instruction.

Permit us in conclusion to wish that you and yours may enjoy not only a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, but long and happy lives.

Very respectfully and affectionately,
On behalf of the class.

Mr. Smith was presented with a beautiful gold locket, suitably ingraved. He made a pleasing reply in which he thanked the pupils for their expressions of kindness.

Mr. J. C. Smythe was the recipient of an address and presentation on behalf of the pupils of class "B."

"REV. FATHER BREBEOUF"

The Subject of an Excellent Paper by Miss Hattie Cahill.

The Ladies Reading Circle of St. Peter's T.A.S. held a literary evening last night and the large gathering present were treated to an admirable paper on the life, labours and heroic death of the famous Jesuit martyr, Father Brebeouf, read by Miss Hattie Cahill. The essay was a beautiful tribute to the noble man, and was conspicuous for its originality and purity of style. It showed that the young lady possessed descriptive powers of a very high order. The paper apart from its many excellent points, was read in excellent voice.

Miss Kate McGrath occupied the chair very acceptably, and a musical programme was presented

Revs. Dr. O'Brien and J. O'Brien were present and gave short addresses.

BOOKS possess in a high degree the merit of intrinsic value. COUNTY COUNCIL NOMINATION

They Will Take Place on Monday Next.

Some of the Candidates Who Have Announced Themselves—Warden Eastland Will Retire.

Monday of next week will be nomination day for candidates for the County Councils throughout the province.

In Peterborough County considerable interest is being displayed, and owing to the announced retirement of several of the present councillors, a few changes, at least, in the personnel of the council will be observed when the members of that body meet in January. At least three of last year's County Council do not intend seeking re-election. They are Mr. Wm. Anderson, M.P.P., of Otonabee, the father of the present County Council, Mr. W. H. Casement, who so faithfully represented No. 5 Division, and Mr. Costello, of Ennismore, who is one of the representatives from No. 2 Division in the present Council. Dr. Jeffs, of Havelock, who some time ago announced his intention of moving from this district, and accordingly withdrawing from local municipal life, has, it is stated, decided to remain in Havelock and will offer himself again as a candidate.

With the retirement of Mr. Wm. Anderson, a new member will have to be chosen for No. 1 Division. Mr. E. A. Peck will stand again, it is said, while Reeve Johnston, of Otonabee, will most likely be another candidate.

In No. 2 Division the candidates already announced are Messrs T. M. Hunter, ex-Reeve of North Monaghan, and Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, of Smith.

In No. 3 Division, including Harvey Galway, Cavendish, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos, Warden Eastland has announced his intention of dropping out, but Councillor Shaw will remain in the running. Another candidate very favourably spoken of is Mr. John Manogue.

A new candidate in No. 5 Division is Mr. John Moloney, the Reeve of Douro. It is thought that Councillor Crowe will again be a candidate whilst Mr. Ed. Hawthorne's name is freely mentioned in that regard.

IN THE EAST.

The Norwood Register, in summing up the situation down east, says:

As the time for holding the meeting for the nomination of County Councillors draws near it begins to look as though there will be a "hot time" in this Division. It was announced some time ago that Dr. Jeffs, of Havelock, would not seek re-election. He has since, however, been persuaded to enter the field and will make a hard push to again capture the honours. Mr. Pearce, of our own village, has not as yet fully decided as to whether he will enter the arena, but from the pressure that is being brought to bear upon him from all parts of the district we think he will hardly be able to turn a deaf ear to the entreaties of his friends. Mr. James Andrews, Reeve of Asphodel, some time ago announced his intention of retiring from that position to enter the field for County Councillor and is leaving no stone unturned to reach the goal of his ambition. Mr. W. T. Curtis, Reeve of Havelock, is also looking toward the county seat. Mr. W. T. Buck's name has also been mentioned on several occasions as a probable candidate, but we are not in a position to say whether he is in the field or not. One thing is certain, however, and that is, there will be a fight!

Deserving of Credit.

The management gratefully desire to have it known that one who is deserving of much praise in connection with the concert held by the King's Daughters on Thursday evening, Dec. 18th, is Mr. Pererda, who took upon himself the task of produuncing the very pretty musical number, the sextette taken from Florodora, entitled, "Tell Me Pretty Maiden." It was without a doubt the best thing on the programme, and considering length of time in which he and the other performers had to prepare it shows the perseverance and talent displayed by Mr. Pererla, who is considered to merit more than a mere financial recognition in this connection.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

PETERBOROUGH "takes the" (Christmas) "cake" in the matter of holiday decorations. Never before at Christmas time have the shops of Peterborough presented so radiant and gorgeous appearance as they do this year. While the artistic taste displayed in the infinite versatility of the skilful window dressers, is admirable, the display is more important as giving glimpses and happy hints of the abundant stores within. If any citizen was un-Christian enough to do his Christmas buying out of town, he will certainly be smitten with remorse when he sees the splendid capabilities of our local establishments in every department of trade, and he will probably feel in his pocket in vain for the money he has, perhaps, lost, by buying no better, if not inferior, goods, in an outside city, at higher prices.

• • •

CHRISTMAS BUYING is this year far ahead of all past seasons. The people are prosperous and take advantage of their prosperity, which we hope may long continue, as it should do if we take an unselfish view of our good fortune, and instead of bestowing it all upon ourselves, liberally remember our friends and above all our neighbour, who may be in misfortune, and may lack the means to fittingly participate in a material way in the rejoicing for which the Christmas tide gives such glorious warrant.

• • •

IT IS WORTH WHILE to repeat the injunction to buy early. To do so will be fair to yourself, fair to others, whose duties or engagements forbid them to do their Christmas buying until the last hour, and fair to the merchant, who can give better service than when a shop is thronged in the last few hours of Christmas Eve. Though merchants like to see their shops crowded, yet they do not appreciate the kindness of being saved the trouble of sending articles home, which is often the inadvertent outcome of crowded shops with a superabundance of portable and pocketable articles exposed.

• • •

A NEWSPAPER article calls attention to the danger of contamination arising from the promiscuous use of lead pencils in our public schools. The paragraph states that the lead pencils were a means of spreading diphtheria in the public schools, in an American city, to the number of eighty cases. Lead pencils are served out to the pupils each day from the stock collected at the close of the previous day. Theoretically, each pupil is supposed to receive his or her own pencil, but since many pencils are "alike as two peas," it happens that a healthy child may get the pencil of a child tainted with diphtheria, or some other contagious disease. And the universal habit of sucking pencils, a survival of the earliest habit of our infant life, practiced upon, what Mr. Macawber calls, "nature's fount," leads to contagion and infection.

• • •

WHETHER OR NOT this is a cause of the present prevalence of contagious diseases, this, or some such default, as unsanitary conditions, demands the attention of the health authorities.

• • •

A PROMINENT GENTLEMAN, not long a resident of the town, while charmed with its brisk business characteristics, its energy and its enterprise, to-day expressed his astonishment at the degree to which diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc., prevailed.

• • •

HEALTH is the supreme standard of value, outranking diamonds and precious stones. The desirability of a town as a residence is in direct ratio, other things being equal, to the salubrity of its situation ,and to its sanitary condition. So if we would attract people to Peterborough, we must be able to show a health bill superior to other places. We should be able to do this. If we could, (and we can if we will,) with a good system of sewerage and a good system of water works, conjoin a first-class system of sanitary plumbing, sewer-gas proof, and with rigid cleanliness of streets and lanes, especially, such as the slough of microbe breeding conditions in the rear of George street between Hunter and Brock streets, we should have ideal sanitary conditions.

• • •

ETERNAL VIGILANCE is the price of healthy surroundings and conditions, and if we are to have a healthy town we must do something; not sit down and wait, or turn over insistent matters to the circumlocation office. Whilst the town and health authorities sit still and do nothing, the deadly microbe is ever busy; as the crape on the door, the passing bell and the little brown mound of earth, soiling the snowy mantle of the cemetery, prove.

• • •

THEORETICALLY, railways aim to please the public upon whose grace they live. No railway can afford to assume towards the public the anathematic attitude of a Vanderbilt, implied in his reply to a suggestion that his railway was not serving the people's interests—"The public be d—d." We are sure that railways are pleased to have their attention called to conditions that bring vexation, annoyance, delay and disappointment to their customers.

• • •

TAKE FOR instance the connection between the incoming morning train from Port Hope and the morning express from Belleville. Many passengers arriving by the former train wish to go east on the Belleville train. If such passengers have tickets for points east on the Grand Junction it is possible to step from one train to another. But if the Port Hope train, as often happens, is late, the Belleville train pulls out at once, giving the passenger without a ticket no opportunity to purchase one at a station, and they are consequently left as has happened on many occasions.

• • •

AGAIN, the Port Hope conductor, who is in a position to know, signals to the Grand Junction conductor, "No tickets for your train," and the Grand Junction train pulls out before the other train stops, and the other day half a dozen passengers, who wanted to go east, were left and had to be sent forward by a special to catch the train (held at the first station), they wanted to take.

• • •

WE FEEL SURE that the matter has only to be fairly represented to the Grand Trunk management to secure an improvement in the regard mentioned. We know that railways have been flooded with business, to the extent of hardly knowing where they are at, but the public cannot always be reasonable, nor always acquainted with the circumstances, and so cannot make allowances. They pay for certain service and as a rule expect to receive it, even if the sky fall.

• • •

ANOTHER private bank has gone to the wall. With recent disasterous experiences with private banks, though many of them are solvent and well managed, there is an absence of the security that attaches to the chartered bank. "Safe bind, safe find," is a good old Shaksperian motto, which applies especially to the selection of a bank in which to deposit money. The number of chartered banks that have failed in the last quarter of a century could be counted on the thumbs of one's hands, while in the past few months private banks have fallen like autumn leaves

• • •

A LEADING OFFICIAL of the Cereal Company reports a demand for Quaker Oats which taxes the capacity of supply. He also suggests that the oats of Canada, grown with care and properly cleaned, produce an article of breakfast food superior to the American grain. There's certainly something in our climate and soil conditions. Ontario barley beats the world of America for malting purposes. Ontario oats is superior to American grown oats for cereal food purposes; Manitoba wheat leads the world, and Canadian cheese "beats creation." We may be called "Little Frozen Canada," but there's a charm in our soil and climate which gives a "bouquet" to our grains, fruits and cheese, which milder climates with sloppier winters cannot equal. Hurrah for Canada! Merry Christmas from sea to sea!

LECH & SONS FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS IN FINE FURS

OF A DIFFERENT KIND

The Decorations in the City Clothing Store of Mr. H. LeBrun and Co.

While some stores in Peterborough are decorating profusely, there are others who rely on the well known merit of their goods for attraction. Such is the gentlemen's furnishing store of H. LeBrun & Co. Throughout the store the abundance of good, durable clothes is an attraction that can harly be resisted. The quality of the cloths, neck-wear, etc., is exceedingly high, while the prices, considering the value, is correspondingly low.

Neckwear of the most beautiful and dainty description occupies a prominent place in the windows and store, for the up-to-date merchant realizes that in the present age, the quality of his ties is the standard by which a man is judged. The open show cases, the large well-lighted store, and the brightness of the interior is, in the case of this store, an attraction that calls for no lavish display of the decorator's art. Then, too, there is the ease of entrance and egress, both from George street and Hunter street. The popular proprietor, Mr. H. LeBrun, states that the Hunter street door is patronized by customers as much as that on George street. Besides, there are genial and courteous clerks who are willing to show any of the goods to the prospective purchaser. In closing, it might be said, that true worth is the greatest drawing card at this store.

THE BAND CONCERT

Last Night was Excellent—The Attendance.

The band concert last night was unfortunately poorly attended. What was the cause of this would be hard to say, but evidently there was some misunderstanding among the general pulic as to the date, for that the band can crowd the house on all occasions is a fact conceded by all. However, those who were there enjoyed a musical treat for the band played, if possible, with more than ordinary care and precision. Mr. Harvey, too, sang his best and the excellence of that is unnecessary of comment. Those present are loud in their praise of the manner in which the concert was presented to so few listeners.

HENDERSON ROLLER BEARINGS

The prospectus of the Company, which is formed to develop one of the most useful phases of mechanical enterprise known to modern commercial science, will be found in this issue of the Examiner, viz., The Henderson Rolling Bearing Manufacturing Company, Limited. The device which this company is formed to place among the manufacturing public is known as "The Henderson Roller Bearing," for the reduction of friction on the rolling stock of railways, both steam and electric, and all kinds of vehicles, stationary engines, mill shafting and journals of every description. This friction-reducing device is said by all who have used it to be the most perfect yet devised and one of the most wonderful power-saving inventions known to modern mechanics.

The invention is amply covered by patents, and with the present tremendous demand for power saving devices, is sure to find a ready market. A large factory, with the most modern equipments, will be erected to manufacture the "Henderson Roller Bearings," and with the growing demand for such bearings a busy future is assured. For more exact details see their advertisement.

Parents and friends of boys are asked to consider this in securing presents. There are hundreds of boys in town who should be getting the benefit of the finely equipped building. It is for them all.

WHY ?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

PREMIERS' MEETING.

Subjects for Consideration of the Conference at Quebec.

A PRELIMINARY MEETING HELD.

The Trains Were Late—Actual Business of Conference Begins To-Day—Quebec's Representation in the Commons May Be Increased — Plan to Settle Fisheries Question— Increased Subsidies.

Quebec, Dec. 19.—The Intercolonial train, which only arrived about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, caused a delay in the opening of the proceedings of the Inter-Provincial Conference. On board this train were: Hon. Messrs. Murray, Premier, and Longley, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia. A preliminary meeting was held last night, but the actual business of the conference will only commence to-day. Last night the delegates were the guests of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor. To-day Premier Parent will dine them at the Garrison Club. They will also be entertained at the Government House by the Provincial Ministers and by the Quebec Board of Trade. The conference will probably last till Saturday afternoon.

Subjects to Be Dealt With.

The general anticipation is that the action of the present conference will be mostly on lines somewhat similar to those laid down in the Quebec resolutions of 1887, chief among which are the increase of the Provincial subsidies from the Dominion, the adjustment of the representation and the indemnity received by the Dominion from the fisheries award. It was rumored last evening that Premier Peters of Prince Edward Island has a plan to submit to the conference for the settlement of the difficulties connected with the fisheries award, and there is no doubt that the feeling regarding the readjustment of the subsidies is unanimous, so far as known. The functions of the Provinces have greatly expanded since the amounts of the subsidies were fixed. The Provinces are now under a much greater expense for the maintenance of schools, and for many other things. The revenue of the Dominion, on the other hand, has greatly increased since the subsidies were fixed.

To Settle Representation.

Then as regards the representation, it is believed that a rearrangement of the representation of the Provinces in the Federal House can be secured, without the reduction of the present representation of any of the Provinces, by increasing the representation from the Province of Quebec, which is now the basis of arrangement. The relative proportion could remain the same as provided for by the terms of the British North America act.

It is also stated that in the event of the conference agreeing unanimously on some matters of action the resolution will be given to the press for publication.

E. A. MACDONALD DEAD.

Ex-Mayor of Toronto Passes Away After a Year's Illness.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—After an illness lasting nearly six months, Ernest Albert Macdonald, ex-Mayor of Toronto, died last night at his home, 35 Grenville street. Deceased had been suffering from nervous prostration for nearly a year and on July 16 was confined to his bed, gradually growing weaker until the end came shortly after 10 o'clock.

The late E. A. Macdonald was one of the best known men in Toronto, as he entered public life at an early age. He made and lost a fortune in promoting big real estate and other schemes and was practically responsible for the building up of the property northeast of the Don.

On three occasions, 1891, 1898 and 1899, he ran for Mayoralty honors, but was defeated. In 1900 he was elected Mayor, defeating ex-Mayor E. F. Clarke and Ald. Hallam. In 1901 he ran for a second term, and was defeated by Mayor Howland. Since then he has not taken an active part in any particular business, owing to a general breaking up of his health. Deceased was 45 years of age.

So many ailments come from the improper digestion of food that it is almost impossible to overestimate the value of having the stomach in good working order. That headache that makes brain work an impossibility, that heartburn, those pains in the stomach are only some of the symptoms of Dyspepsia that nerve destroying terror of these days of hurry and bustle. Nearly everyone has it in some shape or other and many do not know that it can be easily and permanently cured. It is to these that Marie Ann Bujold, of Bonaventure Co., Quebec, wants to talk. She has suffered from Dyspepsia and tells how Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cured her.

"For two years my life had been a burden," she says. "I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach.

"I finally consulted some doctors but they did me no good. Then I saw an advertisement of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and resolved to try them. They relieved me almost immediately and cured me so completely that I have not been troubled since. "I am always glad to tell others what Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets did for me."

Thousands of other people will tell you that Dyspepsia cannot live in the same stomach with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Toronto Hotelkeeper Discharged After Trial For Knowingly Having Counterfeit Money in His Possession.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—A verdict of not guilty was returned in the Criminal Sessions about 6 o'clock last night in the case of Anson Raymond, the Wilton avenue hotelkeeper, charged with knowingly having in his possession forged one dollar bills. There was some applause which was quickly stopped by the constables. Raymond, on leaving the dock, was congratulated by the members of his family, and friends who crowded about the door of the court-room. The jury was out about two hours, but it is understood that they were agreed three quarters of an hour after they retired to consider the verdict. The absence of Judge McDougall necessitated the wait till 8 o'clock. Raymond and his wife are still under $500 bail each to appear for trial on the charge of knowingly having the counterfeiting plant in their possession. In view of the finding of the jury last night it is not likely that this charge will be pressed.

Irritating Form of Itching Piles

A Source of Continual Worry and Annoyance—Sleep and Rest Impossible Until Relief and Cure Came With the Use of

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

All classes of people are subject to piles, but especially those who are exposed to dampness. Teamsters, farmers, railroad men and labourers suffer greatly from this distressing ailment.

While there are plenty of remedies recommended as a treatment for piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment is the only actual and guaranteed cure. It truly wonderful how the merit of this preparation has become known throughout this continent and Europe.

But when a person has endured the torture of piles, the itching, stinging sensation, the sleepless nights of misery, the annoyance during the day, when going about the daily work, he feels grateful for the relief and cure brought by Dr. Chase's Ointment, and does not forget to recommend it to his friends.

Mr. J. F. Miller, who is employed as cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Co., Lindsay, Ont., states:—"I believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the best thing in the world for piles. I say this because it has positively and thoroughly cured me of itching, bleeding piles, and this after all other remedies I could procure had failed. I can recommend this ointment to anyone suffering from piles, knowing that it will certainly cure."

Physicians say nothing is so helpful for throat and lung troubles, whether acute or chronic, and for wasting diseases, as Angier's Petroleum Emulsion with Hypophosphites. It is pleasant to take and agrees with the stomach.

It relieves congestion and irritation, soothes and heals the bronchial tubes, makes breathing easy, changes the character of expectoration, and cures the cough. Its effects are rapid. It aids digestion, helps assimilate the food, and has a healthy action upon the bowels. Pills and aperients are unnecessary.

I was troubled with bronchitis for ten years, being frequently unable to work for months at a time. I tried many remedies with poor results. I used Angier's Petroleum Emulsion, and feel like a new man. I have not been so well for many years.—Robert Weir, Toronto, Canada.

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is sold by druggists everywhere. Remember the name and insist on getting Angier's. Large size, $1.00. Small, 50c.

C.P.R. GETS CONTROL

Transfer of the White Pass and Yukon Railway.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RAILWAY

Application For Charter For the Proposed Line—Branches Projected—Winnipeg, Calgary and Regina to Be Tapped—Opposition to Aid to This Transcontimental Project in Winnipeg.

Seattle, Wash, Dec. 20.—The Times says: There is no longer any doubt that the action of the White Pass and Yukon route to transferring its general offices from Seattle to Vancouver, B.C., is made with the intention of transferring that property to the control of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and, by the transfer, placing the traffic of the Yukon district in the full control of the Canadian line.

C.P.R. St. Lawrence Service.

London, Dec. 20.—It is announced here on the highest authority that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has detrmined on opening up on the St. Lawrence route next spring. It is stated that the company will run a weekly service of cargo steamers from Liverpool and a ten-day service from London and Glasgow. Other important developments are contemplated.

AGAINST SUBSIDIES.

Winnipeg Board of Trade Heatedly Discuss the Granting of Aid to the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 20. — At a heated meeting of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon, it was unanimously resolved to urge upon the Dominion Government to take immediate steps to remedy the grievous disabilities under which the people of the West are laboring in relation to the question of transportation, and to take such further steps as would effectually prevent the recurrence of the present unbearable conditions.

At present the railways cannot handle one-half the freight offered. There is now practically a complete grain blockade throughout the West, owing to lack of motive power, and the C. P. R. yards here are so congested that merchants cannot get out their Christmas goods.

A resolution relating to the granting of Government aid to the Grand Trunk was also drafted to the effect. "That no money donation or bond guarantee be granted to the Grand Trunk Pacific or Canadian Northern, and that the Government of Canada should forthwith proceed with the work of construction necessary to profitably develop our present system of government railways by purchasing or building an extension of the Intercolonial Railway from Montreal to Lake Superior, as suggested by the present Minister of Railways, and in conformity with the railway policy in which the Government of Manitoba attained office." The resolution will be further considered on Dec. 29.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

The Power the Old Canadian Line Asks For in Charter.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—The Canada Gazette contains notice of the application for a charter of incorporation for the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company. The route of the proposed railway is described in general terms as follows:—From a point at or near either Gravenhurst or North Bay, thence in a northwesterly and westerly direction through the Provinces and Territories of Ontario, Keewatin, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Athabaska and British Columbia, or any other Province or Territory of British North America, to the Pacific Ocean, at or near Port Simpson, or at or near Bute Inlet, or such other point as may be hereafter determined, by way of the Peace River or Pine River Pass, or such other pass as may be found most convenient, or by such other more feasible route as may be hereafter more clearly defined. Power is sought to construct branch lines to Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary or other points, and to acquire, lease, amalgamate, connect with or otherwise make arrangements for the use of the line of any railway company in Canada. The following are among the other rights desired:—To build or acquire and operate steamships and ferries within Canada and beyond the same, to maintain and use wharves, docks, dockyards, elevators, warehouses, bridges, hotels, restaurants, etc.; to acquire and develop waterpowers for the production and supply of electricity for any use; to locate, acquire and develop mines and mineral lands, timber and timber lands; to construct and operate telegraph and telephone lines for the purposes of the company's business and for public use, and to connect the same with any such lines already constructed; to acquire lands for parks and pleasure resorts; to acquire lands and to aid settlers upon lands served by the company's railways; to deal in the securities of any Government, corporation or company, and to enter into contracts with any Government, corporation, company, or individual in respect of sure securities, or in respect of the construction, acquisition of railway, steamship, telegraph or telephone lines, or any public or private improvements in Canada or elsewhere.

DOCTORS IN CHINA.

They Feast Themselves Before They Physic Their Patients.

When a man in China becomes ill, his family sends for a doctor, and as no Chinese physician of established reputation will walk to a patient a carriage or a donkey must be sent to fetch him.

As soon as he reaches the house he is conducted into the best room and is entertained with tea, brandy and sweetmeats; or, if he has come a good distance, with a meal of several courses. No matter how ill his patient may be he will not approach him until he has thoroughly refreshed himself in this manner.

When at last he goes to his bedside, he first asks the patient if he is still able to eat, and he next examines his pulse. After the patient has bared his entire forearm the physician places his finger on the pulse and for several moments does not utter a word. Sometimes only one of his fingers and at other times all of them are employed at this work. When he breaks his silence, he describes minutely the disease from which the patient is suffering and writes a prescription.

Then the doctor takes his leave, promising to call again if necessary. He receives, as a rule, no fee for this service, but if he is a druggist he charges a large price for the medicine, or if he is not a druggist he receives a satisfactory commission from the one who prepares it. Moreover, the patient, if he recovers, generally gives him a handsome present.

SILENCE!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge from modesty in his offer of free consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Doctor R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"Having used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' during the past year," writes Mrs. Mattie Long, of Pfouts Valley, Perry Co., Pa., "I can truthfully recommend these medicines for all female weaknesses. I have used several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' which I consider a great blessing to weak women. I was so nervous and discouraged that I hardly knew what to do. Your kind advice for home treatment helped me wonderfully. Thanks to Dr. Pierce."

Biliousness is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

mummified. The ancient Egyptians, it continues, were experts at this art, and a close study of some of their mummies shows how they did the work.

The body is placed in a boiler which contains chloride of calcium and which is heated to 125 degrees and after remaining there for a certain time is taken out and steeped for twenty-four hours in a cold solution of sulphate of sodium. By that time it is transformed into a perfect mummy, and the mourning relatives or friends can safely take it home and install it in a place of honor.

Women In New Zealand.

A man with daughters need not feel ashamed in New Zealand. He's a political power, a big man in the district in which he resides. All women over twenty-one years of age can vote, so the man with many daughters often decides a closely contested election. Then, again, women are much sought after matrimonially, for they are outnumbered by the men two to one. There is no need for a woman becoming an old maid. The women are good dressers, and the styles are as nearly up to date as those of London and New York.

Sea Talk.

Bobby—You have always shown a predilection for sea tales, haven't you? I know you always used to be reading them when we were in college.

Dicky—Yes; and I still like them as much as ever. By the way, on that sea voyage I took last year I was much astonished to find how unfamiliar the sailors were with sea language. They didn't talk a bit like the sailor the books tell about.—Boston Transcript.

Plenty of Thought.

"Auntie," said the judge to the battered lady of color, "did your husband strike you with malice aforethought?"

"'Deed he didn't, jedge," was the indignant reply. "He didn't hit me wid that mallet afore he thought. He'd been figgerin' on dat er long time, jedge; 'deed he had."

An Easy Problem.

The beggar had a notice up, "Deaf and Dumb," and the passing philanthropist stopped in front of him.

"I'd like to give this man something," he said to his companion, "but how am I to know that he is deaf and dumb?"

"Read the notice, sir," whispered the beggar cautiously.—Chums.

Rubbing It In.

He—If you wefuse me, I shall put a bullet thwough my bwain.

She—The idea! How could you?

He—I suppose you think I'm talking like a cwazy man?

She—Oh, no, like a sharpshooter.

Great After Dinner Speech.

Spunger—The best after dinner speech I ever heard was once when I was out with Goodley.

Winks—And who made the speech?

Spunger—Goodley. He said, "Let me have the check, please, waiter."

The Honorable Members.

"I suppose the arrival of new congressmen from time to time has a tendency to give variety to life in the Capital City?

"Not a great deal," answered the man who is more or less cynical. "It merely means the introduction of new names into the same old anecdotes."

In His Mind.

"Braggy says his grandfather lost his mind because of the loss of his fortune."

"He's just got the story twisted. He lost his fortune because of the loss of his mind. That's where he had his fortune."

NIAGARA POWER THE STAKE.

Argument Between One of the Old Companies and a New Concern Which Wants to Do Business.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—There was a formidable array of legal and scientific talent in the Council Chamber at the Parliament Buildings yesterday afternoon to see the Ontario Cabinet. They composed a delegation representing the Toronto Niagara Power Company which desires to acquire water power privileges at Niagara Falls, and the existing companies doing business there.

J. W. Langmuir, for the commissioners, read a report explaining that the new power company made an application for 100,000 electrical horse power, and the opinion was expressed that the property of any of the existing companies would not be injured by granting the privilege, providing, however, the company did not develop power beyond the 100,000 horse power. The commissioners were fortified in this opinion by a report from J. J. R. Cross, who stated that the subtraction of 11,200 cubic feet of water per second would not appreciably lower the elevation of the water at the intake of the Canada Niagara Power Company's plant.

Then followed a long argument between the representatives of the Canadian Niagara Falls Power Company and the new concern. The former held that their plant would be seriously interfered with, perhaps, to a great extent, ruined, if the new motor power privilege was granted. The latter held just the opposite. The Ontario Power Company's representatives had nothing to say. Their property would not be affected one way or the other.

Finally Premier Ross said that both sides had stated their case, and the Government would get the opinion of uninterested experts.

FARMERS FROM SCOTLAND.

Nearly 170 Experienced Workers Arrive in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Dec. 20.—Yesterday afternoon Robert Adamson, who has been in Scotland with the object of bringing to the Canadian west a large party of Scotch agricultural laborers, arrived in the city with between 160 and 170 experienced farm laborers. The demand, however, exceeds the supply.

Acting Commissioner Moffatt has received more than 160 applications from farmers for these men. The applications being, in all cases, accompanied by a remittance of $25, which sum will be deducted from the earnings of the men. In addition to this Mr. Adamson has received nearly a hundred similar applications and remittances from farmers who will be disappointed.

Swale was elected president; A. McRae, vice-president; Joseph Potts, secretary-treasurer, and one member from each township was appointed to form [illegible]. Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Nine out of every ten men have been guilty of transgression against nature in their youth. Nature never excuses, no matter how young, thoughtless or ignorant he may be. The punishment and suffering corresponds with the crime. The only escape from its ruinous results is proper scientific treatment to counteract its effects. The DRAINS, either by nightly losses, or secretly through the urine, must be stopped—the NERVES must be built up and invigorated, the blood must be purified, the SEXUAL ORGANS must be vitalized and developed, the BRAIN must be nourished. Our New Method Treatment provides all these requirements. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers disappear; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. We invite all the afflicted to call and consult us confidentially and free of charge. Cures Guaranteed or no Pay. Daily Letter—Quotations of Mr. E. M. Poussett & Co.

The market to-day was fairly strong, the bank statement of this week being on the whole fairly favourable. Whether the strength will continue in face of the Venezuela trouble, and the Sunday intervening before Monday's opening, can hardly be foretold.

Texas was one of the strongest features, while Sugar was the most active, opening at 125 1-4, going to 129, and closing at 127 3-4.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Dec. 20th, 1902—Speculation in the stock market halted until statement appeared. While showing much less favourably than had been expected early in the week, it could by no means be regarded as an unfavourable exhibit. Total reserves now held on all deposits $8,093,000, as against surplus of six million a year ago, and nine million in 1900 and eighteen million full reserve formerly required on U.S. Government deposit. This seems ample reserve to carry over the New Year without causing any particular worry over money market in the mean time, especially what emergency pool of over forty million back of it. There was scattered selling up to the time the bank statement appeared, then traders tried to cover and in sugar there was a sharp advance on short coverings, and on the assumption that the Cuban treaty with reducing of 25 per cent. on imports here will be ratified. There was also good buying in St. Paul, R.I., N.Y.C. P.A. and Coalers. The Venezuela situation is now generally better understood and has ceased to be a market factor. Underlying conditions surrounding market are good and we do not expect to see any important break occur, but rather believe we will have a good steady trading market with a broadening tendency and higher prices after the holidays.

Mr. W. A. Buchanan Secretary of the O. H. A.

The Clubs of the O. H. A. Have Been Placed in Groups—Other Notes.

At a meeting of the Executive of the O. H. A. last night, Mr. W. A. Buchan- sociation for the ensuing year to succeed Mr. Alex. H. Beaton, who has held the office for the past six years. The appointment of Mr. Buchanan to so high an office in connection with the foremost sporting organization in Canada is a suitable recognition of his executive ability and at the same time an honour in which the citizens of Peterborough can share. Mr. Buchanan is an old Peterborough boy, and received his first training in the office of Secretary when connected with the local hockey club. Upon his removal to Toronto four years ago, and upon the retirement of Mr. Lionel King from the Executive of the O. H. A., Mr. Buchanan was elected as Peterborough's representative at the council board of that body. After serving in that capacity for several years he was elected to the position of Treasurer, which office he filled with eminent satisfaction. Now he has been appointed to the most important office of the most important Association of athletics there is in the Dominion. That he will discharge the duties that devolve upon him in an impartial and successful manner, we feel sure there need by no fear and Mr. Buchanan's Peterborough friends will join in extending to him their heartiest congratulations upon his promotion.

NOT DUE TO CLIMATE.

Catarrh is Found Everywhere.

Catarrh is at home anywhere and everywhere. While more common in cold, changeable climates, it is by no means confined to them, but is prevalent in every state and territory in the union.

The common definition of catarrh is a chronic cold in the head, which if long neglected often destroys the sense of smell and hearing; but there are many other forms of the disease, even more obstinate and dangerous.

Catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver are almost as common as nasal catarrh and generally more difficult to cure.

Catarrh is undoubtedly a blood disease and can only be successfully eradicated by an internal treatment. Sprays, washes and powders are useless as far as reaching the real seat of the disease is concerned.

Dr. McIverney advises catarrh sufferers to use a new preparation, sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because actual analysis has shown these tablets to contain certain anti-septic qualities of the highest value and being a ninternal remedy, pleasant to the taste, convenient and harmless, can be used as freely as required, as well for children as for adults.

An attorney and public speaker, who had been a catarrh sufferer for years, says:

"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all wintor long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became affected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking.

"I tried troches and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two fifty cent boxes which I bought at my druggists, cleared my head and throat in fine shape and to guard against a return of my old trouble I keep a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward off any serious developments."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets deserves to head the list as a household remedy, to check and break up coughs and colds, because unlike many other catarrh andcough cures these tablets contain no opiate, cocaine or any injurious drug.

A Prejudiced Opinion.

"Is it true that men of genius do not know the value of money?"

"I'm afraid it is," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes. "Most men of genius see so little of it that they never have a chance to form any definite ideas on the subject."—Washington Star.

ORMONDE FACTORY.

A Very Successful Year—Officers Elected—Reports.

The patrons of the Ormonde cheese factory held their annual meeting for the winding up of business, election of officers, etc., at Hastings, on Thursday, December 11th.

During the past season there were delivered at the above factory 2,743,105 lbs. of milk, being 914.368 standards, worth clear of expense $24.23 without whey. FIRST IN 62 YEARS.

True Bill For Treason Returned Against Col. Arthur Lynch.

London, Dec. 20.—The Grand Jury summoned to consider the indictment of Colonel Arthur Lynch, member of Parliament for Galway, who was arrested June 11 on landing in England from the Continent on the charge of high treason in connection with the part he took in the South African war, where he is alleged to have commanded the Irish brigade, returned a true bill yesterday against the defendant. The Lord Chief Justice Baron Alverstone, in charging the jury, remarked that it was 62 years since a Grand Jury had to deal with such a charge, which was the highest crime known in law. Col. Lynch's trial at the bar is expected to begin Jan. 20.

A German Custom.

In some parts of Germany the girls have a pretty custom in which the queen of flowers plays a part. If a girl has several suitors and wishes to know which of them would be true to her, she takes rose petals and drops them into a bowl of water, giving each the name of one of her admirers. The leaf that remains floating longest represents the man whose faithfulness she may rely on and whom she would therefore do well to choose.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Oldest Pioneer on Lake Ontario Near Oakville Meets Tragic End.

Oakville, Dec. 22.—Henry Baker, the oldest pioneer on the lake shore, lost his life on Saturday evening in a fire which destroyed his barn on his farm about three miles east of this place. Four horses were also burned to death. Mr. Baker, who lived alone, had been to Oakville during the afternoon on some business and returned home about dark. Just how he came to meet such a tragic fate must always remain a mystery, but it is supposed that he went to do his chores at the barn with the lantern, and in some way it was upset, igniting the hay or straw. A few minutes after 7 o'clock the blaze was seen for miles around and a crowd soon gathered, but too late to do anything. There was a lot of hay and straw in the barn, consequently the flames spread very rapidly. The charred remains of Mr. Baker were found among the debris about 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

Deceased was born in Oakville 69 years ago and has spent all his days in this neighborhood. His wife died several years ago. He leaves a family of four—two sons and two daughters.

Bad Christmas in Finland.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 22.—Crop failure in Finland is causing widespread destitution. It is estimated that 400,000 will be starving after Christmas. So complete was the failure of vegetation that birds by the hundreds dropped dead in the streets.

GOODS ALWAYS A LITTLE BETTER THAN SEEMS NECESSARY.

DOWN COME PARTITIONS

Work and Fitting Rooms have to go a floor higher up. Mornings get for you more attention—more deliberation.

Arbitration Court Proposed in re Venezuelan Affairs.

COUNTER PROPOSITION MADE.

Britain and Germany Ask Him to Do the Arbitrating—Early This Morning It Looked as If President Roosevelt Would Accept Offer of Alternative Proposition—Official Announcement of Blockade.

Washington, Dec. 22. — President Roosevelt has submitted to the allied powers that the Venezuelan dispute be submitted to the arbitration of The Hague Tribunal.

The powers have replied with a counter proposal that President Roosevelt himself arbitrate the issues.

President Roosevelt does not wish to act as arbitrator in this dispute, for as such, it is felt here, he would be alone judge, jury and constable and would be under the moral obligation to execute his own judgment.

The President feels that a reference to The Hague Tribunal would vastly strengthen the cause of arbitration. Still, rather than see the present dispute proceed to extremes, it is probable the President will reluctantly assume the duties of arbitrator.

A Thorough Understanding.

Berlin, Dec. 22. — A semi-official statement made Saturday night says: "The invitation to President Roosevelt to act as arbitrator was made after a thorough consultation between Germany and Great Britain. An understanding has been reached by the two powers on the reservations attached to the offer, and the German note will agree with the British note on all essential points."

The Possibilities.

London, Dec. 22.—It is believed that President Roosevelt's answer to the proposal made by the allied powers that he arbitrate the Venezuelan issues has been received in London. The strictest secrecy with regard to every phase of the negotiations is preserved, however, and it is impossible to make a definite statement, but such indications as are obtainable point to President Roosevelt's acceptance of the office of arbitrator.

A constant interchange of cablegrams is proceeding night and day between the United States Embassy here and the State Department at Washington. It is believed that the President's answer will be submitted formally to the Foreign Office today. By Wednesday, unless some unexpected complications arise. It is believed the negotiations will reach a stage assuring a definite arrangement and obviating hostilities.

It must be said that the acceptance of the office of arbitrator by President Roosevelt would greatly surprise the Foreign Office, which always has been doubtful of the issue of arbitration negotiations on account of the belief that President Roosevelt or the United States was not willing to undertake the responsibility thereby involved.

Castro Accepts.

Caracas, Dec. 21.—In the name of Venezuela President Castro has signified acceptance of the appointment of President Roosevelt to arbitrate the Venezuelan difficulty.

Official Blockade.

London, Dec. 22.—The official proclamation of the blockade of Venezuelan ports was gazetted Saturday morning and became effective the same day.

Blockade Is On.

La Guayra, Dec. 22.—The blockade is on. A schooner belonging to a French subject was seized by the British Saturday.

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

G.T.R. Train Hands Did Not Send Back to Flag Train.

Montreal, Dec. 22.—William Robinson and Daniel Welsh, in the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, are held for trial on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the deaths of James Murphy, the engineer, and Michael Devaney, the fireman, whose deaths were due to injuries in the recent accident at Morrisburg, Ont. Robinson was the conductor and Welsh the fireman on the train which collided with Murphy's train. At an inquest on the remains of Devaney, held here Saturday, it was shown that Robinson and Welsh, when their train was stopped by an accident, had not sent back to flag the approaching train, which they were required to do by the rules of the road. The jury returned a verdict of manslaughter, and the accused were released on bail to appear for trial.

Curious Boiler Explosion.

Woodstock, Dec. 22.—The boiler explosion on Ben Bickel's farm Saturday was a curious accident. Walton, the injured man, still lives with a hole in his skull, where a flying wedge was driven partially through his head. The heavy pieces of machinery were thrown six rods away. The big smokestack was even further away. The fire box was thrown to the rear of the machine. How Walton escaped complete annihilation is a miracle. He was in direct line of flight of the heavy projectiles. The accident is attributed to faulty pumping facilities.

New Kind of Milk Flour.

Stockholm, Dec. 22.—Dr. Ekenberg has invented a process by which milk can be turned into flour and back again into milk by the addition of water. One quantity of the milk flour is equal to ten times the quantity of milk when dissolved. The milk flour does when dissolved. The milk flour does not sour and changes of temperature do not affect it.

SUCCESS TO MARCONI.

Several Wireless Messages Sent Across the Atlantic.

LORD MINTO TO KING EDWARD VII

The Inventor Makes an Announcement of His Success—The London Times Announces Receipt of Message From Dr. Parkin—Canada Interested in the Greatest Achievement of the Century.

New York, Dec. 22.—The following despatch from Mr. Marconi, dated Glace Bay, N.S., Dec. 21, has been received by the Associated Press:

"I beg to inform you for circulation that I have established wireless telegraph communication between Cape Breton, Canada, and Cornwall, England, with complete success.

"Inaugurator messages, including one from the Governor-General of Canada to King Edward VII. have been transmitted and forwarded to the King of England and also to the King of Italy.

"A message to The London Times has also been transmitted in the presence of its special correspondent, Dr. Parkin.

"(Signed.) G. Marconi."

Ottawa, Dec. 22.—The following message was received yesterday afternoon for the Governor-General from Marconi. Glace Bay, N. S., Dec. 21.—"His Excellency the Governor-General: Have honor to inform Your Excellency that your message to His Majesty has now been transmitted by me from Cape Breton to Cornwall by wireless telegraphy and has been forwarded to destination (Signed.) Marconi."

The Governor-General's reply to Signor Marconi said:—"Delighted at you message, just received. Warmest congratulations on your splendid success. (Signed) Minto."

Message to Mr. Fielding.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, who had made an engagement to meet Signor Marconi at the station at Table Head, Glace Bay, received from the inventor yesterday a message reading as follows:—"Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, Ottawa.: Regret you were unable to visit station here. Governor-General sent me a message for His Majesty, which I have already been able to transmit to England by wireless telegraphy with complete success. Should be glad to send short message from Canadian Government if desired. I leave here very shortly for my Cape Cod station. (Signed) G. Marconi."

Mr. Fielding answered Signor Marconi in the following terms:—"Message from Government has already been sent. Accept my warmest congratulations on the success of your great work. I rejoice that Canada has been able to co-operate with you in such a splendid achievement. (Signed.) W. S. Fielding."

The message from the Government, to which Mr. Fielding refers, was signed by Sir Richard Cartwright, acting Premier. It congratulated the British people upon the new method of communication between the two countries, and referred to successful transatlantic transmission by wireless telegraphy as one of the greatest achievements of the age.

The Times' Confirmation.

London, Dec. 22.—The Times confirms the receipts of a message by wireless telegraphy from Marconi at Cape Breton, N.S.

A UNION PROPOSED.

Premier Parent Suggests One Between Trans-Canada and Canadian Northern.

Quebec, Dec. 22.—Two railway magnates, Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann, proprietors of the Canadian Northern, were in the city Saturday with the object of placing a proposition before the members of the Inter-Provincial Convention, which was held in this city. It is the hope of the proprietors of the Canadian Northern to make this line a transcontinental one, and they were here to urge the advisability of the scheme with the gentlemen in conference. The Prime Minister of Quebec, Hon. S. N. Parent, has advised them to come to an understaning with the provisional directors of the Trans-Canada Railway Company, so that both companies and enterprises could be united and made one by mutual concessions, because they had common interests, and that then the country would enjoy quicker the great benefit of a new transcontinental railway.

LINER'S CYLINDER BURST.

Deutschland Badly Damaged and a Panic Followed.

Plymouth, England, Dec. 22.—The Hamburg-American Line steamer Deutschland arrived here at a quarter past two yesterday afternoon. When she was nearing the Sicily Islands a cylinder burst, and the starboard engine was badly damaged. It will require four months to effect repairs. One engineer was rather badly scalded. The steamer left here at 3 o'clock for Cherbourg and Hamburg. A panic ensued, but was stilled.

Reserve Force

When a great general goes into battle he holds back part of his army for reserve to use in case of need at any point where the fighting line weakens and the enemy threatens to break through.

In the same way a thoroughly healthy human body always has a certain amount of reserve strength at command in case of emergency.

What Scott's Emulsion does is to build up reserve strength and vital force which the body can use to repair or defend any weak part in the entire system.

Everybody who needs good red blood, physical vigor, high spirits and plenty of reserve force should take Scott's Emulsion. It is not a mere stimulant, extract or so-called wine of cod-liver oil, but is rich in actual nourishment for the blood, the tissues and the nerve cells. Scott's Emulsion contains the whole oil perfectly emulsified and blended with hypophosphites of lime and soda in a combination which is a genuine and perfect food-medicine.

We will send a sample free to anyone on request.

CONCERT AT KEENE.

The Public School Term Closed Most Appropriately.

The annual concert in connection with the Keene Public School was held in the Town Hall of the village on Friday evening, and passed off most successfully. Indeed it was by far the greatest success in this regard that has ever been given by the Keene Public School.

The programme consisted of drills and marches, which were exceptionally well put on, whilst the Maypole dance was a very pretty feature of the evening's entertainment. The recitations by three little girs, Misses Jennie Weir, Katie Skinner and Irene McNeil, were highly appreciated, and the vocal solo by little five-year-old Joe McCarthy, entitled "Helo Central," produced great applause. The singing of the choruses was excellent and the solos were remarkably well rendered.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Wallace, the principal and Miss Campbell, his assistant, upon motion of Dr. Shaw, seconded by Mr. Andrew Shearer, for the very excellent night's entertainment. In moving the vote of thanks Dr. Shaw remarked it was one of the most enjoyable he had ever attended.

PRACTICAL GIFTS FOR BOYS.

At Gough Bros.

Boys are our weak spots.

Consequently the Boys' Department is our stronghold—we mean to get a strong hold on the boys. To do this we select their clothing with all the care that we put into the clothing of their fathers.

Just compare Gough Bros.' clothing with other kinds, and see where we get in our graft on the boys.

Everything in the wearing line that boys like for Christmas — Warm overcoats, reefers, stylish suits, stout overcoats, heavy sweaters for skating, tams, caps, hats, gloves, shirts, ties, stockings, suspenders, collars, cuffs, a complete boys' department.

No present is better for Christmas than one that is of some use.

Nothing is more useful than some garment or article of apparel.

Gough's furnishing department includes pretty much of everything that a man or boy wants.

THE LARGEST SIGN.

New York People Have Been Astonished of Late.

New Yorkers who are used to big things, have been astonished during the past week by a painted sign at the corner of Broadway and Spring street, covering the north side of two eleven-story buildings. This sign covers 15,416 square feet of space and is by far the largest advertising sign ever painted. The picture is the well-known figure of "Sunny Jim," who for so many months has testified to the goodness of "Force," not only over the entire United States, but in the United Kingdom, as well.

In this picture, "Sunny Jim" is 112 feet 6 inches in height. His hat is 17 feet 6 inches tall and 15 feet broad. His nose is 10 feet long. His ear is 3 feet 9 inches high. His arm is 17 feet long; his legs 60 feet long. His thumb extends over a space of 5 feet. The height of his collar is 12 feet 6 inches, and his tie is 7 feet 6 inches in height. His cuffs are 6 feet 3 inches wide. The buttons on the coat are 3 feet 9 inches in diameter, and his cuff buttons are 3 feet 6 inches in length. "Sunny Jim's" feet are 20 feet long, and the cane which he carries is 50 feet in length. His dog, which sports along by his side, is 42 feet 6 inches in height.

With this enormous sign, the reading matter is very brief and fills but a small part of the space. It is as follows:

"Vigor, Vim, Perfect Trim,
'Force' made him 'Sunny Jim'."

AN INTERESTING NUMBER

Is the St. Margaret's Ladies' College Chronicle.

Among the various exchanges which come to this office is the St. Margaret's Chronicle, from St. Margaret's Ladies' College, Toronto. The last number is the Christmas edition, bright and prettily illustrated by numerous photogravures. The articles are evidently written by the girl students, and there is a girlish simplicity and straightforwardness about them that is truly refreshing. Such editions are in a way a criterion of the work done, and gives a man something tangible by which to judge the lives which his girl friends and relatives are living.

TEACHER REMEMBERED.

Mr. John Rossel was Presented With an Address by His Pupils.

Mr. John Rossel, son of Peterborough's Chief, who has been for some time past teaching at Cold Springs, was on Friday night presented with an address and a handsome writing desk. The presentation which took place during the course of a concert held there, was made by Miss Hilda Shaugnessy, while the address, which was as follows, was read by Mr. A. Holden:

Dear Teacher, — We, the pupils of this school, under your charge, and faithful tuition, for the past year, were hoping that the kind and amiable relations existing between us, would not have been interrupted so soon; it was therefore with deep regret that we heard of your intentions to leave us. But we cannot allow you to go without saying that we are sorry, very sorry, to part with a teacher who has been so genial in his intercourse with us, so gentle to our faults, so considerate of our dispositions and thoughtless actions, many times, no doubt, trying enough to your patience.

Yet you were at all times unremitting in the earnest performance of the many duties that fell to the lot of the conscientious teacher. We know you will be glad to hear that we know that we are better boys and girls because of your example when among us, and the pains you have at all times taken to advance our interests.

We are too young to think much about the future, but we hear of the ups and downs of life, and think they are such that we may not all meet again.

We ask you therefore to accept of this writing desk. We do not expect that you will attach any importance to its intrinsic value, but we want you to accept it as a small memento of our kind regards for our future welfare and the place that you hold in our affections.

Hoping that we may always have reason to cherish kindly feelings and pleasant memories of each other, we wish you a merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Signed on behalf of the School,
Minnie Lynch, Sidney Reid, Elsie Frost, Wilbert Brown, Gladys Woolley, Arthur Holden, Ruth Waldie, Norman Welch, Addie Dickson, Ernest Kitney, Essie Deyell, Ernest Peters, Hilda Shaughnessy.

ENNISMORE WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Ada E. McAuliffe and Mr. Jas. Guiry, of Emily.

At 9.30 o'clock, on Wednesday, Nov. 26th, Mr. Jas. Guiry, only son of Mr. David Guiry, was united in marriage to Miss Ada E. McAuliffe, the third daughter of Mr. P. McAuliffe, Emily.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Fitzgerald, in the presence of only the immediate friends of the contracting parties.

The bride looked charming in a dress of steel colour broadcloth, with a white silk waist and velvet hat to match. She was attended by her sister, Miss Maud McAuliffe, who wore a green suit, with cream silk waist, and a black velvet hat. The groom was supported by Mr. Tim Crough.

After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the residence of the bride's parents, where the usual congratulations and good wishes for their future happiness were extended to the young couple.

The presents were both numerous and costly. The groom's gifts to the bride and bridesmaid were gold bracelets.

The young couple left on the 11.10 train for a honeymoon trip to Ottawa and other eastern points. The bride's going away suit was navy cosmel's hair cloth, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Guiry will reside in Ennismore.

YOUNG'S POINT.

An Accident to Mrs. Jake Reid—Personal Mention.

The many friends of Mrs. Jake Reid are sorry to learn that she is dangerously ill. Her illness was due to an accident. She drove down on Friday morning to the village to do so shopping, and on her way home her horse became frightened and ran away throwing her out. Mr. B. Freeburn and Mr. W. Davis arrived on the scene a few minutes after the accident occurred, and found Mrs. Reid very badly bruised and unconscious. They took her to her home and immediately summoned medical aid. Dr. J. R. Fraser and Dr. D. Fraser, of Lakefield, are attending the patient.

Rev. Father Phelan is on his usual trip this week back to Chandos to visit his parishioners.

TOOK THEM ALL IN.

The Humberts, Principals in the $12,000,000 Safe Frauds in Paris Arrested in Madrid.

Madrid, Dec. 22—Mme. Therese Humbert, her husband, her daughter Eva, her brother, Romain d'Aurignac, and her sister, Marie d'Aurignac, the notorious swindlers for whom the French police have been looking all over the world, have been arrested here. The French Ambassador to Spain has been informed that the prisoners are at his disposal. The Humberts and d'Aurignacs declared they were the victims of a most infamous proceeding. They uttered threats against certain French personages.

Sensation in Paris.

Paris, Dec. 22.—The announcement of the arrest of the Humberts and d'Aurignacs in Madrid caused a great sensation in the Palace of Justice. The judges suspended the sitting for the purpose of verifying the report. The justices, lawyers and litigants lost all interest in their own particular affairs while discussing an event which was, apparently, due solely to the work of the Spanish police. It will probably be two weeks before the extradition formalities can be carried out and the swindlers brought to Paris for trial.

The Humbert swindle involved nearly $12,000,000. The basis for the swindle was a will left by an imaginary American millionaire, "Robert Henry Crawford." His wealth was said to amount to 100,000,000 francs. This vast sum was supposed to be held in trust by Mme. Therese Humbert, who, under the first will shown, was named his sole legatee.

A safe in Mme. Humbert's house was supposed to contain 100,000,000 francs, and on the strength of this the woman and her husband and relatives succeeded in borrowing 60,000,000 francs from bankers, money lenders and others in France and Belgium. When the safe was opened not a penny was found. The Humberts had fled.

Handed Out $48,000.

Madrid, Dec. 22.—When Mme. Humbert and others of the Humbert family, were arrested here Saturday one of the family handed a package containing $48,000 to some people who lived in the same house with them. This package has been sent to the French consulate.

According to published interviews, Frederic Humbert declares that their relations will rival the Panama scandals and show that they were the victims of robbers, who exploited them. He says that all classes in Paris from ministers down will be involved. Mme. Humbert claims to have in Paris documents which compromise prominent personages.

AFFECTS 150,000 MEN.

Increased Wages Asked by Railway Men West of Chicago.

ANSWER RETURNABLE BY JAN 5.

Although No Strike Is Threatened Situation Is Considered Critical — Men Say Trains Are Heavier and the Work More Onerous Than in Former Years—The Demand Made Saturday.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—Demands for a 20 per cent. increase in the wages of passenger and freight conductors and brakemen were presented Saturday to the officials of forty railroads running west from Chicago. The proposed increase affects 150,000 employes who are members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors. Accompanying the demands, notice was served that an answer must be returned by Jan. 5. Although no strike is threatened, the situation is regarded generally by railroad men as critical. The trainmen give as their reason for asking for an increase in wages the fact that trains are much heavier now than in former years, and that more hours are required to run a given number of miles. It is asserted that the work of conductors and brak men has been almost doubled.

ELI HYMAN BURIED.

No Further Authentic Information About the Extent of His Estate.

Toronto, Dec. 22.—Eli Hyman, the Hebrew who lived in abject misery while he was the possessor of an immense fortune, was buried on Sunday in the little Jewish cemetery on Pape avenue. The interment was witnessed by about a dozen persons, who were relatives, or people otherwise interested in the disposal of the estate. The funeral was very simple, but a large number of curious persons viewed the remains.

There is no further information as to the extent of old Hyman's estate. A bond for ten thousand dollars has been supplied to cover the succession duties on the big fortune left by the miserly beggar. Five per cent. must be paid to the Province. This will probably amount to $5,000. Half of the estate will be inherited by Mrs. Sophia Hyman, the wife, and the balance will go to the children. They are said to be in California. There are two girls and a son, the issue of the first marriage. This marriage has not been established, however, and the children will be forced to make the necessary showing. There is no record of such marriage, but many Jews in the city are sure the old degenerate had a family before he married Miss Hamilton, the wife known here. This promises to develop a lawsuit, especially if a prior marriage is established and the present Mrs. Hyman cannot show a divorce.

SLIPPERY STREETS.

Result in the Death of Edward Drover and Injuries to Many.

Toronto, Dec. 22.—Edward Drover, a hotel porter, employed at the Holly House, Queen and Peter streets, was killed and a score of persons were injured on Saturday by falling on the icy sidewalks. The city streets were converted into a mass of ice by the downfall of rain, which commenced between 6 and 7 o'clock, and walking was almost an impossibility. Motormen had an anxious time of it avoiding collisions. Two accidents are attributed to the slippery condition of the rails. The ambulances were kept on the move answering the calls, and in some instances the patrol wagons had to be brought into service. Drover made a number of calls about 9 'clock, and while passing the corner of Spadina and Grange avenues slipped and fell. His head struck the pavement, and he was rendered unconscious. Drover never rallied. He was 34 years of age and unmarried.

Montreal, Dec. 22.—The resolutions will be published in a few days, but further I cannot say, was the reply given yesterday by the Hon. George H. Murray, speaking of the Quebec conference. He said that the conference would no doubt be productive of good, and added that the question of federal representation of the lower provinces had not been taken up by the conference.

Brampton, Dec. 22.—The Liberals of Peel met in convention here Saturday. There was a large delegation from all parts of the county. The nomination of W. E. Milner for the House of Commons, which had been agreed upon at a recent meeting of the executive committee, was ratified, Mr. Milner accepting the nomination. A public meeting was addressed by the Postmaster-General. Mr. Milner is a native of Brampton.

Broke Neck in Falling Down Stairs.

St. Thomas, Dec. Dec. 22.—A man named Michael Rourke, about 70 years old, was found dead at the foot of the cellar stairs in the boarding-house of Mrs. Mapson yesterday morning, with his neck broken. It is supposed he had fallen down the stairs Saturday evening. He was at one time a well-to-do farmer in Yarmouth. He leaves a wife, three daughters and three sons.

Anti-Gambling Act.

Brussels, Dec. 22.—King Leopold has finally signed the famous anti-gambling bill, which is aimed at the gaming establishments at Ostend and the Spa. The bill will regulate the gambling at these places, and will ruin the resorts.

Health and Hope.

"He who has health has hope; and he who has hope has everything." But hope flees at the approach of kidney disease with the dreadful pains which accompany it. With the flesh gradually failing, the back aching, and the despair which often comes to victims of this ailment, only the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will restore hope, confidence and health. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—It is understood that the bye-elections to fill the seats recently vacated by the courts, for North Perth, North Norfolk and North Grey, will be held on Wednesday, January 7th. The nominations will take place on December 31st. Two of these seats, North Perth and North Norfolk, were carried in the general election on May 29 by the Conservative candidates, Mr. J. C. Monteith having a majority of two in North Perth and Dr. E. P. Snider a majority of 23 in North Norfolk. In the previous Legislature both these seats were held by supporters of the Government. NOBODY IS EXEMPT.

A New Preparation Which Everyone Will Need Sooner or Later.

Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more or less, and the commonest thing that they can do for it, is to take some one of the many so called purifiers, which ,in many cases, are merely strong cathartics. Such things are not needed. If the organs are in a clogged condition, they need only a little help, and they will right themselves. Cathartics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels, and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one or two Tablets—give them needed help, and you will have no trouble.

It's a common sense medicine and a common sense treatment and it will cure every time; not only cure the disease but cure the cause. Goes about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific way.

We have testimonials enough to fill a book, but we don't publish many of them. However, Mrs. E. M. Faith, of Byrd's Creek, Wis., says: "I have taken all the Tablets I got of you and they have done their work well in my case, for I feel altogether like a different person. I do not doubt if I had not got them I should have been at rest by this time."

H. E. Willard, Onslow, Ia., says:—"Mr. White of Canton, was telling me of your Dyspepsia Tablets curing him of Dyspepsia from which he suffered for eight years. As I am a sufferer myself I wish you to send me a package by return mail."

Phil Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your Dyspepsia Cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from Dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured, and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

It will cost fifty cents to find out just how much Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will help you. Try them—that's the best way to decide."

Glasgow, Dec. 22.—Mr. R. Farquharson, M.P. for Aberdeenshire, promised Saturday at Aberdeen to introduce a bill for the removal of the restrictions on the importation of Canadian cattle. The measure, he said, would be strongly backed.

Dreamed of His Rescue.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 22.—The Allan Line steamer Peruvian has arrived from Liverpool after a most tempestuous voyage and having lost two propeller blades, as previously reported from St. John's, N. F. She rescued Capt. Curtis and crew of the British schooner Nokomis, adrift on the coast of Newfoundland for nine days. The schooner's crew had no water during that time and had nothing to eat but rice boiled in salt water. Capt. Curtis twice dreamed of his rescue.

The Socialist Leagues throughout Ontario are circulating petitions to the House of Commons against any subsidy to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and to the Legislature of Ontario against any arrangement setting apart a large tract of new Ontario land to be colonized under direction of an American syndicate, the ground taken being that the Government should undertake the work directly.

The Age of Brain Work.

"In these days, half our diseases come from the neglect of the body in the overwork of the brain. In this railway age the wear and tear of labour and intellect go on without pause or self pity. We live longer than our forefathers but we suffer more. They fatigued only the muscles, we exhaust the finer strength of the nerves." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest medicine of this age because it is best suited to the needs of the present day. It restores and revitalises wasted nerve cells and makes the pale, weak and exhausted strong and healthy and vigourous.

The King of Ranges—"Buck's Happy Thought"

Buying a Range

There are three essential things to consider when buying a Range,—Quality, Consumption of Fuel, and the Price. The price is the least important. A good Range will last many years, and when it saves in fuel it pays for its self, while a cheap Range is constantly adding to its price in extra consumption of fuel. The is the lightest fuel consumer in the world, and the most perfect Range constructed. It is a perfect cooking apparatus.

"Happy Thought" Range

Instructive and Interesting Work of the N.C.O's Class on Saturday Afternoon.

Anyone travelling on the Douro road on Saturday afternoon last could easily have imagined that the country was in a state of active warfare. Uniformed soldiers could be seen moving here and there while from the fields came the report of rifles and little puffs of smoke showed the hiding places of the men. But, fortunately, the warfare was of a bloodless character, as it was the class of instruction of the 57 th Regiment out drilling skirmish work in attack and defence. Sergeant-Major Brittain is doing everything to make this year's class one of the best and this means that he gives a great deal of his time and energy to the work.

About a score were in attendance Saturday and a force under Sergeant Best was sent to attack Peterborough from the north-east. These came in contact with the repelling force at Nicholls Oval with the result that the attacking party was forced to retire to the bridge to to make a last stand there. While retiring they were subjected to a heavy fire from a flanking party which had been sent out under Corporal Craig. This force had secured unseen, a splendid position and the invading party were compelled to fall back across the bridge to Curtis' brick yard. Here a last stand was made, but finally they were surrounded and captured. In making his decision the Sergeant-Major stated that Sergeant Best had handled his men splendidly and would have carried off the honours of the day had it not been for the manner in which they permitted the flanking party to out manouvre them. Sergeant-Major Brittain deserves much credit for the pains he took for the class, but there are surely some who repay his kindness and thoughtfulness by taking little or no interest in their work.

HOME FROM EDMONTON.

Mr. James Kenealey Arrives in Town After an Absence of Ten Years.

Mr. James Kenealey, who left Peterborough about ten years ago arrived in town a few days ago from Edmonton, N.W.T., after having travelled a distance of 2,500 miles to be present at the ordination of his nephew, Rev. Father Crowley. "Jim" was warmly welcomed by his many friends, and he has glowing tales to tell of his expenience in the northwest. He is evidently impressed with the country in that portion of Canada and bespeaks for it a promising future. There is plenty of employment, and good wages are paid in all departments. Bricklayers, he states, receive $6.00 a day, and there are plenty of building operations going on.

A GOOD RECORD.

A Business Office is a Source of Theological Supply.

The office of the Canadian General Electric Company does not pose as a theological seminary, yet from its staff of employees it has supplied an English Church clergyman, Rev. Mr. Archibald, a Roman Catholic priest, Rev. Father Crowley, ordained yesterday, and two officials of the Young Men's Christian Association. There does not seem to be any ostensible affinity between religion and electricity, except that each have hidden forces which humanity cannot understand, and that both in their manifestations are elements in the moral and material benefits respectively of the human family. Electricity is a potent and irresistible agent operating in the material world, and religion is a potent and irresistible agent operating in the spiritual world.

SUNDAY'S FIRE.

The Brigade had a Short run Yesterday.

The Fire brigade had a short run yesterday afternoon, to the corner of Queen and Simcoe streets. A burning chimney broke into the house but the fire was extinguished without the aid of the brigade, still for some time it looked dangerous, and the firemen remained there until all danger was over.

ORDINATION OF REV. T. B. CROWLEY

His Consecration to Priesthood at St. Peter's.

BISHOP O'CONNOR OFFICIATES

Rev. Dr. O'Brien Preaches the Sermon—A Very Large Congregation Witnesses the Solemn and Impressive Ceremony—Short Sketch of new Priest's Life.

A ceremony of the most impressive and solemn significance, was celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral, on Sunday morning — a day to be "marked with a white stone," in the life of Rev. Thomas J. Crowley, who was on this occasion consecrated to the eternal priesthood, by the Bishop of the Diocese, His Lordship Right Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D. D.

The solemnity of the ceremony, its importance, the fact of the priest to be consecrated having been a resident of the parish all his life, and well known to all, served to fill the spacious church edifice in every part. A significant feature of the attendance was the presence of a large delegation of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society, who occupied special seats in the aisle, in front of the sanctuary, while another delegation performed the duties of ushers.

A large number of the relatives of the postulant for ordination were present from all parts, especially his native township, Otonabee, including an old lady of Keene, 95 years of age, and an old gentleman, Mr. Bernard Kennealey, also of Keene, who is over 80 years of age.

THE CEREMONY.

The ceremony of ordination was an incident of the Pontifical High Mass, which was celebrated by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, consecrating prelate, assisted by Rev. Father McColl, rector, archdeacon; Rev. Dr. O'Brien, as master of ceremonies, and assistant to the postulant; Rev. Father John O'Brien, deacon; and Rev. Father Nayl, as sub-deacon.

As mentioned His Lordship celebrated the mass clad in full pontificals amice, alb, cincture cross, tunic, dalmatic, maniple, and stole, emblematic of the sacred power he confers upon the supplicant for ordination, who having previously submitted satisfactorily to the prescribed examination, appeared in the vestments of a deacon.

The pontificating prelate proceeded with the mass as far as the tract, the ordination ceremony began by the Archdeacon formally summoning the suppliant, who responded as his name was read by the notary, "I am am present," and he came forward, holding on his left arm a folded chasuble, and carrying in his right hand a lighted candle. After inquiring as to his worthiness for the office, the Bishop delivered a solemn charge as to the responsibilities, etc., of the priesthood, followed by a most impressive address to the postulant, at the conclusion of which the candidate prostrated himself in front of the high altar. On the singing of the litany of the saints, the Bishop blessed the prostrate candidate thrice. At the conclusion of the litany, the Bishop and attendant clergy performed the ceremony of the imposition of hands. After the recitation of certain prescribed prayers the Bishop, seated, removed the stole from the candidate's left shoulder, and crossing it over the breast, said:

"Receive thou the yoke of the Lord, for His yoke is easy and His burden light."

The Bishop then invested him with the chasuble, folded on the shoulders, with the words:

"Receive the sacerdotal vestment, by which charity is understood, for God is powerful to increase in thee charity and every perfect work."

After the Bishop had intoned the "Veni Creator," he annointed the hands of the candidate with holy oil, making the sign of the cross, and praying:

"That whatsoever these hands bless, shall be blessed, and whatsoever they consecrate shall be consecrated and sanctified, in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Amen."

The hands of the candidate were then bound, and he was presented with a chalice containing wine and water, and patena with host, both of which were touched, as the Bishop said:

"Receive the power to offer sacrifice to God, to celebrate mass, as well for the living as for the dead, in the name of the Lord."

While the mass was proceeding to the offertory the candidate retir- his hands, and returning to the middle of the altar, making the usual offering. Mass then continued, the Bishop pronouncing the words after the Bishop. After he had received the Holy Communion, he made profession of faith by reciting the creed, and kneeling before the Bishop, the latter placed both hands on his head and said:

"Receive the Holy Ghost. Whose sins you shall forgive they are forgiven them, and whose sins you shall retain they are retained."

Then the Bishop unfolded the chaulle and clothed the candidate entirely with it, and said.

"With the stole of innocence may the Lord clothe thee."

After the candidate had promised obedience to the Bishop and his successor, the Bishop gavc him the kiss of peace, and admonished him in the prescribed form, and after standing and blessing him, the newly ordained priest, kneeling, received a concluding injunction.

THE SERMON.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien then delivered an eloquent sermon from the text, Psalms lxiv, verce 5.—"Blessed is he whom Thou has chosen, etc." The speaker emphasised the awful significance of the ceremony they had just assisted at. The calling and ordination of a young man to the priesthood—the everlasting priesthood—was one of the most solemn things conceivable, and it was no wonder that it excited so much interest and called forth so much prayer. The ceremony was divine in its inception, accompaniments and power. It was a wonderful thing to see a young man whom they all knew and met in familiar intercourse day after day consecrated to Christ, and we congratulated him with all our hearts. His mother and family enjoyed in this solemn ceremony the reward of all their prayer and a recompense for all their sacrifices, for the family was blessed from whose doors came a priest of God. The preacher congratulated St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society from which has come a priest, who took, and still takes, such a deep interest in the Society. The congregation had reason to thank God that He had chosen another priest from the parish, for the priesthood was the highest honour a man could receive. Notwithstanding that the priest represented Christ, and as St. Bernard said,—was "another Christ," yet he was only different from the people by the grace of God. A man was called to the priesthood by the will of God, and it behooved him to consider well the verity of his calling. Reference was made to the diligent preparation which must be made. After years of hard work he comes forth to do the work of Christ and has to submit to no fewer than seven ordinations before he is fully equipped for his divine work, which Christ ordained the priesthood to carry on. He sent forth His Apostles with divine power and this divine power is continued in the priesthood of His church the successors of the apostles. He gave His priesthood power over His own body, as well as over the mystical body of the church; as at the last supper He changed bread and wine into His own body, so He gave His apostles and their successors the same power. Christ gave His apostles and their successors in the priesthood, power to forgive sins. He gave His priesthood power to bind and loose, and an official mandate to teach and preach, so that whatever a priest decreed or taught in a matter of faith or morals was ratified in Heaven. The preacher made reference to the heroic deeds of martyrdom and sacrifices which inspired by this power had been performed by the priesthood of the church, but though the priests of this day were not called to suffer martyrdom their life was one of continual self sacrifice — he was working not for his family or friends, or himself, but for the salvation of souls. He was ready for every call, day or night, and his flock, knowing how entirely their priest was devoted to their services, and the Divine powers he possessed by virtue of his ordination, and remembering how he would, if necessary, lay down his life for the salvation of his flock, held him in the highest reverence.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien concluded a most eloquent sermon by informing his congregation that Rev. Father Crowley would celebrate his first mass on Monday.

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS.

His Lordship then briefly addressed the congregation, and said that they had great reason to thank God that He had called one of them to the priesthood. They should be thankful that God had had designs on him from his childhood, that He might have another representative, who would offer mass, and in the name of Christ, forgive their sins. was a reason for praising God that in the past thirteen years he had chosen twelve from the diocese to be ordained for the priesthood, and ten for work for the church elsewhere. He enjoined his flock to pray God would select their sons and daughters to devote themselves to the work of the church. The women had been more favoured, for in the past thirteen years sixty or seventy Sisters had been called to consecrate their lives to the work of the Church. The Bishop concluded by announcing that the newly-ordained priest would give his blessing individually to those present, and the whole vast congregation passed before the priest, who thus performed the first function of his great office.

REV. THOS. CROWLEY.

He pursued his studies in the public school of his native township, and at the Murray street Separate School, and at the school of the late Mr. F. J. Lynch, Rubidge street, Peterborough. OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. Wm. Eyres, of 168 Antrim Street, Town.

General sorrow was felt in town on Saturday evening when the news of the unexpected death of Mrs. Wm. Eyres was learned. It was not generally known that Mrs. Eyres was indisposed, she having been ill for only a few days. She attended church last Sunday and a little over a week ago was in attendance at the funeral service of her mother, the late Mrs. Letitia Blackstock Meharry. The immediate cause of Mrs. Eyres' death was paralysis.

The deceased's maiden name was Mary Jane Meharry, being a daughter of the late Mr. Meharry, one of the township of Cavan's most widely respected residents. She was 69 years of age and 49 years ago she married her bereaved husband, Mr. Wm. Eyres. The deceased lady was a lifelong member of the Methodist church, having joined that body some 52 years ago. She was ever after a faithful worker in the cause of Christ, and by her death the George street Methodist church with which she has been connected since moving to Peterborough, 11 years ago, loses a most valued member.

Besides her husband Mrs. Eyres leaves the following family:

F. S. Eyres, at home; Florence E., wife of S. H. Might, Calgary; Mary L., Calgary; Jenny W., at home; W. T. P. Eyres, of Calgary, and H. C. of Calgary. And seven sisters.

The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, from the family residence, No. 168 Antrim street, and proceed to Gardner's Cemetery, Millbrook, for interment.

HOW HE INTENDS TO VOTE.

"Ratepayer" Discusses the Merits of Bylaws.

Against "Permanent Improvements"—The Matter of the Municipal Fuel Yard.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

Mr. Editor,—I intend to vote against the bylaws now before the people, and I give my reasons:—

The Turner Bylaw.

1. Because Mr. Turner, having done well here should pay his taxes like a man and thus support the town that has stood well by him.

2. Because he shows no good reason why the men in this town, many of whom have not done so well as he, should pay his taxes. Every dollar he escapes is put upon shoulders of other men.

3. Because if Mr. Turner gets exemption, a large number of establishments who employ more hands than he does, will ask for exemption.

4. Because he took advantage of his position in the council to force on the ratepayers a bylaw which the council should never have passed, and the submission of which is a waste of money.

5. Other reasons not necessary to mention, but which every ratepayer will think of.

$20,000 Bylaw for "Permanent Improvements."

I will vote against this bylaw:—

1. Because the specimens of permanent improvements we have had of late years do not inspire confidence that we will get the worth of our money.

2. The town "permanently improved" Brock and Murray streets, at an expense of thousands of dollars, and what is the result. Every property owner was injured. The grade was lowered—the drainage flows over the sidewalks and leaves them like skating rinks in the winter and in no respect was the grade improved.

3. The granolithic walks, in spite of the protest of common sense people, were put too low in many places and people in sloppy weather have to walk in the streets to keep dry.

4. Because a little work well done each year will teach economy and will give good results without heaping up our debt.

5. Because it is not clearly stated where the permanent improvements are to be. Large parts of this town have streets like cow pastures and it is likely the $20,000 will be spent unfairly in parts of the town which have had more than their fair share of expenditure.

6. Because so little and such bad use is made of the expensive road-making machinery, owned by the town, and which it was promised would do wonders.

7. Because, as far as possible, we should live within our income, and not with every little work plunge into debt, thus increasing the mortgage on the town, which is growing fast enough.

As to New Sewers

To carry off the surplus water from the streets, there is no sufficient plan or estimate of cost, and the people do not know what they are voting on—nor how much more money will be wanted—and they fear some conceited alderman will be playing engineer with the plans, as was done with the general sewerage system, to the great loss of the town and injury to the system.

The Fuel Yard Bylaw.

1. I will vote against this, as I like to be in the company of level headed people.

2. Because we have now a wood and fuel yard under the disposition of the town, in the interests of the poor.

3. Because anything beyond this would mean competition with wood and coal merchants, who have heretofore done their business with the public on the square, and who, in the present emergency, have done as well as the coal merchants in other places.

4. Because the town should not become a common trader.

5. It would lead to abuses and extravagance; the decent people would suffer and the imposters would gain at their expense.

6. It is not the business of the councillors to become hucksters of wood and coal, and if we hired men and teams to conduct the business, would it be conducted as well as the private merchants now conduct it?

For all these reasons I shall vote against all the bylaws, and I hope all citizens will do the same.

RATEPAYER.

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

General Meeting of Peterborough Hockey Club Called.

Trent Valley League Progressing—Annual Meeting of the C.R.U. on Saturday.

The indications are that the present season will be a record breaker in the history of the Trent Valley hockey Hockey League. The feature of the season, so far, is the entry of so many new clubs, all of which are known to be strong aggregations. Stirling, which applied for admission at the last meeting, is an enthusiastic hockey village. Lindsay, which has forwarded its application for admission to the Trent Valley, is one of the oldest hockey towns in Canada. Last year they were the only team to defeat the Peterborough seven, which afterwards carried off the Intermediate championship, but this year the Scugog men will try for Trent Valley championship honours.

* * * *

It pleased everybody indeed, when the T.A.S. wheeled into line, and entered the Trent Valley League. It is known that the T.A.S. men have some clever players, and no organization is more enthusiastic in the support of its athletes than Total Abstinence Society of Peterborough. When they enter the race for championship honours they do so with a determination to win, and they never let up when there is a possible chance of their winning out.

* * * *

The greatest surprise of the season, and a surprise that must be most agreeable to the management of the Trent Valley League, is the semi-official application of the Peterborough Club for the admission of a team in the Trent Valley series. President Kenner has called a meeting of the Peterborough club for this evening, when the matter will be fully discussed, and the Examiner, while not pretending to speak in the least authoritative in the matter, is of the opinion that the Peterborough club will consider the matter in its most favourable light. To those who have given the matter more than a passing thought, it is evident that if Peterborough intends to make the most of her opportunities and keep her place year after year amongst the foremost hockey towns in Canada; she must develop her payers by using every possible honest and legitimate means. The Trent Valley League offers an excellent opportunity. The existence of the League need not here be justified, as it is conceded that its aim is to promote good clean sport, having as its ideal the excellent management of the O.H.A.

It is on friendly terms with the O.H.A., and as far as we know, with the Peterborough Hockey Club, and there is no apparent reason why it should not have some slight recognition at least from Peterborough's senior athletic body, without in anyway jeopardizing the interests of the Peterborough Club in the Ontario Hockey Association.

* * * *

The proposition the Peterborough Club will have to consider is practically this: They have a team in the intermediate and a team in the junior O.H.A. series, which, practically speaking, will require only 14 men. There should be in a flourishing club like the Peterborough's at least 30 players. Amongst the 16, we will say for the sake of argument, who are not on either of the O.H.A. teams, there is plenty of good material. There may be players who are barely fast enough to catch the intermediate team and a shade too old to catch the Colts. What encouragement is there for such players to turn out to practice night after night, unless they are in a championship series of some kind? The Peterborough seniors will require their company at practice, but the "Culls" will not continue to practice long unless they have some definite object in view. It has been found that the best way to keep up enthusiasm in a club is to encourage rivalry. Let the Peterborough club this evening look upon the matter in a broad light and not from a selfish point of view. It is apparent to all that Norwood, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay and T.A.S., and the other clubs in the Trent Valley can give a second team of the Peterborough club a pretty good argument. Why not the Peterborough Club make the most of its opportunities?

CURLING.

A meeting of the curlers of the Town of Peterborough is called for this evening at 8 o'clock in the parlours of the Charlotte street rink. The meeting is called for the purpose of choosing rinks for the coming season and every curler in town is asked to be present if at all possible.

LAKEFIELD'S CLUB.

On Wednesday evening last, a meeting of the members of the Lakefield Curling Club was held for the purpose of electing officers for the coming season. The following officers were elected:

Hon.-President—G. B. Hilliard.
President—F. A. Amys.
Vice-President—A. Northey.
Sec.-Treas.—J. W. Ridpath.
Official Referee—J. Dinwoodie.
Managing Committee—J. C. Grylls, W. V. Reynolds, L. Payne, G. A. Baptie and F. X. Fortier. The Club will have a good membership this season, and the prospects are very bright for a successful season.

HOCKEY.

ALL SAINT'S ORGANIZE.

The Boys' Brigade of All Saints have organized their hockey club for the coming season. The following officers were elected:

Manager—E. Poole.
Secretary-Treasurer—S. Plummer.
Team committee — Rev. W. L. Armitage, E. Poole, R. Craig, E. Dormer and W. Thornton.

The choice of a captain has not yet been made, but the team is open for games any time after Xmas.

PORT HOPE'S "GYM."

The Ontario Hockey Club have opened up a splendid gymnasium in the upstair rooms just north of Dr. Dickinson's hardware store. It is a large room well suited for the purpose, and is fitted out with everything in the gymnasium line. Those not wishing to take part in the athletic arts can find various other amusements. The membership tickets are only one dollar and we are pleased to note are selling very rapidly. Secure one and you will not regret it. —The Guide.

BASKETBALL.

The lovers of the greatest of indoor games—basketball—will have an opportunity of seeing one of the best games ever witnessed in Peterborough. The committee is bringing the Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. team to play the first team of the local Y.M.C.A. next Saturday night. There being considerable expense the admission fee will be 25 cents. Besides the "big match," there will be tumbling by the Junior Intermediates, and a preliminary basketball match. Remember the tickets will be on sale this evening at the Y.M.C.A., and only 200 will be sold, in order that those who attend may be comfortably seated.

MAYORALTY FOR 1903.

Card to the Electors of Peterborough.

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In response to the numerous representations which have been made to me upon the subject—personally, by requisition, and through the press—I place my services at the disposal of the public as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the approaching municipal elections.

My association with the important municipal advances, which the Town has been making during recent years, will enable me to give continuity to the aggressive forward policy which the Council has sought to pursue, and to bring experience and information gained therein to bear upon the work and problems which still more immediately confront us.

While I cannot lay claim to all the qualifications which have been flatteringly ascribed to me, such capacity for the office as I do possess is cheerfully placed at your service, and I ask your sympathy and support in the effort to maintain the position and standing, and advance the welfare, of our already prosperous and progressive Town.

Respectfully yours,

G. M. ROGER

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? A TROPICAL CHRISTMAS

How the Day of Days Is Celebrated in Jamaica

CHRISTMAS with the mercury at 95 degrees in the shade and soaring away out of sight when exposed in the open! The burning, almost boiling, rays of the sun beat vertically down from a deep blue dome of sky that is unflecked by a single film of cloud, and reflect back with added intensity of suffering heat from the parched, baked and cracked earth and from the surface of a sea that shimmers like molten lead. Christmas in a land of perpetual summer, and a hot wave at that, where a linen suit feels like a buffalo robe and the mere thought of a blazing Yule log almost induces an attack of fever! The calendar may insist that it is the 25th of December, but to a stranger from the north, says a newspaper correspondent from Kingston, Jamaica, to whom the word "Christmas" has a jingle of sleighbells and the sharp, keen ring of skate blades on the ice, there is no real Christmas in the strange countries of the tropics.

In Kingston, the capital of Jamaica, the preparations for Christmas begin several weeks before the event. The shopkeepers lay in extra supplies and provide special attractions, pretty much after the manner of the New York stores. Among other things they import large quantities of sweetmeats and candies from London, New York and Paris, including chocolate creams and other confectionery which New Yorkers are accustomed to getting "fresh every hour." In Jamaica you are reasonably sure of getting these delicacies fresh every Christmas. Chocolate grows in great abundance all over the island, but it must go to London or Paris or New York to be manufactured into candy, or even into the preparations for breakfast beverages. That is one of the expensive peculiarities of the country. The Christmas market is the great feature of the day, and almost the principal event of the year in a certain sense. Everybody goes to market on Christmas day, and between the hours of 6 and 9 in the morning all the fashion and beauty of the island's capital are on dress parade through Victoria market.

The stalls in the market are gayly decorated with flags, bunting, palm branches, colored paper, tinsel and an abundance of flowers. A brass band occupies a prominent position in the market building and discourses music of great volume and variety and more or less melody. After the crowds fairly take possession of the market the performance of the band appears to be mostly pantomimic, for nothing made by the hand of man can for a moment compete in noise producing capacity with the average Jamaican negro.

The West Indian negro's great weakness is a love of gay apparel, next is a predilection for ceremoniousness, and the most prominent affliction is garrulity. In the crowd that surges past one through the market and the surrounding streets may be seen every variety of apparel known to civilized and uncivilized man. The country people wear little or nothing, the coolies as little as nothing, but the town negro wears everything he or she can put on, without any regard whatever to the climatic conditions. They take their notions from the English fashion papers, and heavy woolen clothing is all the style. The writer has even seen sealskins worn in Kingston on a day when the thermometer registered 90 degrees in the shade. Here is a stylish saddle colored gentleman wearing loud check trousers, patent leather shoes, a striped flannel shirt of three colors, a crimson and black sash around his waist, a blue English cricketing cap on his head. In his hand he carries an immense cane, while screwed into his left eye is a circular piece of perfectly plain glass, through which he glares stonily on the throng. Not long ago the single eyeglass became very popular among Kingston society darkies, but they could not get along with the glasses that magnified, so some enterprising merchant imported a lot of circular pieces of plain window glass, and all the dudes wore them, happily and idiotically.

His Wonderful Dream.

"Say," said the newspaper man thoughtfully, "I had a great dream last night. Thought I was making a mint of money."

"How?" asked his friend.

"Why, I dreamed I was a space rate reporter on a Russian paper."

"I can't see how there was so much money in that."

"But that isn't all of it. I dreamed that I was assigned to get the names at a court ball."

"Tough job!"

"Of course it was a tough job, but just think of the money. Why, every name was a yard long and had a string of titles to it besides. Oh, I was just coining money when I woke up."

A MOTHER OF COURAGE.

The Old Lady's First Football Game and Her Boy.

She sat in the grand stand waiting for her first football game to begin. Her boy had played it ever since she could remember, and now he had made his varsity team, which was her varsity, too—her Cornell.

Two of his fraternity "brothers" sat on either side as a bodyguard to her gray hairs and as a bureau of information. They were happier than they would have been with the prettiest girl they knew.

She smiled with motherly pride when she picked him out of the squad of red sweatered "huskies" which at length trotted out on the field. She wiped away a tear when a Columbia man fell across the line for a touchdown.

Then she surprised her bodyguard by muttering under her breath: "Hold 'em hard, fellows!" "Twist their necks!" "Push! Push!"

She explained her knowledge of these strenuous technical details by saying that her boy cried out like that when playing dream games in his sleep.

She did not faint when he tackled too hard and failed to rise, although his white face, with a streak of red blood across the forehead, was staring up at her.

"You can't hurt my boy," she said, with confidence. "He's just doing that to get wind." So it proved.

He was up and at it harder than ever within the time limit. The Ithacans gained five through tackle and lost as many more yards trying to round the end. Then something happened.

A sturdy youngster shot out of the tangled elevens and dashed down the field toward the goal of the blue and white. He crossed line after line of whitewash and finally was over the last one, the whole pack at his heels.

"Touchdown! Touchdown!" cried the crowd.

"My boy did it," said the mother, and then she cried.

Started Right In.

"My dear," said the caller, with a winning smile, to the little girl who occupied the study while her father, the eminent literary man, was at his dinner, "I suppose you assist your papa by entertaining the bores?"

"Yes, sir," replied the little girl gravely. "Please be seated."

No Fears For the Boy.

Teacher—Your son, sir, has a very high temper. I am sorry to say.

Father—I am glad to hear it, sir. If you will grind him into shape, I'll teach him to keep his high temper for high purposes.

A STORY WITH A SEQUEL.

Mrs. Barnett's Sufferings Happily Ended by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

That was Four Years ago and now she is able to say, "The Cure was Permanent."

Plattsville, Ont, Dec. 22.—(Special)—"The cure was permanent." In this one short sentence Mrs. J. Barnett of this place gives the sequel to a long tale of suffering and misery. It is about four years since Mrs. Barnett gave to the public the story of her sufferings and their happy ending. In view of the sequel given above it is well worth repeating:

"I had been ailing for years," said Mrs. Barnett. "My symptoms were Nervousness, Rheumatism in the left arm, pains in the small of the back, up the spinal column and back of the head, through the eyes, left side of the body and occasionally the right side. I grew weak, for I had no appetite and I could not sleep. I was a physical wreck.

"I was treated by the doctors, but their medicines afforded me no relief. Then I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before I had finished one box there was an improvement in my condition. My appetite returned, the pain was lessened, and I was able to sleep. I took twelve boxes and was completely cured. I ascribe my recovery to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Kansan—Oh, that'll be all right. My wife has prepared a good old fashioned mince pie, and I can guarantee the flavor.

Don't think of yourself at all, if you can help it, just now, but study your family and friends from their point of view and then plan your Christmas treat accordingly. A little thing that one wants is worth a dozen that we do not wish for.

"Yes; she helped trim the chancel Christmas eve, and while she was laboriously tacking up 'Good Will to Men' Miss Lily White got the minister to propose. Roseleaf thought it was too underhand a performance, and so she's left the church."

Perception of Fact.

"What is the way to success?" we ask the great men. They cannot tell us. They know what upheld them in every emergency, but they cannot define it. It was the sense of proportion. It measured, plumbed every circumstance and gauged every condition. It weighed relative values, material and human. It knew character when it found it and sifted the wheat from the chaff. It recognized opportunity, and it likewise made the most of it.

A Gift of the Gods.

A great singer is a gift of the gods, and should belong by divine right to all the people. Whenever a Santley, a Patti, a Jenny Lind, a Campanini, an Edouard de Reszke, or a Nilsson is born the government should claim him or her for the nation, to sing for everybody as an enlightening, uplifting, soul inspiring influence. Libraries may help a few bookworms from time to time. A great singer would help millions of depressed souls during a lifetime.

No Frills For Him.

"What is your husband's alma mater?" asked Mrs. Oldcastle.

"Oh," her hostess replied, "Josiah ain't got any. He always signs his initials just plain, old fashioned, without any puttin' on."—Chicago Record-Herald.

After the Discount.

"If you please, suh," said the Georgia darky, "how much for a marriage license an a divorce dockiment?"

"A marriage license and divorce document?"

"Yes, suh. I been studyin' 'bout gittin' married, an I 'lowed dat ef I got de two tergether dey'd come cheaper!"

ON CHRISTMAS GIVING.

The Problem of Choosing Suitable Presents at Yuletide.

For melancholy proof of man's genuine incapacity we have but to turn to the belated creatures who at Christmas time write daily to the newspapers for advice. Like Emerson, they feel that a present is "due" to somebody, and, like Emerson, they are "puzzled what to give."

There is something really pathetic in a letter from a "class of boys" who want to be told what they shall give their teacher. He is thirty years old, they say, and a "remarkable mathematician." Perhaps some shadowy desire to make the punishment fit the crime prompts this last bit of information. But it is matched by schoolgirls who write: "What is a nice present for a teacher? She is a foreigner and teaches a foreign language. She is very dark and has a somewhat impatient disposition." "The Heir of Redclyffe" would seem an excellent present for this person, if only she were able to read it. But the editor is perhaps unaware of the improving character of Miss Yonge's stories. He has nothing more appropriate to suggest than a gold pen or a piece of statuary, neither of which is warranted a cure for impatience.

A married woman complains mournfully that she has to give a present to an old gentleman of eighty-two "who has everything he wants." It never occurs to her for a moment to spare him the added possession of a something he doesn't want. The utmost length her ingenuity can go is to write to a newspaper for advice. Another woman feels moved to send "some useful trifle" to a missionary, and a young man, who signs himself Jasper, has a painful emergency to face. "I know two sisters who are nearly of an age," he writes. "I wish to give them both Christmas presents. Ought I to send the same thing to each? Their tastes, I believe, are different. I know one of the young ladies much better than her sister."—Agnes Repplier in Lippincott's.

Dying by Slow Degrees.

Although not always aware of it yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Catarrhozone is the only remedy that will immediately prevent the spread of this awful disease. Every breath from the inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration, and relieves the pain across the eyes. Catarrhozone erradicates every vestige of catarrh from the system, and is highly recommended also for Bronchitis, Asthma, Deafness and Lung Trouble. Price, $1; trial size, 25c.; all druggists. "Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I hope you will promise me never to gamble."

"What is your idea of gambling?"

"Betting your money and losing it," was the prompt reply.

Worry Over Little Things.

Feelings of Languor and Despondency the First Symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion—Reconstruct the Wasted Nerve Tissues by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When you become restless and peevish, worry over little things, and are afflicted with dyspepsia, which cannot be attributed to error in diet, you may be sure that the trouble arises from nervous disorders.

Other symptoms are sleeplessness, headache, low spirits, and a tendency to put off the duties of the day. Life seems to lose its brightness, and things go wrong. When in such a condition you will find yourself very susceptible to change of air. When the atmosphere is fresh and clear you have plenty of vitality, but with heavy weather you drag yourself about feeling more dead than alive.

The first necessity is rest from work and worry, and as much fresh air as possible. Then the system must be built up and the wasted nerve force restored by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

So much mystery and uncertainty has formerly surrounded diseases of the nerves that people often make the dreadful mistake of neglecting them. They feel weak, miserable, and nervous, but try to console themselves that it will wear away. Not so. Nervous diseases do not get well of themselves, but gradually weaken the system until there is nothing left to build on.

Mrs. S. Derocher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and sleeplessness and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the Ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food may not cure you in a week or even a month, but it is bound to benefit you, and will naturally and certainly restore vigour to body and nerves. There is no treatment so thorough and effective in curing nervous disorders and none which has been so generously endorsed by physicians and laymen alike. The secret of its remarkable power lies in the fact that it is a food for the nerves, and acts in accordance with nature's laws. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

A CHRISTMAS CRIME

A Yuletide Tale of Two Towns

RIDGEWOOD had a thief! When I, Detective Martinet of the metropolitan secret service, was called out there, I found the town in a state of excitement over the robberies. The principal ones had taken place in the mansion of Colonel Payne, the richest man in Ridgewood.

There had been four burglaries at the Payne mansion. The first night silver was taken—small pieces consisting of spoons, forks, after dinner coffees and knives.

The second night a small rocking chair disappeared and several velvet covered footstools and nice little articles of bric-a-brac designed for Christmas gifts. The third night all the children's Christmas toys that had been carefully stored away in a Santa Claus cupboard by Colonel Payne and his wife, ready for Christmas eve, disappeared, and the fourth night the cellar was pillaged of its wine and fruits.

"Looks as if it was somebody inside the house," said the colonel after we had been over the ground pretty well.

"Not exactly," said I, "or why would they take a rocking chair?"

The party that accompanied me through the house consisted of the

"I NEVER SAW ANYTHING SO LOVELY."

colonel and his wife, the oldest daughter, a girl of fifteen, and the colonel's private secretary, William Winter.

"This is the window they got in at the first night," said Winter, pointing to a bay window on the ground floor leading out of the dining room. "And this is the one they got in at the other nights," pointing to another big window that was in the staircase hall alongside the front door.

"Why didn't they always enter at the same window?" I asked carelessly.

"That's what bothers me," said Winter, "but you can go see for yourself that they didn't," pointing to trampled places under both of the windows.

"You see it was this way," said the colonel. "We were greatly alarmed the first night when the silver was taken, and we set a watch over the things. From that night to the present this house has been steadily guarded from the inside every night, from dark until daylight. And yet we have had three robberies during that time. It is the strangest thing I ever saw, and I'd give $500 to catch the burglars."

"Are they operating anywhere else in Ridgewood?"

"Yes," said Winter promptly, "they tried to steal some things out of the church last night, and a week ago they broke into the office of the gas company."

"Are you familiar there?" I asked.

"Yes," said Winter.

"One thing more, colonel, before I go," I said. "Will you tell me the name of the person who was on guard in your house the last three nights?"

"I was the person," said Winter.

"All right, colonel," I said. "I am going back to the city today to stay about a week, but I will be back Christmas eve, and then I will look up your thief for you. And, by the way, you might get ready for your Christmas tree, for I expect to give you all your things back in time for your Christmas celebration."

The colonel looked skeptical and Winter shook his head sadly.

"Don't you think you had better stay here if you are going to look for him?" asked the colonel.

"No," I said. "It isn't necessary. Good day, you can look for me Christmas eve."

I said goodby, but I didn't leave Ridgewood after all. I only went away far enough to hide myself in a certain little hotel in the little town, and there I waited and watched—did as slick detective work as I ever did in my life, even in a big city on the biggest robbery I ever had.

Christmas eve found me, not in the colonel's home, but out in the cold, frosty air, looking into the window of a little cottage. The cottage was the end one in a row of wooden houses, each with a grass plot around it. It belonged to William Winter, private secretary to Colonel Payne; and in the cottage lived Winter and his wife and Winter's wife's mother; also six little Winters varying in age all the way from four to twelve years.

"I never saw anything so lovely in all my life, papa," the oldest Winter girl was saying as I pressed my nose against the glass and peered in through the narrow strip between the window sash and the casement.

There inside of the room stood a little Christmas tree upon a big box, and upon the tree and all around the foot of it stood dozens of beautiful Christmas gifts. Such a Christmas tree you never saw! There were little things in silver—spoons, forks, after dinner coffees and knives, and there was a rocking chair, also several little footstools and little articles of bric-a-brac, all newly covered with cheap chints. And there were toys. Oh, so many toys! And upon the table at the side of the tree stood the best of wines and Christmas fruits.

"How sweet of you, Will!" Winter's pretty wife said as she threw her arms around his neck and kissed him. "How did you ever guess that I wanted all those silver things for the table?"

"And did any one ever see such a son-in-law?" cried the old lady as her eyes fell upon the table with the wine and fruits.

"I have got the goodest papa in the world," yelled the six year old, while the others chimed in "Yeth" as they made a dive for the toys.

"I could sit in this rocking chair for a week," murmured Winter's wife, rocking herself back and forth with her feet on the gayly covered footstool, "if it wasn't that I felt as if I wanted to get up and kiss you again," she said to Winter for the twentieth time as she looked around.

"Now go to bed, all of you," cried Winter, "and something extra for the one who starts first. Don't let me hear a word from you again until tomorrow morning at breakfast, and then we'll have Christmas all day."

He hustled them out of the room, and when I tapped on the door there was no one left downstairs to open it but he.

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" I asked, stepping into the room and pointing to all the Christmas things.

"I don't know," said he, dropping down by the table and hiding his face in his hands. "I don't know, I am sure. It will kill her if you tell her."

"What made you take them?" I asked.

"Because he's got so much he doesn't know what to do with it," said Winter. "So I took them all easy like and thought it would blow over in a few days. You see, we have so many babies in our family," he added, "that there wasn't much left this year for Christmas, and the children have been talking about it every day for the last three months. It broke my heart to think I'd have to disappoint them, so I did the best I could for them."

"You watched the house all night for the colonel, did you?"

"Yes, except for about an hour; long enough to slip over here with an armful."

"Well, what are you going to do about it?"

"God knows; I don't," he repeated. "It will kill her if you tell her."

"Do you want me to arrest you tonight, or will you wait until morning?"

"Christmas day!" he exclaimed, breaking down and beginning to cry like a baby. "I know I'm a wretch. Only kill me—do anything; but don't tell her."

It might have been that the spirit of Christmas was in the air. Perhaps the thought of those six little children and that sweet faced wife had a stronger influence than they should have had over a detective's heart. But I said to him, "Well, bundle up the things and come along with me, and we'll see what we can do about it."

We looked like two Santa Clauses ourselves as we slipped along the streets, choosing bylanes and cross paths to the Payne residence.

We got into the triangular lawn by a rear path and stole softly up to the house. There was the dining room brilliantly lighted and in the middle stood a tree all bare and waiting for gifts, just as I told the colonel to arrange it.

There was no one in the room, and after I had pried up the sash we stole in together. There was only just time to drop our packages on the floor at the foot of the tree and to rush away again before the colonel's daughter came in.

"Oh, papa," she cried, "here are some presents for us."

But I heard no more just then, for I was busy helping poor Winter get away. An hour later I rang the colonel's front door bell. He opened the door himself.

"Come right in," said he. "I guess you are a wizard tonight. Just after we got the Christmas tree set up and while we were upstairs getting our presents together to hang on the tree the thief came back and left the Christmas presents."

"Everything there?" I asked.

"Everything," said he, "down to the last teaspoon. We have counted them all. Poor fellow, he must have had a guilty conscience, and when it came Christmas eve he squared it with himself by sending back all he had stolen."

"Strange!" said I.

"Very strange," said the colonel. "I'd like, if I knew who the thief was, to send him something for a Christmas present, just as a reward for his conscience. As it is I ask you, detective, not to look him up. He has evidently turned over a new leaf this Christmas eve."

"Evidently," said I.

"Now, detective," said the colonel, "I am going to ask you to stay with us over Christmas and enjoy a nice holiday. And so that we can all have an extra fine day I am going to send one of the boys over to Winter's house tonight with these things so that he can have a merry Christmas as well as the rest of us."—Minneapolis Tribune.

HANDICAPPED.

The man who started to run a race in chains and fetters would be visibly handicapped. No one would expect him to succeed. The man who runs the race of life when his digestive and nutritive organs are diseased is equally handicapped. In the one case his strength is overweighted, in the other it is undermined. Success demands above all else a sound stomach.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When this is done food is perfectly digested and assimilated and the body receives strength in the only way in which strength can be given—by the nutrition derived from digested and assimilated food.

"The praise I would like to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James B. Ambrose, Esq., of 124½ Mifflin Street, Huntingdon, Pa. "I was taken with what our physicians here said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote to you and you sent me a question blank to fill out, and I did so, and you then advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped, being cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

Mr. J. G. Cluais, Barney's River, N.S., tells of what this wonderful remedy has done for him:—It is with gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of B.B.B. I was so badly troubled with indigestion that whatever I ate caused me so much torture that eating became a dread to me. I tried numerous physicians, but their medicines seemed to make me worse. I thought I would try B.B.B., so got a bottle, and after taking a few doses felt a lot better. By the time I had taken the last of two bottles I was as well as ever, and have had no return of the trouble since. I recommend your medicine to the highest degree. LONDON'S GREAT CLOCKS.

The Immensity of Big Ben and the Law Courts' Timepiece.

How many of those who look up at the figure of Nelson will believe that the statue of "our greatest sailor" is three times as tall as a living man? Nothing in the world is so deceptive as distance, as a run round London with a footrule would show. Nobody, so far as one knows, has ever yet been found to believe that Big Ben is over seven yards across the dial, that the hands are together twenty-five feet long, that the minute hand jumps seven inches every time it moves, that the five minute spaces measure nearly two yards and that each of the dials weighs four tons. You may spend a day staring hard at St. Paul's before you will believe that the ball over the dome will hold twelve men and that the cross above it is ten yards high. Ten yards above the dome and weighs a ton and a half. Yet a footrule and the dean's permission are all that you need to be convinced that these things are not what they seem.

Every one knows how impossible it is to fix the distance of a ship at sea or a fire on a dark night, when the contrast of the light with the surrounding darkness brings the vision near though the fire may be miles away. Who of all the thousands passing along the Strand today will believe that a party of workmen breakfasted in the law courts' clock before it was fixed in its place to tell London the wrong time?

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Status of the Country Publisher.

Here is a little old straight-from-the-shoulder talk about matters lying near to our heart. There seems to be a feeling among business men that a newspaper has no business to make money. Why not? It is the most exacting business in the world, the most trying in every way. It means long hours and the greatest care in its conduct. The newspaper has the entire public to deal with. It is criticised on all occasions. It has to deal with all the cranks in the community, and to do this successfully requires judgment and patience.

It has power, and that power, to the credit of journalism, is nearly always wielded for the public good. No question of vital concern to the home people fails to find a strong support from the home newspaper, and this, too, without remuneration. The publisher spends his money to further these projects, and the community never gives a thought to the matter of cost to him. It is not paid out of the public pocket. —Newspaperdom.

Mourners In Red.

There can be no doubt that in the dark and part of the middle ages red, and not black, was the favorite mourning color throughout Europe. Even down to the end of the fifteenth century the change from blood red to black was not complete, though black cloaks were worn over red clothing. In Abyssinia the mourning color is a reddish brown. In Turkey it is violet, a color closely allied to red. It is a curious fact that among the Maoris of New Zealand red is the hue of sorrow. In earlier times mourners daubed their bodies with red juices when they followed a chief to his grave, and even the resting places of the bodies were also colored red.

An Equal Safety.

An Irish clergyman during his first curacy found the ladies of the parish too helpful. He soon left the place. One day thereafter he met his successor.

"How are you getting on with the ladies?" asked the escaped curate.

"Oh, very well," was the answer. "There's safety in numbers."

"I found it in Exodus," was the quick reply.

Saved by Fireflies.

The gigantic tropical fireflies which swarm in the forests and canebrakes of most of the low lying West Indian islands once proved the salvation of the city of Santo Domingo. A body of buccaneers, headed by the notorious Thomas Cavendish, had laid all their plans for a descent upon the place, intending to massacre the inhabitants and carry away all the treasure they conveniently could, and had actually put off their boats for that purpose.

As they approached the land, however, rowing with muffled oars, they were greatly surprised to see an infinite number of moving lights in the woods which fringed the bayou up which they had to proceed, and, concluding that the Spaniards knew of their approach, they put about and regained their ship without attempting to land.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Dec. 22nd, 9.45 a.m.—We look for a generally better stock market this a.m., but whether improvement will amount to much will depend to a great extent on the character of the buying. The feeling in the street inclines to be bullish, and without side bidders to come, and pools inclined to be active, idea previls that large interests will encourage this sentiment. We do not expect anything like a run-away market, but believe that any of better class of stocks should be bought on soft spots.

Cotton.—Cables for futures opened quiet at 1-2 off to one up and at 12.30 was steady unchanged to two up. At 2.00 p.m. futures were 2 in advance. Our late advices state severe weather in Texas is the cause of the light movement in Cotton.

M. & M.

London, 2.00 p.m.—Americans firm, generally 1-4 to 1-2 above parity. Grain—wheat unchanged, corn 1-8 lower. At 1.30 p.m. wheat was 1-8 to 1-4c higher. Corn 1-8 lower.

FOUR MEN BURNED.

Workmen at Petrolea Seriously Hurt on Saturday Afternoon.

Petrolea, Dec. 22.—While treating a batch of benzine at the Canadian Oil Refining Company's plant Saturday, the liquid exploded and seriously burned four men—William Nichols, Edward Rawly, James Glass and John Reardon. They discovered a fire on the top of the building about 1.30 p.m. and went up, and when they opened the door the explosion occurred. All got down safely except Nichols, who slid down a hose line and fell, striking on a steam pipe, which broke under the contact, badly scalding him, as well as inflicting internal injuries. The fire was burned out by 6 o'clock the same evening, and the company will lose between $2,000 and $3,000.

THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

Special Christmas Music was Rendered.

Some Special Features at Murray Street Baptist Church—George Street Church Notes.

ST. PAUL'S.

At St. Paul's church yesterday morning, Rev. Dr. Torrance preached in the morning and Rev. J. A. Wilson in the evening. The anthem in the morning was "The Birthday of the King," in which Mr. Jas. Dawson took the solo. In the evening the choir sang, "Hark! What Means those Holy Voices?"

ALL SAINT'S CHURCH.

The feature of the music at All Saints yesterday was the duet which was rendered by Mrs. Granville and Mr. Legg, entitled, "Hope Beyond."

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

The music at the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday, was of an exceptionally fine character, and the selections rendered were in keeping with the season. The same music will be rendered next Sunday, only the morning music will be given in the evening, and vice versa.

Miss Stephens deserves great credit for the manner in which the different numbers were rendered, and the splendid choir work is to a large extent, due to her efforts. It might be added that one of the noticeable features of the singing was the clearness and strength of the altos.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

There was special Christmas music at both services yesterday. At the morning service the choir rendered the pretty carol, "Christmas Hymn." The anthem, "There were Shepherds," by Dudley Buck, Miss Florence Hall taking the solos. During the offertory Miss Hall rendered Adams' "The Anthem Celestial," in a most artistic manner, displaying rich quality of voice, and excellent enunciation. In the evening the service opened with the beautiful carol "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear." The anthem "Hark! Hark, My Soul" by Shelley, Mrs. Scott, Miss Stephens, Mr. J. Cunningham taking the solos most acceptably, Miss Hall taking the obligato throughout. During the offertory Mr. Jas. Browne sang the beautiful solo "The Two Cities," his voice being particularly sweet and rich and used in excellent style. The music at both services reflected great credit upon both choir and leader.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

The pastor occupied the pulpit at both services yesterday. The music was pleasingly rendered throughout.

The League will meet to-night at the usual hour. Mrs. Lewis will speak on "Our Need of Christ." All are welcome.

The members of the Y. M. Guild are requested to assemble at the church at 8.30 o'clock to-night to assist in the decorations to be made in the church.

Prayer meeting as usual on Wednesday evening. All are invited to attend.

Services will be held in the church on Thursday morning at eight o'clock. Mrs. Prust, formerly of Peterborough, will sing.

Next Sunday there will be Christmas music rendered.

Mail Was Recovered.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 22.—Capt. V. Fletcher, Postoffice Inspector, received a letter yesterday, dated Dec. 12, from Superintendent Pulham, in charge of the northern mail service, which states that the mail lost when Mail Carriers Abbie and McIntyre were lost through the ice on the Atlin trail has been recovered by those dragging for the bodies of the mail carriers, together with the sleighs, but the bodies have not yet been recovered.

Vessel Burned at Sea.

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 22.—A large vessel, completely enveloped in a cloud of smoke, was sighted about two miles off Eastern Point, shortly before dark last night. Some minutes after an explosion was heard, and flames were seen apparently bursting from the vessel. The fire burned with great fierceness for over an hour, and then suddenly subsided.

Danger Now Passed.

Washington, Dec. 22. — Secretary Wilson believes that the danger of the spread of the foot and mouth disease from New England to other States has passed. He says in a few weeks every animal affected or exposed to the disease will have been destroyed.

Reciprocity of Tariffs.

Washington, Dec. 22. — Senator Lodge Saturday introduced in the Senate a bill authorizing the President to remove the duty on coal coming into the United States from Canada whenever the duty on coal from the United States going into Canada shall be removed.

Toronto Man Kills Himself.

Buffalo, Dec. 22.—John Ward, a young man whose home is in Toronto, Ont., shot and killed himself early yesterday in a Swan street boarding house. He left a note saying he was tired of life.

Dr. Jamieson, M.P.P., Operated Upon.

Durham, Dec. 22.—Dr. Jamieson, M.P.P., was successfully operated on yesterday morning for appendicitis.

Material For a Whole Chapter.

"Have you—aw—ever thought what you would do," asked the literary foreigner as his cable train entered the tunnel, "if this structure should cave in when you were about half way through?"

"Often," replied the Chicago man. "I should demand the return of my nickel."

And the literary foreigner made a memorandum in his notebook. He had discovered another interesting peculiarity in Americans.

SOLD WIFE FOR A WATCH.

The Strange Action of a Percy Township Man.

The Woman is Arrested on a Charge of Bigamy—She Men Arrested.

Cobourg, Dec. 22.—George A. Reynolds of the township of Percy, sold his wife to his brother Walter for a gold watch, and the latter agreed to purchase the household effects belonging to George and assume the responsibilities of the head of the family. Walter and Mrs. George Reynolds were married in Norwood, and a few days later both were committed for trial by John Miller, J. P., the woman being charged with bigamy, and her brother-in-law husband with having incited her to commit the crime.

Walter Reynolds is about 20 years of age, and recently returned from Michigan, going to live with his brother. He fell in love with his sister-in-law, and as his brother didn't care, the attachment developed until a proposition of marriage was made. While George stayed at home with the two children, Walter and Mrs. Reynolds visited the clergyman. They now plead ignorance of the law.

CHRISTMAS IN SERVIA.

A Santa Claus Who Receives Presents Instead of Giving Them.

In Servia they keep Christmas eve in a somewhat peculiar way. The father of the family goes into the wood and cuts down a straight young oak, choosing the most perfect he can find. He brings it in, saying, "Good evening and a happy Christmas," to which those present say, "May God grant both to thee, and mayest thou have riches and honor!" Then they throw over him grains of corn. Presently the young tree is placed upon the coals, where it remains until Christmas morning, which they salute by repeated firings of a pistol.

The national dish in Servia is pork. The poorest family in Servia will pinch themselves all through the year so as to have money enough to buy a pig at Christmas. Skewered to a long piece of wood, the pig is turned over a blazing fire until cooked, the guests watching the process with increasing interest. After dinner stories are told and songs sung. Santa Claus, who, in the person of an honored guest, is present to receive instead of to give presents, departs, after the feast, decorated with a long ring of cakes around his neck and laden with such gifts as his friends can bestow.—Baltimore American.

THE SEWING MACHINE.

Unsuccessful Inventions That Preceded Howe's Patent In 1846.

The technical beginning of the sewing machine industry in this country was Sept. 10, 1846, when Elias Howe, Jr., obtained a patent for what grew into the first really practical sewing machine. Only three of the first Howe machines were made, however, and one of these was deposited in the patent office in Washington as a model. It was not until after 1850 that a factory for the making of sewing machines was built, so the enormous business of today has grown up in a short half century.

While Howe's invention marked the beginning of a successful industry, he was by no means the pioneer in efforts to substitute mechanical for hand sewing. As far back as 1770 Thomas Alsop patented in England a machine for embroidering. Another machine for embroidering in a loom was invented by John Duncan in 1804, and twenty-five years later another Englishman named Heilman patented still another embroidering machine.

The first recorded attempt at mechanical sewing was the invention of Thomas Saint, who took out a patent in England in 1790 for a machine which executed the old crochet stitch. It was not a success, but some of the features of the Saint machine appear in the perfected machine of today.

Barthelemy Thimonnier patented in France in 1830 the first sewing machine put to practical use. Eighty of his machines were in use for sewing army clothing in 1841, when a mob destroyed them because convinced they would drive seamstresses out of employment. Thimonnier built new and better machines, but all his work was again destroyed by angry artisans in 1848.

John J. Greenough took out the first patent for a sewing machine issued in the United States in 1842. It was intended to sew leather, but was of no practical use.

C. G. GEMMELL, Nos. 208-210 Charlotte St.

Walter Hunt of New York built a sewing machine in 1834, but failed to protect it by a patent. After Howe's machine appeared Hunt declared it embodied the ideas of his machine of 1834, but he was unable to establish his claim.

A small army of inventors appeared after Howe's patent had proved successful, and their genius was devoted to perfecting every part of the machine. How well they have succeeded is shown in the 8,500 patents for sewing machines and attachments issued by the United States since 1850 and in the fact that the American sewing machine leads all others in every country in the world.

The Happiest Ever—That's What We Want to Make This Coming Christmas.

THE GOLDEN LION—383 GEORGE STREET.

FOUND AFTER A SEARCH.

Leak in Water Works Main Found on Saturday Afternoon.

Last week for some two days the Water works department endeavoured to repair a leak in the pipe which was evidently in the vicinity of the Opera House. A small leak was located there and a new length of pipe inserted, but still the pipes leaked somewhere to such an extent that the hole was soon filled. Then began a troublesome search for the leak. Every connection was tested from the Opera House up George street until it was found just above Hunter street. The men in charge deserve much credit for the systematic way in which they carried out their arduous task.

CANADA'S GREAT TASK

Sir William Mulock Speaks of Our Work at Meaford.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL HONORED

Sir William Makes a Happy Address in Response to a Civic and a High School Students' Address—Says Our Mightiest Task Is the Transportation of Canada's Products to the Sea—Harbor Improvements.

Meaford, Dec. 23.—Sir William Mulock was last night honored by the citizens of Meaford, who felt that he has contributed in no small degree to the prosperity of their town. The harbor has been improved in the last few years, until it is prepared to handle business on a large scale, new factories have sprung up, and, as they admitted in a formal civic address last night, they attributed much of their progress to the persistent effort of Sir William on their behalf. The demonstration took the form of a civic dinner at the Paul House, the element of politics being entirely eliminated. The dining-room was crowded until neighbors could only operate their knives and forks by mutual concessions, but even then it was necessary to seat twenty of the guests in an adjoining room.

When Sir William arrived in the afternoon he was serenaded by the town band, and later visited the harbor and 750,000-bushel elevator, in company with the Mayor and other prominent citizens.

The chair at the banquet was occupied by Dr. J. D. Hamill, Mayor of Meaford.

Sir William Mulock's Reply.

Sir William Mulock, in response to two addresses, and in acknowledgment of the cordial honoring of the toast of his health, expressed very warmly his appreciation of the kind welcome he had received from the people of the town. Whenever he was asked to make recommendations involving expenditures of public money he endeavored to judge whether there were in the district men who would be likely to take advantage of any facilities that might be afforded them, men who would become captains of industry. When he visited Meaford three years ago he reported his opinion to his colleagues, and they had seen the results. The people of Meaford had proved already that they knew how to make good use of opportunities that the Government might place before them, and to that extent would establish a reputation which, he hoped, would not be without its advantage to them. He spoke of the magnificent new elevator, through which large quantities of grain had already passed, but that was nothing like the quantity that should come through Meaford with better harbor and elevator facilities. He asked what would be the output when 300,000,000 bushels of grain was produced in the west each year. Who could figure the amount of transportation and labor necessary in order to distribute that grain amongst the consuming classes of the world?

Canada's Mighty Task.

We had as a nation a mighty task before us. No other nation of 6,000,000 people had before them a more gigantic task. Canadians in the development of their vast Dominion had a magnificent opportunity to prove what was in them. Sir William expressed his pleasure at seeing the fine factories that have been established in Meaford, and he expressed his delight at the absence of any evidence of jealousy between the towns on the Georgian Bay of what might be done by the Government for one or the other. He anticipated a future for Meaford, and the various towns fronting on the Georgian Bay, of which we little dreamed to-day. Among the factors leading to the conclusion were the demand on the north shore, a demand which would benefit not only the towns themselves, but the surrounding country as well. After all, though the future of any town is depended upon its men, as it is said that "the Lord helped those who helped themselves," the Government also helped those who helped themselves, and they would not be warranted in expending money on public works of a commercial character unless convinced that such expenditures were going to be taken advantage of to the full by the people for whom these moneys were expended. Sir William enlarged upon Canada's commercial independence of any country in America, and upon the expansion of her foreign trade, making special reference to the Australian and South African steamship lines. Before concluding he intimated that he would recommend that the plans for the better protection of the harbor here, which have been prepared by the engineers, should be submitted to the practical men of Meaford.

NOMINAL ESTATE OF ELI HYMAN.

National Trust Company Granted Temporary Administration.

Toronto, Dec. 23.—The National Trust Company having filed a $10,000 bond with the Government, have obtained temporary administration for two months of the estate of the late Eli Hyman, the rich beggar who died last week in the General Hospital. The estate is put at the nominal figure of $15,219, consisting of securities for money, $219 cash. The company is empowered to make all inquiries and to take possession of all papers.

Among the documents filed with the application is a marriage certificate stating that Eli Hyman, aged 25, of the Township of Toronto, Peel County, native of Germany, was married to Sophia Hamilton, aged 35, of Monaghan County, Ireland, August 30, 1870, by Rev. Dr. John Jennings, Presbyterian minister. His parents were David and Sarah Hyman, and hers Alexander H. and Jane Brown.

ELEVEN SAILORS DIE.

Collision of Two Schooners Results in Wreck and Death—Survivors Almost Crazed by Their Sufferings.

Boston, Dec. 23.—Almost crazed from their sufferings, frost-bitten and helpless, ten men in a boat were picked up by the schooner Manhassett forty-five miles off Island Light. Then for the first time it was learned the schooners Frank A. Palmer and Louise B. Crary had been in collision and been sunk off Thatcher's Island Wednesday evening. The survivors of the tragedy were landed here yesterday.

Of the twenty-one men who made up the two crews, six were carried down when the two vessels sank, four died during a terrible three days' drift in Massachusetts Bay and another became insane and jumped overboard. With no food or water, their clothes frozen in solid masses and their boat being steadily driven before a bitter gale out into the Atlantic, it seems remarkable that so many managed to survive.

Rescued Seventeen Mariners.

New York, Dec. 23.—The steamer Napolitan Prince, which arrived yesterday from Naples and other Italian ports, brought 17 shipwrecked mariners from the Norwegian barque Bayard.

Lost at Sea.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Dec. 23.—The schooner R. A. Plummer, 24 days from Gray's Harbor, lumber laden, for South America, has just arrived in port. During a storm several of the men were washed overboard, and one, D. Baker, was drowned. The captain and three men are the only active members left on board.

RILEY BLOWN TO PIECES.

Looked For a Cable With Lighted Candle on Gasoline Barge.

Gloucester, Mass., Dec. 23.—The vessel on fire, which attracted attention off this port Sunday night was a Standard Oil barge. She was a derelict loaded with gasoline, and was being towed into this port by Captain Hamilton of the Gloucester fishing schooner Blanche. George Riley, one of the crew of the Blanche, went aboard the barge to look for a cable. He lighted a match to aid in his search. An explosion followed and Riley was blown to pieces.

Boy Killed at Port Colborne.

Port Colborne, Dec. 23.—Burt Parker, an English lad, 18, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon. Parker was driving a team when the whiffletree broke, striking him in the neck and breaking it.

A REGULAR BUSINESS.

Between Cornwall and Canada Talked of by Marconi.

TO HANDLE 1,000 WORDS AN HOUR

Text of Various Messages Sent by Wireless Telegraphy to Europe by Marconi—Replies by His Majesty King Edward, King Victor Emmanuel, etc—Wireless Wizard Thanks Canada Through Premier.

London, Dec. 23.—Representatives of the Marconi Company say they have been receiving transatlantic messages for a week. They add that the messages to King Edward and others came through without a hitch, and practically simultaneously. The instant the key was depressed in Nova Scotia the receiver at Poldhu, Cornwall, answered. It is calculated that the company will be able to handle 1,000 words an hour. So soon as it is able to get the postoffice authorities to connect Poldhu with the inland telegraph the company will commence regular commercial business between Cornwall and Nova Scotia.

The second section of The Times yesterday printed the text of a wireless Marconi message received from the Canadian Government as follows:

"Ottawa, Dec. 21. — The Government of Canada, through The Times, desires to congratulate the British people on the accomplishment by Marconi of the greatest feat modern science has yet achieved.

"(Signed) Cartwright,
"Acting Premier."

King Victor Hears.

Rome, Dec. 23.—King Victor Emmanuel yesterday morning received a wireless message from Marconi, forwarded from Cape Breton via Cornwall, and sent a congratulatory reply.

King to Minto.

Ottawa, Dec. 23. — The following message was received yesterday by Lord Minto from His Majesty King Edward, in reply to the message transmitted by wireless telegraphy Sunday:

"London, Dec. 22.—I am much interested by the wireless message which you have sent me, and am delighted at the success of Signor Marconi's great invention, which brings Great Britain and Canada into still closer connection.

(Signed.) Edward R."

Marconi to Laurier.

Signor Marconi sent the following message to Sir Wilfrid Laurier:

"Have honor to inform you that I have now established wireless telegraphy communication between Cape Breton station and Poldhu in Cornwall, England, and that I have already transmitted several messages to destinations in Europe, including one from the Governor-General to His Majesty. Permit me to congratulate you upon this success, and again to thank your Government for the cordiality of its encouragement and co-operation."

Saw Service in South Africa.

New York, Dec. 23.—On board the American Line steamer St. Louis, which arrived yesterday from Southampton and Cherbourg, was Henry McGee, who saw much service in the South African war, first in Lord Strathcona's contingent, and later in the South African colonial constabulary. He won the King's, Queen's and Colonial medals for gallantry.

Thoroughness.

Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, states that "Sunlight Soap has "a thorough cleansing power, without danger to the clothing or skin." Women who want washing done thoroughly cannot use better than Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar. Unlike common soaps, there is no damage to the clothing, and no danger to the skin; hence the saying: Sunlight Soap reduces expense. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. He should know. 218 desert of these dreary years. Gathering the people in a sheltered glen and with a rock ledge for an altar stone, the blue canopy of heaven for a roof, and the morning star for a sanctuary lamp, he says mass, while the windy gusts are sobbing "Miserere" of sorrow. Nor was the old world the only field of labour, but, from the Missouri plains down to the Southern Seas, from one side of America's undulating prairie land to the other, from the sultry clime of Mexico to the frozen hunting grounds of the red man, did this indefatigable army wend their way to teach Christ's gospel.

HONOURED ONE OF THEIR NUMBER.

Such, Rev. Father, is the community you have joined; such is the noble work to which your brother priests have consecrated their lives. Is it any wonder, then, that yesterday, morning, when His Lordship exhorted you "to let your doctrine be the spiritual medicine of the people of God, to let the odor of your life be the delight of the Church of God,"—is it any wonder that each and every one of your fellow members of St. Peter's T. A. S. raised his thoughts to the Divine Throne and pleaded the Omnipotent Master to give you strength and grace to do your appointed work as a true priest should. Is it any wonder that our pride and gratitude are beyond expression and that we feel how very inadequately our congratulations can convey to you the esteem and reverence we feel. Although neither language or any act on our part can make you understand our feelings, we are asking you to-night to accept a very humble gift as a slight souvenir of your ordination and as a very meagre mark of the great love and esteem we entertain for you.

Many of us can remember when, as a boy, you played our games, fought our boyish battles both on the playground and in the school-room, and joined heartily in all our pranks. But time and circumstances separated us and you retired to your college to spend years in study and meditation and to fit yourself for the high position you hold to-day. Vacation brought re-unions, and we always were pleased to welcome you as one of ourselves, and as one of the most exemplary members of our Society. You have always devoted your influence and enthusiasm to the grand cause of Temperance; you were first to join our ranks and set a righteous example to the rest of us; and we feel sure that, if His Lordship should see fit to send you to some distant mission to labour for the welfare of men's souls, the cause for which our Society is so arduously working will be one of the foremost doctrines you will advocate and staunchly uphold.

But if you were dear to us as a young student and a fellow member, you are still more so as a priest of God; for to the Catholic heart the priest stands almost before one's parents. The infant goes from its mother's first caress to receive at the priest's hand the baptismal waters, that make it God's child and an heir of heaven. He builds the beautiful churches that will be its spiritual home, and erects the school where it will learn something better and higher than the things of time and earth. The priest is the wise confidant in the time of sorrow, or temptation or sin; he blesses the marriage bond; he stands by the sick and dying; pestilence and danger and scandal cannot daunt him; he will bury the dead. He comes, young and strong and silent, into some neglected spot, and goes, day by day, and night by night, through the streets on his simple duty; and suddenly—men hardly know how—his great church arises, and his houses and school and convent adorn the place; and then, behold, he dies, and his work passes to another. The individual priest is gone, but he has done God's work, and the church's work. Immediately from that splendid phalaux, the Catholic priesthood, another steps into his vacant room, and the work goes onward—that Christ-like work of caring for the immense spiritual family given to those who voluntarily renounce family and name at the call of Christ.

This is the beautiful, self-sacrificing work which awaits you, and like Melchesedech of old,

In the glad morning light
That Christ spread o'er the earth, thou standest now,
But not as other men, for on thy brow
Stream brighter rays, and nobler powers are thine,
Thou hast been chosen by a King Divine,
To stand within His sight

Thou art one of a few;
The wheaten bread, the gold-encircled wine,
At thy command becomes thy Christ and mine.
Oh, pleader for thy people, may thy soul
Be pure forever! Through the years that roll
Mayest thou be true!

Signed on behalf of the Society,

JOHN O'BRIEN, President. FRED McGRATH, Secretary.

Rev. Father Crowley in rising to respond was greeted with loud applause. He assured his hearers that it was hard for him to find words to express his gratitude for the present given him and for the kind expressions contained in the address. On Sunday when he witnessed the delegation from the St. Peter's T.A.S. in front of the sanctuary rail, his heart swelled with pride, and that pride was intensified when he considered that he was a member of that grand organization when he was ordained to the sacred priesthood, and he would endeavour at all times to be a worthy member. The fame of St. Peter's T.A.S. he said had spread all over the continent and it was always a delight to him to tell his brother seminarians of the grand work it was doing. In making the presentation of the Persian lamb collar and gauntlets, the reverend gentleman said it seemed to him that they were simply putting into practice a principle of the society—they were providing him with the necessaries for keeping warm externally and not internally. He assured them he would have ample opportunity for using their handsome gift in this climate of ours, and when donning the furs, it would always remind him of the fact that he had a warm place in the hearts of the members of the T.A.S. He concluded by thanking all present for their kindness.

Rev. Father McColl was next called upon. He stated that he was beginning to think—in fact he was convinced, that the members of the T. A.S. were wise in their generation, for in the presentation just made they had applied the principles of their organization—furnished material to furnish warmth externally in opposition to the mistaken idea that intoxicating beverages were necessary in order to furnish warmth to the body. They had often heard these words uttered from the altar: "Beware the occasion," and the presentation was an illustration of the fact that they were determined to keep him warm. He congratulated the society on their kindness and forsight. Rev. Father Crowley was deserving of it. He was proud to call him a brother priest, and considered that he had a bright future before him. A priest makes a sacrifice from a worldly point of view. This life, he argued, is a supernatural one — above nature, and all things that nature craves for must be set aside. A priest's life must be modelled after the life of Christ, and he must go out into the world to do God's work, without fear or favour. The speaker closed by congratulating the young priest and the society.

Mr. J. H. Burnham was called upon for a few words, and he expressed his pleasure to be among them to do honour to a distinguished graduate of the T.A.S. in the person of Rev. Father Crowley. He next referred to Rev. Dr. O'Brien's great work in the cause of temperance, and referred to the T.A.S. as a monument of his efforts and energy. It was a matter of wonder to him to see the enthusiasm displayed by the male and female members of the society, and urged them to continue in the good work. Many, he said start in the race, but only those who possessed grit continued to the end.

Rev. Father John O'Brien assured those present that he was proud that he was a member of the T.A.S. He was proud that the newly ordained priest was a member of the same organization, and that he had been added to the ranks of the priesthood. He was also a little jealous; he was no longer the baby priest. (Laughter.) Father Crowley had taken the place of the baby priest. They all knew the jealousies of the average baby. He would not however allow jealousy to master him but would welcome Father Crowley with all his heart. He referred to the creditable record made by the newly ordained priest, and incidentally paid a tribute to the priesthood. All were delighted on Sunday, he continued, to see the young man raised to the dignity of a priest. He could testify to Father Crowley's good qualities, as he had known him from boyhood, and concluded by asking all to pray that God would bless him.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien was the last speaker, and he referred to the remark of Rev. Father Crowley that his heart beat with legitimate pride on Sunday as he looked upon a delegation from St. Peter's T.A.S. in the Cathedral. Dr. O'Brien assured him that the T.A.S. were genuinely proud of him, and were delighted at having the opportunity of doing him honour. St. Peter's T.A.S. enjoys the distinctive honour of having one of their members ordained a priest. The Society was proud of him. He was imbued with good sound temperance principles, and they would all expect to hear great things of him in the future. Rev. Dr. O'Brien next referred to Rev. Father Crowley's splendid record from his boyhood days. He had grown up with him, and the friendship they had for each other started in their school days, when the speaker and the newly ordained priest arrived late at school one winter's morning. The teacher in the exercise of his duty, proceeded to castigate Rev. Father Crowley, but the hand was stayed owing to the intervention of Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

The evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

SPECIAL NUMBERS.

THE FARMER'S ADVOCATE.

"The Farmers' Advocate and Home Magazine for Christmas, 1902," is more like an art magazine than a prosaic farm journal. In its everyday costume and contents, and make-up, in its direct practical, and pertinent monthly appeal to all the varied interests of the farm, the Advocate is, especially for the Canadian farmer, the best publication of its class on the continent. The special Christmas edition is a beauty. It consists of eighty pages of well-selected and varied matter, which, with its abundant illustrations, makes it at once a magazine of practical information and interest, as well as a triumph of the printer's and engraver's art. It contains altogether about 120 half tone illustrations, and is printed on fine heavy paper. Although a special edition of a farm journal, its literary and artistic merit compete dangerously with the special editions of professional literary and art publications. The Advocate is in its 36th year of publication, and every year it grows in beauty and vigour. It keeps pace with the marvellous progress of its constituency, or, rather, it leads the way, for it has done, and is doing, great things in aiding the farmer of this country in reaching and retaining the foremost position he holds in the world of agriculture, inclusive of its inseparable ally, the dairying industry. This beautiful special edition, as an announced Christmas present to subscribers, is plainly a work of superorogation — for every subscriber has received his money's worth to the full. Therefore, the special edition which is sent to every regular subscriber, is a valuable prize and should largely increase its circulation, for a copy, which is worth 50 cents, is given with every new subscription.

THE BRANTFORD EXPOSITOR.

This sterling daily journal celebrates—as it does everything—most creditably the 25th anniversary of the cityhood of Brantford by a splendid special edition of 24 pages, printed on fine paper and illustrated by a profussion of half-tone photogravures. It is divided into three parts; the first dealing with a compendious history of the city and a sketch of its civic officials and civic institutions, with pen pictures of the public men, its public buildings, its parks, schools, etc. The second and third parts deal with the commercial and industrial history of Brantford, with 204 pictures of the members of its living Board of Trade, sketches of its chief commercial houses and sketches and pictures of its numerous manufacturing establishments. The special edition of the Expositor is creditable, and highly creditable, to both the enterprising journal and to the enterprising city where it is published. The Examiner reciprocates the kindly greetings with which Brother Preston accompanies his beautiful special edition, an admirable reflex of the thrift and progress of the leading city among the minor cities of the Dominion.

SENSATION IN SAXONY.

Crown Princess Luise of Saxony Leaves Husband and Children—Known For Days—Rumored Domestic Discord.

Dresden, Saxony, Dec. 23. — The Crown Princess of Saxony fled from her home on the night of Dec. 11, according to The Dresdener Journal. She is said to have suddenly, in a state of intense mental excitement, deserted her family at Salzburg and to have gone abroad.

Saxon Court functions for the winter have been cancelled, including the New Year's reception.

The foregoing paragraph in today's official journal, which was inserted by order of the King and Crown Prince, has turned into truth, what, for several days past, has been regarded as an incredible tale. The Crown Princess, surrounded by her ladies in waiting and numerous attendants and servants of the royal household, has vanished so utterly that the police of every kingdom of Europe have for ten days been unable to trace her. The official announcement was made in order to obtain the aid of the general public in finding the Princess, and because the court fiction that she preferred to remain in retirement at Salzburg rather than to return to her husband and children at Dresden, cannot be maintained.

It is officially explained that the Princess' disappearance is due to mental derangement. There is little doubt, however, that it was caused by domestic discord growing out of her husband's relations with an actress of the Dresden court theatre. It is asserted here that the Princess frequently threatened flight on this account, and that she was incensed at her father, the Grand Duke of Tuscany, for counselling her to forgive her husband. She is said to be enciente.

It was rumored here last night that the Princess was accompanied by the French tutor of her children. Prince Friedrich August, Crown Prince of Saxony, was married Nov. 21, 1891, to Princess Luise of Tuscany. They have five children.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE?

United States President Roosevelt Sees Unpleasant Possibilities in His Accepting Position as Venezuelan Arbitrator.

Washington, Dec. 23.—President Roosevelt has not accepted the position of arbitrator of the Venezuelan controversy. In fact, when the official day closed, yesterday, he had not received, formally nor officially, a request from the European powers that he act as arbitrator of the dispute.

The President and Secretary Hay had a long conference yesterday after the former's return from his Virginia trip. They carefully went over the situation as it had developed since Saturday, but it is understood that nothing has arisen during the past forty-eight hours to warrant the President in changing his opinion as to the undesirability of his acceptance of the position of arbitrator. So far as can be learned, no specific reasons have been advanced by the European powers for objecting to a reference of the Venezuelan questions to the arbitration of The Hague Tribunal.

While it is recognized by the President's closest advisers and by the President himself that some unpleasant possibilities might attend his performance of the duties of arbitrator of the pending Venezuelan difficulty, his friends assert that he will shirk no responsibility that he may deem it his duty to undertake, but will accept if the powers should insist on it, though he is very reluctant to do so.

I Will Cure You of

Rheumatism

Else No Money Is Wanted.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer.

I am a specialist in Rheumatism and have treated more cases than any other physician, I think. For sixteen years I made 2,000 experiments with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching the world for something better. Nine years ago I found a costly chemical in Germany which, with my previous discoveries, gives me a certain cure.

I don't mean that it can turn bony joints into flesh again; but it can cure the disease at any stage, completely and forever. I have done it fully 100,000 times.

I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism, and I will mail you an order on your druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. Take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds the cost is only $5.50. If it fails I will pay the druggist myself—and your mere word shall decide it.

I mean that exactly. If you say the results are not what I claim, I don't expect a penny from you.

I have no samples. Any mere sample that can affect chronic Rheumamatism, must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the oldest cases that I ever met. And in all my experience—in all my 2,000 tests—I never found another remedy that would cure one chronic case in ten.

Write me, and I will send you the order. Try my remedy for a month, as it can't harm you anyway. If it fails, it is free.

Address, Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

Branch Bank Started.

Oakville, Dec. 23.—The Bank of Toronto opened a branch here yesterday morning in the office lately occupied by C. W. Anderson & Son, private bankers, with Fred H. Leach of St. Catharines, manager, W. McEachran of Toronto and Stanley P. Anderson of Oakville, assistants.

NOT DUE TO CLIMATE.

Catarrh is Found Everywhere.

Catarrh is at home anywhere and everywhere. While more common in cold, changeable climates, it is by no means confined to them, but is prevalent in every state and territory in the union.

The common definition of catarrh is a chronic cold in the head, which if long neglected often destroys the sense of smell and hearing; but there are many other forms of the disease, even more obstinate and dangerous.

Catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver are almost as common as nasal catarrh and generally more difficult to cure.

Catarrh is undoubtedly a blood disease and can only be successfully eradicated by an internal treatment. Sprays, washes and powders are useless as far as reaching the real seat of the disease is concerned.

Dr. McIverney advises catarrh sufferers to use a new preparation, sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because actual analysis has shown these tablets to contain certain anti-septic qualities of the highest value and being a ninternal remedy, pleasant to the taste, convenient and harmless, can be used as freely as required, as well for children as for adults.

An attorney and public speaker, who had been a catarrh sufferer for years, says:

"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all winter long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became affected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking.

"I tried troches and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two fifty cent boxes which I bought at my druggists, cleared my head and throat in fine shape and to guard against a return of my old trouble I keep a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward off any serious developments."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets deserves to head the list as a household remedy, to check and break up coughs and colds, because unlike many other catarrh andcough cures these tablets contain no opiate, cocaine or any injurious drug.

HOW A BVNK SMASHED

Manager Anderson Tells the Story of the Oakville Bank.

CONDUCT OF BANK OF HAMILTON

Mr. Anderson Says That Institution Did Not Squeeze Them—To Assist the Palmerston Bank of Anderson & Scott the Funds of the Oakville Business Were Drawn Upon—A Study in Finance.

Toronto, Dec. 23.—Yesterday afternoon Mr. C. Bert Anderson, of the private bank of Anderson & Son, Oakville, which recently closed its doors, was interviewed on the train from Palmerston, on his way to Oakville to meet the depositors of the broken bank.

"I have done my best," he said. "It could not be averted. All is lost; everything is gone.

"Here is where the money went," jerking his head toward Palmerston, the lights of which village still flickered in the distance. "I have known that our bank at Oakville was in desperate lines for some time, in fact nearly a year, but I had every confidence in our ability to weather the storm."

"First, I want to disabuse the public mind of the idea that the Bank of Hamilton squeezed us. This was not the case. We had owed them some $28,000 for about a year, and they became alarmed. They have ample security, however, in notes of the farmers around Oakville, which we assigned to them. This debt represents money the bank of Anderson & Son borrowed to pay the depositors of the bank of Anderson & Scott when it concluded to retire.

"That bank was the cause of the ruin of the Oakville institution. My father established it some 14 years ago. He put $25,000 cash into it. It was a disastrous experiment from the start. It lost money for us all the time, for some reason I cannot clearly understand. The first real bad venture came several years ago, when my father shipped large quantities of hay to England. He lost large sums on this undertaking. Then the investments turned out bad. Our securities from that source are worthless—mostly second real estate mortgages. One of the assets of the Oakville bank is $40,000 owed by the Palmerston Bank.

"It is absolutely false that I gambled on the market with bank funds. I was on the market some, but my operations never impaired to any extent the resources of the bank. The books will show the truth of this statement. I made money on the market and then lost it. That is the extent of the dealings I had. I owe it to myself, as well as the depositors, to make this phase of the statement emphatic.

"Things kept going from bad to worse, and about a month ago, when Andrews & Howarth failed, I realized that we were on the rocks. I did my best to save something. How well I succeeded you may judge when I tell you I have not five dollars between me and starvation. I should say that only about $8,000 was withdrawn from our bank as a result of the Andrews & Howarth failure. The depositors did stand by us nobly.

"I left Oakville hurriedly last Monday and went to Toronto to meet General Manager Turner of the Bank of Hamilton, to talk over the situation. Then I went to Palmerston, determined to try and have the City Council take over the electric light plant, which we built at a cost of $20,000. My exertions came to nothing. They would not take it even at $5,000. I had failed completely, and was then taken ill, and have since been confined to my bed. I am returning to Oakville in response to many telegrams of sympathy from the depositors.

"Now, as to the extent of the deposits—they have been much exaggerated. Saturday, a week ago, was the last time I looked at the books. The deposits did not exceed $113,-000 at that time. I recall distinctly that the figures were close around $100,000. It is unlikely that they were increased to any considerable extent during the next three days. The largest deposit was $10,000. We had something like 1,000 depositors, but the number would fluctuate considerably.

"Our securities do not consist of mortgages, but almost wholly of notes of the farmers around Oakville. These notes are good as gold. It is from this source that the securities to the Bank of Hamilton came. The books will show every transaction made with perfect regularity. All the securities not hypothecated will be found intact in the bank vaults, but what they will amount to I cannot say. Perhaps I have taken a more dreary view of the case than the facts warrant, but I want to give charges against the Palmerston bank the exact situation as I see it. The are a complete loss. This accounts for $40,000 of the deposits. The $28,000 in securities which the Bank of Hamilton has accounts for that amount of the deposits, since the money deposited was loaned on these notes. Thus $70,000 out of the $113,000 of deposits are wiped out. I am informed that there is to be another chartered bank started in Oakville at once.

"I will make a statement to the depositors to-morrow and then do the best we can. The assignee's report ought to be ready this week."

"As an evidence of the completeness of the wreck of the Palmerston institution a suit is now pending against Scott for office rent during the present year. Yet, Anderson & Son paid every dollar owed the depositors of the Palmerston bank, even though the cash for this purpose was withdrawn from the cash deposits of the Oakville bank. Thus the Palmerston people were paid in full at the expense of the Oakville depositors.

The Day of Miracles

Is past, but many who are cured of itching, bleeding or protruding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment look upon their recovery as next thing to miraculous. It is not uncommon for persons who have undergone painful, risky and expensive operations in vain to be finally cured by this wonderful ointment. It is the standard the world over and the only guaranteed cure for piles.

BRUNET STEPS DOWN AND OUT.

Member For St. James' Division, Montreal, Unseated—Ineligible For Seven Years—Judges' Scathing Language.

Montreal, Dec. 23.—Joseph Brunet, M.P. for St. James' division, has been unseated and disqualified as the result of the corruption unearthed before Sir Melbourne Tait and Justice Loranger.

The court said that the furnishing of $2,500 to Azarie Brault by the candidate for the expenses of the election, the use of a portion of that money for corrupt practices, involved the penalty of disqualification for a period of seven years, provided by the law, for those found guilty of election frauds.

"Defendant, in placing a large sum of money in Brault's hands, made him the medium through which he could illegally spend a large sum of money in promoting his election, and he thinks it sufficient to say that he gave this money to pay writers and other expenses of the committee. But he was guilty of an indictable offence in so doing, and since he has failed to show us, as he might have done, had he preserved the vouchers, how the money was used, he cannot complain, seeing the corruption that prevailed, if, the court presumes everything against him. I think the inference we should draw is that the money was paid to Brault with the intention that it should be used in the manner it was used, and that the defendant must stand responsible for the use Brault made of it. As has been said, wilful and intentional ignorance in the same as actual knowledge, as the money was used for corrupt practices, as, for instance, in the payment of personators, defendant must be held guilty of corrupt practices, and we consider it, therefore, our duty to annul the election and report accordingly."

The learned judge then added that: "Whoever closes his eyes not to see the evil committed in his name is as guilty as the one who does the deed," and he concluded that the defendant Brunet, having known that the money given by him served for illegal and corrupt practices, and having in no way objected to such use, he must be himself declared guilty of such corrupt practices, and his election must be annulled with costs. As regards the penalty incurred, the court had not to pronounce itself on the matter, such penalty being provided by the law.

Mr. Brunet's lawyers say they will appeal.

Small Churches.

St. Mary's, Frinton-on-Sea, England, has only accommodation for thirty persons, and a church at Westdale Head has only eight pews. Another church, at Haugh, Lincolnshire, is very small, but it seats the whole population, which only numbers thirty all told.

Baker's Backache.

Working long hours in overheated and poorly ventilated rooms, exposure to extremes of heat and cold, these and many other things incident to a baker's occupation, bring on backache and kidney disorders. In fact there seems to be no class of men more prone to kidney trouble. When you find your back beginning to bother you, the urine to scald or leave a sediment, if you are running down in health and scarce know why, it is time to start taking Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Kidney troubles are too serious to neglect and too dangerous to experiment with. When you take Dr. Pitcher's Tablets you know you are having the best kidney treatment a skilled specialist can give you, and can feel assured of a certain and speedy cure.

BAD BACK FOR 3 YEARS.

Mr. Geo. Bell, baker and confectioner, River Street, Paris, Ont., made this positive statement: "My back has been in bad shape for three years, and at 64 years of age we do not expect too much. I lay the trouble to an attack of inflammation of the back which left the back painful and the kidneys weak. I have tried all sorts of medicine with no relief until I got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets at Paul L. Scott's drug store, and so rapid and great was the relief that I quit on one-half bottle, and have no symptoms of any trouble at all since. I am, so far as I can see, completely cured. This is wonderful to me."

QUARANTINE REMOVED.

Connecticut Free From the Results of Foot and Mouth Disease.

Washington, Dec. 23.—The quarantine against Connecticut on account of the epidemic of foot and mouth disease in New England was formally removed yesterday by an order issued by Secretary Wilson. The order takes immediate effect and permits cattle, sheep and other live stock to be shipped out of the state without restriction. The quarantine remains in full force as to the other states prescribed in the order issued Nov. 27 last. The advices received by the Department of Agriculture show that up to date 551 cattle have been killed on account of the epidemic.

ENGINE RAN WILD.

Wrecked Freight and Reversed, Crashing Into a Double Header.

Liberty, Ind., Dec. 23.—Two trainmen were killed and two were injured yesterday by a wild engine on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Road. The locomotive had helped a freight train to College Grove. The engine there became unmanageable and dashed towards Liberty. A freight train was met on the way and the helper wrecked the engine. It reversed itself after the collision and dashed back through Liberty at a terrific speed. A double-header freight was on the road near Connersville and the three engines came together. All were demolished. The fireman who had remained on the helper was killed, together with a brakeman.

HONOURED ONE OF THEIR NUMBER.

Interesting Presentation to Rev. Father Crowley

BY ST. PETER'S T. A. S.

Was Given a Pair of Persian Lamb Gauntlets and Collar—An Interesting Address Presented Also.

That Rev. Father Crowley has a warm place in the hearts of the members of St. Peter's T.A.S. was evident last evening from the reception tendered the young priest in the lecture room of the Society. Rev. Father Crowley is the first priest ordained from the ranks of the society, and the members, therefore in last night's presentation manifested the genuine pride that filled their breasts. They were proud of their young priest and proud at having an opportunity of doing him honours. The affair was largely attended and the clergy present included besides the guest of the evening, Revs. Father McColl, Dr. O'Brien and John O'Brien. The gift to the young priest was a beautiful set of Persian lamb gauntlets with collar.

Mr. John O'Brien, President of the Society, occupied the chair, and the evening's programme opened with a pleasing pianoforte selection by Misses Coster and Begley, followed by two vocal numbers by Miss Levina Hallihan. This young lady rendered "The Whipperwill" in excellent voice, and Mr. James Browne contributed "The Two Cities" in an artistic manner, and with excellent expression. Both vocal numbers were encored.

At this juncture Mr. D. J. Devine stepped forward and read the address, Mr. Jas. Hickey making the presentation:

Dear Father,—Looking back over a long stretch of years that have sped so happily in their swift way, the thoughts of the average man dwell on the pleasures, the hopes and the fears of his childhood. He has not forgotten, in ambition's strife, those simple and dear delights of his younger days, when all that he wished for was a smile of approval, a glance, a caress, and the soothing of his little sorrows. Time advanced and his turn came, with his youth and ambition to enter the world and try and reach the top rung of the ladder of fame. Forgetting everything else, he makes it his god, and bowing to its worship, is content with all the honour and glory he can get from it. He cares not for friends, pleasure, love, for everywhere he goes and everything he does, the same beckoning hand of fame stands before him. Rapt in his work, and the loved dream of greatness, ambition had taught him that Fame, in this world, is everything. Reflecting for a moment, he says to himself, "Love is only a flower that is to perish when storm clouds obscure the summary shrine, but fame, like a monument, will stand to our memory when countless ages will have passed on." This is false, for after all, fame is nothing, even though his name should endure for all time. Better to offer the scent of this blossom and by good works, charitable deeds, and a pious life, complete a garland for a great hereafter.

And, Rev. Father, what a source of satisfaction and thankfulness it must be to yourself as it is one of unbounded joy and pride to us, your brother members, to look back and observe that, when you stepped across the threshold of manhood, you heeded not Fame's beckoning finger, but turned towards Heaven's light and joined your life work to that of Christ's church—that institution to which, to use the thoughts of the illustrious McCauley, alone can carry the mind back to the times when the smoke of the sacrifice rose from the Pantheon and when wild beasts bounded in the Flavian Amphitheatre—that institution which was great and respected before the Saxon had set foot on Brittain, before the Frank had passed the Rhine; when the eloquence of Grecian orators held sway at Antioch, when idols were still worshipped in Mecca's temple—that church that has outlived the oldest and strongest of republics; whose supreme Pontiffs crowned Catholic monarchs from the nineteenth century back to the eighth, their power extending far beyond this time, till it is lost in "the twilight of fable;" that church whose members number over one hundred and fifty millions; whose spiritual influence extends over the wide plains of the new world, and whose power will undoubtedly witness the end of every government and dynasty that now exist.

And, hand in hand with God's church, stands God's priests. From the time when God's type of priests, Melchisedech of old, his silver locks curling round his pale features and rippling over his snowy vestments, stood sublimely, while the glad morning light burst athwart the Eastern hills and filled the vales, from that morning, when he lifted up on high wheaten bread and ruddy wine, the pledge of Christ's love and power, from that glad morning to the very present day, the Catholic priesthood have lived and flourished, laboured and suffered for the glory of God and for the welfare and happiness of their fellow men. They are a sort of celestial soldiery upon earth, who, abandoning the cares of life and trampling its pleasures under foot, devote their whole being to the contemplation of the Deity, and the admiration of his works; or, who, free from personal concern, apply themselves exclusively to watch and relieve the necessities of others. What can be more glorious than to carry the light of truth to distant nations, through seas and fires and swords, to traffic in the salvation of souls alone—to forego the allurements of pleasure and even the enjoyment of conversation and social intercourse, in order to pursue, undisturbed, the contemplation of abtruse truths and Divine meditation—to dedicate oneself to the education of youth in science and in virtue, to assist and console the wretched, the despairing, the lost, the captive, the condemned, the sick, in squalor, in chains, in distant lands,—undeterred, even by the fear of pestilence, from the lavish exercise of those heavenly offices of charity.

Turning to the dark pages of history, we find the story of that priesthood running like a golden thread through the weft of time. Their conquests over the rude savage, the sanctuaries, cathedral domes and monastic schools that dot the face of Europe are imperishable monuments of their zeal. We find them, in the early years of civilization, preaching in the wilds of Northumbria, propounding the truths of science and philosophy throughout the valleys of Germany, tearing down the idols of heathen Rwitland, raising their monasteries on Italian plains and teaching even the nobility of France. And when our own ancestors saw the princely castles of their chiefs razed to the ground, the stones of their sanctuaries torn up, when the eyes of the people ached with sorrow and when the muffled wail of a trampled nation went sounding like a death knell over the western waters, the Catholic priest marched across the

YOUNG PEOPLE AT HOME

To Their Friends in St. John's Church Last Night

And a Very Pleasant Evening was Spent.

The young people of St. John's church were "at home" last evening to their friends and new comers to town in the school room. Tables, containing games here and there and ping-pong tables in the side rooms gave the interior the appearane of a drawing room, and the effect was further heightened by the buntings of different colours with which the walls and ceilings were festooned. The earlier part of the evening was spent at the game tables and while these were going on the following programme was presented, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun acting as chairman:

THE GOLF CLUB BALL.

Preparations Being Made on a Large Scale.

The coming dance of the Golf Club on the 29th of this month, promises to be a great success. This year every effort will be made to give those attending the value of their money, and if the club just clears itself, it will be more than satisfied. The band of the 57th Regiment has been secured, and this is a guarantee that the best of dancing music will be furnished. Then, too, the fact that it comes in the holiday week will in all probability give it the zest and go peculiar to that season.

SIX BARS

That are Attached to Sgt. Tom Miller's Medal.

Sgt. Tom Miller late of the 1st Scots Guards, who arrived home to Peterborough yesterday after an absence of over six years, to-day received his South African medal of which he has reason to be proud. Indeed there are few Canadians who have as many bars attached to their South African medal as has Sgt. Miller. He was in six exciting engagements and has a bar for each one of these. They are Belfast, Diamond Hill, Johannesburg, Driefontein, Modder River and Belfast. The regular South African ribbon is attached to the medal.

MR. T. E. BODDY REMEMBERED

By Court Little John—Services Appreciated.

On Saturday evening last, Mr. T. E. Boddy, the genial up-town agent of the C.P.R., was the recipient of an address, and a handsome smoking outfit, consisting of a gold-mounted pipe, a pouch, and tobacco, from Court Littlejohn, No. 92, C.O. F., as a slight token of appreciation of his kindness towards the Court in various ways, but especially in the trouble he has always taken in connection with the annual excursions of the Court.

The presentation and address, which was as follows, was made in the lodge rooms, in the presence of a large number of members:

Dear Mr. Boddy, — It is with pleasure we present you with this solid comfort outfit, on behalf of Court Littlejohn, No. 92, C.O.F. In our many years' dealings you have treated us on the most sterling business principles, whose fountain we believe is your good head and good heart. We trust from this token of our esteem you will draw inspirations, through a long life of prosperity and happiness.

Signed on behalf of the Court,
W. KEMP,
Chairman of Com.,
M. McCLELLAND.

AWFULLY SAD DEATH

Of Master Harold Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gray, Water Street.

It is with feelings of sincere sorrow that the public will learn of the death of Master Harold Gray, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gray, No. 510 Water street. The poor little fellow was stricken with pneumonia on Friday last, and succumbed to the terrible disease at 1.30 o'clock this morning.

Harold was a universal favourite, self-sacrificing, always anxious to do good,, and relieve others,, even though he might suffer himself. At school, on the play ground or at home, Harold always considered himself last. The sincerest sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Gray in their bereavement, more especially in view of the fact that it is only three years since they lost another bright little son by drowning.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery.

TRINITY COLLEGE SCHOOL.

Some Changes That are Contemplated on the Staff.

Referring to an item which appeared in Monday's papers, as to changes to be made in the staff of Trinity College School, Port Hope, Mr. Dyce W. Saunders, Secretary of the Governing Body of the School, stated to a Globe representative yesterday that while it is quite true that additions to the staff are contemplated nothing of a definite nature has been decided, and that whatever negotiations may have been in progress between Dr. Symonds and others looking to a concentration of forces at Port Hope, they have not issued in any proposition to the Governing Board. Mr. Saunders said it had been evident since the beginning of the present year that a considerable enlargement of the staff of the school would be necessary next year, and the authorities have been making inquiries in many directions for the best men, in order to strengthen Dr. Symond's hands by the addition which his energetic work as head master has rendered necessary.

Peterborough Club Will Enter the Trent Valley League.

A Meeting Held Last Night—A Review of the Rugby Rules—Other Notes.

Hockey clubs throughout the province should lend the O.H.A. all possible assistance in stamping out the contagion of professionalism that is sure to follow any teams from Canada visiting Pittsburg. At the meeting of the Peterborough club last night the policy of the O.H.A., in this regard was most heartily approved of.

• • • •

The Peterborough team has a new candidate for goal this winter in the person of Jack Crough, who figured on the local gridiron. Mr. Crough is a deaf mute, but a genuine athlete, and a real good fellow. He is sure to receive all kinds of encouragement from the members of the Peterborough club.

• • • •

The representatives of the various clubs meet in Port Hope this evening to arrange the Intermediate and Junior schedules for this district. Owing to the fact that the season here will be somewhat delayed by reason of the unfinished condition of the new rink, it is not likely that any matches will be played here until after the 15th of January.

• • • •

The hockey loving people of Peterborough should be satisfied with their programme of matches this winter. They will have two teams in both the O.H.A. and the Trent Valley League. The Peterborough club has a team in the Intermediate and Junior Series of the O.H.A., and a team in the Trent Valley Series, whilst the T.A.S. have a team in the latter league.

• • • •

The general impression is that the district composed of Belleville, Port Hope and Peterborough, is the strongest in the O.H.A. intermediate series and that the winner of the district will stand a splendid chance of winning the championship of the Intermediate O.H.A. Belleville is exceptionally strong this year and promises to make matters interesting for Port Hope and Peterborough.

• • • •

Almost every town in Ontario of Peterborough's size or larger, has one or more bank teams. There was a time in fact when the Ontario Bank in Peterborough alone could place a speedy aggregation on the ice. Surely, then, amongst the four banks of Peterborough there could be a seven organized that would be swift enough to make matters interesting for the Colts, at least. Of course, a difficulty in the way is that Messrs. Harold and Roy Armstrong, of the Ontario Bank, are members of Peterborough's senior team and could not therefore be eligible to play in any other series.

HOCKEY.

IN THE TRENT VALLEY.

A rather important meeting of the Peterborough hockey club was held in the Oriental Hotel last night, the chair being occupied by the president, Mr H. R. H. Kenner.

Mr. Jim McCabe was selected as the club's representative to Port Hope this evening, when representatives from Belleville, Port Hope and Peterborough will meet to draw up the Intermediate schedule.

A circular letter from the secretary of the O.H.A. was read regarding the action of clubs playing against the Pittsburg team. They were warned not to do so, under penalty of expulsion from the O.H.A.

A communication from Berlin, asking for a game, was considered, but no action was taken in the matter.

The meeting decided, most unanimously, to place a team in the Trent Valley Hockey League.

President Kenner, speaking on the matter, expressed his belief that the Trent Valley did a wise act in deciding not to enter the O.H.A., as he considered that they were doing excellent work in their own sphere.

The Colts team will meet tonight to elect a captain. All the Colts are asked to be on hand.

ABERDEENS INTENTIONS.

The Aberdeens of Ottawa recognizing the very poor chances they have of being received into the senior series of the C.A.H.L. and being anxious to move up one, are contemplating the taking of steps towards the formation of a new league. Such an organization it is intended would have as members the Westmounts, Point St. Charles, Cornwall and Aberdeens. Representatives from the local club waited upon Trustee Ross of the Stanley Cup this week, seeking information as to whether the winners of such a league would be eligible to challenge for the trophy.—Ottawa Journal.

EXECUTIVE TO MEET.

The Secretary of the Trent Valley League, Mr. E. S. Clarry,, has sent out the following circular to the clubs in the Trent Valley League:

Dear Sir, — A meeting of the executive of the Trent Valley Hockey League will be held in the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Tuesday, December 30th, at 9 p.m.

The schedule for the ensuing year will be drawn up and you should send to the secretary of the League any suggestions you may think might be in the interests of your club. Clubs are also asked to send in their annual fee by that date, if they have not already done so. The fee is $2 to new clubs, and $1 to clubs which were in the league last year.

Copies of the constitution of the Trent Valley League will be sent to the clubs in the league after the executive meeting.

RUGBY.

THE OUTCOME.

Just what will be the outcome of Saturday's meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union it is difficult to predict, says the Mail and Empire. On the face of the action of the meeting in refusing to adopt the proposals submitted by the O.R.F.U. delegates it would look as if the union had died a natural death. The object of the C.R.U. has been to bring about final matches for the Canadian championship between the winners of the respective unions under the rules of the game as adopted by the union. Next season the Quebec clubs will be playing under the rules as adopted last Saturday, while the Ontario clubs will play under the snap-back system. The future of the union will depend upon its ability to bring the two winners together and to effect a compromise in the question of the rules to govern the final game. It was suggested that half time be played each way under the two different sets of rules. With the scrimmage no longer played by the Ontario teams they would certainly be at a disadvantage in a final match, because a scrimmage must have practice, and plenty of it, while the Quebec winner can easily pick up the snap-back. It looks like a hard task.

The two unions or at least the Ontario Union, will print its own set of rules, while the Quebec Union may allow the Canadian to print its rules.

When Mr. Molson, the president-elect, said that it looked as if the meeting was a farce, the Ontario delegates protested. They were willing to play a final game of the rules could be agreed upon. Mr. Ballantyne said that there was no doubt but that in another year all the unions would be playing under the rules the O.R.F.U. had adopted.

Secretary J. D. McMurrich did not vote when the question of the adoption of the new rules came up. It seemed strange that a former secretary of the O. R. F. U. for four years should not support that body when by a vote of 20 to 5 at its annual meeting it endorsed the new rules.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

Anybody with a clear head and plenty of time at his disposal, might start in right now on the study of the different rules, so as to become letter perfect by the time the football season of 1903 begins. The Toronto Star presents the salient points of the three brands—you pays your money and you takes your choice—as follows:

Ontario Union.

1. Snap-back.
2. 12 men a side.
3. 10 yards in 3 downs.
4. No throw-in from touch.
5. Quarterback not to buck.
6. All goals to count two points.
7. 6 men on line of scrimmage.
8. Wing lines to stand apart.

Quebec Union.

1. Scrimmage.
2. 14 men a side.
3. No compulsory gain.
4. Throw-in from touch.
5. Quarterback may buck.
6. Try 5 points, drop kick 5.
7. No limit to scrimmage line.
8. No holding on the wing line.

College Union.

1. Scrimmage.
2. 14 men a side
5. 5 yards on three downs
4. Throw-in from touch.
5. Quarterback may buck.
6. Five points for a drop kick.
7. No limit to scrimmage line.
8. No holding on the wing line.

• • • •

It has been decided that this year's football pictures shall be taken in the studio of Mr. Geo. F. Whiten, and the members of the team are requested to have their pictures taken in uniform as soon as possible. This year the pictures will be taken individually and placed in the large picture and it is the desire of the management that the picture shall be on sale as soon as possible.

CARPETBALL.

Last evening in the Foresters' Hall, two teams of the Sons of England played against two teams of Foresters, resulting in a decisive victory for the Foresters. The score was as follows:—First team, S.O.E., 14; Foresters, 42; second team, S.O.E., 12; Foresters, 31.

These two societies have drawn up a schedule of games to be played during the winter and the team at the end of the season which has won the most games will be awarded a handsome trophy.

BASKETBALL.

One of the best games of the season probably, will be seen at the Y.M.C.A. this evening, when the Picked Team will play the Athletics. When these teams met last the Athletics were victorious to the tune of 31 to 5, and the representative team will do their utmost to reverse the score.

LACROSSE.

LYNCH'S MOVEMENTS.

Lynch, the old Peterborough player who was cast with the New Westminster team last summer, has deserted New Westminster and moved to Vancouver. He complains that the Salmoobellies did not use him quite right, as they played him on home when his natural position is on defence. Anyway Vancouver gives him the glad hand and figures that with him, Ralph and Hutton, of Ottawa, Smith, of the Shamrocks, and our own Lionel Yorke, and one or two others they have around home they will do several things to the B. C. champoins when summer comes again.

MAYORALTY FOR 1903.

Card to the Electors of Peterborough.

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In response to the numerous representations which have been made to me upon the subject—personally, by requisition, and through the press—I place my services at the disposal of the public as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the approaching municipal elections.

My association with the important municipal advances, which the Town has been making during recent years, will enable me to give continuity to the aggressive forward policy which the Council has sought to pursue, and to bring experience and information gained therein to bear upon the work and problems which still more immediately confront us.

While I cannot lay claim to all the qualifications which have been flatteringly ascribed to me, such capacity for the office as I do possess is cheerfully placed at your service, and I ask your sympathy and support in the effort to maintain the position and standing, and advance the welfare, of our already prosperous and progressive Town.

Respectfully yours,

G. M. ROGER

THE LABOUR GAZETTE.

Peterborough Should be Given a Correspondent to This Well Known Journal.

The December number of the Labour Gazette, issued by the Department of Labour in Ottawa, contains much valuable information for workingmen and others. The general summary affords abundant indications of the industrial activity of the Dominion. The reports from the various labour correspondents are terse and to the point, and evidently of a painstaking and reliable character. It is to be regretted that nothing appears from Peterborough. The review of the general conditions of the labour market, local industries, and reports from agricultural districts in such places as Windsor, St. Thomas, Chatham, Stratford, Brantford, etc., are given very minutely, but no such valuable information is given respecting Peterborough. Such data as is furnished brings these towns into prominence and is of importance from an educational and statistical standpoint, in which Peterborough citizens would be glad to see their town there. The reason given is that Peterborough is not a "city" in name. One evidence of the disadvantage the town labours under is not having the status of a city, though it has all the material conditions, population, industrial importance, etc.

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion with Hypophosphites is prescribed by physicians for children's diseases. The little ones thrive on it. It is pleasant to take and agrees with the stomach.

It is the best children's medicine. They become fond of it. Put your child on a steady treatment of Angier's Petroleum Emulsion, and note how quickly it gains in health and becomes strong and robust. The Emulsion improves appetite, aids digestion, regulates the stomach and bowels, quiets the nerves, and revitalizes the whole system.

My little girl was troubled with bronchitis and a harsh hacking cough almost since birth. Nothing benefited her until my druggist advised me to give her Angier's Petroleum Emulsion, which I did. It cured the cough, and she almost immediately began to gain in flesh and improve in color. To-day she is as strong and robust as can be.—A. Pudsey, Toronto, Canada.

SORROWS OF SANTA

I CHANCED into Santa Claus' home one day,
And these are the words I heard him say:

"Ah, me, the times, the manners, the men!
It used to be all so different when

"I was a young man in the long ago
And sped with my reindeer over the snow.

"Then every home in every land
Gave unto me always a welcome hand,

"And chimneys then in the days gone by
Were not oversmall and not overhigh,

"And the stockings they used were the old fashioned kind,
All hung in a row and so easy to find.

"Then the gifts were so simple and all in good taste,
From the gingerbread man to the doll made of paste,

"But now it's so different. Heigho, hear me sigh!
I mourn for the days in the Land of Goneby.

"For now I'm kept busy from early till late
In my earnest endeavors to be up to date.

"I've trimmed my old beard in the new Vandyke style,
And instead of a laugh I've a simpering smile.

"I'VE CEASED TO WEAR ALL MY OLD FASHIONED CLOTHES."

"Yes, I've ceased to wear all my old fashioned clothes,
And I've got on long shoes with the sharp pointed toes,

"And my reindeer and robes and my beautiful sleigh
With my gingerbread presents are all laid away,

"For I ride nowadays on a bicycle swift
And I'm puzzled to know what to bring for a gift

"To the girls fin de siecle, and as for the boys,
They've no use at all for my old fashioned toys,

"And the houses have changed. In those things called a flat
I'm kept busy guessing just where I am at.

"Excuse me now, please, if I speak very low;
I've come to my last and my cruelest blow.

"'Tis the worst, though what I have told you is bad;
My wife has acquired the new woman fad!"

And those were the words I heard him say
When I chanced in Santa Claus' home one day.

Inflamed Nose and Throat

And such diseases of the respiratory organs as Bronchitis, Weak Lungs, Cold in the Head and Nasal Catarrh, are treated with marvellous success on strictly scientific principles by Catarrhozone. The medicated vapour of Catarrhozone quickly traverses every air passage possible to be reached by any treatment. All soreness, pain, congestion and inflammation are at once dispelled, and by means of the healing powers of Catarrhozone the vitiated tissues are quickly restored. Where Catarrhozone is used colds last ten minutes, coughs half an hour, and Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma and Bronchitis flee as from fire. A trial will convince anyone of the startling merit of Catarrhozone. Costs $1.00, small size 25c. At druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Mexican Blankets.

The blankets and scarfs in use among the Mexicans are many of them as fine in weave and beautiful in coloring as the much prized Navajo rugs. They are lighter in weight, however, and therefore available only for couch covers, portieres and wall draperies.

Fainting.

When a person faints, place in a flat position and apply camphor or ammonia to nostrils; loosen clothing.

Carpets.

When choosing carpets, preference should be given to those of small patterns, for they are much more easily turned about and mended than those of large design and therefore are much more economical.

The comet of 1843 was the only one during the last century visible in broad daylight.

A VAST SALT FIELD.

How the Product is Obtained in the Middle of the Colorado Desert.

In the middle of the Colorado desert, a little to the north of the Mexican border and 284 feet below the level of the sea, lies a field of crystallized salt more than a thousand acres in extent, presenting a surface as white as snow and beneath the noonday glare of the sun so dazzling that the naked eye cannot stand its radiance. It stretches away for miles and miles about Salton, Colo., an ocean of blazing, blistering white.

Here daily throughout the year men are at work overturning the great deposit with massive plows and scrapers, getting it into great piles preliminary to putting it through the refining process. The salt plows used to secure the harvest are great four wheeled implements driven by steam and managed by two men. The salt crust is thrown up in parallel ridges; then laborers with hoes work it to and fro in the water, washing out the dirt preliminary to stacking it in mounds to be taken to the mill.

Salt springs in adjacent foothills are constantly contributing to the deposit, and so heavily laden are they with almost pure salt that the plow has hardly passed on before a new crust has formed in the furrow left. This fact renders it unnecessary to operate more than a small portion of the vast deposit.

As may be supposed, work in these fields is performed under the most trying conditions. No white man can stand the intense heat, and for this reason the work is done wholly by Japanese and by Coahuila Indians. Of these the Indians are by far the better adapted to the work, the Japanese performing only one portion, sewing the sacks in which the salt is shipped. The atmosphere, laden as it is with particles of salt, gives rise to a painful thirst, and the only available drinking water comes from a single well. It is warm and ill tasting.

Beautiful mirages frequently appear above the great salt field in the daytime, sky pictures of magnificent cities and flower dotted, tree shaded fields. The moonlight, too, produces wondrously beautiful effects upon the great field of gleaming salt. For several weeks in the year the thermometer on the salt field averages 140 degrees, and the reflection of the sun produces a glare like that from a furnace. The deposits vary in thickness from ten to twenty inches and form a solid crust over the great marsh. It is estimated that about 700 tons are now plowed up daily.

A STORY WITH A SEQUEL.

Mrs. Barnett's Sufferings Happily Ended by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

That was Four Years ago and now she is able to say, "The Cure was Permanent."

Plattsville, Ont, Dec. 22.—(Special)—"The cure was permanent." In this one short sentence Mrs. J. Barnett of this place gives the sequel to a long tale of suffering and misery. It is about four years since Mrs. Barnett gave to the public the story of her sufferings and their happy ending. In view of the sequel given above it is well worth repeating:

"I had been ailing for years," said Mrs. Barnett. "My symptoms were Nervousness, Rheumatism in the left arm, pains in the small of the back, up the spinal column and back of the head, through the eyes, left side of the body and occasionally the right side. I grew weak, for I had no appetite and I could not sleep. I was a physical wreck.

"I was treated by the doctors, but their medicines afforded me no relief. Then I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before I had finished one box there was an improvement in my condition. My appetite returned, the pain was lessened, and I was able to sleep. I took twelve boxes and was completely cured. I ascribe my recovery to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

CANDLESTICKS AS GIFTS.

Antique Treasures Which May Be Found In Junkshops.

Candlesticks are decorative, utilitarian and thoroughly good form. What, then, could be more acceptable for Christmas gifts?

A pair of highly polished brass candlesticks give an air of distinction to even the humblest surroundings. Their polish reflects the thrift of the housekeeper, and their presence denotes her good taste.

The genuine antique candlesticks, with their quaint, simple outlines, are preferable to the more modern affairs that are apt to be a trifle too ornate for really good effect. The candlesticks may often be bought in junkshops for their gross weight, and many beautiful specimens have been picked up in this way by the clever and industrious collector.—New York Journal.

Curdled Custard.

Table Talk says the rapid use of the egg beater will restore the texture of a boiled salad dressing, a boiled custard or a plain cornstarch pudding which may have curdled in inexperienced hands. Use the beater after removal from the fire.

London Deaths.

Out of 100 deaths in London forty take place in winter and twelve in summer. Twenty-three acres of ground are needed to bury London's dead of one year.

Broiled Sardines.

Sardines broiled in a chafing dish are nice for Sunday night suppers. Use just enough of the oil in the box to cover the bottom of the dish and keep the fish from sticking. When they are browned on both sides sprinkle liberally with lemon juice and serve hot.

Horses That Work.

The horses that are best able to stand hard drains are those which work steadily every day in the week.

English and German Wine Lists.

In many of the hotels in Switzerland there are two wine lists—one priced for the English and the other for the Germans. The German list is 33 per cent cheaper than the English.

To Clean Marble.

Take two parts of common soda, one part of pumice stone and one part of finely powdered chalk; sift all through a fine sieve and mix with water, then rub it well over the marble, and the stains will be removed. Rub the marble over with salt and water.

The Fishhook Cactus.

The fishhook or water cactus of the western deserts, which stores up water for the summer, has a skin so hard that it takes an ax to cut it.

Chestnut Bread.

In Corsica bread is made from chestnuts without admixture of any other substance. It has not the firmness of ordinary bread, but is healthful, sweet in flavor, agreeable to eat and easily digestible. It keeps more than fifteen days and constitutes the chief food of the Corsican mountaineers.

London's Atmosphere.

Records kept in London for twenty years show that, as compared with the southern districts of England, London loses through its smoky atmosphere one-sixth of its sunshine in summer and one-half in winter.

Italians In Argentina.

The Italian immigrants in Argentina soon give up their native language and adopt that of their new home.

A Ballet Museum.

Paris has a museum of objects relating to the ballet. It includes everything, from old ballet skirts to jewelry, worn by famous dancers. There are also casts of the feet of these terpsichoreans, among them being one of Mme. Vestris' feet.

Bank Clerks.

Several detective agencies do a large business watching the movements of bank clerks after business hours.

Eye Strain In School.

Experiments in German schools have shown that in October pupils can on the average see letters of a given size a yard farther away than at the end of the winter months.

AN ODD BELGIAN CUSTOM.

A Picturesque Procession on Christmas Eve.

In some old Belgian towns a beautiful spectacle may be seen on Christmas eve. Amid the sound of drum, cornet, cymbal and a whole orchestra of instruments, with the chanting of carols, a long, gayly decked procession marches through the principal streets—children of all ages, each division dressed in its special color (white, blue, pink or yellow), and all bearing some badge or emblem or grasping some bright ribbon attached to shrine or crucifix. The effect of grouping and color is very artistic. Here and there in the throng older, stronger hands bear aloft precious relics, upon which the spectators reverently gaze. Many novel features come into view as the procession passes along, but the prettiest sight is the train of beautiful children in fantastic dress marching over the flower strewn pavement, each small person gravely absorbed in the special part it performs. — Pittsburg Dispatch.

Tongue Boring.

Until the reign of Queen Anne an English army officer was liable to have his tongue bored through with a hot iron for blasphemy.

The Plague.

There is considerable evidence that the plague is a soil infection, to which Hindoos are particularly liable because they go barefooted and wear badly fitting toe rings, which give rise to chronic abrasions.

Cut Flowers.

Cut flowers will keep very much longer if a small quantity of alum is added to the water in which they are placed. A solution should be made by dissolving the alum in hot water, allowing it to cool and then adding to fresh water in about the proportion of a tablespoonful to a pint.

Bath Bags.

Bath bags are easy to make and inexpensive as well. A yard of cheesecloth is sufficient for half a dozen. Fill with bran, powdered orris root and castile soap shavings and use as a sponge.

Use Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) to wash woolens and flannels,—you'll like it. 32

A Little Child's Loneliness.

Little Mabel, says the Woman's Journal, had been put to bed alone. Presently she appeared in her nightgown at the head of the stairs, saying plaintively, "I'm lonesome!" Her mother gave her a favorite rubber doll named Happy to take to bed with her and for a few minutes she was quiet. Then she reappeared with her plaint of lonesomeness. This time her mother reminded her that God was with her and sent her back to bed with a reproof. Soon she was heard weeping bitterly, and when her mother went to her little Mabel summed up her sense of misery by exclaiming, "I don't want Happy, and I don't want God; I want somebody with a skin face!"

More Maiden Timidity.

"Well, mum," said the cook as she entered the parlor with her bundle in her hand, "I must be after goin' away this mornin'."

"What do you mean? Why are you going?" asked her astonished mistress.

"I am goin' to be married next week."

"But surely, Bridget, you won't leave me so suddenly? You must ask him to wait for a few days."

"Oh, I couldn't, mum."

"Why not, pray?"

"Sure, mum, I'd like to oblige you, but I don't feel well enough acquainted with him to ask such a thing."

YOU CAN TEST THE KIDNEYS

And Find out for Yourself Whether or not you are Becoming a Victim of Painful, Fatal Kidney Disease.

It is not necessary for you to consult a specialist on kidney disease to find out if you are a victim of this dreadful derangement. You can test your kidneys at home, and satisfy yourself on this point.

Allow some urine to stand in a glass for twenty-four hours, and if at the end of that time you find sediment in the bottom of the vessel you can be sure that your kidneys are diseased.

Pains in the small of the back, and smarting when urinating, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, loss of flesh and strength, are other marked symptoms which indicate kidney disorders. Make this test for yourself. Consider whether you have any of these symptoms, and if you conclude that your kidneys are out of order begin at once to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They will bring prompt relief and will thoroughly cure you.

On account of their direct action on the kidneys Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure ailments of the kidneys when ordinary kidney medicines fail. They have proven their efficacy in many thousands of cases, and are endorsed by more people than any other kidney medicine extant.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years section foreman and now flagman for the G.T.R. at Peterborough, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was section foreman on the G.T.R. and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work.

"During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

WHY ?
Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Night's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

JOYS OF CHRISTMAS

Festival Should Be One of Gladness Said the Late Dr. T. De Witt Talmage

SONGS greeted the birth of our Saviour. Angelic tongues with living fire sang the incarnation as they hovered over the hills of Judea. The music was resonant with joy. From the hour that the Virgin laid her Babe on pillow of straw in the manger all Christendom has since that time made the anniversary of this natal day a season of gladness, a season of unbounded joy.

Wreathe the laurel, twine the bay,
Christ was born on Christmas day.

There were special reasons for these heavenly songs being sung by the celestial chorus, for there was joy in God's great heart, joy among the first-born sons of light, joy thrilling all the heavenly empire, joy that is yet to be put in the new song sung by redeemed millions around the throne of "the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world."

It was the music of liberty. When these heavenly hosts sang the "Gloria In Excelsis," the whole world was resting under galling yokes of oppression. Slavery was universal. Task-masters were everywhere severe to those in servitude. Greece, Rome and Palestine heard daily the groans of those in bondage. The world was in chains. But the song of the angels rang the deathknell of bondage. The Babe was God's emancipation. His distinctive mission was to set at liberty the captives and proclaim deliverance to the bruised and crushed sons of toil. Under the mild and genial influence of our holy Christianity fetters fall off everywhere, until now in this morning of our new century there are few nations to be found that hold serfs.

Glorious freedom! Triumphant achievement of the cross! Wherever it is lifted chains are broken and spiritual emancipation is proclaimed.

It was the music of hope. Until Jesus appeared all the ancient religions had offered only a message of despair. No light fell upon the grave or illumined the vast beyond. Darkness reigned in supreme, sullen majesty, and not a single star of hope gilded the future. The grave was an eternal prison. But the songs sung by the heavenly choristers on that eventful night heralded hope to a lost world. Into the soul of sinning humanity came the sweet rays of joy and peace and blessedness, and, looking down into the grave, all fear had vanished, for sin, the sting of death, was gone and canceled by a glorious Christ the Lord. They looked and beheld—

On the cold cheek of death smiles and roses are blending,
And beauty immortal awakes from the tomb.

And this is our Christmas joy that Jesus has lifted into immortal hope the graves of all our beloved friends who sleep in him.

It was the music of victory. When Jesus came, the great mass of humanity was in serfdom, and the dignity of labor was not comprehended. Toil was regarded as a degradation. Laborers were despised and all forms of manual industry held to be a disgrace. But the Son of Mary and Joseph came to teach the world a new philosophy, and by honorable industry he proclaimed the dignity of labor and taught that—

The honest man, tho' ere sae poor,
Is king of men for a' that.

Jesus counts the beads of sweat upon the brow of every son of toil. He notes all injustice done the laboring classes, and only as his spirit prevails among men will the great conflict between labor and capital cease. But that day is coming ere long—the glad Christmas of ages—

When man to man the wide world o'er
Shall brothers be and a' that.

EYES SPEAK

Volumes, at times, of woman's happiness or misery. The dull, sunken eye, with its dark circles almost surely speaks of womanly ill-health, and its attendant suffering. With the dull eye goes usually the sallow, sunken cheek, the drawn mouth, the shrunken form—the whole glory of woman's beauty marred by the effects of disease.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the diseases which undermine the health and mar the beauty of women. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free, and so obtain the advice of a specialist upon their disease. All correspondence is strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"With pleasure I send a few lines to let you know that I feel much better than for eight years before taking your medicine," writes Mrs. Pierce Geise, of 822 West Philadelphia Street, York, Pa. "Will recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine to every person who may inquire as to what it has done for me. I was troubled with female weakness, and began to think I would never be well. If I had continued the treatment prescribed by my doctor I don't know what would have become of me. When your treatment was commenced my weight was 108 pounds, at present it is 130. Have healthy color and my friends say I look well. My best thanks to you and my best wishes, too, for what you have done for me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

MEXICAN CUSTOMS.

Visiting and Giving Presents the Features of Yuletide.

A series of festivities beginning nine days before Christmas and ending on Christmas eve marks the Yuletide celebration in Mexico. In a circle of friends it is arranged that nine visits shall be paid to nine different houses. Each evening's gayety begins with prayer and the lighting of candles. These are followed by the presentation of a gift from each guest to the host or hostess of the evening. The first evening's gift is of small worth, but the value of the offering increases with every succeeding evening. That there may be nothing unfair in the distribution, the recipient of the first evening's offering one year becomes the last the following year. After the presentation there are dancing and supper. At midnight the candles are extinguished.

No two evenings' entertainments are exactly alike save in the offering of prayers, the lighting of candles and the presenting of gifts. On Christmas eve, a few minutes before midnight, all proceed to church to hear the midnight mass, and this ends the Christmas celebration for the year.—New York Tribune.

The First Christmas Tree.

The Christmas tree was first heard of in England about 1444. A tree was then set up in the middle of a pavement and decked with ivy as well as with other greens. From this use it was finally taken within the home, decorated with candles and eventually with anything which glistened and enhanced its brightness.

Man's Influence.

The only responsibility that a man cannot evade in this life is the one he thinks of least, his personal influence. Man's conscious influence when he is on dress parade, when he is posing to impress those around him, is woefully small, but his unconscious influence, the silent, subtle radiation of his personality, the effect of his words and acts, the trifles he never considers, is tremendous. Every moment of life he is changing to a degree the life of the whole world. Every man has an atmosphere which is affecting every other. So silently and unconsciously is this influence working that man may forget that it exists.—W. G. Jordan.

Dr. Wood's

Norway Pine Syrup

Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, Etc.

It stops that tickling in the throat, is pleasant to take and soothing and healing to the lungs. Mr. E. Bishop Brand, the well-known Galt gardener, writes:—I had a very severe attack of sore throat and tightness in the chest. Some times when I wanted to cough and could not I would almost choke to death. My wife got me a bottle of DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP, and to my surprise I found speedy relief. I would not be without it if it cost $1.00 a bottle, and I can recommend it to everyone bothered with a cough or cold.

Price 25 Cents.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Planting a few trees every fall or spring, as may be convenient, keeps up the supply of fruit.

The American persimmon makes a handsome tree ornamentally considered. It has dark green leaves that remain on late in the fall.

Carnations do not thrive in the shade and will not tolerate the presence of rank manure. They are easily grown in any good garden soil.

One secret of getting flowers from potted plants is to let the roots get pot-bound. When a plant can no longer keep on growing, it turns its energies toward producing flowers.

By yearly attention to pruning and by good feeding a shrub may be renewed from season to season and kept always strong. Old and weak wood should always be removed.

Ammonia is a plant stimulant, not a food. While it is useful to force plants into bloom and growth after the soil is exhausted, a fertilizer must be applied or the plant will use up its own vitality in bloom.

Antiquity of the Boomerang.

The boomerang, the Australian native's weapon of offense and defense, referred to in all reference works as an instrument unknown until after the discovery of Australia, was doubtless known before the time of Christ. Pliny the elder, a contemporary of our Saviour, writes as follows in his "Natural History" respecting an instrument made of the wood of the aquifolia:

"If a staff made of this wood, when thrown at an animal, from want of strength in the person throwing falls short of the mark, it will come back toward the thrower of its own accord, so remarkable are the properties of that tree."

It is altogether probable that the learned Pliny did not consider the shape of the "staff" and referred its peculiarities to the nature of the wood of which it was made.

Care In Choosing Glasses.

A dealer in optical instruments declared that it gave him real pain to note the careless manner in which half the persons in New York wear glasses. "It is a wonder to me," he said, "that they don't bring on blindness. In the first place, the frames should always be fitted to individual faces instead of being picked up indiscriminately without regard for facial peculiarities. The size of the lenses is another important consideration. Most of the glasses I see on the street are too small. They should be as large as the face of the wearer will permit, for a lens of good size not only affords better protection to the eye, but is more becoming than a smaller one. Another tribulation of the weak eyed is due to the reflection from the edges of unframed glasses. The eyelashes should be attended to in order to get the best results from a pair of spectacles. Many lashes are worn so long that they brush against the glass. This is decidedly injurious.

"He declined a nomination for alderman once."

THE NEED OF COURTESY.

It Is to Business and Society What Oil Is to Machinery.

If young people, especially in small towns, would form "courtesy clubs" or graft this idea upon existing organizations, it would result in great advantage not only to the young people belonging to such associations, but also to the towns themselves.

We find a great many men and women side tracked all along the pathways of life because they were not taught the value of good manners and of a fine, gracious courtesy in their youth. The result is that they have grown up hard and coarse and repulsive in manners and have not been able to win favor or attract trade or business. In other words, their bad manners and repulsive ways have kept them back and handicapped their careers.

It is astonishing how fine manners and politeness in children develop into ease and attractiveness in manhood and womanhood. Other things being equal the employee who is selected for advancement is the one with good manners, a fine, gracious demeanor, a good presence. These qualities are the best kind of capital, even better than money.

Everywhere we see young men and young women drawing big salaries largely because of their superior politeness. The fine mannered are wanted everywhere as superintendents, as salesmen, as traveling representatives, as clerks, as private secretaries or as credit men. In fact, agreeable deportment is the one indispensable quality sought after everywhere.

There is nothing else which will so quickly open the door to opportunities, to society, to the hearts of all.

Courtesy is to business and society what oil is to machinery. It makes things run smoothly, for it eliminates the jar and friction and the nerve racking noise.—Success.

A Lesson In Hospitality.

A curious instance of provincial hospitality in a small Tuscan town is recorded by Luigi Villari in "Italian Life In Town and Country."

A lady of very noble birth and of considerable wealth was giving a musical party—it was the first time she had invited friends to her house that season. The entertainment began at 2 p. m. and lasted till 7. No refreshments were provided for the guests, but at half past 4 a servant appeared and solemnly presented a cup of chocolate to the hostess and one to her mother. This, of course, would only be possible in a very provincial town. In the more civilized spots excellent refreshments are always offered to the guests.

A Scriptural Weapon.

Children tumble into strange morasses when they grapple with theology. They trip over words. For example, the other day a teacher at Stepney took for the Bible lesson the story of Samson. At the end of the lesson questions were put to test the understanding of the scholars. "With what weapon did Samson slay a thousand Philistines?" was the question. For a space there was silence. Then a little girl spoke up. "With the ax of the apostles," she said.—London Chronicle.

Dying by Slow Degrees.

Although not always aware of it yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Catarrhozone is the only remedy that will immediately prevent the spread of this awful disease. Every breath from the Inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration, and relieves the pain across the eyes. Catarrhozone erradicates every vestige of catarrh from the system, and is highly recommended also for Bronchitis, Asthma, Deafness and Lung Trouble. Price, $1; trial size, 25c.; all druggists. A handsome bachelor of Baltimore, well known in social and educational circles, acknowledges the truth of the following story: He was driving with a very pretty and attractive young woman when on the outskirts of the city they met a lad of about twelve years leading by a chain a singularly ugly but finely bred bull terrier. The pretty girl went into raptures over the dog, and her escort determined the animal should be hers.

"Say, sonny," he called, "what will you take for your dog?"

"Nawthing," replied the lad.

"Nonsense," cried Mr. Blank, "Here's $5 for him."

"No, I won't. This here dog ain't for sale."

"Ten," said Mr. Blank, and then, growing desperate, "fifteen, twenty." But the owner still refused.

All the time the conversation was going on the youth, although talking to the man in the buggy, kept his eyes fixed on the other occupant of the vehicle, and at last he said gravely:

"I don't want yer money, but if you'll just give that lady there a kiss you may have the dog."

Mr. Blank was speechless. He stared at the boy an instant and then put the whip to his horse, starting him off at a run.

The story goes that a mile was gone over without a word being spoken, when as the horse's rapid gait became slower as it turned down a country lane the pretty girl turned ever so slightly and said shyly, "Oh, Mr. Blank, why didn't you buy that dog?"

A New Piece of Music.

General Horace Porter, the American soldier, once asked Li Hung Chang for his photograph for his daughter. The Chinese statesman kindly complied with his request and, getting his paint pot and pencil, drew queer looking figures up and down the portrait. Handing it then to the general, he explained that the left hand column contained a list of his titles, while the right hand side bore a list of the posts he had filled. When he reached home, Porter gave the photograph to his little girl, saying: "Here's what you wanted. If you can't read it, probably you can play it on the piano!"

COUNTY COUNCIL ELECTIONS.

A Contest in Only one Division.

Seven Candidates in the Field in the Norwood Division.

The nominations for County Councillor for the County of Peterborough were held yesterday afternoon and resulted in the candidates being elected by acclamation in four out of the five divisions for the council.

No. 1 Division — A. E. Peck and T. J. Johnston.

No. 2 — G. W. Fitzgerald and Thos. H. Hunter.

No. 3 — Robert Shaw and John Menogue.

No. 4 — Two to be elected ont of seven nominated.

No. 5 — Dennis Moloney and Richard Crowe.

The County of Peterborough seems to have been pretty generally permeated with the Christmas spirit of peace, for as a result of the nominations for County Councillors yesterday of the five divisions there is a contest in only one division, all the others having elected their representatives by acclamation.

In No. 1, or Otonabee Division, the members elected are Mr. E. A. Peck, of Ashburnham, and Mr. T. J. Johnston. Mr. Peck has for several terms represented this division, while Mr. Johnston's experience in the Township Council, of what is generally regarded as the first township in the county, will fit him to be a successor to the veteran Mr. Anderson, whom duty has called to a larger sphere.

In No. 2, or Bridgenorth Division, both members were elected by acclamation. Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald is a seasoned member of the council, and Mr. Hunter possesses the experience and qualifications to make him a first-class representative. He has had eleven years' experience as Councilor and Reeve, and is deservedpopular in his township, as shown by the fact that in his last run for councillor he polled 95 per cent. of the popular vote. He is a levelheaded civic legislator and one would not be surprised if he took a successful shy at the Wardenship. Yesterday Mr. Paul Costello was also nominated, but he gracefully retired in favour of Mr. Hunter, who, two years ago, took the same generous attitude towards Mr. Costello.

In No. 3, or Lakehurst Division, the councillors were also elected by acclamation, Mr. R. Shaw and Mr. John Menogue. No. 3 Division has good reason to be well pleased with the result of the election. It has two excellent representatives. Mr. Shaw has been a member of the County Council for fourteen years, representing his township for eight years as reeve, and as representative of the Lakehurst Division for six years. He is a good, safe, steady man, and diligent in his devotion to his duties. Mr. John Menogue is a new member of the County Council, but has had eight years experience as councillor and reeve, two and six years respectively. He is personally very popular, having been elected for the past eight years, and yesterday, for the ninth time, by acclamation. The Examiner joins his friends in congratulations.

No. 4, or Norwood, or the Fighting Division, is putting up a seven-fold fight. There are no fewer than seven bona-fide candidates — Messrs. J. B. Pearce, James Andrews, Jos. Anderson, S. S. Joyce, Dr. Jeffs, H. W. T. Buck, and Wm. Curtis. With all this available material the electors can certainly put two good representatives in the council.

No. 5, or Lakefield Division, elected by acclamation Mr. Dennis Moloney and Richard Crowe. Mr. Moloney is new to the County Council, but of long experience as councillor and reeve in the township body. Mr. Crowe has been many years in municipal life in township and county.

They come unexpected and when least welcome. Be armed with a one-minute cure in a bottle of Nerviline, which relieves cramp and stomach pains in five minutes. In Colic, Summer Complaint, Diarrhoea, Indigestion and Nausea, Nerviline is a remedy of remarkable potency, and acts promptly and satisfactory at all times. ANOTHER CALL.

Rev. Mr. MacMillan, of St. Andrew's, Lindsay, may go to Winnipeg.

The expected has happened, says the Lindsay Post, and the members of St. Andrew's congregation, Lindsay, are carrying heavy hearts these joyous Christmas times because of a haunting fear that they are about to lose their beloved minister, Rev. J. W. Macmillan. St. Andrew's church, Winnipeg, have been casting about for a new minister. Their choice fell on Rev. Macmillan, and was made known by wire. In view of the fact that St. Andrew's minister had previously been pressed to take a prominent office in connection with North-west Missions, and that he is known to be deeply interested in the progress of Presbyterianism in the West, the members of the congregation feel that at last they are face to face with the one dangerous call of many, and that although their minister has not yet given his decision, the circumstances connected with the invitation to a field in which he is deeply interested will incline him to accept.

Tamarisk Timber.

Timber of the tamarisk wood has been found perfectly sound in the ancient temples of Egypt in connection with stonework which is known to be at least 4,000 years old.

Fitting a Cork.

It is commonly the way when one is trying to fit a large cork to a small bottle to get a knife and trim the cork. This is a waste of time, for it is only necessary to let the cork soak in boiling water for five minutes, and it will fit the neck of the bottle without any further trouble.

CHURCH LEADER GONE

Primate of All England Died on Tuesday of Old Age.

HE WAS A WISE ADMINISTRATOR

Death Was Anticipated For Some Days—Discussion as to His Successor—An Active Career Outlined—A Prelate Who Was Fair to All Sections of His Church—A Peaceful End.

London, Dec. 24.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Reverend Frederick Temple, Primate of All England, passed away quite peacefully at 8.15 o'clock yesterday in the presence of his wife and two sons. His death was anticipated for some days, and only the Archbishop's remarkable vitality enabled him to counteract his extreme weakness. The final collapse occurred about 6 o'clock, and he was unconscious towards the end. The primate died of old age.

tions of his failing strength. Then came the collapse in the House of Lords at the conclusion of a vigorous speech in support of the education bill. He had not left his bed since.

The Bishop of Winchester is considered likely to be his successor.

The funeral of the Archbishop will take place Saturday at noon in Canterbury Cathedral.

Sketch of His Life.

Frederick Temple was the son of the late Major Temple, Lieutenant-Governor of Sierra Leone, and was born on Nov. 30, 1821. He was educated at Blundell's School, Tiverton, and the "Eton of the West" has never sent forth a more distinguished dignitary of the church. From Blundell's he went up with a scholarship to Balliol, Oxford. There he took a double first, and attained the still higher distinction of a fellowship. His time at Oxford has, not unfairly, been described as the golden age of faith, for the acutest intellects in the university then found their highest powers developed within the region of Christianity. Prof. Schairp commemorates in graceful verse the Balliol scholars of his generation, and Frederick Temple has not been found undeserving of the eulogy pronounced upon him. He graduated in 1842, and was ordained by Bishop Wilberforce in 1846. Two years later he was appointed to the Principalship of the Government Training College at Kneller Hall, Twickenham. He was there for nine years, but resigned in 1855, and worked for some time as an inspector of schools. Mr. Temple's great opportunity came in 1858, when he was appointed head master of Rugby in succession to Dr. Goulburn. Successive generations of Rugby boys have recalled with more or less inaccuracy stories of Dr. Temple's rule. He was beyond question an autocrat of singular sternness, but those who felt his sternness most knew that he was also just.

While at Rugby, with six others, he published "Essays and Reviews," which raised a storm because of its alleged rationalism. There was strenuous opposition when he was appointed Bishop of Exeter by Mr. Gladstone. But his ability soon discredited criticism, and in 1885 he was called to be Bishop of London. One characteristic of him has been that he has been eminently fair to all classes of churchmen among his clergy.

MR. BRUNET WILL APPEAL.

Unseated and Disqualified For Montreal Will Contest the Judgment of Superior Court—Will Occupy Seat.

Montreal, Dec. 24. — Mr. Joseph Brunet, ex-M.P., will appeal to the Supreme Court against the judgment of the Superior Court, by which he was declared unseated and disqualified. The appeal will be based upon certain alleged illegal procedure on the part of the contestant in failing to produce the original record in the case, and also because the judgment is claimed to be unjust. The defendant holds that in a constituency with 12,000 voters the sum of $2,500, which was expended in connection with the election, was not sufficiently large to warrant the court in presuming that it was applied to corrupt purposes, especially when the defendant candidate had so short a time to prepare for his election. Mr. Solomon Roy, counsel for Mr. Brunet, stated that the appeal would be filed within the eight days required by law, but it was not probable that judgment would be rendered before March, until which time Mr. Brunet would occupy his seat in the House.

MR. WHITNEY ANXIOUS.

A New Registration in Stratford on Tuesday at His Request.

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Manhood suffrage registration was held at Stratford yesterday in connection with the North Perth bye-election. This step was taken at the request of Mr. Whitney, although registration was held there previous to the last general election.

Lennox Appeal Jan. 7.

Toronto, Dec. 24.—The date for the Lennox election appeal has been fixed for Jan. 7 at Osgoode Hall. The appeal is based on the contention that the Conservative candidate paid one Whisken $1.50 for cleaning out a hall, which was 50c. more than the usual price for that work, and also that he hired livery rigs at an extra price.

The South Oxford case will be heard subsequently.

MOROCCO TROOPS DEFEATED.

Pretender to Throne Cuts Off Heads of Forty Soldiers.

Tangier, Morocco, Dec. 24. — The Imperial troops have been totally defeated after a sanguinary battle with the rebels, headed by the pretender to the throne. The latter decapitated forty of the Sultan's soldiers. Their heads are now ornamenting his tent.

Imperial reinforcements have been sent to attempt the capture of Taza, the headquarters of the Pretender. Incensed by the successes of the rebels the Sultan has ordered his soldiers to spare no one at Taza, in spite of the advice of the chiefs who counselled him not to indulge in excesses.

Pretender Has Fled.

London, Dec. 24.—In a despatch from Tangier dated yesterday a correspondent of The Daily Mail says the Sultan's troops have entered Taza, and that the Pretender has fled to the Chiatta Hills.

David Scrimger Dead.

Galt, Dec. 24. — David Scrimger died Monday night, aged 60. He was a retired grocer.

Hurt at a Fire.

St. Jacob, Mo., Dec. 24.—Two girls were fatally and several others seriously hurt in a fire yesterday in the candy factory of Chase & Son. They jumped from a third storey window.

SAXONY'S SENSATION.

Elopement of Crown Princess With French Master Hinted At.

COURT FINDS EXCUSES FOR HER

Says She Was Terrorized by Prof. Giron and Yielded to His Threats—Had Taken the Name of Fraulein Von Oben—Her Brother the Archduke Is With Her at the Same Hotel.

Geneva, Switzerland, Dec. 24.—The Crown Princess of Saxony is here under the name of Fraulein Von Oben. Her brother, Archduke Leopold Ferdinand, and Professor Giron, are at the same hotel. The Archduke has assumed the name of Dubarionio. The party are living quietly and propose to spend Christmas here.

Conduct Is Excused.

Munich, Bavaria, Dec. 24.—The court here excuses the conduct of the Crown Princess of Saxony, alleging she was terrorized by Prof. Giron and yielded to his threats.

Court Is Dissolved.

Berlin, Dec. 24.—A despatch from Dresden this evening to The Lokal Anzeiger confirms previous advices from Geneva, Switzerland, to the effect that the Crown Princess is in Geneva with Professor Giron, a French teacher of languages, whom she met during her last trip to Paris. He is described as 24 years of age, and "a striking personality, with large bright eyes."

All the theatres in Dresden were closed last night. The court of the fugitive Princess has been dissolved. The Tageblatte Dresden correspondent says:

"The difficulty between the Princely couple dates from prior to King Albert's death. They had several painful scenes during the King's illness.

It is reported here that the Crown Prince's recent accident, ostensibly the breaking of one of his legs while hunting in the Bavarian mountains near Salzburg, was an invention, the fact being that he had a fight with his brother-in-law. Archduke Leopold Ferdinand, and the Crown Prince was so badly handled that he had to take to his bed and return to Dresden so soon as he was able.

"The Saxon Ministers say the affair is closed, so far as the Dresden court is concerned.

"The letters of the Crown Princess have been seized. She is expected to give birth to a child in May."

Newfoundland Wants Marconi.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 24.—Mr. Marconi has sent a telegram to Premier Bond setting forth the complete success of his experiments looking to the transmission of wireless messages between Cape Breton and England. Marconi says he remembers with gratitude the encouragement he received from Newfoundland a year ago. In his reply to Marconi the Premier expressed the hope that when the charter of the Anglo-American Company expires in April, 1904, Mr. Marconi will establish a fixed wireless station here.

Guilty of Holding Up.

Winnipeg, Dec. 24.—Jacobz Kreeger, a young Mennonite, resident of the town of Niverville, Man., was convicted yesterday at the Police Court of the serious offence of attempting to hold up George Martz, a farmer, residing about two miles from the town on the night of Dec. 18.

FROM LIVE LAKEFIELD.

Death of Mrs. Richard Hill—The Curling Rink—Grove School Closed.

Dr. A. Bell and Mr. Menogue of Apsley were in the village on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Buchart, and Master George, left on Tuesday for Owen Sound, where they will spend Christmas.

Lakefield lost one of its oldest and best known residents on Wednesday, when Mrs. Richard Hill passed away after a lingering illness. The funeral took place on Friday to the Hill side cemetery, and was largely attended. Mrs. Hill left to mourn her loss, six sons and five daughters, all of whom are well known in the village. Mrs. Hill had reached the ripe age of seventy-nine years and six months, and enjoyed good health till near the last.

Messrs Clare Bravender and Stewart Fraser, who have been attending the Collegiate Institute at Peterborough are home for the Christmas vacation.

The Grove School is closed for the holidays, but will open again about January 6th.

Master Playter Sherin, who has been seriously ill, has, we are pleased to say, much improved, and hopes are now held for his speedy recovery.

Mr. Fred Bravender of Peterborough, was in the village on Tuesday.

On Tuesday and Wednesday evening of last week the Ladies' Guild of St. John's church, held a very successful concert and bazaar. Many useful and fancy articles were disposed off by the young ladies in charge, and a very laughable farce and pantominic entertainment was given on the stage, which amused the audience greatly. The Ladies' Guild were well satisfied with the result, as they cleared about $175.

Miss Myrtle Fitzgerald, who has been confined to the house for a couple of weeks with a severe cold, is able to be about again.

Mr. Levi Payne is making good progress with ice in the rink, and if the weather keeps cold we shall soon have the rink running in full blast.

Mr. Joe Lemay of Rapid City, N. W.T., is visiting friends in the village.

BENSFORT NEWS NOTES.

Owing to the very icy state of the roads there have been several of our citizens meet with severe falls, but escaped with only a few bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Blakely entertained quite a number of their friends last week by giving them the pleasure of dancing till daylight the next morning. Mr. David Chambers furnished the music.

Thos. Truscott and wife are visiting Mrs. Walter Finnie.

Wm. Deyell and wife are visiting at the home of Mr. Wm. Smithson.

Charlie Smith, who has been ill for some time, is recovering under the skilful treatment of Dr. Turner, of Millbrook.

Frank and Russell Morrison have gone to visit friends in Western Ontario for a few weeks.

Miss Louise Waterman, who has been attending school in Ottawa, returned home on Saturday.

The prayer meeting held in the hall on Wednesday night was largely attended.

The pigeon shoot held at Samuel Blakely's was very closely contested. Charley Stirton carried off first honours and Tom Armstrong, second.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Constipation.

NOBODY IS EXEMPT.

A New Preparation Which Everyone Will Need Sooner or Later.

Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more or less, and the commonest thing that they can do for it, is to take some one of the many so called purifiers, which in many cases, are merely strong cathartics. Such things are not needed. If the organs are in a clogged condition, they need only a little help, and they will right themselves. Cathartics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels, and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one or two Tablets —give them needed help, and you will have no trouble.

It's a common sense medicine and a common sense treatment and it will cure every time; not only cure the disease but cure the cause. Goes about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific way.

We have testimonials enough to fill a book, but we don't publish many of them. However, Mrs. E. M. Faith, of Byrd's Creek, Wis., says: "I have taken all the Tablets I got of you and they have done their work well in my case, for I feel altogether like a different person. I do not doubt if I had not got them I should have been at rest by this time."

H. E. Willard, Onslow, Ia., says:— "Mr. White of Canton, was telling me of your Dyspepsia Tablets curing him of Dyspepsia from which he suffered for eight years. As I am a sufferer myself I wish you to send me a package by return mail."

Phil Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your Dyspepsia Cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from Dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured, and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

It will cost fifty cents to find out just how much Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will help you. Try them —that's the best way to decide."

OMEMEE TIDINGS.

County Council Nominations—Night Watch Services to be Held.

The village is quite lively during the sleighing which has not nearly disappeared here.

There were quite a few attended the nomination for commissioners today. Mr. Robinson having resigned. Those who have been nominated for new commissioners are, — Wm. Adams, Omemee; Thos. H. McQuade, Omemee; Dennis Scully, Downeyville; Wm. Reed, Reaboro.

The sudden death of the late Mrs. Robert Boats on last Thursday, cast quite a gloom over the village. The funeral was largely attended on Saturday.

Mr. James Nugent, aged 83, died very suddenly last Thursday. He was a quiet and much respected man. The deceased leaves three sons to mourn his loss. One living in Millbrook and the other two here.

It is expected that a number of our farmers will take in the excursion to Berlin on the 30th Dec. They are becoming more and more interested in raising sugar beets.

A large number of Christmas visitors are expected, some having already arrived.

The Christmas services in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches were well attended Sunday, and the music was bright and cheerfully rendered, whilst the sermons were most appropriate.

There will be night watch and special services on next Sunday.

The Presbyterian tea and concert New Year's evening, presents a nice outing and sleigh ride for pleasure seekers from outside places. There will be ample accommodation for all.

A STORY WITH A SEQUEL.

Mrs. Barnett's Sufferings Happily Ended by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

That was Four Years ago and now she is able to say, "The Cure was Permanent."

Plattsville, Ont, Dec. 22.—(Special)—"The cure was permanent." In this one short sentence Mrs. J. Barnett of this place gives the sequel to a long tale of suffering and misery. It is about four years since Mrs. Barnett gave to the public the story of her sufferings and their happy ending. In view of the sequel given above it is well worth repeating:

"I had been ailing for years," said Mrs. Barnett. "My symptoms were Nervousness, Rheumatism in the left arm, pains in the small of the back, up the spinal column and back of the head, through the eyes, left side of the body and occasionally the right side. I grew weak, for I had no appetite and I could not sleep. I was a physical wreck.

"I was treated by the doctors, but their medicines afforded me no relief. Then I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before I had finished one box there was an improvement in my condition. My appetite returned, the pain was lessened, and I was able to sleep. I took twelve boxes and was completely cured. I ascribe my recovery to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Tried to Hang Himself.

St. Thomas, Dec. 23.—Joseph Thomas Bray is under arrest, charged with attempted sucide. Joseph Gillard, a restaurant keeper, says that Bray, when in his house, got up on a chair and tied his braces to a hook on the wall, afterwards fixing them around his neck and jumping off a chair with suicidal intentions. The suspenders broke and frustrated Bray's rash idea. Bray says he comes from Toronto, having left there three weeks ago.

The Day of Miracles

Is past, but many who are cured of itching, bleeding or protruding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment look upon their recovery as next thing to miraculous. It is not uncommon for persons who have undergone painful, risky and expensive operations in vain to be finally cured by this wonderful ointment. It is the standard the world over and the only guaranteed cure for piles.

BROTHER KILLED BY BROTHERS.

Say They Thought He Was a Burglar—Very Extraordinary Circumstances About This Case.

Onondaga, Ont., Dec. 24.—Wesley Watson was instantly killed yesterday morning by his brothers. He was mistaken for a burglar. The story of the tragedy is a curious one. The coroner is investigating.

The affair occurred on a farm near Middleport. Samuel and James Watson conduct the farm. The victim lives in Detroit. Monday night he came home to spend Christmas. It was late, and when the brothers heard him approaching they assert that they thought he was a burglar. They ran to a window in the rear, climbed out, and fled to a neighbor's where they remained all night.

Wesley Watson entered the house, and, finding no one at home, went to bed. The brothers spent the night at the neighbor's. Early yesterday morning they returned to the house. They carried with them each a shotgun. They entered the room in which their brother was sleeping. As they came in he raised up and they instantly fired at him. They again left the house without ascertaining the identity of their victim and returned with the neighbors. They found they had killed their brother. Death was instantaneous.

The two brothers are men over thirty years of age, and just how they could become so frightened over the approach of one man is not clearly understood. They say they thought they were about to be attacked by burglars.

Onondaga is about 12 miles from Brantford.

THE HOLY FATHER SICK.

The Pope Seized When Receiving the Cardinals—For a Time He Was Incapable of Speech.

London, Dec. 24.—The Exchange Telegraph Company says:

"The Pope was suddenly taken ill while receiving the cardinals yesterday. For a time he was incapable of speech. When the address was over he was carried from the throne and put to bed."

Reception of the Cardinals.

There was a picturesque scene in the Pope's private library at noon yesterday, when all the cardinals living in Rome gathered there to present the Pontiff with their Christmas greetings. All the visitors wore their gorgeous red robes. Cardinal Santo Stefano, as Doyen of the Sacred College, read the congratulatory address. The Pope spoke at some length in reply, and expressed keen sorrow at the fact that his jubilee year was embittered by painful events, referring evidently to the divorce bill. The Pontiff, in this connection, remarked:

"What they want is the fall of Christian order and the reconstitution of the States on the basis of Pagan naturalism."

The Pope pleaded for a spread of Christian democracy "on the lines preached by the church to oppose the seditious socialist democracy which acknowledges no God."

After receiving the apostolic benediction, the cardinals withdrew.

Health for Women.

"Few things are more important to a community than the health of its women. If strong in the frame of the mother says a proverb, the sons will give laws to the people." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is especially women's medicine. By its action on the blood and nerves it gives strength and vigour to the delicate feminine organs and ensures their regular and healthful functions. It gives colour to the pale, strength to the weak, and a rounded form to the thin and angular.

Fear For Steamship Minnetonka.

Boston, Dec. 24.—Shipping circles are discussing the whereabouts of the steamship Minnetonka. She left England Nov. 30, coal laden, for this port. She was sighted Dec. 13 by the Dominion Liner Colonial, flying distress signals. This was about 900 miles from Halifax, in the path of navigation. Since that day nothing has been seen of the Minnetonka.

Nord Took the Oath.

Port Au Prince, Dec. 24. — Gen. Nord, the newly elected President of the Haytian Republic, took the oath to support the constitution yesterday. After this ceremony he attended the rendering of a solemn Te Deum in the Cathedral.

ROOSEVELT WAITING.

Messages of Powers Have Not Reached Washington.

AWAITING THE FORMAL REQUEST

View of the British Liberal Leader—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman Denounces the Government For Being Led Into the Difficulty—Urges Arbitration—Allies Accused of Working With Rebels.

Washington, Dec. 24.—The Cabinet had a long session yesterday. Secretary Hay brought to the meeting practically nothing new relating to the situation. No response has been received to the President's original suggestion to the powers, that they consent to the reference of the Venezuelan controversy to the arbitration of The Hague Tribunal, and no formal request had been received that the President act as arbitrator of the difficulty.

C.-B. Scores Government.

London, Dec. 24. — Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, in an address delivered at Dunfermline last night, said there was no excuse for the Government in having allowed Great Britain to "glide" into the present position in Venezuela. "It is a paltry quarrel," declared the speaker, "with a bankrupt, distracted and rickety state, and if ever there was a case arbitration this is one."

Working With Rebels.

Caracas, Dec. 24.—The Port of Coro, which is surrounded on the land side by the revolutionists, is not blockaded. In Caracas this fact is taken as proof of previous assertions that the British and German fleets are working in harmony with the revolutionists and not blockading Coro, in order to allow the free entrance of Dutch schooners from Curacoa bringing arms and ammunition to the rebels.

President Castro will leave the capital to-day for La Victoria, where the revolutionists under Gen. Matos were recently defeated by Government forces.

Correspondents Arriving.

Caracas, Dec. 24.—The Red "D" Line U. S. steamer Caracas safely entered the harbor of La Guayra at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. The mail and passengers were landed at 10 o'clock. The captain of the British cruiser Tribune notified the commander of the Caracas, that throughout her stay at La Guayra, she must leave the harbor every night. This measure is regarded as vexatious, and causes great expense to the owners of the steamer. There were five newspaper correspondents on board the Caracas.

Can't Enter the Port.

La Guayra, Dec. 24.—The steamer Caracas will not be permitted to enter Puerto Cabello. She will be obliged to land the remainder of her cargo at Willemstad, Curacao. The Caracas left her berth before 6 o'clock, last night, and anchored outside the breakwater. Passengers of neutral countries only will be allowed to go on board. The allies have advised the foreign consuls here that steamers reaching La Guayra before Dec. 30, will be allowed to enter the port and discharge their cargo during the day, but they will not be allowed to take cargo aboard. This ruling has created much dissatisfaction here, as it tends to reduce the opportunities of the Stevedores to make wages. There is no export duty on goods shipped from Venezuela, the ruling, therefore, does not affect the Government. All mail steamers reaching here after Dec. 30 will be boarded from the blockading squadron, and neutral passengers and the mails will be sent ashore under a flag of truce. No exceptions to this rule in the matter of nationality will be made.

A schooner which attempted to enter port last night was captured.

Puerto Cabello Shut Up.

Puerto Cabello, Dec. 24.—This port has been successfully blockaded since Monday. The blockade is being enforced against vessels of all nationalities.

BRITISH COMING TO CANADA.

Figures For Eleven Months Show an Increasing Number.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—A Board of Trade return, giving the statistics of emigration from the British Isles for the eleven months ending November 30, was received at the Department of Trade and Commerce yesterday. According to these official figures, 105,103 emigrants of British origin left the shores of the British Isles for the United States and 25,519 for British North America. This is an increase of 3,441 in the former case and of 10,184 in the latter, as compared with the eleven months of the previous year. Of the immigrants to the United States 55,901 were English, 37,341 Irish and 11,861 Scotch. Of the immigrants to British North America 20,492 were English, 3,595 Scotch and 1,482 Irish.

Halifax, N. S. Dec. 24.—Senator Primrose died at Pictou Monday night.

The late Senator was 72 years of age and was appointed to the Senate in 1892. He was a Conservative in politics. He had been for years a prominent man in public and business affairs in Nova Scotia. This leaves five vacancies in the Senate.

YOU CAN TEST THE KIDNEYS

And Find out for Yourself Whether or not you are Becoming a Victim of Painful, Fatal Kidney Disease.

It is not necessary for you to consult a specialist on kidney disease to find out if you are a victim of this dreadful derangement. You can test your kidneys at home, and satisfy yourself on this point.

Allow some urine to stand in a glass for twenty-four hours, and if at the end of that time you find sediment in the bottom of the vessel you can be sure that your kidneys are diseased.

Pains in the small of the back, and smarting when urinating, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, loss of flesh and strength, are other marked symptoms which indicate kidney disorders. Make this test for yourself. Consider whether you have any of these symptoms, and if you conclude that your kidneys are out of order begin at once to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They will bring prompt relief and will thoroughly cure you.

On account of their direct action on the kidneys Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure ailments of the kidneys when ordinary kidney medicines fail. They have proven their efficacy in many thousands of cases, and are endorsed by more people than any other kidney medicine extant.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years section foreman and now flagman for the G.T.R. at Peterborough, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was section foreman on the G.T.R. and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work.

"During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

Disease Stamped Out.

Prof. James Law of Cornell Says So of Foot and Mouth.

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 24.—Prof. James Law, director of the Cornell Veterinary College, who has spent some time in conjunction with the Federal authorities investigating the hoof and mouth disease among cattle in the eastern sections of the country, said yesterday that in his opinion the disease was now practically stamped out. He regards the danger of another break as slight.

Completely Purged out.

The world is full of sickly, despondent, tired, enervated people, all hoping to be well some day. The surest road to health is along the way of taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone is a great appetizer and enables one to eat plenty of wholesome food without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia. This results in the rapid formation of an abundance of red, vitalizing blood, which will restore the nerves, increase flesh and vigor, and nourish and feed every organ of the body. Ferrozone is an ideal restorative and invigorant. It is a tonic of unequalled merit that anyone can use with benefit. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

BANKERS: THE ONTARIO BANK.

TRUSTEES: THE TORONTO GENERAL TRUSTS CORPORATION.

Purposes and Objects of the Company.

This Company was organized for the purposes set forth in their Charter, under the Ontario Companies' Act, namely, to manufacture, sell, and deal in Henderson Roller Bearings, and other bearings, end thrusts, and running parts, and to manufacture bicycles, motor carriages, car wheels, shaftings, cylinders, wheel parts, and attachments of every kind capable of being used with the said Roller Bearings, and to take over the patents and rights to manufacture the same.

To carry out the purpose above mentioned, the Company proposes to equip a factory for the manufacture of these Bearings, and the parts above mentioned, so as to place the same on the market in all forms at as early a date as possible.

Field of Operation.

The demand for Power-saving Devices has never been greater than at present. to Reduce friction is to create power, without any extra expense. The Henderson Roller Bearing is the most effective and durable power saver in existence. By actual testing a saving of 75 per cent. of power has been effected under heavy weight, while in many instances a much greater saving has been shown. With its application to rolling stock of railways, both steam and electric, to mill shafting, vehicles of all classes, whether light or heavy, stationary engines, and journals of all descriptions, its value in the mechanical world cannot be overestimated.

Patents.

Several Patents have been issued fully covering and protecting the various forms of the Bearings. The Company is taking over these Patents for Canada, and the right to use the "Henderson End Thrust Bearing" in connection therewith.

Merits of the Bearing.

This Bearing provides bearing surface proportional to the weight to be carried. The rollers are held in perfect alignment by anti-friction devices, which are effective and durable, and the end thrust is received in such a manner that there is practically no friction between the bearing parts, so that durability, adaptability, and antifrictional qualities are combined more perfectly in this than in any form of bearing ever presented to the public. We herewith present a cut of one of our Bearing, which has demonstrated in, various ways, a marvelous reduction of friction.

Equipment.

The Company is arranging for a large factory, and will equip the same with the latest improved automatic machinery, specially adapted for the economic manufacture of the various parts of these Bearings, so that, with the minimum amount of expenditure for wages, the greatest amount of product, uniform in quality, may result. Within a short period Bearings can be supplied in all standard sizes, for carriages, bicycles, automobiles, shafting, street car journals, and railroad boxings, and also adapted for any special forms that may be required. The Company will be in a position to supply Bearings for the coming season.

Prospects and Profits.

The profits of the Company will be obtained from the direct sale of the Bearings as manufactured, from the sale of rights to various corporations, such as railroads, etc.

Some conception of the prospect of the Company may be obtained when it is stated that there are, in the Dominion of Canada, upwards of 80,000 cars on the steam railways, having approximately 800,000 journals; and upwards of 3,000 cars on the electrical railways, having approximately 30,000 journals; and upwards of 90,000 factories with numberless journals, besides the scores of thousands of reaping and threshing machines in use on farms; and the hundreds of thousands of wagons, carriages, bicycles, and other rolling vehicles.

The saving in the item of Lubrication alone is a matter of great moment, when one of the railways expends about $100,000 per year for this purpose.

The foregoing, when taken in conjunction with the prospective increase in railway construction and erection of factories, furnishes a prospective field unequaled.

As soon as the merits of the Bearings become known, the owners and users of all classes of machinery, railway rolling stock, and vehicles will insist on having them applied.

It would require to be applied to but a very small percentage of the journals above referred to, and at a small profit in each case, to give a very handsome dividend for the Shareholders.

The Company is now offering for subscription, at par value, a block of 3,000 Shares, upon which a cash payment of 25 per cent. will be required, and an additional 25 per cent. on the 15th day of January, 1903, the balance at the call of the Directors.

Cheques on account of Stock may be made payable to the Trustees.
For booklet and further information write the Head Office of the Company.

Our Best Wishes

TO our thousands of generous patrons and friends all over the province, who have helped to make this the most successful year in the annals of this Big Store, the proprietors and managers heartily extend their best wishes for a Merry Christmas.

We felicitate ourselves on being permitted to share so largely in the joys of helping Santa Claus to fill numberless stockings, with seasonable and lasting presents out of the Wonderful Cheap Men's stores of abundance.

The hum at Gough Bros. has been of no uncertain sound—so much so, that not only "Always good at Gough's", but "We're making things hum at Gough's" have become trite and truthful bywords.

To everybody the glad hand is extended. Out of the crush of trade and hum of business we are glad to pause and help in the holiday rejoicings of another Yuletide season.

Gratefully yours,

GOUGH BROS.

ANOTHER DEATH.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Elliott, of No. 100 London Street, Mourn Death of a Daughter.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Elliott, No. 100 London street, will regret most exceedingly to learn that they have lost another of their family by death. Their bright little daughter Miss Katie, aged 8 years, died last night after an illness of 10 days of Scarlet fever. This makes the second death in Mr. Elliott's family within the past week, he having just been left to mourn the loss of a promising young son.

The funeral took place at 2.30 o'clock to Little Lake Cemetery to-day.

LATE MRS. DOIG.

Her Death Occurred This Morning After an Illness of Ten Weeks.

The friends of Mr. David Doig are sympathizing with him in the bereavement he has sustained in the death of his wife which occurred this morning after an illness of 10 weeks of diphtheria which turned to hemorrhage.

The deceased was 51 years of age and was the daughter of the late John Rosseau. She was married 27 years ago to Mr. Doig. The fruit of their marriage being a family of nine—four sons and five daughters. The sons are Messrs. David, of Verginnia; James, N.W.T.; Frederick and Herbert, Peterborough. The daughters are Mrs. A. Morrow, Toronto; Mrs. J. Shannon, Peterborough, and Miss Clara, Annie and Lillie, at home.

Funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon from the family residence, No. 43 Smith street, to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

MR. MAHOOD'S PUPILS

Remembered Him by Presenting him With a Handsome rug.

Mr. John Mahood, teacher at School Section No. 1, Smith, was handsomely remembered by his pupils at the close of the present school term. The pupils and their perents assembled at his home on Friday evening and made the presentation. Miss Jessie Swanton read the address and Miss Edith Elliott made the presentation of a very handsome ring. Mr. Mahood made a very feeling reply in which he thanked the scholars most heartily for their kindness towards him.

Brief remarks were also made by Mr. J. E. Middleton and G. A. Reid. Mr. Mahood has been teacter at this section for four years and is now leaving.

ACKERMAN'S HARNESS.

Big Shipment to the Northwest Where They are in Great Demand.

Yesterday Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co., shipped a carload of harness and horse collars, the product of their hustling establishment, to Alberta, Assiniboia, near Duck Lake, the scene of a battle in the "unpleasantries" of 1885. The weight of the shipment was nearly 13 tons. This firm does a very large trade with the North-west which is increasing as settlement progresses. This demand is a practical tribute to the high character of the goods produced by this enterprising firm. It is also a proof of how the settlement of a country, though far distant, stimulates trade in every part of the province. This applies to development of the North-west as well as to the development of our own New Ontario. Every new settler means a new source of demand for the manufactured products of the manufacturing section of Ontario.

GAVE HIM A SEND-OFF.

Mr. L. D. Letellier Will Spend the Winter in Quebec With Friends.

Mr. L. D. Letellier, has sold his handsome residence on Lansdowne avenue, and intends spending the winter with relatives in Quebec. Mr. Letellier has been a resident of Peterborough for the past 26 years, and has been quite successful in business as a meat merchant. He has within the last year or two erected seven houses in Peterborough, and has always laboured in the interests of the town. He is now taking a well deserved rest, and previous to his departure from Peterborough for the winter he was given a hearty send-off by his friends. He was made the recipient of an address, in which they expressed the hope that he may have continued prosperity in the future.

TWO PRESENTATIONS.

A Pleasant Time Spent Last Evening.

The residence of Mrs. Jas. Stubbs was last night the scene of much enjoyment, the occasion being the annual reception of her Sunday school class. The early part of the evening was spent in games, etc., followed by refreshments. A very interesting quartette was then given by the Night Owls, which was, to say the least, a howling success. The opportunity was then taken by the members of the class to present their teacher, Mrs. Stubbs, with an address, accompanied by a beautiful rocking chair.

The recipient acknowledged the gift in a suitable manner, and thanked her class for their kind remembrance.

A mock trial was then put on which added materially to the pleasure of the evening. This came to a climax when another address was read to Mrs. Stubbs by the Night Owls, who made her the recipient of a handsome carving set. This gift was also suitably acknowledged.

The evening was then brought to a close, everyone agreeing that it was always fair weather when the Night Owls get together.

TEACHER REMEMBERED.

Miss Middleton of Elmdale School was the Recipient of a Presentation.

On Friday afternoon a number of the parents and friends assembled at Elmvale school to bid farewell to their teacher. At the close of a programme prepared by the pupils for their usual closing, the following address was read:

Dear Teacher, — It is with pleasure we meet here this afternoon and look back on the many pleasant memories we have of the past year in our intercourse with you as teacher.

We have also deep feelings of regret, as we have come to say good-bye and to wish you every success in your future field of life. We cannot let you go without telling you how much we have appreciated you personally, and as a willing and efficient helper in our school.

As a slight token of our sincere friendship we ask you to accept this silver sugar bowl, tea spoon holder, and spoons, to remind you of the days you spent at Elmvale school. May God's richest blessing go with you, and may He guide and protect you in all your ways.

Signed on behalf of the school,
MAGGIE LYNCH,
BERTHA ARMSTRONG

The teacher although taken completely by surprise, found words to thank her pupils for their kind remembrance, and regretted having to part with such dear friends. The afternoon was brought pleasantly to a close by the distribution of some good things to eat.

THIS MORNING'S MARKET.

Fowl was Very High, Especially Geese.

On the outside market to-day the attendance was not very large, but that in the building was, for a Wednesday, very large. The produce offered consisted of turkeys, geese, chickens, with an occasional duck and small quantities of butter and eggs. The price of fowl, and of geese especially, was enormous, an ordinary sized goose sold for $1.00 to $1.15, while some of the larger ones brought as high as $1.30. Other fowl was proportionately high, one turky sold for $2.50, but this one weighed some 25 lbs. Many sold to butchers and local dealers at a slightly reduced rate rather than wait for single sales, but otherwise the prices were high and the town people bought freely.

QUIETLY MARRIED.

Mr. W. B. Dummitt and Miss Jennie Graham, Both of Town.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at All Saint's church at 8 o'clock this morning, when Miss Jennie Graham was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. W. E. Dummitt, both of town. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. W. L. Armitage. The bride was attended by Miss Lottie Cunningham, whilst Mr. Fred Dummitt, brother of the groom was best man. The newly married couple left at 8.30 o'clock per G.T.R. on their honeymoon, and on their return will reside on Sherbrooke street.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

To all the Readers of the Examiner.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

—St. Luke, ii, 8-14.

AN OTONABEE WEDDING

At the Residence of Mr. C. Edwards Last Night.

A very pretty house wedding took place on Tuesday evening, at the residence of Mr. Charles Edwards, of Otonabee, the contracting parties being his daughter, Miss Maggie, and Mr. Fred Doughty, son of Mr. W. J. Doughty, of Peterborough.

The solemn ceremony was performed at 6.30 p.m., by Rev. Mr. Secombe of Keene.

The bride was attired in a gown of white organdie, trimmed with lace, and the customary veil, and was assisted by her cousin, Miss Bessie Edwards, who wore a dress of pink silk, trimmed with white-over-lace, while Mr. Percy Doughty supported the groom.

After the wedding dejeuner, Mr. and Mrs. Doughty left for Toronto and points west, and on their return will reside in Peterborough.

Numerous and costly presents bore silent testmony to the esteem in which both bride and groom are held and among these was a splendid silver tea service, the gift of the grrom to the bride.

AN EXCITING RUN

From Ashburnham to Peterborough This Morning.

An exciting runaway took place this morning from Ashburnham to Peterborough, and it is only by good fortune that the end did not come with one or more fatalities, instead of a few people injured.

A horse belonging to Mr. William Moher, father of Dr. Moher, formerly of town, took fright in front of the store of Mr. J. C. Sullivan. In the cutter were Mr. Moher, his son, and daughter. The cutter upset near the corner of Stewart street, and Mr. Moher and the two children were thrown out with rather serious consequences. Mr. Moher and the two children were removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, by Comstock's ambulance, and it was found that the boy had his leg broken, and the girl was badly shaken up and cut around the head. The father was injured in the side, but whether any ribs were broken is not known as yet. Continuing its wild flight, the frightened animal ran career, the frightened animal ran across the bridge and up Hunter street on the keen gallop, until it reached the corner of Hunter and Water streets.

For Boys Over Twelve.

Every year a large number of parents and friends of boys, have presented the latter with Y.M.C.A. membership tickets for a year. There could be no better Christmas gift or one that would mean more, be thought more of, be more used, or bring better returns on the small amount of the fee. Parents and friends of boys are asked to consider this in securing presents. There are hundreds of boys in town who should be getting the benefit of the finely equipped building. It is for them all.

Last Minute Reminders.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" Tomorrow, the 1902nd anniversary of the birth of our Blessed Lord, it will fall from millions of tongues, in millions of homes, in all the Christian lands of the earth. This cheering greeting will salute the dawning day, as the earth rolls into light. "For unto us a Child is born, for unto us a Son is given,"—the herald of peace and good-will to man—when the great supreme Gift came to man—in whose name unnumbered gifts will to-morrow be given and received The Christmas spirit falls upon us all and tempers the rude realities of life, the strenuous materialism which engrosses our energies the other three hundred and sixty-four days of the year.

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" — In countless homes the time-honoured stockings, little and great, will hang in the chimney corner — that of the chubby child, the lad and lass, that of the maturer maiden, which no matter how costly or rare the gift, will in the eye of love hold nothing more beautiful and shapely than its diurnal denizen. How frivolously sweet and significant are the Christmas gifts that come into our stockings — figurative or real. They are only types of the love that prompts them, and though in many cases, a mere matter of custom, and social compulsion, yet behind them all, underlying them all, are the manger at Bethlehem, the guiding star, and the acclaiming shepherds, whose pean of praise was the herald of a new dispensation, of which love, and gentleness, and sweetness, and tenderness, are the spirit, the spirit that holds undisputed sway this gladsome Christmas tide.

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" It is a hard heart—one calloused with the attrition of sordid cares, and crusted with selfish worldliness—that does not respond to the spirit of Christmas. To such we say, and to all who would have a livelier sense of what the Christmas spirit means, take down your Dickens, and read again his Christmas Chimes, and there will come to you, as it came to the grinding Scrooge, a new and renewed appreciation of the real spirit of the Christmas time, crystallized in the piping prayer of Tiny Tim,—"God bless us all!"

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" — Why should we not as a Christian country be merry? We have abounding prosperity and peace, Empire-wide — "peace within our walls and plenteousness within our palaces." A short year ago the pall of war hung over us; the sounds of strife, the clangor of arms thrust a jarring note of discord into the Shepherd's Hymn of rejoicing. The light of Christmas morn fell upon the bleeding soldier on the field or vainly smote the sightless eyes staring upwards towards the eternal Christmas radiance. In thousands of homes the season brought no gladness, for grim death sat in the seat of some loved one in the home circle.

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" With what mockery this falls upon many a home, writhing in the new grief—unreasoning in its fresh keenness — from which a loved one has been taken at this time. How sadly the family gather round the table with the vacant chair, and how vacant life and all its interests seem. The mother pushes her untasted food from her and flees to her chamber to feast upon the luxury of tears. "Merry Christmas!" Why not? Human grief must have its hour, but faith sees in the freshly filled grave the portal to that land where the Author of Christmas and eternal Christmas reign.

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS" is the saddest time of all the year for death to make his visit, for he brings grief in the midst of universal rejoicing, and every returning anniversary reopens the wound and drops a shadow upon the home.

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" How it brightens the home. The plunging ships and the rushing trains bring the wanderers home to the family reunion and the day forges again the fetters that bind hearts together—fetters that time and distance and absence make tenuous but never break.

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" We exchange the glad greeting, we give gifts and receive, and what heart rightly attuned will not say that "this day is the Scripture fulfilled in your sight"—"It is more blessed to give than receive."

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" We feast and rejoice, for our hearts are light and we have plenty. May we not, in the midst of our happiness and abundance, well think of those whose lives are hard, whose homes are bare and cold, to whom comes no rejoicing save the pale reflection of the joy of others. Let us ask ourselves if we can enjoy our Christmas feast, revel in our holiday rejoicing, knowing that near us are some of our brothers, some members of our family—some of the Father's children—who are hungry and shivering in cheerless homes, without sufficient food or fuel, while our tables steam with juicy joints and the blazing hearth roars defiance to the winter blasts.

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" Can we selfishly enjoy our good things, can we wrap ourselves in ourselves and forget others on the anniversary of a day when the reign of selfish isolation ceased, on the anniversary of the day when Divine Unselfishness, sweet sacrifice and all-embracing charity became incarnate upon earth? Not so, and call ourselves Christians.

* * *

"MERRY CHRISTMAS!" Thank God, there are millions in this happy thriving land who think of others. From thousands of hearts and thousands of homes will go forth benefactions and brightness to thousands of heavier hearts and less fortunate homes. Thank God that as our heritage, as our share in the first Christmas, we live in a Christian land, in a land of peace and prosperity, in which we hope that to-morrow by the Divine blessing and through the help of others, each to each, everybody may enjoy a "MERRY CHRISTMAS."

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

A matter that is causing the hockey clubs in the various intermediate districts of the O.H.A. some little thought, is that of the selection of referees for the games throughout the coming season. The opinion of the local club appears to be that there is not in the towns in this district referees fully capable of officiating at matches in the intermediate series. As a matter of fact this has been only too true in the past. There has been an utter absence of ambition on the part of young men in Belleville, Port Hope, Cobourg and Peterborough to qualify for the position of referee in senior and intermediate matches. Why this should be we do not pretend to suggest. Of course there is no remuneration in it other than expenses, but in the present age of amateur athletics the average enthusiast is not looking for financial gain.

The truth of the matter is that the clubs of the association should take a greater interest in this branch of the game. Several men from each town should be schooled in the art of refereeing so that they could officiate and thus avoid the extra expense of bringing a Toronto man to this district for each match.

There is, however, another point from which such a matter should be viewed. By the consent of teams in the various districts, to referees from their own districts, the work of the sub-committee of the O.H.A., or perhaps we should say the secretary, is greatly lightened. This is what should be aimed at in an association as large as the O.H.A. There should be a tendency each year to decentralize the management in the preliminary rounds at least, not with the desire to create the impression that any favoritism has been shown to any clubs in the past, but to avoid a congestion of business with the sub-committee, and to dispel the idea that Toronto is the only place on earth where referees are nourished.

* * * *

"The Toronto Telegram Hockey Association," is the term the Kingston Whig applies to the O.H.A. This is presumably because Mr. John Ross Robertson, the proprietor of the Telegram, is president of the association, while Mr. Buchanan, the secretary of the O.H.A., is city editor of the same paper. The Examiner holds no brief from the O.H.A., but it will wait until there is some real kick coming before it indulges in such unnecessary sarcasm.

* * * *

However, we must say that even the Telegram sometimes allows its enthusiasm to get the better of its good judgment. Speaking of the Western Ontario Hockey Association, the Telegram says: "So, here is wishing them luck, and hoping that with increasing years the W.O.H.A. will gather sense enough to get in out of the cold." This evidently was intended as a chastisement for the W.O.H.A. not throwing in its lot with the O.H.A. The Examiner believes in the policy of live and let live. The W.O.H.A. will never be forced into the larger association, but with friendly feelings between the O.H.A. and the western body an amalgamation might be one of the features of the near future.

THE SCHEDULE.

Mr. Jim McCabe was in Port Hope yesterday afternoon attending a meeting of delegates from Port Hope, Belleville and Cobourg, when the intermediate and junior schedules for this district were drawn up. If weather conditions are favourable, as many of the local hockey team as can find it convenient, are asked to turn out for a practice tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, on the raceway in Ashburnham.

THE KINGSTON WHIG.

The Toronto Telegram Hockey Association, formerly the O.H.A., may have a wayward child in its fold this winter, and may have to turn that child adrift. The Frontenacs are to meet this week, and 'tis said they will defy the association by going to Pittsburg, Pa. The question of the ban placed on the Pittsburg teams by the O.H.A. will be taken to the supreme court of sports, the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association, which will be asked to pass judgment.

"After me the deluge" were the prophetic words of the late Sir John A. Macdonald. And old Guy Curtis is reported to have made the same utterance two years ago. Since he bade farewell to rugby and hockey, there have been troubles and dissensions at Queen's ever since. "Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand."

BASKETBALL.

Basketball players are asked to drop into the Y.M.C.A. between 9 and 11 a.m. to-morrow and vote for a centre player for the senior basket ball team for Saturday evening, as Mr. John Lang, who was to play, is indisposed.

RUGBY.

The members of the Peterborough Rugby Club are asked to attend at Whiten's photograph studio tomorrow if possible, and sit for their pictures. If all the players cannot come to-morrow they are asked to do so at as early a date as possible. The players are on this occasion sitting individually.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

Even in football ministers do not agree. Here is the Rev. R. Laird, a Brockville parson, declaring that football in Ontario is doomed by the adoption of the Burnside rules. It will develop into the United States game, he thanks. On the other hand, the Rev. "Biddy" Barr, not long since famous on the football field, holds the opposite view. Despite the latter's great experience in football affairs, it appears as though the former was better qualified to form a correct opinion as being an old 'Varsity player and an Associate of Thrift Burnside. "Biddy" Barr is liable to be influenced in his decision by the fact that his Alma Mater to a man, is strongly in favour of the Burnside rules.

The SANTA CLAUS HELPERS

A CHRISTMAS PLAYLET FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

By MINERVA SPENCER HANDY

Copyright, 1902, by Minerva Spencer Handy

THE costumes may be effectively made by using crape tissue paper or tartatan, both materials being of slight cost.

The superintendent tells the children of a wonderful secret that he has learned. It is how Santa Claus manages to trim so many trees in one night. He advises them to keep their eyes open, as they will soon see some remarkable things in this room. Suddenly he is interrupted by a hurried entrance of a district messenger boy, in regulation costume, buttons, etc., complete. He hands a book to the superintendent, who signs it. The boy takes it and rushes out. Then the superintendent reads:

North Pole, Dec. 24, 1902.

Dear Children—Am just leaving home and cannot reach Sunday school until late. I had to pay a visit to Fairyland on important business, which delayed my starting. SANTA CLAUS.

After commenting briefly upon this message, the superintendent should mention that it is growing cold in the room and ask some one to see if there is not a door open somewhere. Before the request can be carried out a boy about six years old, dressed to represent Jack Frost, dances in. His costume should be of white (a summer pique suit will answer), and some cotton batting sewed on will add to the frost effect; a sprinkling of the powder used to make Christmas trees sparkle will prove a good suggestion for frost. He recites:

I'm Jack Frost; all you grown folks surely know me,
The merriest little fellow in all the world about.
The children know and love me and are always glad to see me,
For I bring fun and frolic and make them laugh and shout.

Good Santa's growing pretty old, so I'm to represent him
And find out if these children deserve a Christmas tree.
Tell me, sup'rintendent, do you think they've earned the good things
Santa's worked all year in making that they should happy be?

Superintendent nods in the affirmative.

You think they do? I'm glad indeed to carry news so cheering.
[Starts to leave.]
I must away to other schools, for that is just and right.
Then telegraph to Santa, who awaits my message, telling
How many toys and presents he must bring with him tonight.

While I feel strong and mighty I can't do all to my liking,
But must summon to assist me my little flakes of white.
They and I will try our very best to make a splendid snowfall
For Santa and his reindeer to travel here this night. [Exit Jack Frost.]

The superintendent descends from the platform, remarking, "I must come down at once and see all the marvelous things that are going to happen here."

Sor one plays a few bars on the piano to cover any awkwardness the children may feel upon first viewing the audience.

Four tiny girls from the infant class appear dressed to represent Snow Flakes. Their costumes should be of white, with capes, hoods and muffs. Tufts of cotton sewed on suggest snow. Each child in turn recites one of these verses:

We have come a long way from our home in the north,
Where the ice and the snow ever stay.
Jack Frost gave his order: "Haste! Whiten the earth
This eve of Christ's coming." We flew to obey.

While not very big, we have learned this great lesson,
That small folks can do greater deeds than you'd dream,
By our patient endeavor to help one another,
See how like a bride we have made the world seem!

At first we were timid, then thought of our mission
To make Christmas time a season of mirth.
Santa never could get here if we failed in making
A deep fall of snow cover old Mother Earth.

If little Snow Flakes are given the pleasure
To wish merry Christmas to folks great and small,
We wish it with will, and we wish it with might
A glad, joyous Christmas to each one, to all!

Enter Christmas Fairy. A girl of fourteen is preferable. Her costume is yellow, her hair loose. She carries a wand and has gold slippers and wings. These may be easily fashioned of gold paper. She says:

"I have just returned from a visit to Santa Claus, and he told me to be sure to tell you that all good children should soon see how Christmas trees are made. He ordered me to call on all Fairyland for helpers, and I have done so. We both want you to remember that Christmas is not merely a time for present getting and giving, but is a time to make others happy. Christ, whose birthday we are celebrating, said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive,' and I hope you will all strive to make some one less fortunate than yourselves happy tonight."

Enter district messenger, doing as he did in the first instance. Superintendent reads to school this message:

North Pole, Dec. 24, 1902.

Have been again delayed in getting off. I found so much to do at the last minute. Had all the drums to head and the hobby-horses to tail, and your candy boxes had to be stuffed a little fuller. I still hope to reach you tonight. SANTA CLAUS.

The Fairy now lifts her wand and summons the Evergreens, who enter to the music of the piano—four girls dressed in green, their gowns trimmed with holly berries in any fanciful way desired. A spray of the same should be in their hands or in little baskets. They recite in turn:

We've braved the cold and biting blast
And tried not to succumb;
Held heads and berries high aloft,
Till Christmas time should come.

The earth, we're told, would dreary be
At this time of the year
If holly, moss and mistletoe
Should fail to reappear.

Perhaps our reds and brilliant greens
May help the Christmas cheer,
For merry hearts and willing hands
Go with us year by year.

We deck the homes and churches fair
That celebrate the birth
Of him who came to share the sin
And sorrow of the earth.

The next group of children represent Stars. Four girls compose the group and wear striped gowns and big silver stars cut from paper. A star is arranged on their breasts and one fastened to a crown on their foreheads. At their entrance the children already on the platform sing to the melody used in the kindergarten book called "Songs and Games for Little Ones:"

Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
How we wonder what you are,
Up above the world so high,
Like a diamond in the sky.

The Stars respond:

We are travelers in the dark,
Sending out a tiny spark,
Helping men to look above
To the God of peace and love.

Then the Stars, Evergreens and Snow Flakes march round the platform, executing various military movements. Even the simplest will prove effective as the pretty colors of their costumes mingle. At the end they arrange themselves into a star with the Fairy in the center. "The Star Spangled Banner," which the children sing, is played on the piano, the Fairy unfurling a United States flag over the tableau, which she has up to this time concealed.

Six retire to one side of platform and six to the other.

Then speaks the Fairy:

"The Snow Flakes, Evergreens and Stars have certainly done their share in making nature beautiful. Is there any one else that would like to add good cheer to Christmas?"

Four boys enter, dressed to represent turkeys. Red tails and combs made of paper and strings of cranberries round their necks, with boutonniere of celery, render them picturesque. They recite:

We may not be so handsome
As our sisters sweet and dear,
But 'twould be a dull old Christmas
If the turkeys were not near.

We've stuffed ourselves to bursting
For a month before the time
And had a heap of trouble
To keep ourselves in line.

Thanksgiving season threatened,
Then the parson came to tea;
We feared another Christmas
We nevermore should see.

But here we are and hope that you've
Prepared for all a store
Of puddings, celery, cakes and pies.
Could mortal wish for more?

They arrange themselves among the children as effectively as possible. Enter four girls representing Pop Corn. They are dressed in pink, draped with strings of white popcorn. They recite each in turn:

FIRST.

Not long since we were grains of corn,
Not fair nor useful very;
We heard of Christmas, wished that we Could help to make it merry.

SECOND.

The Queen of all the Fairies heard
And said: "Be not despairing.
If you've the will, I'll make the way;
In joy all must be sharing."

THIRD.

We hopped and popped and never stopped;
We laughed and burst in glee,
Till here we are, quite ready now
To drape your stately tree.

FOURTH.

The fairies strung us all in rows.
"Folks like you so," they said.
And Santa ordered, "Get a lot
Of popcorn white and red!"

Messenger boy reappears. Superintendent reads the following telegram:

Greenland, Dec. 24, 1902.

Dear Children—Was afraid I could not reach you tonight, as Prancer and Vixen shied at a polar bear and spilled out all your toys. If this snowfall continues, I hope to be with you soon. SANTA CLAUS.

Four little girls enter, representing the glittering ornaments used in decorating Christmas trees. Any colored gown will answer, so long as gilded balls, toys and shimmering tinsel be employed. They recite in unison:

We're beautiful toys
For girls and boys,
So lovely, you'll surely agree;
No place upon earth
Gave us our birth;
From the land of the fairies came we.

We glitter and shine
By night and day time
So brilliant you'd surely think we
Were made of pure gold
And jewels untold.
But we're not—only toys for your tree.

To brighten the way
And make the hearts gay
Of children who love Christmas day.
Our beauty we lend,
Best efforts expend;
Do you think we shall be in the way?

"No, indeed," the Fairy assures them. "Just take your places with the other helpers," motioning to the rear of the platform.

Enter four boys representing Santa Claus in miniature. They must present jolly, round stomachs, wear white beards and wigs and have red cheeks and noses. Small packs, with protruding toys and tiny Christmas trees, should be carried on their shoulders. They sing to the tune of "Three Bells" (chorus):

Beards as white as driven snow,
Noses red as red can be,
Clad in furs from head to toe,
Lips that whistle merrily.
[Whistle in interlude.]
Trumpets, whips and drums and noise,
Tops and dolls and puzzles queer;
Jumping jacks and other toys;
Jolly Santa Claus is here.

Messenger enters, as before; superintendent reads telegram:

[Some Place Near], Dec. 24, 1902.

Dear Girls and Boys—Good, stiff breeze is blowing. Have found my way again. Will be with you shortly. SANTA CLAUS.

One of the junior Santa Clauses turns to Fairy and says: "Santa Claus is almost here. We've no time to lose. Is all ready? Are all the helpers here?" (Looks around.) "Why, where are the candles?"

Four little girls appear dressed as candles. They each wear a different color, carrying candles and having toy candles arranged about them in any fanciful way desired.

They recite in unison:

All the earth has lent its beauties
That Christ's coming may be bright.
Some place surely waits our coming;
Dark the tree without our light.

Our sole talent lies in showing
Glories of your Christmas tree.
Christ himself was proud to do this;
Should we not, then, happy be?

Where he was no darkness shadowed;
Sin and evil flew away:
May we ever strive to scatter
Peace and light upon our way.

[Withdraw and mingle with other children, who may stand or be seated, as desired.]

Another of the junior Santa Clauses addresses the Fairy, saying: "I do not think Santa will appear while the children are awake. You would better summon the God of Sleep."

The Fairy stretches out her wand, saying, "Enter the God of Sleep." There appears a tall boy, wrapped in a dark gray cloak thrown over his face, almost concealing it. He throws imaginary dust from beneath his cloak into the children's eyes, the piano playing softly, "Our Balls Are Going To Bye-low-land." (Music in kindergarten book of "Songs and Games For Little Ones.") All rub their eyes, and slowly swaying from side to side in time to the music sing:

Children must go to Bye-low-land;
Their drooping eyes are filled with sand.
Rocking so gently to and fro,
All little ones to sleep must go.
Bye-low, Bye-low! Going to rest in Bye-low-land.

The song dies away in silence and the piano continues softly playing for a few minutes. Then outside faintly sound sleighbells, growing more distinct and louder until a commotion is heard; with vigorous stamping of feet Santa Claus bounds in. The children awake and form two circles around Santa Claus. To the tune of "Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush" they sing:

Jolly Santa Claus is here,
Claus is here, Claus is here;
Jolly Santa Claus is here,
And it is Christmas morning.

Santa smiles approvingly upon the children and jokingly tells them he was mightily afraid he was not going to get here at all, but he did, thanks to the snow the little fairy flakes made for him. "Now I am here, what do you want me to do for you? Give you presents and candy and a Christmas tree? That's a good joke. Ho, ho, ho! Ha, ha, ha!" [Shakes with laughter.]

"First, let me thank the Christmas Fairy who has sent so many of her subjects to help me. And my little Santa Clauses—aren't they fine little chaps? Everything is ready, I see, so it will only take me a few minutes to put on the finishing touches."

To the music of "Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush," to which the children sing as before, "Jolly Santa Claus Is Here," Santa disappears, followed by the children that are taking part.

To fill in the pause the congregation could sing "Antioch," "Joy to the world, the Lord has come," when the tree is displayed. Whether a large or small one be employed, it must have been concealed until now.

Santa appears as if in the act of descending, and the junior Santa Clauses are near by. The presents and candy are then handed by him to the juniors, who distribute them to the school.

GRAND TABLEAU OF THE SANTA CLAUS HELPERS.

Colorado Canyon.

The Canyon of the Colorado is 300 miles long, and the cliffs on either side are from 5,000 to 6,000 feet above the water.

A Glass Cutter.

If you want to break off a glass jar or bottle quite evenly, soak a piece of string in turpentine and tie it around the glass just where you wish the break to come. Then fill the glass up to that point with cold water and set fire to the string. The glass will snap all along the heated line.

Too Much For the Goats.

Because sweetbrier became too abundant in Tasmania goats were introduced to head them off, as it were, by eating them, but the brier came out ahead by killing the goats.

Plain Gold Ones.

The maidens of Denmark never receive a diamond engagement ring. They are always presented with a plain gold band, which is worn on the third finger of the left hand. On the wedding day the bridegroom changes the ring to the right third finger, which is the marriage finger in that country.

Swiss Cheese.

The best cheese made in Switzerland is usually exported and is seldom to be had even in the famous hotels of that country.

Cleaning Jewelry.

Gold and silver jewelry when dirty should be placed in a wide mouthed bottle half filled with soapsuds to which a little powdered chalk has been added. Shake the jewelry well up and down in the suds, then take it out, rinse in clean, cold water, dry thoroughly and polish.

Cod Migration.

The records of the great banks of Newfoundland show that the cod leave there entirely two months every year—December and January.

The Power of a Tip.

Experienced Traveler (at railway restaurant)—When did that man at the other table give his order?

Waiter—'Bout ten minutes ago, sir.

"What did he order?"

"Beefsteak and potatoes, sir."

"How much did he tip you?"

"Sixpence, sir."

"Well, here's a shilling. Cook him another steak and bring me his."

"Yes, sir."—London Telegraph.

PERSISTENT LOVERS.

WOMEN WHO WERE MARRIED IN SPITE OF THEMSELVES.

Some Matrimonial Experiences That Would Seem to Justify Voltaire's Cynical Declaration That "Any Man Can Wed Any Woman."

"Any man can marry any woman," Voltaire once cynically declared, "if he only pursues her long enough." This, at any rate, was the experience of Jacob Halliday, a well known character in the north of England a couple of generations ago.

Never did a lover win a wife under such discouraging conditions as Jacob, for after his first proposal he was soundly horsewhipped by the young lady's father and ducked in a convenient pond.

"I'll ask her again next year," Jacob spluttered as he emerged from his bath, the fire of his passion not a whit quenched by his cold douche. "Regularly once a year, on the anniversary of his first proposal and immersion," Nicholson says in his biography of Mr. Halliday, "Jacob attired himself in his finest raiment and presented his petition, always with the same negative result. When he presented himself, now a middle aged man, for the twenty-fourth time, the lady greeted his appearance with a peal of laughter. 'It's no good, Jacob, I see,' she exclaimed. 'I may as well give in now as later, but what a faint hearted creature the importunate widow was compared with you!'"

Sheridan took an equally bold course when he sought to win the fairest of the beautiful daughters of Linley, the composer of Bath, who was strongly opposed to the suit of the brilliant young poet and dramatist. His lady-love, too, was beset by an army of suitors, many of them far more eligible than the penniless law student. The circumstances called for bold and decisive action. After threatening to destroy himself if the lady refused his advances and fighting a couple of duels with one of his most formidable rivals Sheridan took the bold step of running away with Miss Linley and conducting her to a French nunnery, where she remained in confinement until, succumbing to her lover's daring and persistence, she consented to marry him.

An amusing and characteristic story is told of Lord Beaconsfield in the days when he was wooing Mrs. Lewis, to whom in later years of married life he was so touchingly devoted.

One day Mrs. Lewis, who was then living in retirement at her seat in Glamorganshire, saw a gentleman walking leisurely up the drive. "Jane," she exclaimed to an old servant, "I really believe that horrid man Disraeli is coming up the drive. Do, please, run to the door and say I'm not at home." Jane opened the door to the undesired caller and gravely announced her message. "I know," Disraeli coolly answered, "but take my bag to a bedroom and prepare luncheon. I will wait until Mrs. Lewis is ready to come downstairs," which, of course, Mrs. Lewis felt compelled to do a few minutes later.

"Oh, dear, what can I do with such an obstinate, thick skinned man?" the widow asked desperately later in the day when Disraeli showed no sign of raising the siege. "Marry him, I suppose, ma'am," was Jane's philosophic answer, and, as the world knows, the persistent wooer had his way in the end in this as in most other things in life.

A judge, not long deceased, used to tell a diverting story of his wooing. In those days he was a struggling and obscure lawyer without even the prospect of an income, and the woman on whom he had set his affections was the daughter of a purse proud man with a high sounding name who was strongly opposed to giving his daughter to a "penniless lawyer."

"Do you know, sir," the father thundered when he was asked for his daughter's hand—"do you know, sir, that my daughter's ancestors have all been noblemen and that one of them was a favorite minister of Queen Elizabeth?" "Oh, yes, I know all that," the young barrister placidly answered, "and do you know that Queen Elizabeth once slapped your ancestor's face, and unless you are more civil I will do the same for you?" It is scarcely surprising that so bold and daring a lover had his way in the end, even in the face of such a barrier of ghostly noble ancestors.

The late Prince Bismarck, it is said, won his wife in much the same way. Although he had not known the lady of his love more than a few days and her parents were not even aware of his existence, he presented himself one day before them and boldly asked permission to marry their daughter. In vain the father fumed and blustered and threatened to have the young man forcibly ejected from the house for his impertinence. "I am sorry to annoy you, sir," the young soldier said, "but I must respectfully decline to leave the house until I have your consent." Nor did he, although the consent was given in these ungracious words: "Well, I suppose you must have your way, but I cannot compliment my daughter on her choice of a mule for a husband."

Eating Became a Dread.

HOW MANY PEOPLE ARE ALMOST AFRAID TO SIT DOWN TO THEIR MEALS?

YOU MAY BE ONE OF THEM. IF YOU ARE, THERE IS A CURE FOR YOU.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

CURES INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, BILIOUSNESS, SOUR, WEAK AND ALL STOMACH TROUBLES.

Mr. J. G. Clunis, Barney's River, N.S., tells of what this wonderful remedy has done for him:—It is with gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of B.B.B. I was so badly troubled with indigestion that whatever I ate caused me so much torture that eating became a dread to me. I tried numerous physicians, but their medicines seemed to make me worse. I thought I would try B.B.B., so got a bottle, and after taking a few doses felt a lot better. By the time I had taken the last of two bottles I was as well as ever, and have had no return of the trouble since. I recommend your medicine to the highest degree. JINGLES AND JESTS.

A Quarter For Henry.

Mrs. Henrietta whimpers in her husband's henpecked ear:
"Here's a quarter for you, Henry. It will be a-plenty, dear!"

When poor Henry tries to argue, "Fifty cents, my dear, today," Henrietta points her finger, "Henry, not a word, I say!"

And the people say: "He's awful! All he thinks of in this life
Is his money—money—money! How I'd hate to be his wife!"
—Indianapolis Sun.

An Inconsistency.

"There's another thing I can't understand," said Mr. Sirius Barker as he laid down the paper and took a dyspepsia tablet.

"What can it be?" asked his wife in a well feigned tone of surprise.

"Why a woman will fuss over her husband, brushing his coat and fixing his necktie and warning him when he needs a hair cut and then rave admiringly over a football player."

Dyspepsia AND Liver Disease CURED BY DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

"I was weak, nervous and dizzy, with a fainting sensation when walking," writes Jesse Childress, Esq., of Samuel, Sullivan Co., Tenn. "Could not walk any distance, always felt bad after eating; felt as though something was sticking in my throat, always uneasiness in stomach. Doctored with three physicians but they did not relieve me. I grew worse and used everything I could think of; was nearly ready to give up and then some one told me that Dr. Pierce's medicine was good, so I began taking his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have taken seven bottles of that now and am as stout as ever, and enjoying health as much as ever before. I worked all summer and this winter as much as any one. My case was liver disease and nervous dyspepsia of which your medicine has cured me. In September 1898 my weight was about 95 pounds, now it is 135. Please accept my sincere thanks."

THE TOP OF VESUVIUS.

A Visit to the Crater of the Seething Volcano.

There was no life on that bare, black, birdless cone, and as we climbed an icy wind began to blow, and the lava dust stung the face like hail. The crust was warm to the feet. I dipped my hand into an aperture the size of a rabbit hole and withdrew it hot and wet. On every side the smoke eddied up from tiny craters, but all these things were details in face of that everlasting vomit of black smoke from the crater.

The wind raged above us as we drew near the crater, and the lava dust spat more viciously; the sulphurous smoke hid the world from our view. It was as if the lieutenants of that angry monarch strove to prevent mortals from gazing too closely at her infernal orgies. On hands and knees we grabbed our way up the cone, coughing, blinded by the smoke, buffeted by the icy wind. We reached the verge of the crater and threw ourselves on our faces. I peered for one moment into that caldron of fire and smoke. The guide clutched my arm and motioned me to follow him round the edge of the crater. I crawled after him, crying, "Enough!" But he did not hear. He could not have heard a foghorn in the roar of that wind.

"Enough!" I bawled, trying to grab him. "E-nough!" I roared, clutching at his leg. He shrugged his shoulders, and, taking my arm, we plunged down through the lava. A few paces below he stopped. I bent toward him and through the screams of the wind heard him say, "Give me a leetle present to buy macaroni."—Academy.

Dying by Slow Degrees.

Although not always aware of it yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Catarrhozzone is the only remedy that will immediately prevent the spread of this awful disease. Every breath from the Inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration, and relieves the pain across the eyes. Catarrhozone erradicates every vestige of catarrh from the system, and is highly recommended also for Bronchitis, Asthma, Deafness and Lung Trouble. Price, $1; trial size, 25c.; all druggists. The Dog.

Man is the best friend of the dog. Horses come next, but between the dog and all other farm animals, from the house cat to the cow and the beef steer, there seems to be a natural enmity. Dogs, however, are fond of sheep and goats—but as diet, not as living friends. Cows and sheep and goats should be kept as free from association with dogs as is possible, with the exception of the trained shepherd dog. A dog walking through a cowpen will often cause a decrease in milk flow that amounts to more than the cash value of the dog. Many dogs are worth considerably less than $0.00.

Singular Marriage Custom.

When two Negritos, a people of the Philippine Islands, are united, the whole tribe is assembled, and the affianced pair climb two trees growing near to each other. The elders then bend the branches until the heads of the couple meet. When the heads have thus come into contact, the marriage is legally accomplished, and great rejoicings take place, a fantastic dance completing the ceremony.

Jerusalem Artichoke.

The Jerusalem artichoke has no connection whatever with the holy city of the Jews. It is a species of sunflower.

The last words of Marie Antoinette were: "Lord, enlighten and soften the hearts of my executioners. Adieu forever, my dear children. I go to join your father."

CHINAMAN AT A TELEPHONE

Celestial Gets the Worth of His Money Every Time.

"A Chinaman at the telephone is a funny thing," remarked a long distance telephone operator in the Denver News a few days ago. "You see, it is impossible to tell whether one person or half a dozen are talking, and we often become mixed up in listening to them. When one is speaking, it seems as if half a dozen are talking, and we often imagine the wires are out of order. To make matters worse the Chinese delight in talking as fast as possible, and we never know whether the Chinaman at this end of the wire is talking or if it is the one at the other end. After the conversation is ended the Chink walks out of the booth with a self satisfied smile on his face and pays for a three minutes' talk. We have lately discovered that he invariably says as much during that time as could have been said by a white man in fifteen minutes."

To be sure, the telephone company is not really "out" anything by the transaction, as it is paid by the minute; but, nevertheless, in the case of Chinamen, the company would be the gainer by charging for volume instead of time. A Chinaman always begins his talk in pidgin English. He says: "Hello. Is this Sam Ling. I bettee you don't know—yi hi ki yi he yay bo benno ne," and so on, and it sounds on the wires as if several persons were at work.

Switched the Train.

A certain judge is much given to meditating upon his work while walking along the street, and his acquaintances and friends recognize his air of abstraction, pass him by with a friendly nod and never mind if he does not appear to notice the salutation. A little colored newsboy not familiar with this peculiarity of the judge accosted him one day with persistent appeals:

"Buy the mornin' news, boss. Have a paper, boss."

The judge waved the tiny mite of humanity aside and went on abstractedly, his mind engrossed with the case that was to come up that day in the court to which he was on the way. The dusky newsboy was not easily evaded, and he kept pace with the judge, shouting his paper cry at frequent intervals. At last the judge stopped and, grabbing his youthful tormentor by the shoulder, he said in his most severe manner:

"How dare you interrupt me when I am following out a line of argument? Don't you ever speak to me when I am pursuing a train of thought."

The small boy looked up in surprise and said in a most apologetic tone:

"Befor' de Lord, massa, I didn't know you was tryin' to cotch a train. Excus' me."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HARD QUESTIONS.

Some of the Bumps a Query Editor Occasionally Gets.

A correspondent writes a sorrowful letter regarding his experiences in running "a correspondents' column" in a weekly paper. After he had written both questions and answers for awhile the public finally became wurmed up to the idea and began to send in questions in whose presence the encyclopedia itself was all nerveless and trembly. In one Saturday's mail the following letters were received addressed to "the editor of the correspondents' column:"

Dear Sir—Where is the universe? Please give illustration. Yours truly,

J. PAUL SMITH.

Another read:

Dear Editor—How does a corpuscle differ from a germ and why? I can find nothing on this subject in our psychologies. Yours truly, FRANK EATON.

Still another read:

Dear Mr. Editor—In our examination paper today the teacher had the following question: "Mention the various functions." I couldn't do it. Will y a please mention them? Thanking you in advance, I am, yours most truly,

CLARA E. JONES.

These questions may look easy, but if you think so take pen and sit down and answer them.

The Enemies of Wild Sheep.

Wild sheep depend for greatest protection on their climbing capabilities. They travel where no man can follow, and often in climbing use their knees instead of their fore hoofs. Their first instinct at the approach of an enemy is to start for the mountain top, aiming if possible to get above and keep above the enemy.

Wolves, wolverenes and eagles are their most common enemies, and the lambs suffer extensively from these. Wolves are capable of taking down grown animals, but in summer hunger seldom induces them to make the struggle, and in winter they prefer lower altitudes. There are many stories told of the lordly ram doing battle with wolves, which are on a par with the story of leaping from dizzy heights. The old rams are cunning, and in this lies their greatest safety. They are perfectly at home on rocky ledges, where the wolf is not, and if they can gain such a position they will, with one charge, hurl the wolf to the rocks below.—A. J. Stone in Outing.

LOSS UNDERESTIMATED.

5,000 Now Said to Have Been Killed in the Recent Earthquake at Andijan, Russian Asia.

Ashkabad, Russian Turkestan, Dec. 24.—Even the worst of the earlier reports of the recent earthquake disaster at Andijan quite underestimates the appalling loss of life. A telegram yesterday from the scene of the catastrophe puts the number of victims in the native quarter of the town at 4,000. Already 800 corpses have been disinterred from the ruins. The work of excavation progresses slowly.

The engineer officers at Andijan who are superintending the excavations being made with the view of recovering the buried treasure at the sites of the army department, State Treasury, postoffice, etc., and the erection of sheds to shelter the officials and other homeless people, report that the State Treasury, containing 5,000,000 roubles, is in the ruins, and excavations to get the money are carried on under the supervision of a strong cordon of police. The water in the wells has disappeared, and a general subsidence of the site of the town is feared. Large numbers of laborers are being sent to excavate. Sappers have arrived and are expected to make more rapid progress. The shocks continue with increasing violence. The area of seismic disturbances comprises 200 square versts. The Russian population is camping at the railroad station, where 500 cars are placed at the disposal of the populace. The local Government officials are quartered in cars. Sheds for the destitute are being built as rapidly as possible. Free soup kitchens have been started, and officials are aiding the departure of the inhabitants by distributing food, money and free railroad tickets.

At St. Petersburg it is estimated that nearly 5,000 have been killed by the earthquake at Andijan.

BURIED BOER GOLD.

Treasure Said to Amount to 80,000 Ounces, £300,000.

Johannesburg, Dec. 23.—A Pietersburg correspondent telegraphs regarding the £130,000 worth of Boer gold reported to have been lately shipped to Germany that the story is generally discredited in the Northern Transvaal, where it is believed that the gold is still hidden in the country.

Prior to the surrender of Pretoria, Mr Munnik, the former Transvaal Commissioner of Mines, came to Pietersburg from Pretoria and proceeded to the low country in a small "spider," accompanied by a trolley drawn by mules and heavily laden with cases, which, it is affirmed, contained gold from the Rand mines, which, for fear it might fall into the hands of the British, was taken to the low country and buried.

In confirmation of this it may be stated that only a week ago a party of fifteen returned Boer prisoners passed through the low country. Shortly afterwards a second party of Boers passed through Pietersburg, and learning that the first lot had already gone north, started in hot pursuit.

The buried treasure is said to amount to 80,000 ounces, worth over £300,000.

AMERICAN AUDIENCES.

Men and Women and Their Effect Upon Public Meetings.

American audiences are strangely alike in some things and strangely dissimilar in others. A good committee will take as much pains in the arrangement of its audience as of its speakers. An audience seated without crowding is seldom enthusiastic. Neither is an audience whose hands are occupied with bundles or umbrellas, an audience largely composed of women or an audience in a cold room. The easiest audiences to address, the most responsive and inspiring, are those composed of men crowded and packed together and warm.

Women naturally do not applaud or cheer. They are by instinct more self restrained in the public expression of their emotions than men. Every public speaker is complimented by their presence, knowing that their quiet word at home is oftentimes more effective in results than the most enthusiastic shouting on the street corners by the other sex. In a public meeting, however, the audience gets its cue from those nearest the speaker. I remember well two audiences, both from the same social class, both crowded, both in large theaters and both largely attended by women. One happened to be in Colorado, one in Massachusetts. In one meeting the orchestra was reserved for women. In the other meeting the men had the orchestra and the women had the lower gallery and all the boxes. In both cases the audiences were entirely friendly to the speakers. The second meeting was marked by wild enthusiasm, the first one by respectful attention. In the second case the mass of men in the orchestra urged on the speakers by continued applause. In the first case the men in the galleries who started to applaud were checked because between them and the speakers was a mass of absolutely silent femininity in the orchestra. I do not say that one meeting was less effective than the other, but the difference in the strain on the speaker was marked.—From "The Spellbinder," by Colonel Curtis Guild, Jr., in Scribner's.

MR. HILL'S SHREWD MOVE.

Connects Great Northern R.R. With the Canadian Northern R.R.

West Superior, Wis., Dec. 24.—Local officers of the Great Northern Railway have received an announcement of the opening of a new freight route via Crookston and St. Vincent, to connect with the Canadian Northern. This route was formerly the main line to Winnipeg, connecting at St. Vincent with the C.P.R., but several years ago was abandoned, and trains ran only to the boundary. It is now reported that before long the Great Northern will again run through passenger, as well as freight, trains over the new route, giving all its business to the Canadian Northern and discontinuing relations with the Canadian Pacific. It is looked upon as a shrewd move on the part of J. J. Hill to ensure a foothold on Canadian soil, as it is believed that the Canadian Northern is destined to become the greatest railway system in Canada.

Returned From the West.

Montreal, Dec. 24. — The Vice-President Morse and Controller W. Wainright of the Grand Trunk returned yesterday from a 9,000-miles trip over the Canadian Northwest, whither they had gone to give official confirmation of the company's intention to build to the Pacific Ocean. Mr. Morse said the entire Northwest welcomed the good news, as all appeared to know the Grand Trunk. He also said there were no negotiations on with the Canadian Northern.

Losses Made Hyman Cross.

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Coroner Johnson's investigation into the death of Eli Hyman, the wealthy Jewish beggar, who died in the General Hospital last Wednesday, was continued at the Police Department last night. The evidence of Mrs. Sophia Hyman, wife of deceased, and Drs. Rutherford and Anderson was taken, after which an adjournment till Jan. 21 was made. This date was decided upon by Crown Attorney Dewart, who contended that if there are any other claimants to deceased's wealth besides Mrs. Hyman they should be given an opportunity to come forward. Mrs. Hyman testified that her husband had some heavy losses within the past three or four years. This made him cranky.

MAYORALTY FOR 1903.

Card to the Electors of Peterborough.

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In response to the numerous representations which have been made to me upon the subject—personally, by requisition, and through the press—I place my services at the disposal of the public as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the approaching municipal elections.

My association with the important municipal advances, which the Town has been making during recent years, will enable me to give continuity to the aggressive forward policy which the Council has sought to pursue, and to bring experience and information gained therein to bear upon the work and problems which still more immediately confront us.

While I cannot lay claim to all the qualifications which have been flatteringly ascribed to me, such capacity for the office as I do possess is cheerfully placed at your service, and I ask your sympathy and support in the effort to maintain the position and standing, and advance the welfare, of our already prosperous and progressive Town.

Respectfully yours,

THE WATSON TRAGEDY

Causes Which Made Insane Cowards of the Big Brothers.

AWFUL TORTURE BY BURGLARS.

Samuel Watson, Who Killed His Brother Wesley in Bed, in Jail, Awaiting Result of Coroner's Inquest and in Advance of It to Prevent Him From Doing Himself Harm—Victim Was Well Liked.

Brantford, Dec. 26.—Samuel Watson, who slew his brother Wesley, Monday, is occupying a cell in the County Jail. The man is charged with manslaughter having been taken into custody in advance of the coroner's verdict, to prevent him doing himself violence.

Samuel Watson is 38 years of age, and James is a few years his junior. Both are big stout men, capable of taking care of themselves without the use of guns. Behind their craven spirits, however, is a story sufficiently startling to account in a measure for their timidity. They had but recently a frightful experience with robbers, which was revealed for the first time by the present heartrending affair.

A year ago, two robbers entered their home, bound them, and deliberately tortured the men until they revealed where their wealth was hidden. Coal oil was poured on their feet and fired, a sharp ax was pressed against their necks, with threats to chop their heads off, and they were subjected to other shocking indignities. This attack was made in broad daylight, and seems so incredible as to be seriously questioned, but the details are verified. The brothers reported the case to at least one county officer. They even strongly suspected the authors of the outrage, but the matter was suppressed by the brothers in their agony of fear, and by the officer, with the hope of securing evidence.

Samuel Watson discusses the killing and all the circumstances frankly. His brother corroborates him, and the circumstances generally verify all the men say. In his cell the slayer is frantic. He is evidently suffering the keenest anguish and declares that he does not care whether he is hanged or imprisoned for life. Physicians fear his reason will give way. In fact, Dr. Fisette, the coroner investigating the case, explained that the man's appearance indicated the truth of his statement and that he was of a highly nervous temperament—of the class most likely to conduct himself exactly as he says he did under such circumstances. Dr. Fissette said, however, that it was quite necessary to confine the man, since it was a case for a coroner's jury to determine. Magistrate Feltch signed the commitment on which Watson was taken to jail.

The Masons of Caledonia have charge of the funeral.

The Watsons do not own the farm they live on, but are tenants. They are not very prosperous, and their home is barren, the doors are heavily barred, and the windows are enclosed with heavy shutters. The surroundings bear every evidence of the timidity of the inhabitants, and bear out the remarkable atory of the fear under which the family seems to have existed.

Well Liked at Detroit.

Detroit, Dec. 26.—Wesley Watson, the man shot and killed by his brother near Middleport, Ont., lived in Detroit at the residence of John A. Logue, Chene and Larned streets. Mrs. Logue said: We knew Wesley very well, as he had been boarding with us ever since his sister died. A nicer young man could not be found. Wesley left Monday morning and said he was going to take the noon train for Brantford, saying he intended to spend the holidays with his mother and brothers. All last week he was planing and thinking of the good time he was going to have, as last year he spent Christmas with them and when he returned he said he had had a most enjoyable time. "Although I did not know much about Wesley's brothers, I can't say that he ever spoke of there being any grievance between them Several times his brothers would write to him, asking him to come and work with them, but Wesley always had a feeling that he wanted to be for himself. Wesley, who was 25 years of age, was employed at the Detroit Stove Works. He was a staunch churchgoer and was a member of the Masonic Lodge of Brantford, Ont., as were his brothers.

GERMANY WANTS CASH AT ONCE

President Castro Wants Arbitration at The Hague—Cessation of the Blockade and Return of Venezuelan Fleet Seized by Allied Powers One of His Conditions — U. S. May Stand by Him in Demand.

Berlin, Dec. 26.—The Lokal Anzeiger published yesterday the following statement which was evidently inspired by the Foreign Office: "The German Government has excluded from the scope of arbitration of Venezuelan difficulty a claim of 1,700,000 bolivars, which must be paid immediately in cash before arbitration is begun."

The paper adds that it is understood here that President Roosevelt's undertaking to arbitrate involves an indirect guarantee for the payment of the sum to be awarded.

Confidence has grown in Government circles during the past 24 hours, that President Roosevelt will accept the task of arbitration.

Italy's Conditions.

Rome, Dec. 26.—The only conditions which Italy has attached to her acceptance of arbitration of Venezuelan difficulties are that all points in dispute shall be submitted to the arbitrators, so that no questions shall be left undecided; and that Italian claims must be considered on an equality with those of other powers.

President Castro Accepts.

Caracas, Dec. 26.—President Castro has telegraphed from La Victoria his acceptance of the proposal to submit all pending differences to the arbitration of The Hague Tribunal, subject to certain conditions, which include cessation of blockade and the return to Venezuela of the fleet seized by the allied powers.

No Confirmation.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26.—No confirmation could be obtained in Washington last night of the report coming from Caracas, that the proposition had been made to President Castro, that all pending differences between Venezuela and the European governments having claims against her be submitted to arbitration of The Hague Tribunal. Secretary Hay had retired when the despatch reached Washington, and no other official of the State Department was able to give any information on the subject.

It is known that only two days ago President Roosevelt had not determined whether or not to accept the proposal of the allies and act as arbitrator at The Hague, that conclusion probably would be reached at the long conference the President had with Secretary Hay Wednesday afternoon, when the two officials were together considering the proposals from the allies, that the President take up the question of arbitration.

The despatch to President Castro, through Mr. Bowen, suggesting arbitration at The Hague, must have followed that conference.

The officials here have refused absolutely to say anything on the subject since the receipt of the proposal from the allies, or even give out anything bearing on the terms of that proposal. The impression here last night was that an early determination of the matter will be reached.

No matter by whom the matter is arbitrated, whether by President Roosevelt or by The Hague Tribunal, the feeling here is strong that the United States Government, if the occasion arises, will insist that the existing blockade be called off while the arbitration is in progress. The presence of the blockading fleet along the Venezuelan coast is sure to be a menace to peaceful conditions, and difficulties of various kinds may arise at any time through the arbitrary action of some of the commanders of ships of the allied fleets, or by the intrepidity of some skipper who may attempt to run the blockade. But the greatest objection to a continuance of the blockade pending arbitration will be the loss to American shipping interests which the United States Government does not believe should be tolerated.

Detained at La Guayra.

Willemstad, Curacoa, Dec. 25.—The American Red "D" Line steamer Caracas has brought the remainder of her cargo here. The warships of the allied powers are using searchlights to watch the coast of Venezuela. Forty vessels are now being detained at La Guayra.

OVER WIRELESS.

Marconi Sends Christmas Greetings to His Directors in London.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 26.—Wireless messages sent in Italian by Signor Marconi to General Brusaldi, first aide-de-camp to the King of Italy; to the lady-in-waiting to the Queen Dowager Margherita, and to the Italian Minister of Marine, have been received at Poldhu, Cornwall, by operators who have no knowledge of the Italian language. This is regarded as an interesting proof of the correctness with which messages may be transmitted.

This message was sent yesterday by Marconi to the directors of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company in London:

"My best Christmas wishes to my co-directors and their families, sent for the first time by trans-Atlantic wireless telegram."

The Glace Bay station has been closed for the Christmas holidays.

Run Over by a Train.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 26. — William Kirwin, machinist of Albion mines, was run over by a train near New Glasgow early yesterday morning, and was instantly killed.

BOLD HIGHWAYMEN.

At the Point of a Revolver Stephen McEnney Gave Gold Watch and $60 to Two Masked Men.

Hamilton, Dec. 26.—Stephen McEnney of 60 Sutton street was held up near the C.P.R. crossing on Main street last night by two masked men, who demanded his money at the point of a revolver. Being without arms, and altogether unprepared, he was unable to make any resistance, and the robbers got away with his gold watch and $60 in cash. Owing to the darkness and the fact that both men were heavily masked, McEnney was unable to give any clear description of his assailants to the police.

Alleged Forger Arrested.

Hamilton, Dec. 26.—Frederick Simmonds, formerly of this city, is under arrest here on a charge of forgery. Wednesday afternoon Simmonds came into the office of T. D. Farmer, barrister, and asked for a loan of $50, saying he could get a good endorser. When asked who the endorser was, he said Mrs. Daw, wife of the Rev. Samuel Daw, rector of St. John the Evangelist Church. Mr. Farmer was quite satisfied with this, and Simmonds went to get the necessary endorsement. Soon he returned with the signature, and the note was taken to the Bank of Montreal, where Mrs. Daw is well-known, and the accountant accepted it as genuine, which goes to show how cleverly the work was done. Later the manager sent to tell Mr. Farmer that the signature was a forgery. Later, Simmonds is said to have confessed to the forgery. Meanwhile the police arrived and he was taken to No. 3 police station.

Grand Trunk Train Engines Run Into One Another While Going Fifty Miles an an Hour—Two Killed.

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 26.—In an engine collision at Benton, six miles west of this city, last night, Engineer James Kerwin and Fireman Theodore Schlubatis of Grand Trunk train No. 1,122 were instantly killed, and Engineer Brown and Fireman Burkhardt of train No. 911 were fatally injured. The engines collided head-on, while going at a speed of fifty miles an hour. No. 1,122 was an extra engine sent out from Battle Creek to meet No. 911 and help pull the latter, which was a heavy freight, to this city.

At Least Ten Were Killed.

Trinidad, Colo., Dec. 26.—Developments last night indicate that the wreck on the Colorado and Southern Railway near here Wednesday night caused by a collision between a merchandise freight train and a heavily loaded coal train was more serious than at first reported. At least ten men were killed, and several more bodies may be found before the wreck is cleared away.

MOB THREATENS SWINDLERS.

Paris Populace May Give Humbert Family a Rough Reception.

Paris, Dec. 26.—As a result of conferences between Premier Combes and the Minister of Justice, M. Valle, complete arrangements have been made for the reception of the members of the Humbert family, arrested in Madrid on Dec. 20.

The precaution has been taken not to disclose what prison the prisoners will occupy or where they will be taken from the train, as a popular demonstration is feared. The Government authorities are showing great activity in preparing for the prosecution of the prisoners, thus overcoming the popular prejudice that the accused enjoy the favor of those in high authority.

M. Hamilton, the chief of detectives, who has gone to Madrid, is accompanied by four Civil Guards, four police inspectors and two of the best detectives in the service. It is expected that they will occupy a special car with the prisoners, whose arrival in Paris is awaited with intense interest.

CABINET MINISTER OUSTED.

General Reyes Forced to Resign Owing to Son's Writing.

City of Mexico, via Galveston, Texas, Dec. 26.—General Bernardo Reyes has resigned the post of Minister of War and Marine. There was a long Cabinet meeting Wednesday night, at which the resignation was accepted. The action of the Minister wes due to the publication of articles attacking the Minister of Finance, J. L. Limantour. These articles have been appearing in La Protesta, and were inspired, it is alleged, by Rudolfo Reyes, son of the general. It is not known whether the general was cognizant of his son's reported action, but his position in the Cabinet was made clearly untenable, and hence, he decided to resign. The War Department was handed over yesterday to the Mayor.

Pope Celebrated Mass.

Rome, Dec. 26.—His Holiness celebrated mass in his private chapel Christmas Eve, after which he wished all present a merry Christmas, and said, Roughingly, "Do I look as if I had been ill yesterday?" The Pontiff delivered the benediction personally.

Eve Tempted Adam.

And Adam has been tempting Eve ever since. Imagine a man selling a woman rancid butter while keeping her attention fixed on a "prize" given with the rancid butter! A woman may be tempted by "prizes" to buy common soaps, that she may not know will soon ruin her clothes and hands. But she soon finds out the difference between common soaps and Sunlight Soap. She finds Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—a prize in itself. Her clothes last longer, and her hands are saved from eczema.

REGARDING POULTRY RAISING

Address of Mrs. Ida E. Tilson, of West Salem, Wis.

How to Keep the Houses Clean—She Mentions Some Poultry Parasites—Various Forms of Pests.

The following is a synopsis of an address by Mrs. Ida E. Tilson, of West Salem, Wis., who has been conducting a series of poultry institute meetings in Nova Scotia:

We may build a dry, sunny, warm hen house, feed well-balanced rations, and be kind, faithful masters, yet defeat ourselves in poultry culture by allowing everything to pour through the fowls into nasty parasites around and on them.

Besides some minor pests, there are two great classes of poultry parasites, lice and mites. The latter have no thorax, only a proboscis, head and abdomen. They belong to the arachnidae or spider kind, and are nearly all blood suckers. Some of the lice, notably the large gray-head louse, are blood suckers, but most of them are filth feeders. The blood sucking lice, when killed by oil, usually die slowly and roll up themselves and proboscis. Killed more quickly in alcohol the proboscis may sometimes be seen. There are about nine kinds of lice, and four kinds of mites, infesting poultry. The pests vary in size, colour and shape, but preventive and remedial measures do not differ so much.

While some lice breed in filth, others lay nits or eggs upon the birds. If possible the manure should be daily removed and the perches scraped. This not only takes away breeding places for certain parasites but gives fowls a better air, and gets the fertilizer on the land or in a compost before its valuable ammonia has escaped, in the last particular fully realising what Lord Palmerston said of dirt, as only matter in the wrong place.

If a shallow dust box is provided, or a fresh spot of earth often spaded, fowls will clean and exercise themselves rather than exercise their owner. Wood ashes will discolour plumage and legs, a matter of consequence only to exhibitors. With a coarse seive from the fanning mill I sift any kind of ashes, throwing charcoal or clinkers to one side, for the biddies to eat; but rest assured their bath of dust is when free from chunks; keep it in a sunny place, stir and renew often. A little sulphur or lime, not enough to add sore eyes, I add frequently. If fowls are very badly affected, I find that I can clean 25 birds in 15 minutes by a puff box or little bellows of Persian insect powder. I do not get personally acquainted with each individual parasite but apply powder to the top of the head, under beak, wings and vent. This is done in the evening when fowls are drowsy, or when I set a hen, and several times during her incubating. Sifted coal ashes will answer well. The Persian insect powder is volatile, and should be kept tightly corked when not used, and is of no use in nest boxes, unless mixed and held with oil. Tansy, worm wood and elder leaves, cedar sprigs and onion skins are are good discouragers in nests. I also often use a sawdust filling.

Mites hide in perches, walls and nest-boxes by day, coming forth to feast on blood at night, hence our measures for destroying them must be directed to the house itself. These creatures are just visible to the naked eye. They are more ruddy when they have had a good meal, and paler after fasting. A daytime examination frequently discloses them on sick or sitting fowls, the pests seeming to realize that the latter are not going to shake them off. Mites, when very thick, will be found between nests and walls.

There is an important difference between lice and mites. I have done considerable work with the microscope, and am convinced that henlice do not breed on horses and cattle. The latter have their own kinds independently. Hen-lice will run over horses and cattle, causing great annoyance, but do not lay nits on them; while mits are cosmopolitan. They will bite all alike, even thy man servant and the maid servant, and the canary or baby within the doors. They do but puncture for blood. They multiply so fast, I have actually known two hen houses to be burned when cleaning was thought hopeless. But from sieges with them, I know they can be conquered. Hot, thin whitewash, (the lime newly slaked with hot water,) kerosene emulsion, turpentine (singly or in combination,) brine, hot tar paints and even hot water, have all to my knowledge been successfully used. The main thing is to repeat the application every day for about a week, in order to catch every batch, because the eggs are less susceptible to applications than are the adult creatures. On our farm, we found it necessary to clean some of the carriers, or cats and dogs, with pheno-choloro, etc.

It will be seen that a necessity to thorough cleaning is moveable furniture in the poulty house, or moveable nests and perches. Soap or cracker boxes hung to the wall by stout nails driven part in and tipped up like picture nails, then passing through corresponding holes in those boxes, make nests easily taken down for cleaning, and also adjustable to any size or height of fowls, since active breeds would better have nests out of reach of their prying mischief, and larger breeds cannot, without injury, jump down from or fly to high nests. Perches must not be teeter-like, but whether they pull out of grooves or from under leather straps, will answer if moveable. Wide perches prevent crooked breast bones and are generally selected by modern heavy fowls given a choice.

As a pioneer retraces his steps by blazed trees, so, would that I could mine by a line of clean hen-houses with moveable furniture.

Live Stock Commissioner.

NEW PACIFIC ROAD.

Peterborough Will be on the Main Line of the new System.

The Grand Trunk Pacific gives notice in the Official Gazette of the application it will make to Parliament next session for the right to build from the present Grand Trunk System in Ontario westward through the fertile plains of Manitoba and the Territories, on to the Pacific coast.

The present notice does not give the public any more information with regard to the location of the system than Mr. Hays' statements contained.

Gravenhurst, the eastern terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific, is half way up the present G.T.R. branch from Toronto to North Bay. Presumably the new line would strike off from there instead of North Bay because the former would give a little shorter cut.

In reply to a question whether the Western traffic to the seaboard over this new system would not be carried by a direct line to Montreal and Quebec, an official of the company says the intention is to utilize the Midland connection down to the Grand Trunk main line either at Port Hope or Belleville, from which there is now a double track to Montreal.

This means then, that Peterborough will be on the main line of the new Pacific road in any event.

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN AS A DEBATER.

An article by an Irish M.P., in Leslie's Monthly for January says: Mr. Chamberlain as a debater is a supreme success. His speeches never rise to the height of eloquence — his temperament is not susceptible to inspiration — but his speeches are admirably suited to his audience, who desire to be informed without being wearied, to listen without a sense of boredom, to be entertained in the speeches with which Mr. Chamberlain regales them, which, if they were not in the necessity of things monologues, might well form a large part of highly bright or breesy after-dinner conversation. Mr. Chamberlain in fact, speaks as a business man to business men, and, astonishing to say, with the education of an ordinary city clerk, can hold his own in the conflict of wits, with the most highly trained intelligences of the time. He is, however, singularly careful not to go out of his depth in debate.

CANADA APPRECIATED.

At last week's United States Reciprocity League convention at Detroit, Mr. E. N. Foss, a prominent Bostonian, made the remark that the farmers of the Dominion of Canada would soon be absolute masters of the British markets.

And Mr. Foss was followed by Hon. John Lind, ex-Governor of Minnesota, who observed that "Canada is fast becoming the granary of most of the Old World, and will have some day to feed America, too."

That Canada's possibilities are beginning to be appreciated by at least some of our cousins across the line is evident, and we believe that are long, the civilized world will awake to the vast natural wealth latent within our borders.—Toronto World.

NOBODY IS EXEMPT.

A New Preparation Which Everyone Will Need Sooner or Later.

Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more or less, and the commonest thing that they can do for it, is to take some one of the many so called purifiers, which in many cases, are merely strong cathartics. Such things are not needed. If the organs are in a clogged condition, they need only a little help, and they will right themselves. Cathartics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels, and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one or two Tablets—give them needed help, and you will have no trouble.

It's a common sense medicine and a common sense treatment and it will cure every time; not only cure the disease but cure the cause. Goes about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific way.

We have testimonials enough to fill a book, but we don't publish many of them. However, Mrs. E. M. Faith, of Byrd's Creek, Wis., says: "I have taken all the Tablets I got of you and they have done their work well in my case, for I feel altogether like a different person. I do not doubt if I had not got them I should have been at rest by this time."

H. E. Willard, Onslow, Ia., says:—"Mr. White of Canton, was telling me of your Dyspepsia Tablets curing him of Dyspepsia from which he suffered for eight years. As I am a sufferer myself I wish you to send me a package by return mail."

Phil Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your Dyspepsia Cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from Dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured, and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

It will cost fifty cents to find out just how much Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will help you. Try them—that's the best way to decide."

AVERAGES OF MAKERS

Are not Always an Indication of Cheese making Ability.

The following item from the Ottawa Valley Journal may be of interest to the cheese makers of this district:

Having been connected with the cheese business for several years, as maker and manager of factories in different localities, I have observed that there is great strife among the cheesemakers to make the best average for the factory in which they are engaged. I do not find fault with the maker who makes the most cheese out of the milk he handles that can be possible to make out of it, so long as he does it by honest skill, but if the practice of stealing weight is resorted to, then I believe it should be exposed.

Now and again we hear a maker boasting that he has made the best average of all the factories in the country, when we find out that the secret of this is that he did not give the patrons of his factory credit for all the milk they brought, or in other words, stole weight on the weight stand, we fear that this maker is taking to himself an honour that is not due him and reflecting a dishonour on cheese makers as a whole.

I believe that cheese makers should be instructed along the lines of good principles as well as good management in cheese factories, that they would not try to get a good reputation in the above mentioned way, but in an honest way qualify themselves at their own expense, by taking advantage of the ways of means provided for their edification. It appears to me that, if the cheesemaker, by keeping himself and the surroundings of the factory clean is an example for the patrons of that factory, in cleanliness, he also could be an example worth copying if he adopted good principles and developed a good character.

I fear that in this age of rush among those who are engaged in the manufacture of cheese, that there is need of proper instruction. Good instruction is offered but not generally accepted, and all the bad habits are being handed down from one to another, getting worse instead of better. Taking the present condition of affairs into consideration. I deem it an opportune time for all who want the great cheese manufacturing business to be successful and prosperous, to adopt some system whereby cheese makers may be better qualified, cheese factories improved, and the the general management of the whole business tend to deal out justice and fair play to all.

J. P. McINTOSH.

Note. — Cheese makers are certain to be anxious to have low average to their credit, and some of them with that object will be certain to gain as much milk from the patrons at the milk stand as possible, just as long as a majority of patrons are anxious to discharge makers who do not have a how average. Patrons should realize that it is possible for an incompetent but dishonest maker to have a lower average than a capable but honest maker. Of course patrons can keep a sort of check on a maker by weighing their milk before sending it to the factory, but few care to go to such trouble.

Fifty Oakville Private Bank Depositors Want to Pay off Bank of Hamilton and Appoint a New Assignee.

Oakville, Dec. 26.—Matters in connection with the Anderson Bank failure were discussed at an informal meeting of creditors in the council chambers Wednesday afternoon. About 50 were present, and there was quite an animated discussion. J. A. MacDonald was chairman and W. S. Davis secretary.

All present were in favor of the creditors arranging a settlement with the Bank of Hamilton and then taking over all securities and settling the affairs of the bank. It was thought that they could be more successful in the collection of notes than the bank. This course, Mr Hall said, the bank favored, referring to a recent interview with Manager Turnbull.

Messrs. D. O. Cameron, George Andrew and J. A. MacDonald were appointed a committee to go to the Bank of Hamilton, look over securities held against C. W. Anderson & Son, secure other needed information and report at the next meeting of the creditors.

Another meeting will be held two nights before the one called by the assignee.

The Day of Miracles

Is past, but many who are cured of itching, bleeding or protruding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment look upon their recovery as next thing to miraculous. It is not uncommon for persons who have undergone painful, risky and expensive operations in vain to be finally cured by this wonderful ointment. It is the standard the world over and the only guaranteed cure for piles.

THE EVENING OF LIFE

Declining years—the time when one is on the other side of the hill, call for constant care in the matter of nutrition. Life then depends so much on the body's power to repair loss and waste. This power grows less and less. The ability to shake off local disorders and to draw heavily on the body's reserve force are privileges that youth alone can claim.

With age comes slow movement, slower operation of the whole body's forces. Trifles become burdens and we live in the past. Ordinary food no longer nourishes. Poor teeth, perhaps, and improper mastication give the stomach work that it is not supposed to do—the digestion is taxed and even injured when it should be troubled least.

Many elderly persons get strength and nourishment from Scott's Emulsion. It slips into the blood so quickly that the stomach is not aware of its presence. Not only does Scott's Emulsion furnish nourishment itself, but it helps to digest other food. It aids in the proper distribution of food benefits—simplifies the stomach's work.

Moreover, the lime and soda contained in Scott's Emulsion in the form of hypophosphites nourish the bones and reduce the acid in the blood which feeds rheumatism.

Then, too, the body must have fat, for fat is heat and heat is life. Cod liver oil as we find it in Scott's Emulsion is the most easily digested of all fats.

Scott's Emulsion always helps when vitality is at a low ebb.

CAPITALISTS MAY COMBINE.

Judges of the Missouri Court of Appeals Says That Trusts Can Kill Competition If They Choose.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—"Capitalists have a right to do as they please with their money, so long as they do not become public charges

"A man without capital may labor, or refuse to labor, so long as he keeps out of the poorhouse.

"Capitalists have the right to combine capital in productive enterprises and by lawful competition drive individual producers and smaller ones out of business.

"Laborers and artisans have the right to form unions and fight this competition of capitalists by lawful means."

This statement of the right of combination on the part of capital and labor was handed down by Judge C. C. Bland of the Court of Appeals in a decision in favor of Joseph E. Walsh, who sought an injunction to prevent members of the Master Plumbers' Association from combining in the refusal to sell him supplies because he was not a member. Judges Barclay and Goode concurred in the decision, which was a reversal of a decision in Judge Woods' court.

The Appellate Court, while holding that the association should be restrained, as Walsh asked, refused to dissolve the organization, as he had requested. It was stated that the association was a lawful one.

FINED FOR INHUMANITY.

Child Slave's Mother Gave False Evidence Before Magistrate.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Dec. 26.—Judge Gray and the other members of the anthracite arbitration commission were moved to indignation several days ago when 11-year-old Theresa McDermott told how she and other tots had to leave school and work in a factory early and late to aid their parents in keeping the home together. The first results of this indignation became manifest Wednesday.

Mrs. Annie McDermott was arraigned before Ald. Miller, charged with giving false information under oath to enable her to put the child to work. It was alleged she had sworn that Theresa was thirteen years two months and nine days old. Little attempt was made at a defence.

Because the child had left the mill and is now attending school, the alderman took a merciful view of the case and fined Mrs. McDermott $4 and costs, which she paid.

SCARED RAILWAYMEN

Rolling Stock Set in Motion by Earthquake Shocks.

SEISMIC DISTURBANCES DAILY.

Andijan, in Russian Central Asia, the Scene of the Shocks—The People Will Not Leave District Even For Earthquakes—The City to Be Rebuilt—Suffering Being Relieved.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26.—According to the latest advices from Andijan, Russian Central Asia, the shocks of earthquakes are continuing there. There have been four or five seismic disturbances daily, and a particularly violent series of shocks during the night of Dec. 22, and the following morning set all the rolling stock on the railway in motion, resulting in a panic among the railway men. Traffic is still suspended on the railway, and the station is closed. The military authorities are taking over the control of line for some distance from Andijan.

The damage resulting from the recent earthquake amounts to several million of dollars. The temperature has fallen to freezing point and thousands of persons are homeless.

One section of the city has been completely destroyed; one cotton gin and one church only are standing. The first shock drove the inhabitants generally indoors, otherwise the loss of life would have been much greater. The people of the stricken city are accepting the situation stoically. Notwithstanding the offers of free transportation they are remaining in the vicinity of the city, which will be rebuilt. A substantial start has been made in the collection of a relief fund.

Andijan is a cotton centre and exports 40,000,000 pounds of cotton annually. The population, numbering 56,000 souls, was growing rapidly. The people, who are mainly Sarts, were engaged in cotton raising and ginning. Of twenty gins nineteen have been destroyed. The Sarts are not like Russians. They are private owners of land, but live in cities and towns. The houses in Andijan are principally one-storey high, and are built of unburned brick.

The War Department here says that everything possible is being done to relieve suffering. Barracks in which the population will be housed, are being built.

FIREMAN SERIOUSLY HURT.

David Ferguson Fell From a Ladder and Injured His Back.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—Fireman David Ferguson was seriously injured last night while fighting a fire which occurred in S. Price & Son's two-storey barn in the rear of their dairy at 212 East King street. A ladder on which Ferguson and two other firemen were at work slipped on the ice and all three men were thrown to the ground. Ferguson alighted on his back. His spine was injured, causing paralysis of the body from the waist down. It is possible that Ferguson's back was broken by the fall. The other two firemen who were on the ladder with Ferguson escaped unhurt. Ferguson is about 30 years of age, and has a wife and one child about a week old.

The fire broke out about 11 o'clock and lasted less than half an hour. The damage is estimated by a member of the firm at $1,000.

Two Firemen Killed.

New York, Dec. 26.—Fire, which broke out early yesterday morning, completely destroyed the cooperage plant of Arbuckle. During the progress of the fire one of the walls of the building fell, burying the members of one of the fire companies beneath a mass of brick and other wreckage. Two were killed. The estimates of the loss run from $100,000 up.

The summonses have been served upon the defendants. The inquiry will begin here on Monday next.

St. Louis Drivers Strike.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—The cab and carriage drivers' strike, begun at midnight Wednesday night, until now 390 of the 570 drivers in St. Louis are out. During the day many funerals and social functions were interrupted by the strike. Seventeen funerals took place at which all of the mourners had to go to the various cemeteries in street cars.

Prior's Man Defeated.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 26.—Mr. Patterson, the Opposition candidate in the North Victoria bye-election, has defeated Mr. Robertson, the candidate of the new Prior Government, by a majority of 43. This was the first contest since the Prior Government came into power, the constituency being opened by the death of Speaker Booth.

Another Negro Lynched.

Pittsburg, Kas., Dec. 26. — Montgomery Godley, a colored man, was taken from the jail here yesterday and lynched by a mob. He had shot and killed Milton Hinkle, a policeman, while the officer was trying to protect himself against a crowd of unruly negroes.

Flesherton Man Held Up.

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning policemen placed under arrest William Porter, an inmate of a lodging-house at 125 York street, on a charge of assaulting and attempting to rob Richard Wood, who lives four miles from Flesherton. Wood's face is badly disfigured as a result of his encounter with Porter. Wood positively identified Porter as his assailant.

AFTER FANNING ISLAND.

British Cable Company Makes Offer to Owners of Half of It.

Honolulu, Dec. 17., via Victoria, B. C.—Dec. 25.—The British Cable Company owning the All-Red Line from Vancouver to Australia to Fanning Island, has made an offer to James and Henry Bicknell of Honolulu to purchase their half interests in the island. The company has a cable landing there now, and it is understood to be seeking to purchase the island. "King" Greig owns the other half interest. James Bicknell leaves for San Francisco on the Zealandia and may close a bargain with the British Company after he arrives.

Traffic Through Soo Canals.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 26.—The greatest volume of commerce in the history of the greatest ship canals of the world is shown by the completed statistics of the traffic through the waterways at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Ontario, for the present year, which amounted to 35,961,146 freight tons, exceeding that of last year, also a banner season, by 7,558,081 tons. Of this frieght, the east-bound amounted to 30,275,989 tons; west-bound, 5,695,157.

Will Search For Mutineers.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 26.—According to advices from Honolulu the British cruiser Shearwater, which has left there for Pitcairn and other South Sea islands, will make a search for the mutineers who left the ship Leicester Castle, after shooting the captain and killing Second Mate Dixon. The mutiny occurred three hundred miles from Pitcairn, and it was believed the mutineers might reach that island if they did not perish at sea.

In Good Health

A woman makes her toilet with care and content. But in bad health it often happens that the gratification of being well attired is lost. There is hardly strength to brush and dress the hair, and there is small courage to make the effort to keep up appearances.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong, by making them well. The common cause of feminine weakness is found in a diseased condition of the womanly organism. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. The tonic effects of this medicine are remarkable; it soothes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces refreshing sleep. It gives comfort and courage to prospective mothers, and practically does away with the pains commonly experienced at maternity.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Women suffering from disease in aggravated form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All letters are read in private and womanly confidences held in absolute secresy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

It Surprised Her.

"I enjoy good health; thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. J. J. Schnetyer, of Pontiac, Livingston Co., Ill. "Have taken six bottles of each kind. I was taken sick last February and the doctors here called it 'Grip.' I lay for four weeks in bed, and then when I got up I found I had 'displacement.' Had such aches and pains in my back and limbs could not stand any length of time. I knew that our home doctor would insist the first thing on an examination, and that I would not submit to, unless I was dangerously sick, and then it would be too late to do any good. My son had your book, Common Sense Medical Adviser, and I thought from reading it that Dr. Pierce's medicines would do me more good than all the home doctors—and so it has. If any one had told me it would do me so much good I would have said 'Oh no, not that much good.' I can say truly I was surprised at the benefit I received. I can do all my washing and also tend my flower garden. In fact I am on my feet most all the time. An old friend of mine said to me, 'Why, what is the matter with you? You are getting young again.' I told her I had taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicine, and that if she would do likewise she would feel ten years younger, too."

Five Physicians Helpless.

"I feel it my duty to write to you and let you know how much your medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. Wm. Hackett, of Breesport, Chemung Co., N. Y. "It is one of the best that I ever used in my life. Before I began to use your medicine it seemed as though I would never be well again. Could not stand on my feet five minutes without fainting. Could not walk to my neighbors. Would have a vomiting spell that would last three hours at a time. My limbs would tremble so I could not even wait on myself. Then I had a severe time of chronic inflammation of the liver, then uterine trouble, then heart disease. I had five of the best physicians that could be found. They said to my friends 'there is no help for her.' One said I could not live the winter out, one told me that if I got temporary relief that was all that could be done. My mother said to me one day when she was there, 'Do you know you cannot get well?' I told her I did. She said 'What are you going to do about the baby? Do you want me to care for her—or some one else?' It seemed as though she had pierced me with a sword, to think of leaving my little girl without a mother, it seemed as though I could not stand it, and when my friends were telegraphed to that I was dying, and seeing them weep by my bed, that seemed as though I could never stand to hear them repeat that they would take care of the baby and give her a good home.' I think if ever any one has been through with such a terrible thing they can sympathize with me.

"There are a great many ladies that I have begged to use Dr. Pierce's medicine and told what it has done for me. With the first two bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' it seemed as though I was getting worse. When the next two I was feeling so well that I could do my work and be real jolly. With the next two I felt like a new being."

ART AND NATURE.

The Changes Wrought by Force of Methodical Development.

There are really very few things in use in the world today which have not been materially changed by the forces of methodical development. Civilized men and women themselves are the best examples of this all pervading influence. The beasts of burden and the creatures which supply the world with animal food are remotely different from what they were in the beginning. The work of breeding and training has added beauty and usefulness to the birds of the air and the beasts of the field, and the same upward tendency is noted in these latter days in the flowers which gladden life with their loveliness and which admonish man perpetually of his frailty. Pleasant it is to know that what may be called the sophistication of flowers has robbed them of not a whit of their native charm. There is in the sensuous odor of the American Beauty the magic to revive in any mind attuned to the heart of nature sweet memories of tangled vines and wild roses, creeping and blooming along country roads. The scent of the rich and full carnation will call up in a moment tender recollections of borders of spicy little pinks tended by loving hands that have been folded for years in dreamless repose. In the regal chrysanthemum is seen the amazing product of brave little asters which came to embellish the dooryard with the first chill of autumn and after all of the summer blooms had perished.

Economical Man.

The native pointed out to the stranger an old man who was passing.

"That man," said the native, "beats the world on close figuring."

"Makes a little money go a long ways, does he?"

"Well, rather. In the winter he put revolving doors into a big building that he owns, and he never took them out again all summer."

"Pure matter of economy?"

"Exactly."

"Rather small and mean, I should think. The cost of taking out and putting back the revolving doors ought not to be great, and he's giving his tenants and their patrons a lot of unnecessary labor."

"That's just it," explained the native. "He's making them work for him for nothing. Why, he stores up the power generated by those doors and uses it to run the elevators. Why, the man is so close that he doesn't get mad in summer because he thinks his anger would cause him to give out heat that he'll need in the winter."

Mucilage Betrayed Him.

Some time ago a registered package sent from the New York postoffice, containing a large sum of money, was received at its destination apparently intact, but on being opened was found to contain nothing but waste paper. Suspicion could not be directed to any one clerk of the many who had handled it. The inspector had often noticed that the glue used at each postoffice had an odor distinguishable from that of any other. He investigated along this line and was finally rewarded when in an office near the destination of the package he discovered an identity of smell between the registered package and a gluepot on the counter. He caused a watch to be set upon the clerks in the office in the usual way and finally caught his man spending a portion of his ill gotten gains.

Lighthouse Without a Light.

The most extraordinary of all British lighthouses is to be found on Arnish rock, Stornoway bay—a rock which is separated from the island of Lewis by a channel over 500 feet wide. On this rock a conical beacon is erected, and on its summit a lantern is fixed, from which, night after night, shines a light which is seen by the fishermen far and wide. The way in which this lighthouse is illuminated is this: On the island of Lewis is a lighthouse, and from a window in the tower a stream of light is projected on to a mirror in the lantern on the summit of Arnish rock. The consequence is that, to all intents and purposes, a lighthouse exists which has neither lantern nor lighthouse keeper.

An Artist's Trials.

Brownly—Dauber certainly has his own troubles.

Pinder—Why, I thought he was doing splendidly.

Brownly—He was until he painted that last landscape. He painted the sun in too natural.

Pinder—How could that be?

Brownly—Well, it dries up the water in the pond so fast that he has to paint in new water every two or three days.

"I suppose in the collecting business," said the inquisitive man, "nearly every man you go to see asks you to call again."

"Ask me?" replied the collector. "Some of them dare me."

A Witty Reply.

Whenever the United States supreme court, on hearing the argument of counsel for plaintiff in error, is entirely satisfied that he has no case, the chief justice is apt to say to counsel for defendant in error that the court does not care to hear further argument. At one time Hon. Matthew Carpenter from Wisconsin was counsel for plaintiff in error and opened the case. Before he was through the court was satisfied that there was nothing in it, and so when he had concluded and counsel for defendant in error arose Chief Justice Waite said, "The court does not care to hear any further argument."

Counsel was a little deaf and, although noticing that the chief justice spoke, did not hear what he had said and, turning to Mr. Carpenter, who sat beside him, asked what had been said.

"Oh, hang it!" replied Carpenter in tones audible to the bench. "The chief justice said he would rather give you the case than hear you talk."—Youth's Companion.

No Influence Above.

In Dr. John Hall's time it was the custom in his church to use the old fashioned, simple hymns, and the singing was congregational.

On one occasion William M. Evarts discovered E. Delafield Smith, then corporation counsel of New York city, singing with all his heart and whispered to his friend:

"Why, there is Smith singing 'I want to be an angel!' I knew he wanted to be district attorney, but I didn't know he wanted to be an angel."

The remark was repeated to Mr. Smith, and quick as a flash came the retort:

"No, I have never mentioned the matter to Evarts, knowing that he had no influence in that direction."

Bridal Favors.

Bridal favors are of Danish origin. For instance, the true lover's knot was a Danish fancy and took its name from the expression, "Truelofa"—"I plight my troth."

The Convolutions of Soup Creek.

Soup creek, in McDowell county, W. Va., is a remarkable stream. The creek passes a hamlet called Vivian and about a mile below returns, runs around a tract of land about half a mile wide and then passes under itself. This freak is caused by the lay of the land, which sinks spirally.

Formosa is a country where a man must have a license before he is allowed to smoke opium.

To Keep Cream.

If you have a cupful of cream on hand and wish to keep it for a day or two, add to it two or three lumps of sugar, stirring it well; then cover and set away in the coolest corner of the refrigerator.

How Trees Grow.

The last annual circle of wood leaves an accumulation of living cells upon its surface, and toward midsummer these cells produce an abundance of new ones until the aggregate is sufficient to form a new annual layer. This process on common trees requires about six weeks.

Suspension Bridges.

It took sixteen years to build the first Brooklyn bridge, but immensely larger suspension bridges can now be constructed in from four to five years.

Speed of Birds.

Latest experiments show that the speed of birds is overestimated. Pigeons rarely travel over forty miles an hour. The record, and that for a comparatively short distance, is fifty-five miles an hour.

A Giant English Oak.

"Winfarthing oak," according to reliable testimony, was 700 years old at the time of the conquest. William is said to have surveyed it closely before making his famous remark, "Could I live to be but one-fourth the age of this tree the world would be mine."

Among the many tokens of esteem received by the teachers of the public schools of the town, was a very handsome framed picture presented to Miss A. E. Peters by the boys of her class in the Central School. The girls presented her with a beautiful china tray, and with their best wishes.

A Correction.

In the programme given of the Young People's Social Evening in Tuesday's issue, the last number should have read: Solo and chorus—Mr. Gilloughly and Bible class. Instead of: Solo and chorus—Gilloughly's Bible class. As as matter of fact Mr. Gilloughly is not connected with St. John's church.

SAD ENDING OF CHRISTMAS DAY

Mr. Thomas Greenwood, of Port Hope, Seized With Apoplexy.

Among the many Christmas guests from abroad was Mr. Thomas Greenwood, who was the guest of his son-in-law, Mr. F. J. Jameson, 24 Harvey street. He had come to town to spend the day with the family, and at the conclusion of the Christmas dinner last night he was suddenly stricken down with apoplexy of sufficiently severe a character to paralyze the left side. Medical aid was at once called in and the patient, under its effects showed considerable improvement, passed a fairly good night and to-day is considerably better, and it is to be hoped that the improvement will continue to complete recovery, or, at least, as far as can be expected in case of a gentleman of Mr. Greenwood's advanced years—between seventy and eighty.

HELD THE RIGHT KEY

For the Box of Money in the Key Contest.

For some time past a great deal of interest has centred in the key contest carried on by Messrs. H. E. Bradley and Company. A box filled with money was the prize, and with each one dollar purchase a key was given. The owner of the key that fitted the lock was the winner, and when the drawing took place yesterday, Mrs. John O'Brien held the correct key and she was the richer by some twenty-five dollars.

With true generosity the lucky winner made the firm the present of a box of fine cigars.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

A Busy Morning's Work After Christmas.

As a result of Christmas, there was a rather busy session of the police court this morning.

A well-dressed young man pleaded guilty to begging, but as he had a position in the country, he was given twenty-four hours to get out of town.

A young lad was charged with being drunk in a public place. He said he had bought the liquor alone and was not treating, and the court thought that he deserved censure for such parsimony at this season of the year, but as it was his first offence he was allowed to go.

A man charged with stealing a purse did not get off so easily. He said he saw the purse and was afraid some one would appropriate it, and he therefore took charge of it. However, during the Christmas festivities some of the money was spent. His Worship Magistrate Dumble could not see any difference between this and larceny, and the accused was given one month in jail with hard labour.

IS DOING WELL.

Former Resident of Cavan in Wisconsin.

Mr. Thomas McNish, formerly a well-known resident of Cavan, but now residing at Black Creek, Wisconsin, in writing to friends in town, tells of great prosperity in the "Garden of Wisconsin." The farmers are simply coining money there on every hand, and especially the men engaged in dairying. Mr. McNish is sending the milk of fourteen cows to the creamery, and is receiving 29 cents per pound for the butter.

IN CIVIC CIRCLES.

The members of the Finance Committee are requested to attend a meeting of that body to-night at 7.45.

CHRISTMAS WEDDING.

Mr. James F. Akey, of Town, Joins Ranks of Benedicts.

An interesting event took place at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, at "Fairview Farm," North Monaghan, the home of Mr. J. Giles, when his daughter Miss Irene, was united in matrimony to Mr. James F. Akey, of Peterborough.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. W. L. Armitage, Rector of All Saints' church.

The bride was attired in a suit of blue lady's cloth, trimmed with white silk and velvet, and was attended by her sister, Miss Evelyn.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Charles Akey.

The newly married couple will reon Dalhousie street, Peterborough.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING

At Fraserville on Wednesday Event of December 24th.

A very pretty wedding took place at five o'clock on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. James Stewart, Fraserville, when his eldest daughter, Rachel Matilda, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. John Cruikshanks of Fraserville.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white silk trimmed with chiffon and ribbon. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Maude, who wore a dainty gown of white organdie trimmed with Valenciennes lace and ribbon. Mr. Will Cruikshanks, of Peterborough, supported the groom. Rev. Mr. Kenny, of Millbrook, tied the nuptial knot.

After the ceremony, the guests, to the number of sixty sat down to a sumptuous wedding dejeuner.

Among those present were guests from Toronto, Port Hope and Peterborough and Millbrook. The presents received were numerous and costly, and show the high esteem in which the contracting parties are held by their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Cruikshanks have taken up residence in Fraserville.

WEDDED IN TORONTO.

Mr. C. E. Wright and Miss Isabella Swanston, Both of Ashburnham.

On Tuesday evening at the residence of the groom's brother-in-law, Mr. Harrison, 366 Ontario street, Toronto, Miss Isabella, daughter of the late William Swanston, of Ashburnham, was united in marriage to Mr. C. E. Wright, of the same place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Milligan, pastor of Old St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Miss Craig, of Hespeler, niece of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by Mr. R. J. Burley of Regina. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents, and the hearty congratulations of the guests present. They will reside at Peterborough.

FARMERS' ADVOCATE.

The Christmas Number has Involved Considerable Effort and Outlay.

"The golden fields are waving,
The sun sets golden red.
A sleeping Empire's waking,
An Empire's day is breaking,
A maiden Empire's making
A mother Empire's bread."

The above lines were written by Cy. Warman, the clever American author, who makes his home in Canada, for the beautiful coloured frontispiece of the Christmas Farmer's Advocate, of London, Ont., to which the readers of that ever-popular periodical have been treated. Some idea of the magnitude of the issue may be seen from the fact that it actually required over 16 1-4 tons of paper to print it! Some thirty or forty specially written articles on every phase of agriculture and kindred themes, by the most eminent writers on this continent, and in Great Britain, appear in its 80 pages, which are embellished with over 100 photogravures and reproductions of many of the best of modern paintings. It is a unique production, every page disclosing something of interest and and value. We congratulate the Farmer's Advocate on its success, and the farming interests of this country on having such a splendid exponent. With a large and competent staff, thoroughly understanding the practical needs of all departments of agriculture, the Advocate has laid plans for 1903 that make it indispensable to the man who wants a reliable and high class farm paper at a very modest outlay.

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS

Spent at the Different Hospitals and Provident Institutions.

St. Joseph's and Nicholls Hospitals—Protestant Home and House of Providence.

THE PROTESTANT HOME.

Christmas was celebrated yesterday in real holiday manner at the Protestant Home. For some days the aged inmates have been in a flutter of excitement in making wreaths, etc., and decorating the house. The result was that the interior of the place was very attractive. A dinner that even the well-to-do might envy was given the old people, and the gusto with which the various viands were partaken of bore testimony to the excellence of both the repast and the cooking. Many remembered our Lord's words, "The poor have ye with you always," and the inmates were the recipients of many presents both from the committee of management and from outside friends. Thus did the old and infirm celebrate the 1902nd anniversary of Christ's birth.

THE NICHOLLS HOSPITAL.

The Christmas spirit existed to no small extent yesterday at the Nicholls Hospital. Here amidst the suffering ones, for whom Christ, when on earth, exhibited His greatest solicitude, it was impossible for many to partake of the Christmas cheer, and an attempt was made to cheer them through the finer senses. The halls and wards were prettily decorated with evergreens, holly and mistletoe, and everything was given, as far as possible, a holiday appearance. Numerous parcels, containing flowers, sweets and small remembrances, found their way to the hospital for the staff and patients. The staff and Miss Coleman, the efficient Lady Superintendent, are deservedly popular in Peterborough, and are highly deserving of any attention shown to them.

HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE.

There was much happiness among the inmates of the House of Providence yesterday. The interior of the building was very prettily decorated with designs suitable to the Christmas season, and the abundance of good cheer that was contributed by the friends of the House, brought gladness to the hearts of all. In the evening the time was spent in songs and music.

AUBURN SUNDAY SCHOOL

Held a Christmas Tree on Tuesday Evening.

The annual concert and Christmas tree, held at Auburn on Tuesday evening last under the auspices of the Auburn Sunday school, proved a decided success, there being a large number present.

Rev. J. G. Potter presided in his usual good manner and the different parts of the programme were well taken. Rev. Mr. Langfeldt was also present and during the evening made some appropriate remarks. The dialogue entitled, "Why we Never Married," created much laughter, and brought forth much applause, and the two divines placed themselves in readiness in case their services were required. The choruses by the school were well rendered and much credit is due to those who trained the children.

Mr. William Hartley very capably took the part of Santa Claus and created much merriment in distributing the presents off the tree.

Six scholars had attended the Sunday school every Sunday during the year, and each was awarded a first prize. Five scholars had attended 50 or 51 Sundays, and each was awarded second prize.

CHRISTMAS CHURCH CHIMES.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

On Christmas Day an effort is generally made at St. Peter's Cathedral to have music of an exceptionally fine character, and in keeping with the festive season. Yesterday's music was no exception to the rule, and from early mass the music throughout the many impressive and solemn services of the day, was splendid, and Miss K. Hurley is deserving of the greatest credit for the artistic manner in which the various numbers were sung.

Morning. — "Adeste Fideles," Novello, unaccompanied chorus; Millard's mass in B flat, soprano solos taken by Misses A. Simons, L. Hallahan, M. Carveth, L. Koster, M. Begley, E. Primeau, and G. Sullivan.; alto solos, Misses L. Hurley and J. Delaire; tenor solos, Mr. Legros; bass solos, Messrs. J. Wyer, J. Picard, and F. Pope; offertory, "Pastores," chorus by Wiegand.

Vespers. — "Dixit Dominus," Tedesco; solos taken by Misses H. Hallahan, M. Begley and L. Koster; "Laudate Pueri," Cappoci; solo by Miss Hallahan with accompaniment of ladies' chorus; "Laudate Dominum," Tedesco; solos by Miss Simons; "Magnificat," Tedesco, solos by Misses M. Carveth and J. Delaire; "O Salutaris," Wiegand; duet by Misses A. Simons and L. Hurley; "Tantum Ergo," Hemerell; bass solo by Mr. J. Wyer; quartette, Misses M. Carveth and L. Hurley, and Messrs Legros and Wyer.

ALL SAINT'S CHURCH.

All Saints' church was very prettily decorated yesterday, and the services were largely attended. There was a large number of communicants at both services, the first of which was held at 8.30 a.m., and the second at 11 a.m. The 8.30 o'clock service was for communicants, whilst the 11 o'clock service was morning prayer and communion service. Rev. W. L. Armitage, the rector, preached from Isaiah ix. 6th, "His name shall be called Wonderful." The music as published in Wednesday's Examiner, was rendered, the contralto solos being take nby Miss Brundrette.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

Both services yesterday were well attended by joyful congregations who had come to commemorate the nativity of the Lord Jesus Christ. The church is prettily decorated with evergreens, a screene at the entrance to the chancel bearing the inscription, "Glory to God in the Highest, Peace on Earth, Good Will Towards Men." The altar was decorated with cut flowers, and everything in the church was emblematic of Christmas tide.

The choir had prepared special Christmas music and acquitted itself creditably. Hymns, chants and anthems were in keeping with the Feast of the Nativity. The anthem was "Behold I Bring You Good Tidings," composed by Frederick Aubery Owen. The offertory carol was "Christmas, Listen While We Sing," by Ichie Martin. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached from the Parable of the Friend at Midnight, St. Luke xi; 5.

A large number partook of the Holy Sacrament.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The services at St. John's church yesterday were short, bright and hearty. The church was very appropriately decorated, and the services at 8.30 and 11 a.m., were well attended. The music was well led by the choir, and Mr. John Crane kindly presided at the organ and conducted the music, giving Mr. Gliddon and Mrs. Cockburne a well-earned holiday. The rector's address was suitable to the occasion, and was from Luke ii. 15. Rev. Mr. Davidson extended a hearty welcome to many old St. John's church people who were present.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

Christmas music of a very fine quality and in keeping with the season, was rendered in the George street church yesterday morning. The music was as follows: Anthem, "Birthday of a King," with baritone tone solo, by Mr. Bert Turner; anthem, "O Come All Ye Faithful," Adesti Fidelis, duet, Mrs. Dr. Prust, and Mr. Mulligan.

CHRISTMAS TURKEY SHOOTS

Held in Peterborough and Chemong Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon a large number of local marksmen attended a turkey shoot at the Riverside Park, Ashburnham, and some of the competitors were very fortunate. In the matter of rifles used, those who used the military rifle have an immense advantage over the users of the sporting rifles. It is held, and rightly too, that as the military rifles are not used in general shooting that they should be barred from all sporting competitions. Another thing objected to is the fact that crack "shots" are allowed to shoot for others, but this is hardly objectionable as a good marksman shooting for another runs very great chances, if he shoots honestly, of defeating himself.

CHEMONG.

A number went out from town to participate in a turkey shoot held at Chemong yesterday and were fairly successful. The "shoots" at Chemong are generally highly enjoyed. Yesterday, when interviewed, some of the participants stated that their birds were coming down by freight, but enquiry at the G. T. R. reveals the fact that the railroad to Chemong has not been running for some years. It is probable that they will come down when Mr. Whetung gets through the Christmas rush.

On New Year's Day a turkey shoot will be held at Milburn's, and a large number will, in all likelihood, attend from Peterborough.

PROVINCIAL FINANCES.

Reminder of Basis Laid Down by the Fathers of Confederation.

The recent conference of Provincial Premiers was interesting from the fact that the finacial basis of the Provinces was restaled, and thus the public was reminded of the historical facts of the case.

At the settlement at Confederation the Federal payments to the Provinces were based on two points. One was an allowance to Ontario of $80,000 a year, civil government and legislation, $70,000 to Quebec, $60,000 to Nova Scotia, and $50,000 to New Brunswick, the four Provinces comprising Confederation. It was assumed by the fathers of Confederation that that sum would go a good way toward paying for civil government and legislation. The fact is that nearly the whole of the amount paid to Ontario—some $59,000— is required for members' indemnity. There was also a further allowance of 80 cents a head on the basis of population of 1861. Since 1861, however, the population of this Province has increased from 1,896,091 to 2,182,000, or a gain of about 800,000. Of course there is the local revenue of Ontario to depend upon, but the idea of the subsidy was that it should be sufficient for all time to come, Many changes have taken place since 1861. The grants to education, for instance, have increased from $247,000 to $780,000, and to hospitals and charities from $146,000 to $1,025,000, and when the Inter-Provincial Conference met in 1887 it was felt that the grants were insufficient, in view of the growth of the demands upon the Provincial Treasury, and that the Federal subsidy should be based on the population as it has increased. There was a large representation at the meeting in 1887, including Hon. Oliver Mowat, then Premier, Messrs. Fraser, Ross and Hardy, as well as delegates from nearly all other Provinces. In spite of the view of the delegates nothing came of their representations to Ottawa. It is also notable that the Federal revenues have grown from $18,000,000 at Confederation to $52,000,000.

The Smallest Visible Things.

Few persons would guess that the smallest things visible to the eye are the stars. Yet Dr. Edward Divers was no doubt correct in declaring such to be the case in his address before the chemical section of the British Association at Belfast. Great as many of the stars are in actual magnitude, their distance is so immense that their angular diameter becomes insensible, and they approach the condition of geometrical points. The minute disks that they appear to have are spurious, an effect of irradiation.

Health for Women.

"Few things are more important to a community than the health of its women. If strong is the frame of the mother says a proverb, the sons will give laws to the people." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is especially women's medicine. By its action on the blood and nerves it gives strength and vigour to the delicate feminine organs and ensures their regular and healthful functions. It gives colour to the pale, strength to the weak, and a rounded form to the thin and angular.

One of Mrs. Stanton's Retorts.

Once a fashionable woman of Newport expressed to Elizabeth Cady Stanton a fear that it was not entirely modest for a woman to speak in public. The dignified president of the suffragists looked at her with mild surprise. "Why," she said, "there are not so many people at our convention as there were at the ball last night, and surely it is more modest to make a sensible speech in quiet costume than to exhibit one's bare arms and shoulders at a public dance in the embrace of a strange gentleman."

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

The management of the Quinte District Hockey League is making a great noise just now. They are going to run the O.H.A., Western Ontario, Trent Valley and every other hockey organization off the earth, according to some of the despatches sent out from the towns of the district. The statement made in some of the despatches that the Quinte League could have had Campbellford and Stirling is not according to facts. Both these teams are in the Trent Valley and we believe we are well informed when we say that the idea of their going into the Quinte League was not seriously considered for a moment.

THE RING.

A steady income of $300 per week, with all travelling and legitimate living expenses paid to boot, was too much for John Lawrence Sullivan, ex-heavy weight champion of the world. Ben Harris picked the "big fellow" up in New York six weeks ago and entered into a contract with him, under the provisions of which he was to pay the sum stated, plus expenses, and then take a chance at booking him. The managers throughout the country, cognisant of Sullivan's weakness, were chary at first about booking him. Harris, however, persevered, and was getting $500 a week for Sullivan's broad effort at doing a monologue turn. He lasted just one month. Meeting a couple of convivial ones in Detroit, Sullivan took to the bowl, and since then has kept himself in a drunken state. He made a groggy attempt at apologizing for his condition the first night he fell, and they had to ring the curtain down on him. It was always a mistake to credit Sullivan's liquor sprees to his friends. He drank because he was as thorough an addict-ant to the habit as is an opium or cocaine fiend. No other man ever had quite so much adoration and adulation showered upon him, and no man in his profession deserved it less. His private life and his public life were alike unclean, unwholesome, and unholy. His habits have always been bestial, his conduct coarse and cheaply vulgar. This may grate harshly on Sullivan idolators, but the facts remain, nevertheless.

A MAN'S NECKTIE.

What the Manner of Its Arrangement Tells to One Woman.

"I wouldn't attempt to judge a man by his coat," she said gravely, "but I would not hesitate two minutes to judge him by his necktie. It is an almost infallible guide. Of course there are exceptions, but the character and intellect of most men can be told by the way in which they tie their ties. Now, take the overclever man, for example.

"The tie of the genius has afforded much 'copy' for the pen of the satirist and the pencil of the caricaturist, but in reality any little peculiarity or idiosyncrasy in dressing is generally the outward and visible sign of vanity rather than of personal untidiness. The average man, with an ordinary share of intellect, seldom knows how to tie a tie as it can be tied and is tied by men with no intellect at all. He may possess a charming selection of the best ties which Broadway can supply and does not in the least look eccentric—nay, rather, he often wants to be as smart in appearance as possible, but somehow he rarely achieves his object.

Directly you see a really beautifully tied tie (except in the cases of military men and actors, with whom it is a part of the training) which never moves out of place, following faithfully the little idiosyncrasies of contemporary dandyism, you may be fairly certain that you are not face to face with an undiscovered Shakespeare or an embryonic Goethe. Of course, in the case of a rich and important personage, the lesser details of the toilet are usually left to the valet, but even then I defy a man of real brains to keep his tie at the exact angle for any considerable time. At dinner you will generally find that by the time the soup has arrived the evening tie has shifted its position or become obliquely set. This could probably be easily avoided, only it happens that the way in which a man wears his tie indicates pretty accurately the wearer's intellectual appreciation of trifles.

Vitality of the Centiped.

The sight of a full grown centiped is said by travelers in tropical lands to be enough to affect the strongest nerves. Ten to eleven inches is the average length, although larger ones have been seen. Lafcadio Hearn in "Two Years In the French West Indies" says that the vitality of the centiped is amazing.

Mr. Hearn kept one in a bottle, without food or water, for thirteen weeks, at the end of which time it remained active and dangerous as ever. The centiped has one natural enemy able to cope with him—the hen.

The ben attacks him with delight and often swallows him, head first, without taking the trouble to kill him. The cat hunts him, but she is careful never to put her head near him. She has a trick of whirling him round and round upon the floor so quickly as to stupefy him; then, when she sees a good chance, she strikes him dead with her claws.

There are superstitions concerning the creature which have a good effect in diminishing his tribe. If you kill a centiped, you are sure to receive money soon, and even if you dream of killing one it is good luck.

An Unlucky Citizen.

"Yes, sir," said the town story teller, "he wus the onluckiest feller that ever drawed the breath of life an' a week's wages."

"You don't say?"

"Fact. Climb a pine tree once when he seen the sheriff comin' to levy on him, harricane come along, blowed the tree down an' landed him in the only vacant seat in the sheriff's buggy; sheriff started to jail with him; met by lynchin' party, who mistook him fer 'nuther man, an' strung him up, an' he'd almost quit kickin' when some un cut him down an' hauled him home jest as his mother-in-law had finished writin' his obituary an' wus standin' before the glass to see how well she looked in mournin'."

The Dory.

In considering boats the dory, a flat bottomed, lap streak boat, though but twelve or thirteen feet long, is the safest that floats.

Dying by Slow Degrees.

Although not always aware of it yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Catarrhozone is the only remedy that will immediately prevent the spread of this awful disease. Every breath from the inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration, and relieves the pain across the eyes. Catarrhozone erradicates every vestige of catarrh from the system, and is highly recommended also for Bronchitis, Asthma, Deafness and Lung Trouble. Price, $1; trial size, 25c.; all druggists. POINTED QUESTIONS.

Put Yourself in the Other One's Place and Answer.

The great task of sound ethics is to stimulate the social imagination. We must be continually prodding our sense of social consequence to keep it wide awake. We must be asking ourselves at each point of contact with the lives of others such pointed questions as these:

How would you like to be the tailor or washerwoman whose bill you have neglected to pay?

How would you like to be the customer to whom you are selling these adulterated or inferior goods?

How would you like to be the investor in this stock company which you are promoting with water?

How would you like to be the employer whose time and tools and material you are wasting at every chance you get to loaf and shirk and neglect the duties you are paid to perform?

How would you like to be the clerk or saleswoman in the store where you are reaping extra dividends by imposing harder conditions than the state of trade and the market compel you to adopt?

How would you like to be the stoker or weaver or mechanic on the wages you pay and the conditions of labor you impose?

How would you like to be the business rival whom you deprive of his little all by using your greater wealth in temporary cutthroat competition?—William De Witt Hyde in Atlantic.

THE DAY AFTER

Makes People who Don't use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Wish Christmas had Never Come.

Are you still feeling the effects of the Christmas dinner? Has the holiday season tempted you from your usual abstemious fare and subjected you to pain and nausea and the thousand discomforts that only dyspeptics know? Are you carrying around a headache and a tendency to be bilious and joining in that woful chorus,—"Thank Heaven, Christmas does only come once a year!"

'It is your own fault if you are.

If you have overworked your stomach do the one thing natural. Give it some help and some rest. If you do what's right with your stomach, it will do what's right with you. The help it needs is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will digest the food, thus giving the stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Thousands of people who last year ate Christmas dinners with feelings of apprehension, enjoyed it thoroughly this year. They had learned in the meantime the value of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these taken after each meal drives away those uncomfortable feelings so many people have learned to dread.

With Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for dessert no one need fear to indulge in all the good things with which the season abounds.

Unique Mountains.

There are four unique mountains in Lower California—two of alum, one of alum and sulphur mixed and one of pure sulphur. It is estimated that in the four peaks named there are 100,000,000 tons of pure alum and 1,000,000 tons of sulphur.

CANINE INTELLIGENCE.

A Dog That Felt He Had More Sense Than His Master.

My friend was staying one autumn in Wales. Smoking and chatting one evening with a local farmer, the talk fell upon dogs. The farmer's sheep dog lay before the fire, and the farmer instanced his sagacity. He made an exclamation in Welsh. At once the dog rose and went to the door. "You might let him out," said the farmer. "The sheep are in the corn' is what I said to him." The dog passed eagerly out. In a few minutes there was a scratching at the door. The dog entered panting and lay down at the fire again. Shortly afterward the farmer repeated his Welsh remark. Again the dog ran to the door, and my friend let him out. Again in a few minutes was the scratching at the door, and again he lay down before the fire panting. After an interval the farmer remarked in Welsh, quite in the way of conversation: "I am not easy about those sheep. I do believe they're in the corn." The dog, without rising, looked up at the farmer, gave two sharp yelps and turned round to his sleep again. He said as plainly as though it had been in words: "Don't be a fool. I've been out twice, and ther're not in the corn."—London Outlook.

Winter Ways of Squirrels.

Gray squirrels do not hibernate, but seldom leave their nests during the very cold weather. On mild days in winter, however, they come out and race through the treetops and visit the large stores of nuts which they gathered and bid away in the autumn. Red squirrels are smaller, but much hardier creatures than the gray ones, and, although they, too, have snug nests of cedar bark in the hollow trees, they use them only at night, for no weather is so severe as to keep these little fellows indoors. They are about the most provident of all the creatures in the woods, usually storing away under brush heaps, beneath fallen logs and in hollow trunks far more nuts than they can possibly eat in one winter. They do not put them all in one place, as a rule; they generally have several hoards at some little distance apart. This is a wise precaution, as it sometimes happens that one store is discovered and stolen by an enemy, and unless there was another supply to fall back upon the squirrels might die of starvation.—Woman's Home Companion.

An Old English Inn.

The Raven inn, an old hostelry at Hook, near Basingstroke, England, was built in 1653 and still retains its quaint old half timbered work, overhanging gables and small windows. The house gained a wide notoriety in the latter part of the eighteenth century during the American war of independence through being the residence and place of capture of the famous "Jack the Painter," who roused the whole country in 1776 by his deliberate attempts to fire drydocks and shipping. He succeeded at Portsmouth, where $300,000 damage was done; also at Bristol, but was foiled at Plymouth. So great was the scare that in response to a reward of $2,500 offered by the government for his capture the whole country was on the alert, and he was run to earth and captured in this interesting old house and eventually hanged and gibbeted at Portsmouth. His real name was James Aitken.

Von Moltke on Whist.

A German magazine published the subjoined anecdote about Moltke: "Did you, your excellency, play whist when you were in France?" asked Herr von Bennigsen of the great battle thinker one evening over a rubber. "Every day, when it was possible," replied Moltke. "We played half farthing points, so that at worst the players could not lose more than a shilling." One day Count Berthuay was his partner. "Why, my dear count, did you play spades?" said Moltke, in a sharp and serious tone. "I had an idea, your excellency, that you wanted spades." "But, my dear count, one does not play whist according to ideas, but according to rule," replied the field marshal, shaking his head.

Loading Satan Down.

"Lightning knocked the church steeple down," some one said to Brother Dickey. "Yes; Satan's eyes always flash fire when he sees a church steeple gwine up." "And here's a colored brother killed another at a camp meeting." "Yes; Satan goes ter meetin' 'long wid de res' er dem en sometimes shouts de loudes'." "And a preacher was drowned in the river last week." "Oh, yes; Satan's in de water too. He 'bleege ter go dar ter cool off." "So you blame everything on Satan, do you?" "Bless God!" was the reply. "Ain't dat what he's fer?"

Conspicuous Example.

"Women are belittled and made of no account in every possible way," exclaimed the indignant head of the family. "Even the geographers willfully and deliberately slight her. How many really important towns in this country are named in honor of a woman?"

"Well, my dear," said her husband, scratching his chin reflectively, "there's Janesville, you know."

An Anchor to Windward.

He—Let's get married on Friday.

She—Oh, George, Friday, you know, is—

He—Yes, I know it's unlucky, but, then, if our marriage doesn't turn out well we shall always have something to blame it on.

How the Novel Ended.

Helen—Why is it novels always have a good ending?

Sue—Well, the one I read yesterday didn't have a good ending.

Helen—It didn't?

Sue—No; mamma threw it in the fire.

He Surprised Her.

Kidder—Skinner played a mean trick on his wife. He told her if she learned how to cook he'd give her a surprise.

Slimkins—Did she learn to cook?

Kidder—Yes, and then he surprised her by discharging the cook.

FEEDING THE ANIMALS.

How Some Wild Captives Act When Mealtime Arrives.

An animal is almost as demonstrative when he is hungry as when he is in a rage. They are both natural feelings, and he sees no reason for disguising them. Human beings who are affected in the same way as animals by hunger pay tribute to civilization by not letting this appear. At an animal show in this city the wild occupants of the cages get very wild when the hour comes for them to be fed. A truck laden with meat and vegetables is wheeled around. Long before it gets to their cages the lions act as if beside themselves over the maddening prospect of food. The cages are very small, and yet a lion and lioness will often be in one. They tear from one side to the other, the lion jumping over the body of the lioness rather than make a "longer trip around." Though they ought to have learned that each will get a share, they both plunge for the great chunk of meat. Once they get it they eat it with a certain intensity, but deliberation.

The hyenas, "bounders" of the animal realm, are horribly greedy and will steal from each other every chance they get. The apes, the "snobs" of animal kind, are rather fastidious, if greedy. The ostrich, large, robust bird that it is, awaits its food with much stolidity and when it gets its head of cabbage pecks at it in a most contained, ladylike fashion. The stoical elephant is a placid eater also.

Completely Fagged out.

The world is full of sickly, despondent, tired, enervated people, all hoping to be well some day. The surest road to health is along the way of taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone is a great appetizer and enables one to eat plenty of wholesome food without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia. This results in the rapid formation of an abundance of red, vitalizing blood, which will restore the nerves, increase flesh and vigor, and nourish and feed every organ of the body. Ferrozone is an ideal restorative and invigorant. It is a tonic of unequalled merit that anyone can use with benefit. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormood & Walsh's.

It Grows Feeble.

The attraction of a man's character is apt to be outlived, like the attraction of his body, and the power of love grows feeble in its turn, as well as the power to inspire love in others. It is only with a few rare natures that friendship is added to friendship, love to love and the man keeps growing richer in affection—richer, I mean, as a bank may be said to grow rich, both giving and receiving more—after his head is white and his back weary, and he prepares to go down into the dust of death.

Gorki's Early Struggles.

Maxim Gorki, the Russian novelist, had an early career that in many ways recalls the early struggles of Jacob A. Riis. He ran away from home when a lad and for years found life mighty hard grubbing. He worked as a day laborer, a sawyer, a cook and a lighterman. Then he heard that free instruction could be obtained at Kazan, and, having no money to pay for his journey, he walked there, a distance of over 600 miles. Then he found he had a head.

The Dread of an Operation

Stares Many Pile Sufferers in the Face—The Safest and Surest Cure is

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Possibly you are a sufferer from piles and have been disheartened and discouraged because your physician has told you that nothing short of an operation will cure you.

You dread the thought of a surgical operation, for, besides the expense and strain on the nervous system, there is the risk of life itself. It is only a few months since a member of the Ontario Legislature lost his life as the result of an operation for piles. The risk of an operation is too great, and, besides, it is unnecessary.

Dr. Chase's Ointment has frequently cured piles after surgical operations have failed. It is every day curing cases which physicians have stated to be incurable by any treatment short of an operation.

If you could read a few of the letters we receive from persons who have been cured of piles by using Dr Chase's Ointment you would soon be convinced of its wonderful control over this frightfully common disease.

Rev. S. A. Dupray, Methodist minister, Consecon, Prince Edward County, Ont., states:—"I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained to a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses formed so that it was with great difficulty and considerable pain that I was able to stoop. At this severe crisis I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but I had little or no faith in it, as I had tried various remedies before and to no purpose.

"Now, imagine how great and joyous was my surprise to find that just the one box cured me, so that the lumps disappeared and also the external swelling. I feel like a different man to-day, and have not the least doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation, and many years of suffering. It is with the greatest pleasure and with a thankful heart that I give this testimonial, knowing that Dr. Chase's Ointment has done so much for me. You are at perfect liberty to use this testimonial as you see fit for the benefit of others similarly afflicted."

Dr. Chase's Ointment 60 cents a box. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 9

WHY ?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

O'CONNELL'S COOLNESS.

A Story of the Irish Liberator and a Falling Floor.

Daniel O'Connell was once addressing an enormous meeting in Kingstown, and the crowd was so large that fear was felt for the safety of the building. As he was about to speak a gentleman ascended the platform and said, trembling with fear: "Liberator, the floor is giving way! The beams are cracking, and we shall all fall through in a few minutes." It is not given to many men to live through such moments as O'Connell lived through as he rose to address the meeting nor to preserve such magnificent courage in the face of great peril. Warning the man to keep quiet, the liberator said, "I find this room too small to contain the number who desire to come in, so we must therefore leave it and hold the meeting outside." A few rose to leave, but the hall was still packed, and then O'Connell said: "Then I will tell you the truth. You are Irishmen and therefore brave men. The floor is giving way, and we must leave this room at once. If there is a panic and a rush to the door, we shall all be precipitated into the room below, but if you obey my orders we shall be safe. Let the dozen men nearest the door go quietly out, then the next dozen, and so on until all have gone. I shall be the last to leave." The Irishmen followed the advice, the hall was quickly cleared, and as O'Connell walked across the floor the broken beams gave way.

Some British Lawmaking.

It may surprise some folks to learn that plenty of British laws have been drawn up so carelessly and written in such muddled language that they are quite useless for their intended purpose.

One of the acts passed in George III.'s reign, for instance, states that the proceeds of penalties were to be given half to the informer and half to the poor of the parish. The absurdity lies in the fact that the only penalty which could be inflicted was one of transportation for fourteen years.

In 1865 a well known Q. C. created a lot of amusement by proposing an amendment worded as follows: "Every dog found trespassing on inclosed land unaccompanied by the registered owner of such dog or other person, who shall on being asked for his true name and address may be then and there destroyed by such occupier or by his orders." This gem of meaninglessness was, however, not passed.—London Tit-Bits.

Ebony, the Wood of Kings.

While many of the hardwoods in use at the present day are of comparatively recent introduction, ebony was known and highly esteemed by a number of ancient races and used by them for kingly and other purposes. While the name ebony is given to the wood of several varieties of trees, all kinds are of great density and dark color, the heaviest varieties being, as a rule, also the darkest. There are three varieties of ebony well known in the trade. The ebony from the Gaboon coast of Africa is the darkest. The Madagascar ebony is the densest. The Macassar ebony furnishes the largest pieces. London is still the chief mart for this wood, and from there it is shipped to the various countries in which it is used for manufacturing purposes. — Popular Mechanics.

The Deteriorating Turkish Lady.

Eating sweetmeats, smoking cigarettes, scolding the slaves and talking scandal are the chief diversions of the Turkish lady, with now and then a visit to a low class theater, and her physique, and with it that of the race, is rapidly deteriorating for want of fresh air and exercise. The much disputed question as to whether woman is the possessor of an immortal soul has left its mark on the female population. They have ceased to base any great hopes on such an uncertainty and live, feed and behave so like the "beasts that perish" that to the flippant modern Turk it seems that, if endowed with souls at all, they must be so small as to be scarcely worth the trouble of saving.—Chambers' Magazine.

The Card Table in Crimson Gulch.

"Do you think it is polite," said the foolish stranger in Crimson Gulch, "for a man to sit in his shirt sleeves and play cards all day?"

"Yes, sir," answered Three Finger Sam, "and maybe it'll be for your own good to remind you that the fewer sleeves a man has on when he plays cards around here the less liable he is to fall under suspicion."

Will It Cure Me?

That's the personal question a woman asks herself when she reads of the cures of womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Why shouldn't it cure her?

Is it a complicated case? Thousands of such cases have been cured by "Favorite Prescription." Is it a condition which local doctors have declared incurable? Among the hundreds of thousands of sick women cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription there are a great many who were pronounced incurable by local doctors. Wonders have been worked by "Favorite Prescription" in the cure of irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"Three years ago," writes Mrs. John Graham, of 2018 Plumb Street, (Frankford) Philadelphia, Pa., "I had a very bad attack of dropsy which left me with heart trouble, and also a very weak back. At times I was so bad that I did not know what to do with myself. My children advised me to take your 'Favorite Prescription,' but I had been taking so much medicine from the doctor that I was discouraged with everything. I came to Philadelphia two years ago, and picking up one of your little books one day began to read what your medicine had done for others. I determined to try it myself. I took seven bottles, and to-day I am a strong, well woman, weighing 168 pounds. Have gained 30 pounds since I started to use 'Favorite Prescription.'"

Mr. R. J. N. ALMACK'S OF LONDON.

A Famous Woman's Club of a Century or So Ago.

About a century ago the seventh heaven of the fashionable world of London was a club known as Almack's, of which the patronesses were Lady Castlereagh, Lady Jersey, Lady Cowper (afterward Lady Palmerston), Lady Sefton, Mrs. Drummond Burrell (afterward Lady Willoughby), the Princess Esterhazy and the Countess Lieven. Their smiles or frowns consigned men and women to happiness or despair. It is hard for us to conceive the importance which was attached to getting admission to Almack's. Of the 300 officers of the Foot guards not more than half a dozen were honored with cards to this temple of the beau monde. The government was a pure despotism, as every government by woman is bound to be, and a host of intrigues was set set in motion to get an invitation.

Very often persons of rank who had the entree anywhere were excluded from the club. Such as were admitted had to dress in conformity with the edict of the tyrants, no gentleman being allowed to appear at the assemblies except in knee breeches, white cravat and crush hat. On one occasion the Duke of Wellington was about to ascend the stairs to the ballroom dressed in black trousers when the guardian of the establishment stepped forward and said, "Your grace cannot be admitted in trousers," whereupon the duke, who had a great respect for orders, quietly walked away.

Gold Only For Royalty.

It is a notable fact that in Abyssinia none but those who are related to the monarch is permitted to wear gold in any form. They may deck themselves with diamonds and other precious stones, but the jewels must not be set in gold. The penalty for infringement of this law is death by decapitation.

Thanked.

She—Yes, I told you I'd always be a sister to you, and I'll be glad to hear anything you have to say to me.

He—Six months ago you told me I'd thank you some day for refusing me. Let me do so at once. You can't hold a candle to the girl I'm engaged to now.

The Honorable Members.

"I suppose the arrival of new congressmen from time to time has a tendency to give variety to life in the Capital City?

"Not a great deal," answered the man who is more or less cynical. "It merely means the introduction of new names into the same old anecdotes."

In His Mind.

"Brakey says his grandfather lost his mind because of the loss of his fortune."

"He's just got the story twisted. He lost his fortune because of the loss of his mind. That's where he had his fortune."

Impossible.

Biggs—They say Mrs. Gabbleton is guilty of an attempt at blackmail.

Diggs—I don't believe it.

Biggs—Why not?

Diggs—No woman on earth would think of accepting "hush money."—Chicago News.

WHY INDIANS PAINT.

A Legend of the Red Men Explains the Strange Custom.

Once an old Apache Indian when asked the question why people painted their faces told the following legend:

"Long ago when men were weak and animals were big and strong a chief of the red men who lived in these mountains went out to get a deer, for his people were hungry.

"After walking all day he saw a deer and shot at it, but the arrow was turned aside and wounded a mountain lion, which was also after the deer. When the lion felt the sting of the arrow, he jumped up and bounded after the man, who ran for his life.

"He was almost exhausted, and when he felt his strength giving way he fell to the ground, calling on the big bear, who, you know, is the grandfather of men, to save him.

"The big bear heard the call and saw that to save the man he had to act quickly, so he scratched his foot and sprinkled his blood over the man.

"Now, you must know that no animal will eat of the bear or taste of his blood. So when the lion reached the man he smelled the blood and turned away, but as he did so his foot scraped the face of the man, leaving the marks of his claws on the blood smeared face.

"When the man found that he was uninjured, he was so thankful that he left the blood to dry on his face and never washed it at all, but left it until it peeled off.

"Where the claws of the lion scraped it off there were marks that turned brown in the sun, and where the blood stayed on it was lighter. Now all men paint their faces that way with blood and scrape it off in streaks when they hunt or go to war."

They come unexpected and when least welcome. Be armed with a one-minute cure in a bottle of Nerviline, which relieves cramp and stomach pains in five minutes. In Colic, Summer Complaint, Diarrhoea, Indigestion and Nausea, Nerviline is a remedy of remarkable potency, and acts promptly and satisfactory at all times. The composition of Polson's Nerviline expresses the highest medical progress of the age, which accounts for its superior merit. Price 25c.

Hamilton's Pills are good Pills.

The Company's Reason.

An amusing extract from a Belgian paper gives the following incident:

A woman whose husband had lost his life in a railway accident received from the company 10,000 francs by way of compensation. Shortly after she heard that a traveler who had lost a leg had been paid 20,000 francs. The widow at once put on her bonnet and shawl and went to the office of the company.

"Gentlemen, how is this?" she asked. "You give 20,000 francs for a leg, and you allowed me only 10,000 francs for the loss of my husband!"

"Madam," was the reply, "the reason is plain. Twenty thousand francs won't provide him with a leg, but for ten thousand you can get a husband."

Adam's Staff.

The Talmudic writers tell us that "the blessed God gave to the first man in paradise a staff which had been created between the stars. Adam gave it to Enoch, Enoch to Noah, Noah to Shem, Shem to Abraham, Abraham to Isaac, Isaac to Jacob. Jacob carried it into Egypt and gave it to his son Joseph. When Joseph died, his household goods were taken to the house of Pharaoh. Pharaoh took the staff of Adam, which had descended to Joseph from the first man, and put it among his special treasures."

THE CARIBS OF DOMINICA.

Fierce Savages Who Have Dropped Their Man Eating Ways.

A recent colonial report on the Caribs of Dominica is interesting. Very mysterious is the origin of the fierce savages, now almost extinct, who were in possession of the smaller West Indian islands when the first white man burst "into that silent sea." They showed a distinct Mongolian character, and it would be hard to distinguish a Carib infant from a Chinese child. Some twenty years ago a Chinaman who had drifted to Dominica declared the Caribs to be his own people and married a pure bred Carib woman. The resultant child showed no deviation from the native type.

Today they have dropped their man eating ways, but in the sixteenth century they scoured the Spanish main in search of human food, and from Porto Rico alone are said to have taken more than 5,000 men to be eaten. Though Spaniards, Frenchmen, Dutchmen, negroes, or Arrowaks, were all meat to them, yet these Caribs seem to have shown preference for certain nationalities. Davis, for instance, in his "History of the Caribby Islands," tells us that "the Caribbeans have tested of all the nations that frequented them and affirm that the French are the most delicate and the Spaniards are hardest of digestion." Laborde also, in one of his jaunts in St. Vincent, appears to have overtaken on the road a communicative Carib who was beguiling the tedium of his journey by gnawing at the remains of a boiled human foot. This gentleman only ate Arrowaks. "Christians," he said, "give me the bellyache."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Brown and Black.

In one of the middle cities of the United States there lived a local wit and his favorite butt. Both were prominent clubmen and enlivened the same social set. One was named Black and the other Brown. Black was immaculate in his dress, while Brown was careless, often wearing his finger nails in mourning and an ecrute collar with a full dress suit. But family connections excused his shortcomings. One evening the pair arrived at a reception and met the hostess simultaneously. The two names mentioned together suggested a bonmot to Brown, but the opening was disastrous.

"The colors are very much in evidence tonight," said Brown.

To which their hostess replied, "Yes, I see they are, and, if rumor is to be credited, they are fast colors."

"No, no," broke in Black; "Brown won't wash."

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Dec. 26th, 9.45, a.m.—Venezuelan arbitration meeting with obstacles from Germany. Manhattan elevated again hung up by snow. Rothschilds reported large buyers of traction. Early resumption of dividends in C.P.I. expected. Grand Trunk has forwarded to Ottawa, application to Parliament to build to Pacific Coast. North Western officials report more traffic than they can handle. Fifty one roads second week in December, show average increase of 6.17 per cent. gross. Probability of increase in pressed car dividend next declaration. Banks have lost to sub-treasury since last Friday only $926,000. Nebraska wheat section entered winter in best conditions. Fall-sown grain has made rapid advance during the wet weather.

DOW, JONES & CO.

Market still professional, but demand for stocks excellent. St. Paul is a purchase for keeps. There is good buying of Pacific shares, and it will be well to keep long of steels. R.I. slated for further advance, the common will be important feature. Interboro Co. contemplates purchase of B.R.T. and other important companies. Hold B.R.T., buy P.A. and C.O. moderately.

JOSEPH.

January interests and dividends disbursements aggregate $132,000,000, breaking all previous records.

DOW, JONES & CO.

Earnings for third week December, C.P.R., $518,000, increase $106,000; C.C.C., $368,000, increase $9,000.

M. & M.

New York, Dec. 26th, 9.45 a.m.—Chances are that there will not be much of importance to-day. Indications point to it being somewhat of a repitition of Wednesday's narrow and professional trading, with probably fractions and coolers continuing the feature. There have been no important news developments over holidays. The local call money quotation will continue the factor for the balance of the year, and it is so uncertain that the general opinion is that the stock market will show no very decided tendency until after the turn of the year.

M. & M.

The outlook for the bank statement is that it will in all probably be something like last week's, and will not be much of a factor. Sub-treasury statement shows that it gained only $700,000 from the banks this week, against $1,-250,000 last week. On the other hand, it is believed the banks have not gained much on the net interior movement, as they did last week. Money in New York is twelve per cent.

Sentiment is inclined to be bullish, with general belief quite confident of a good rise developing during January, but active buying is held in restraint by uncertainty of call money, until after the first of the year. Call money is likely to rule higher to-day, as loans made to-day carry over till Monday.

M. & M.

New York, Dec. 26th.—Reaction in the stock market is due to the sharp rise in call money to twelve per cent. This has not been unexpected, however, as a call rate of from 15 per cent. to 25 per cent. is the usual thing at this period of the year, but it is thought emergency gold will come to the rescue, and there should be a rally.

M. & M.

Foreign exchange firm, demand sterling 486 7-8 on more active demand for foreign remittances.

M. & M.

Wheat opened 1-8 lower, with very little doing; trading of a holiday nature, and principally among scalpers. Local crowd selling a little, and commission houses buying.

DENISON.

Winter wheat maintaining fine condition, and movement of corn to markets about normal. Nothing new on corn, rather mild weather makes it rather difficult to gather.

The Nose.

Nothing is more rare than a really perfect nose—that is, one which unites harmony of form, correctness of proportion and proper affinity with the other features.

The following are, according to the rules of art, the conditions requisite to the beauty of this organ:

The nose should have the same length as the forehead and have a slight depression at its root. From its root to its extremity it should follow a perfectly straight line and come exactly over the center of the upper lip. The bridge of the nose, parallel on both sides, should be a little wider in the center. The tip should be neither too thin nor too fleshy, and its lower outline neither narrow nor too wide. The lobes must be gracefully defined by a slight depression. Seen sideways, the lower part of the nose will have but a third of its total length.

His One Regret.

A fare was being rattled through a Dublin suburb on a rickety jaunting car drawn by a no less rickety horse. Having proceeded some distance, the horse, owing to apparent old age and sheer exhaustion, fell, never to rise again. The fare was very profuse in his sympathies toward the driver, who, however, appeared to take the whole thing very coolly and explained:

"It's just like this with me, your honor. I don't regret the old brute a bit. He was bad from the start. But, somehow or other, I can't help thinking of the beautiful feed of oats I gave him this morning."

A Nourishing Drink.

The whites of raw eggs are very nourishing. A good way to prepare the drink, according to one who knows, is to break the white into a jar with what milk is desired and shake the two thoroughly together. A pinch of salt should be added. An English specialist recommends to adult patients suffering from anæmic condition the daily consumption of eight or ten egg whites. They can be taken clear and with ease if the eggs are kept very cold, broken into a cold glass and used at once. Another excellent drink is made by beating the white of an egg to a froth and adding a tablespoonful of rich cream and a spoonful of brandy. This is a very nourishing cordial for an invalid.

What Washington Lacks.

There is no avenue in Washington which measures adequately up to the full demands of civic beauty. Woodward avenue in Detroit, Euclid avenue in Cleveland, Peachtree avenue in Atlanta, Independence avenue in Kansas City and Summit avenue in St. Paul are all examples of handsome thoroughfares, where magnificent private residences are set in miniature parks. On a larger scale Brookline, near Boston, presents a charming picture of suburban development along picturesque and artistic lines. There is nothing of the kind in Washington.

Queer Qualification.

The enthusiasm of the thoroughgoing lover of Browning takes some surprising turns. The author of "In a Tuscan Garden" tells a story concerning Dr. Furnival, one of the founders of the Browning society.

A young relative of the Englishwoman in London was looking out at one time for bachelor chambers in a block of flats. The secretary of the company to whom they belonged intimated that the testimony of two householders as to his rent paying capacity would be required. The applicant gave the Englishwoman's name as one and Dr. Furnival for the other.

Dr. Furnival's reply, after a glowing panegyric on the merits of the applicant, wound up by congratulating the company on getting as a tenant a man who "was not only a gentleman and a good fellow, but a member of the Browning society."

Appealed to the Powers.

The late Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune, besides being an indefatigable editor, had a decided vein of humor in his composition.

During the last years of his life, as his strength permitted, he watched over his paper as zealously as in his younger days, and it was his custom to scan the columns of certain favorite exchanges and clip from them extensively, marking them on the margins, "J. M.—Must," meaning that the extracts must go in. It was one of his great griefs that there was not always room for all of them, even when columns of live editorial matter had been crowded out, as they were sometimes, to make room for them.

One night he went up to the room of the night editor with a bundle of clippings in his hand.

"Mr. Ransom," he said to that official, with a twinkle in his eye, "I wish you would use your influence to have these printed in the paper tomorrow morning."—Youth's Companion.

SLATES VS. SCRIBBLING BOOKS.

A Racy Description of an Old Time Institution in Canada.

School children of the twentieth century may have the road to learning smoothed out for them. They may be handled psychologically, and not have their little memories strained with tasks beyond their capacity. But with all their advantages, we oldsters can afford to pity them, for they no longer have that instrument of instruction and fearful pleasure—the slate, writes H. F. G. in Toronto Star.

Modern educationists have condemned the slate as a dirty, noisy, smelly institution, and have chucked it out ignominiously. They are for scribbling books, than which nothing stupider was ever invented. One of the favorite themes for anybody writing about the little red schoolhouse used to be the "busy hum," and of that busy hum, the click of the pencil against the slate, and the scrunch of it when it came to a hard spot, were at least seventy-five per cent. The rest of it consisted of the whirring of the thought wheels and the rapid, under-the-breath calculations of the pupils who wanted to see if the ear agreed with the eye in the answer. The hum was a natural accompaniment of so much mental industry, and the teacher that dared to be annoyed by it was given short shrift by the trustees. As well might a boilermaker object to the sound of hammering rivets, or the factory boss to the jar of machinery. In those days, it was considered that every business had its small voice just as bees buzz, flies drone, crickets chirp, frogs croak, and mosquitoes shrill. But now it's "Go to the ant, thou sluggard. Don't make a row. Work like a nailer. Bottle up your steam." Even recess is an orderly, disciplined thing, with no joy in it. There is no distinguishing note of the schoolroom nowadays. If a bad boy disturbs the awful silence by dropping a pin, he is kept in after four.

All this came in with the scribbling book, which is cheap, clean, but uninspiring. It is subject to daily inspection, and as marks of erasure mean demerits for untidiness, the schoolboy is at once deprived of much entertainment that might reconcile him to his hard lot. If the teacher is a crank you can't worry him by making a pencil scream, and certainly, in the olden times, that delightful form of revenge kept many a boy in school when he might have been playing hookey. And, then, what a handy medium the slate was for caricatures of the teacher, for doggerel rhymes, printed in large, bold letters that could be seen six seats back! What fun it was to raise a laugh that way, and then, with one lightning stroke, to expunge the offence when the master said, "Tommy, bring that here." And Tommy would go with a blank tablet and a face shining with innocency. Ah, yes, the slate was indeed a fine thing for pictures and lampoons, and for the tender messages the boy would show chivalrously to his little sweetheart across the aisle! The scribbling book is no place for these stealthy pleasures because the schoolma'am can keep tab on every line in it.

And with the slate went a lot of gear that a scribbling book knows nothing of. There was the sponge, for instance, neatly tied to the frame. And, best of all, the water bottle, where little girls had a chance to display the art feeling in the coiffor and fragrance of the cleansing fluid. We look back twenty-five years and wonder at the splendid effects produced by soap, water, cologne, and indigo or cochineal shaken up and imprisoned in a common bottle. Some of it looked good enough to drink, and smelt good enough to eat. Of course there were dirty boys, even in that golden age, who preferred to use nature's weapons—the salivary glands and a coatsleeve. But even that was an indication of character. It showed they didn't care how they got at a thing, and some of these dirty urchins have since become millionaires. We can't turn back the universe and have yesterday, but while the sun shines we give our voice for slates as against scribbling books.

The Lost Sixteenth of a Second.

If one grain of sand on the shore of the ocean were lost and scientists were to spend years in trying to find it, they would be attempting a task resembling that to which leading astronomers of England and France are now devoting themselves. One-sixteenth of a second is missing, and no one can tell where it has gone. Between the sun's time as recorded at Greenwich and as understood at Paris there is that brief and seemingly unimportant discrepancy. No expense is being spared to trace the missing fraction. A special building has been erected at Paris, costly instruments installed, a corps of mathematicians engaged and a process that may take years to complete has been commenced. The inaccuracy is more important than will appear to the lay mind. Longitude is calculated on the basis of Greenwich time. It determines the boundaries of many countries. A slight variation of time may change the nationality of thousands of people. The pursuit of the missing fraction of a second is therefore of worldwide importance. We shall all be much relieved when it has been found, for then not a grain of the sands of time will be missing. —Toronto Mail and Empire.

CONSOLIDATED RURAL SCHOOLS

RESULTS OF PROF. ROBERTSON'S TOUR OF INVESTIGATION.

An Improved Attendance by the New System—A Lessening in the Cost Per Pupil, But a Slightly Larger Expenditure in Township Aggregates—Comfortable Vans Convey Pupils to School.

Prof. Robertson, Canadian Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, has just returned from a visit of investigation and observation to a portion of the State of Ohio, where remarkable progress has been made in the improvement of rural schools by the plan known as that of consolidation or centralization. He had invited Mr. R. H. Cowley, Inspector of Schools for the County of Carleton, and Prof. Lochhead, head of the department of biology at the Ontario Agricultural College, to accompany him. Their destination was Trumbull County, Ohio, which lies about twenty miles south of Lake Erie, and adjoins the western border of the State of Pennsylvania. This district was chosen because the conditions of climate, roads, distribution of population and character of school system are not materially different from those of the settled parts of Ontario.

The country in that part of Ohio is comparatively level. Dairy farming is the main occupation of the people. The chief crops Indian corn, other cereals, hay and grass. A little fall wheat is grown, but scarcely enough for the home use of the farmers. The orchards and fences were for the most part frail souvenirs of the past. The farm houses, barns and fields were evidence that the people were fairly prosperous and well-to-do, but not so much as in the more advanced rural districts in many counties in Canada. The townships are five miles square, intersected in both directions by central roads. Other roads run parallel to those every mile and a quarter in both directions. That marks the country into blocks each one and a quarter miles square.

Six years ago Gustavus Township became the pioneer in that part of the United States in the consolidation of rural schools. There were nine school districts in the township and as many small schools. Then the districts were united into one, and a central school was erected at a cost of $3,000.

Instead of nine teachers in little isolated schools, there are now a principal at a salary of $65 per month, and four assistant teachers at $32 or $30 per month in the united school. Nine nice-looking vans are used to convey the children from and to their homes. These wagons or school vans have comfortable seats running lengthwise of the vehicles, waterproof canvas covers and spring gearings. Before consolidation the average attendance at the schools in that township was 125. On the day of the visit by the three Canadians it was 143 out of an enrollment of 162. The year before consolidation the cost of maintenance of the nine schools of the township was $2,900. Four years afterwards the cost of the centralized schools, including the conveying of the children, was $3,-156, being an increase in expenditure by the township on its school system of $256. However, the average attendance at the central school was so much greater than at the single district schools that the cost of education was decreased $1.59 per pupil on the average attendance. Moreover, three years of high school work is carried on in the consolidated school, and the total cost of that is included in the $3,156.

Professor Robertson sums up some of the advantages afforded in his opinion by the consolidation of rural schools and the free transportation of pupils.

(1) It results in the attendance of a larger number of the children in the locality, particularly of those under the age of eight years and of those over fifteen years.

(2) It brings about a more regular attendance of pupils of all grades of advancement.

(3) It ensures the engagement and retention of some teachers of higher qualifications and longer experience in rural schools.

(4) It creates conditions for a proper classification of pupils and for such a grading of the schools as permits the pupils to be placed where they can work to the best advantage for their own improvement.

(5) It permits the time table to be so arranged that teachers can give each class and every pupil in the class more direct help and supervision.

(6) It provides the beneficial influence of fairly large classes of pupils of about equal advancement (a) by more companionship; (b) by friendly rivalries to excel; (c) by children learning from each other, and (d) co-operating under careful discipline, and (e) by class enthusiasms.

(7) It makes it convenient for boys and girls in rural districts to obtain a high school education without leaving home.

(8) It leads to the erection of better school buildings and more satisfactory equipment in all the requisites of a good school.

(9) It makes it practicable for rural schools to enrich their courses for all pupils by nature study, manual training and household science, as well as by better music, and for advanced pupils by instruction in agriculture, horticulture and allied subjects.

(10) It stimulates public interest in the schools and brings to the pupils of a township an institution in which all can have an equal interest and a worthy pride.

(11) It may lead to an improvement of the public roads in the country parts.

(12) It would facilitate the rural free delivery of the mail.

A Pun That Failed.

At a public dinner a careless waiter stumbled when bringing in a boiled tongue. The tongue slipped over the edge of the dish upon the tablecloth.

"Never mind," said the chairman cheerfully, "it's only a lapsus linguæ" (slip of the tongue).

The joke was received with a burst of laughter. A gentleman present, who had no knowledge of Latin, yet saw what boisterous merriment it caused, secretly determined that he would repeat the whole performance at his next little dinner party at home and give his guests a great laugh at his wit.

The occasion arrived. There was to be a leg of mutton, and the host had instructed the waiter to let it fall when coming in. The waiter did so, to the great dismay of the guests.

"Oh, never mind," cried the host cheerfully, "it's only a lapsus linguæ."

To his great disgust and astonishment, however, nobody seemed to see it, and now he is suspicious that something must have gone wrong somewhere.—Pearson's.

MAYORALTY FOR 1903.

Card to the Electors of Peterborough.

To the Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In response to the numerous representations which have been made to me upon the subject—personally, by requisition, and through the press—I place my services at the disposal of the public as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the approaching municipal elections.

My association with the important municipal advances, which the Town has been making during recent years, will enable me to give continuity to the aggressive forward policy which the Council has sought to pursue, and to bring experience and information gained therein to bear upon the work and problems which still more immediately confront us.

While I cannot lay claim to all the qualifications which have been flatteringly ascribed to me, such capacity for the office as I do possess is cheerfully placed at your service, and I ask your sympathy and support in the effort to maintain the position and standing, and advance the welfare, of our already prosperous and progressive Town.

Respectfully yours,

Powers Agree to Go Before The Hague Tribunal.

CONDITIONS NOT MADE PUBLIC

Only One London Paper Welcomes Reference of Venezuela Dispute to The Hague Tribunal—Others Lukewarm With the Exception of Daily Mail, Which Scores the Government Severely.

Washington, Dec. 27. — President Roosevelt will not be arbitrator of the Venezuelan controversy. The whole vexatious subject will be referred for adjudication of The Hague Tribunal. Epitomized, this was the situation, as it had resolved itself at the conclusion of the Cabinet meeting yesterday.

The News in England.

London, Dec. 27.—Except by the opponents of the Government, who view it as a virtual defeat, and as discrediting the Ministry, the latest phase of the Venezuelan trouble has been welcomed very lukewarmly. It is feared The Hague Tribunal will entail endless and wearisome details, with no assurance that, in the end, President Castro will still be in power, or Venezuela in the mood to abide by the decision of The Hague. In short, that element of guarantee, which would have accompanied President Roosevelt's acceptance of the office of arbitrator, is now lacking.

The foregoing represents the general drift of newspaper comment this morning. The only paper which really welcomes the decision to refer the Venezuelan matter to The Hague is the radical Daily News, which sees a chance of making arbitration once more a reputable theory.

The Daily Mail, in a violent attack upon the Government, says: "Thus ends, perhaps, the most inglorious episode in which Great Britain has engaged of recent years."

FIRE TO HIDE CRIME.

Storekeeper Killed and Then Burned by His Murderers.

Matthews, Ga., Dec. 27.—At a late hour Christmas Eve an unknown man called at the home of Edward Gay, six miles from here and asked him to change a bill. Mr. Gay not having the change walked with the man to his store, not far distant, which they entered. It is supposed the stranger then drew a revolver and forced Mr. Gay to open his safe, which contained $1,500. He then probably murdered Mr. Gay and set fire to the store to hide his crime. The store was completely gutted, and Thursday the safe was found open and the skull of the victim discovered in the ruins. The community is highly excited. So far there is no clue to the perpetrator of the crime.

Sues For Cold Feet.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—A shantyman named Napoleon Chenier arrived in town yesterday morning for the purpose of making arrangements to sue the company he was working for for damages received by having his feet frozen. It appears that the foreman of the shanty ordered Chenier to take duty as cook, and upon his refusing the foreman turned him out. He had to walk eighty miles to the nearest station, and was found by an Indian after his feet had become frozen, and taken to the nearest station, whence he came to Hull.

PLAYED THEIR PARTS

Boer Enemy Need Fear No Humiliation in Their Defeat.

SPEECHES BY MR. CHAMBERLAIN

Colonial Secretary Holds Out Olive Branch at Durban—Faith in Lord Milner Unshaken—Fighting Boers Offer Accepted—They Will Be Allowed to Settle With British in Somaliland.

Durban, Natal, Dec. 27.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain, who left Portsmouth, Eng., Nov. 25, on board the armored cruiser Good Hope, landed here at 10.30 yesterday morning. They received a warm welcome from large crowds of people.

The long speeches made by Mr. Chamberlain in the course of reception functions were notable for their strength in tone of conciliation and as expressing his confidence in Lord Milner, British High Commissioner in South Africa. Bearing in mind, seemingly, the rumors that his visit would lead to the displacement of Lord Milner, Mr. Chamberlain declared himself that his visit would have the effect of strengthening Lord Milner's hand, in conciliation as he had been in the maintenance of the rights of the Empire.

Referring to the war, the Colonial Secretary said the Dutch and the British had fought in courageous rivalry. Between the two races, not kindred in origin or nature, such a struggle for supremacy had been inevitable. From that struggle two proud and kindred races would grow in mutual respect. "Victor and vanquished," said Mr. Chamberlain, "bravely played their parts. We scorn to glory in our triumph; the enemy need fear no humiliations in their defeat. Let us see if, as Briton, worthy of the name that nothing be done to revive the animosities of the past.

"We must give our new fellow subjects equality of position with ourselves. We ask, however, something in return. It is with them that the issue lies. We hold out our hand and ask them to take it without thought of past, but frankly, and in the spirit in which it is offered."

Mr. Chamberlain eloquently elaborated his theme and was loudly cheered. He announced incidentally the acceptance of the Boer offer to fight in Somaliland.

MURDERS EVERY DAY.

Kingston, Dec. 27. — Veterinary Capt. Frederick Metcalfe has reached home after 18 months' service in South Africa. While there he was attached to the Imperial Light Infantry and Scottish Scouts. Capt. Metcalfe thinks there is a bright future in store for South Africa, after affairs resume their natural tenor. Cape Town is at present the Monte Carlo of the world. A lot of privation exists there, and murders are of daily occurrence. It is no place for the average white man looking for work unless he has a little capital.

BULLET IN HIS BRAIN.

Track-Walker's Body Exhumed Reveals a Dastardly Crime.

Lancaster, Pa., Dec. 27.—The body of Jacob H. Bostick, the Pennsylvania track-walker, found on the tracks two weeks ago near Bainbridge, this county, was exhumed yesterday and a bullet discovered at the base of the brain. The murderers had attempted to hide their crime by placing the body so that the cars would run over it. Two men from Columbia, named McCoy and Gutterman, are under arrest, and the authorities claim they have strong evidence against them.

The association paid during the year in mortuary benefits $42,175, and the balance paid over to the permanent reserve fund amounted to $23,076. THE ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

A Citizen of the Village Writes a Letter

And Urges the Ratepayers to Elect men of Business—Changes Incompetency.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — As the day of nomination for the municipal councils throughout the province is close at hand, it is about time that the ratepayers of the various municipalities should carefully consider the records of the past councils and the qualifications of the various candidates seeking municipal honours.

Take Ashburnham, for instance. There is abundance of room for new material in its council, and it is, perhaps, more important at this period in the history of the village that men of sound business qualifications should be elected, than at any previous time.

The business as conducted for the past two months by the present council, shows that the members of that body are not men fully capable of performing the duties imposed upon them.

It is pretty generally conceded that the present council is incompetent, that a majority of the councillors are not by any means the best men who could be had, that they are small-calibre men who do not represent the highest average of intelligence and acquaintance with business methods among the citizens who elect them. Perhaps the present council does the best it can, but the best it can, if that is the case, isn't nearly good enough for a village like Ashburnham. This year's council has been weighed in the balance and found wanting, not altogether because the councillors individually are incompetent, but because a majority are, and because the methods of doing business by them are such that one competent man in the council is quite unable to accomplish anything.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

I am,

Yours truly,

C. H. MOORE.

GLIMPSE OF THE FUTURE.

Mr. Clergue Gives Some Interesting Information.

He Tells of the Future of his Companies—An Interview.

Mr. F. H. Clergue, of the "Soo," in an interview with a Toronto Globe reporter, in speaking upon the development of New Ontario and the output of the steel works there said:

On the question of dividends the following is an interesting extract from the company's last report: — "While results, which in all reasonable expectation should have materialised sooner, have been deferred to some extent by conditions with which the business world is familiar, it is gratifying to know that there has been neither loss nor delay on account of mistakes in management or defects in the general scheme of development that is being worked out as rapidly as circumstances will permit. On the contrary, your directors do not hesitate at the end of another year to repeat with added emphasis their confidence in the prospects of the company and their belief in the value of its resources. The foundation of your company is its holdings of lands and the franchises which make possible the utilization of the resources that lie upon and exist beneath the soil; consequently, every undertaking that makes these resources productive enhances the value of your company's tangible assets. The entire energy of the management has been directed towards the utilisation of these great resources by the establishment of a series industries, each dependent upon and complementary to the other, so that all shall work harmoniously together to convert into profits the natural wealth of your company's properties."

A GLIMPSE OF THE FUTURE.

Fancy the appearance of these industries when they are all completed and working harmoniously together! The basis of all may be said to be the waterpower from the St. Mary's River, which, with a fall of only nineteen feet, has the great body of Lake Superior for a millpond. This gives cheap energy and makes the distance from the coal mines of no consequence. The second elementary force is the Algoma Central Railway, which will carry iron from the Helen and Josephine and gold ores from the Grace mines to Michipicoten Harbour, whence the boats will carry it to the "Soo" in summer, while the all-rail route will be used for the ore in winter. The great intervening wilds will afford a continuous traffic in wood and mineral products, hardwood for charcoal, pine for the sawmills, and probably iron for the blast furnace, while the occasional valleys will be peopled with settlers, whose products will be necessary for the forest workmen. The Manitoulin and North Shore Railway will sweep up from the Southern Georgian Bay ports, bringing the manufactured products of old Ontario to the bustling centres of population in Algoma, and carrying back the iron, steel, nickel, wood and pulp products of the "Soo" factories. It will connect the nickel fields at Sudbury with the ferro-nickel plant at the "Soo," traversing on the way an immense undeveloped area, containing a wealth of pine, spruce, copper and farm lands.

Meeting for Men Only.

On Sunday afternoon at the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Arthur W. Beall, the representative of the W.C.T.U. for Ontario, will speak. His subject will be "Crystals," and a large gathering of men is expected. Come early and get a good seat. Service at 4 p. m., sharp Mr. Jack Macdonald of McMaster University, will sing.

MICHAEL CASSIDY'S VOTE.

An Echo of the Referendum Campaign.

How a Young Girl is Said to Have Cast Her Father's Vote—The Result.

The following interesting story is from the pen of Mr. Lyndowde Pereira, of Ottawa, father of Mr. Pereira, of the Trent Valley Canal office, Peterborough. Mr. Pereira was at one time night editor of the Montreal Gazette:

Did you have a majority at our poll! Belcher your life we did, a majority of one. Which way? Why for the Act, of course. Yes, it was small for its size, and so was the voter, but I was prouder of it than if we had taken in the whole two hundred and twelve thousand votes. I don't mind telling you about it, seeing it's past and gone. I was deputy returning officer and had three pretty decent chaps along with me. You'll remember it was a sharp morning, particularly for folks that hadn't too much clothes to their backs. We'd just opened up and got everything set for taking votes, when there came a timid tap at the door, followed by the appearance of the most woe-begone picture of miserable childhood I think I ever saw. The little creature couldn't have been more than six, and though she was small even for that age, her face was the face of a girl of fifteen whose eyes looked as if what they had already seen of life was not a very cheerful outlook for the rest of it. A piece of an old grey shawl was wrapped over her head and partly covered her shoulders, and the scanty apology for a frock, two or three sizes too wide, put on quite distant terms with the patched stockings, through one of which a bony little knee, blue with cold, was apparent, completed her visible costume. "Please sir," says this midget, "is this where they votes?" I told her it was. "Then," says she, breathing hard, "I wants to vote against the drink." Well, I nearly fell over at that. I asked her name: "Mary Cassidy;" she lived a "little ways up the street;" and her father was Michael Cassidy. I tried to explain to her that it was her father who had to vote, and that he would have to come himself. She twisted her lean little fingers together nervously, took a good look at us all, and said, hardly above a whisper, "Please, sir, father couldn't come 'cause he's not well." "Then, who sent you?" I asked her, with a dawning suspicion of what was coming. "Please, sir," she says, "mother sent me, 'cause she was afraid father would vote the wrong way." I thought as much. I stared hard at the others, and they gave it me back without blinking an eye-lid. It didn't take me two seconds to make up my mind as to what my duty was in such an emergency not especially provided for by the electoral act. "Gentlemen," I said, "I am going to take this vote if I go to jail for it;" and and into the box the slip of paper went, with a big X in the "yes" column, made by the child's fingers in the presence of the four of us. And I don't think that the piece of green paper that we put into an envelope for Mary to take home to her mother could by any stretch of forensic ingenuity have been twisted into a charge of bribery and corruption.

Well, that's only the first half of the story. As soon as little Mary had departed I said to the other fellows, "I will lay odds that Mr. Michael Cassidy will turn up before the poll closes, and you boys will have to stand by me." Sure enough, the son of a gun walked in, about ten minutes to five, just as full as a goat; and when he found that he had, according to the book, already polled his vote, the language he used left no room for doubt as to which way he had intended to vote. As he insisted on voting again, or knocking us into the middle of next week, I called it five o'clock; they all agreed with me that it was five o'clock; we hustled Mr. Cassidy out on to the sidewalk, and locked the door against him. When we counted the votes there was a majority of one in favour of the act, so I made my return accordingly. And I would like to see the judge that would throw out Mike Cassidy's vote.

HAVELOCK NEWS.

Dr. Jeffs has Formed a Partnership With Dr. A. H. Crawford.

The Graham House was offered for public sale on Monday afternoon by the mortgagee, but the bids did not reach the reserve figure, and no sale was made.

We are pleased to welcome to our village, Dr. A. H. Crawford, who has been successful in forming a partnership with Dr. W. H. Jeffs. Dr. Crawford is a graduate of Trinity University in arts and medicine and a fellow by examination of Trinity Medical College. He is a licentiate of the Council of the Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, 1901, and a member of the Medical Council of the North West Territories. After graduation he spent one year in the County Carlton General Hospital, Ottawa, the largest hospital there, as house surgeon. Then he had charge of the Prince Albert extension of the Mackenzie & Mann railway surgical and medical work, besides doing a general practice. The Dr. comes to us very highly recommended as a careful and skilful surgeon and we beespeak for him a liberal support of the village and country.

We have received notice that the Havelock branch of the Sovereign Bank will be opened for the transaction of business, on Jan. 15th. NOT DUE TO CLIMATE.

Catarrh is Found Everywhere.

Catarrh is at home anywhere and everywhere. While more common in cold, changeable climates, it is by no means confined to them, but is prevalent in every state and territory in the union.

The common definition of catarrh is a chronic cold in the head, which if long neglected often destroys the sense of smell and hearing; but there are many other forms of the disease, even more obstinate and dangerous.

Catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver are almost as common as nasal catarrh and generally more difficult to cure.

Catarrh is undoubtedly a blood disease and can only be successfully eradicated by an internal treatment. Sprays, washes and powders are useless as far as reaching the real seat of the disease is concerned.

Dr. McIverney advises catarrh sufferers to use a new preparation, sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because actual analysis has shown these tablets to contain certain anti-septic qualities of the highest value and being a internal remedy, pleasant to the taste, convenient and harmless, can be used as freely as required, as well for children as for adults.

An attorney and public speaker, who had been a catarrh sufferer for years, says:

"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all winter long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became affected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking.

"I tried troches and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two fifty cent boxes which I bought at my druggists, cleared my head and throat in fine shape and to guard against a return of my old trouble I keep a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward off any serious developments."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets deserves to head the list as a household remedy, to check and break up coughs and colds, because unlike many other catarrh andcough cures these tablets contain no opiate, cocaine or any injurious drug.

This Santa Burned to Death.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Forest Gale, a 15-year-old boy, attached to the Salvation Army, was fatally burned Christmas night while playing Santa Claus to 800 poor children, says a special to The Record-Herald from Hamilton, Ohio.

Without Any Display.

London, Dec. 27.—The remains of Dr. Temple, the Archbishop of Canterbury, were removed yesterday afternoon from the Archiepiscopal Palace at Lambeth to Canterbury for interment there to-day. There was no display.

An Authoress Gone.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Mary Hartwell Catherwood, the well-known authoress, died at her residence here last night of cancer. She is survived by her husband, John Steel Catherwood, and a daughter.

Russian Crops Poor.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26.—The condition of the winter crops in nearly all European Russia is regarded as bad. This condition arises from the delay in sowing, which was due to the late harvest and the rainy autumn and winter. The seed did not germinate sufficiently before the early and intense frosts. The crop outlook is serious, even in several of the southern provinces of the country.

JAMES HILTON DROWNED.

Broke Through the Ice on Christmas Day —Lobster Fisher's Body Found on La Have Island, N.S.

Halifax, Dec. 27.—James Hilton, aged 16 years, lost his life while skating at Hilton Pond, near Yarmouth, Thursday. He broke through the ice and was drowned before relief reached him.

The dead body of Alex. Bell, a fisherman, was found on La Have Island yesterday. He left his home Tuesday to tend lobster traps, and the little craft was upset by a squall.

THE FIELDING TARIFF.

Sir William Mulock Shows That Canada Has Prospered Under It.

Hamilton, Dec. 27.—The Hamilton Liberal Club last night held a particularly successful meeting, at which Sir William Mulock, Postmaster-General and Minister of Labor, delivered an important address on the record of the Liberal party and the tariff situation. Sir William indicated plainly the dangers that would attend the repeal of the preferential tariff and a return to the National Policy. His address certainly did not seem to foreshadow any general increase in the tariff, its whole burden being that Canada has prospered under the Fielding tariff, and that if any alterations are to be made, they must be made in the rational way in which that tariff was devised, and with a due regard to the best interests of all classes of the population.

Liberals and North Norfolk.

Delhi, Dec. 27.—The Liberal campaign in North Norfolk was given a rousing opening at a meeting in the Opera House here yesterday afternoon, addressed by the candidate, Mr. A. M. Little; Mr. John Charlton, M.P., Mr. Kelly of Simcoe, and others. The canvass so far has met with excellent success. A series of 30 meetings, covering every part of the riding, has been arranged, and the outlook for Mr. Little's election is exceedingly bright.

TEN DAYS OF PREPARATION.

Then Murderer Labelle Will Hang For His Crime at Dawson.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—The date of the execution of Labelle at Dawson has been changed from the 10th to the 20th of January. He will, therefore, be hanged on the same day as Fournier, his companion in crime. Efforts will be made to obtain from the two men more positive information concerning the fate of Joseph Guilbault, whom they are believed to have murdered between Eagle City and Circle City. Guilbault disappeared in a mysterious manner, having been shot, according to Fournier, by Labelle. At any rate, they both confessed that they divided the contents of his pocket-book, some $200, Fournier receiving two $50 bills for his share. The mother of Guilbault, who resides at New Bedford, Mass., is now trying to learn whether her son has been foully dealt with, and the Department of Justice is making inquiries for her.

COLLAPSED AT MIDNIGHT.

Gigantic Skating Rink, Costing $15,000, Goes to Pieces.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 27.—Without warning, the big rink of the Soo Curling Club collapsed Wednesday at midnight, and lies a total wreck of twisted iron and broken timbers. The rink was said to be the largest in America, and was being built at a cost of $15,000. It was almost completed, and the intention was to have a formal opening on Christmas afternoon. Had the accident taken place during that time the loss of life would have been enormous. Not a soul was in the rink at the time of the collapse.

Prosperous Industry.

Hamilton, Dec. 27.—It seems probable that the rumors current here that the International Harvester Co., Deering division, have purchased 35 acres of land adjacent to their works, is correct. It is said the company will pay $38,200 for the land, and the extension of the works will be begun as soon as possible.

Health for Women.

"Few things are more important to a community than the health of its women. If strong is the frame of the mother says a proverb, the sons will give laws to the people." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is especially women's medicine. By its action on the blood and nerves it gives strength and vigour to the delicate feminine organs and ensures their regular and healthful functions. It gives colour to the pale, strength to the weak, and a rounded form to the thin and angular.

Died in England.

Montreal, Dec. 27.—Word was received last night of the death in England of the Rev. Dr. Thomas Adams, who was for many years a prominent figure in Canadian educational circles. Dr. Adams was principal of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, from 1885 to 1900.

Burned to Death in Bed.

Glens Falls, N.Y., 27.—Mary E. Barry, a domestic, employed by Timothy Herlihy, living near here, is dead as the result of burns received Christmas Eve. She was found in bed, with her clothing enveloped in flames, and died without recovering consciousness. The cause of the accident is unknown.

Choked to Death.

Tuckerton, N.J., Dec. 27.—Mary A. Darby, aged 58 years, was found dead yesterday in her home near here. A physician expressed the opinion that the woman had been choked to death. She lived alone and no motive for the crime is known.

Just Say "I'm Sick"

And I Will Send You a Way to get Well.

Just write a postal card and tell me which book you need. That is all.

Then I will send you an order—good at any drug store—for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. You may take it a month at my risk to learn what it can do. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself. And your mere word shall decide it.

That is my way of convincing you.

Could you come to my office I would show you a vault filled with 65,000 letters from people whom I have cured. You would not need the month's test to convince you then.

But you who can't come here—you who don't know me—are apt to doubt a stranger's claims.

So I prove my faith in my treatment by letting you take the remedy, then you can decide whether you or I shall pay.

I have laboured a lifetime to perfect a remedy that would strengthen the inside nerves, and my Restorative does that. It brings back the only power that makes the vital organs act.

When an organ fails in its duty, the nerve power is weak. There is usually no other cause. The organ is like an engine that needs more steam; and no skill in the world can remedy the trouble till the organ has power to act.

My Restorative brings back that power, and that is the secret of my success. When that is done, the weak organ is well, unless a cause like cancer makes a cure impossible.

In the past 12 years I have furnished my Restorative on trial to over half a million sick ones. Nearly all of the cases were difficult; many were desperate. Other treatments had failed in most of them. Yet 39 out of each 40 have paid for the treatment gladly, because they were cured. There are 39 chances in 40 that I can cure you, and you shall not lose a penny if I fail.

Simply state which book you want, and address to Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

It carried away one end of the bank house at the mine, in which 12 miners were sleeping. Two of the men escaped, three dead bodies have been recovered and seven are still missing. A relief party, accompanied by a physician, has left Nelson for the scene of the disaster to try and rescue or recover the missing men.

WHERE THE EARTH ROCKS.

Guards Keep Up Search For Fissures Near Andijan.

Ashkabad, Russian Turkestan, Dec. 27.—The oscillations of the earth at Andijan continue. The people there are using railroad cars to live in. They are not leaving the town on account of their business interests. Committees have been appointed to prepare lists of the losses to life and property. In the Andijan district 15,000 houses were destroyed. Until the shocks cease guards will be kept on the railway between Andijan and Fedohens to wait for fissures along the line. The railway station at Andijan threatens to collapse. Barracks to be used as dwellings are being rapidly constructed, and will soon be ready for occupation.

Red Cross to Give Relief.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 27.—The Red Cross Society is sending representatives to Andijan to organize relief and has contributed $17,500 to the relief fund.

THE DAY AFTER

Makes People who Don't use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Wish Christmas had Never Come.

Are you still feeling the effects of the Christmas dinner? Has the holiday season tempted you from your usual abstemious fare and subjected you to pain and nausea and the thousand discomforts that only dyspeptics know? Are you carrying around a headache and a tendency to be bilious and joining in that woful chorus, —"Thank Heaven, Christmas does only come once a year!"

It is your own fault if you are.

If you have overworked your stomach do the one thing natural. Give it some help and some rest. If you do what's right with your stomach, it will do what's right with you. The help it needs is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will digest the food, thus giving the stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Thousands of people who last year ate Christmas dinners with feelings of apprehension, enjoyed it thoroughly this year. They had learned in the meantime the value of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these taken after each meal drives away those uncomfortable feelings so many people have learned to dread.

With Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for dessert no one need fear to indulge in all the goo' things with which the season abounds.

THE COMING SESSION.

Parliament Will Be Called for Business in March.

THE GRAND TRUNK CONTINENTAL

Hon. Raymond Prefontaine Says Premier Laurier Will Do the Reasonable Thing, Though He Himself Thinks G. T. Pacific Should Get as Much as the Other Road—Judicial Changes.

Montreal, Dec. 27.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, returned last night from a visit to the Premier at Hot Spring. "Parliament will be called together early in March," said the new Minister. "It will be impossible to meet before then, owing to the important questions which are to come before the country—the extension of the Grand Trunk to the Pacific; perhaps the extension of the Intercolonial, and the fast line. These matters must be fully discussed by the Cabinet and a program prepared for Parliament before the members can be summoned." The new member of the Cabinet said he had discussed the Grand Trunk project, and had spoken on the matter with Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"What is the opinion of the Premier on this matter?"

"Sir Wilfrid is an up-to-date man, and will readily support any responsible understanding that will tend to develop Canada."

"What is your view of the question, Mr. Prefontaine?"

"I think it will be an excellent thing for the country."

"How about Government assistance, which has been suggested?"

"Well, I think it ought to receive as much as the other line. Of course, I cannot tell you what will be given, because we must first find out what the organizers desire."

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine says Sir Wilfrid will return to Canada on January 10 or 15. "He looks fine; in fact he is in better health than at any time during the last two years," said Mr. Prefontaine.

THE ONTARIO BENCH.

Changes Probable—Mr. Justice Robertson Will Probably Retire.

Ottawa, Dec. 27. — Mr. Justice Robertson's retirement from the Ontario Bench is looked for at an early date. Mr. Justice Robertson has for a long while past suffered from a physical disability which to some extent handicapped him in the performance of his judicial duties. Hence his retirement will occasion no surprise. Mr. James Magee, K.C., of London, is mentioned as likely to receive promotion to the Bench when a vacancy occurs. The fact that Mr. Justice Ferguson has not been in the best of health probably accounts for the rumor that he is about to seek the repose of private life. So far as can be learned, however, Mr. Justice Ferguson has not asked to be relieved from duty.

To Investigate the Canned Meat.

It is likely that representatives of the Canadian canned meat industry will shortly meet the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa and discuss with him measures for clearing the reputation of the trade from aspersions which have lately been cast on it. The Department of Agriculture has in its possession about one thousand tins of the canned beef shipped by Canadian firms to South Africa. These tins were sent back to the Dominion in response to an application from this country for samples of the Canadian canned meat in use among the British troops. Some of them have already been examined, and, except in one or two instances, where punctures had been made in the tin with a nail—whether designedly or not does not appear—the contents were found to be absolutely sound. It is not improbable that an examination by impartial experts of the tins of beef still in the department may be ordered, to demonstrate that the quality of their contents is unimpeachable.

BLAZE AFFORDS A SPECTACLE.

Boake Mills in Toronto Burned With a Loss of $35,000.

Toronto, Dec. 27.—A spectacular sight was afforded several thousand people at the head of Howland avenue last night in the destruction by fire of the premises of the Boake Manufacturing Company's Mills, consisting in all of the main building, a two story structure, about 100x175 feet, which included a planing mill, moulding shed, store-room and office, the dry kiln in connection with the mill, and a lot of lumber on three cars on the railway siding to the south. The total loss will not exceed $25,000, and of this only about one-third is covered by insurance.

FINED ONLY.

Four Toronto Personators on the Liquor Act Vote Dealt With.

Toronto, Dec. 27.—Four of the five men arrested for personating at the recent vote on the liquor act were fined $50 and costs or six months in the Central Prison yesterday morning in the Police Court. They were George Armstrong, Wm. E. Taylor, alias Case, Bernard Tyrell and Valentine Heffner. The latter was also found guilty of illegal voting, and an additional fine of $50 and costs was imposed. Vincent J. O'Neil, for whose arrest a warrant was issued, has not yet been found. Counsel for the prohibitionists intends to appeal.

President Loudon's Salary Raised.

Toronto, Dec. 27.—The salary of President Loudon has been increased by the Senate of Toronto University by $500, making it $5,500.

The Day of Miracles

Is past, but many who are cured of itching, bleeding or protruding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment look upon their recovery as next thing to miraculous. It is not uncommon for persons who have undergone painful, risky and expensive operations in vain to be finally cured by this wonderful ointment. It is the standard the world over and the only guaranteed cure for piles.

Rapid Rise Of An Investment Stock

Six Days Gives Narrow Margin of Time for Action.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE THIS WEEK

Price of Eastern Consolidated Oil Co's. Stock Goes to Par—$1.00 a Share, with the New Year—This is the Company that has Paid 27 % on the Investment in 13 Months—Over-Subsciption of 50c Allotment Seems Probable.

Another sensational chapter in the history of the Eastern Consolidated Oil Company is opened.

For more than a year now this company has figured conspicuously in the financial news of the day.

This stock, which was put on the market at 25 cents a share, advanced rapidly to 50 cents, and in the past 13 months has actually paid 27 per cent. in dividends on the investment.

It is now positively known that the stock will go to par ($1 a share) on January 3rd, just six days hence.

A Splendid Proposition.

The rapid rise of the Eastern Consolidated Oil Co. is due to two causes; first, the natural physical oil wealth of the company's oil properties, and, second, careful and conservative business management. The result is a success which is making rich men out of the original stockholders.

It is in fact a splendid investment proposition from a business point of view. It is safe because it has actual assets, rich oil land and producing oil wells.

It is a rich investment because its enormous oil production gives it large revenues and makes possible the generous dividends which have already been paid for over a year.

Price of Stock Advances 100 per cent.

The present allotment of stock selling at 50 cents a share, is almost exhausted.

On January 3rd the price will advance to par—$1 a share.

The officers of the company make the positive statement that after 12 o'clock midnight next Saturday night, Eastern Consolidated Oil Company will sell no more of its stock at 50 cents. On and after that time the price will be $1.00.

Pays Rich Dividends.

Thirteen months ago the Eastern Consolidated Oil Company rejoiced its stockholders by declaring 2 per cent. cent. dividend on the investment for the month.

Since that time this company has paid 27 per cent. in dividends on the investment.

Since that time the stock has doubled in value, and will double again in six days. An investment of $1,000 made 13 months ago has paid $270 in dividends, and is now worth $2,000 in consequence of the advance in the price.

The same investment will be worth $4,000 on next Saturday night when the price advances.

The original investors have already doubled their money, but they took all the risks. Those who invest this week take no risk whatever and are certain to double their money in six days!

Fortunes Made in Oil.

In no other class of safe investments can the investor realize such profits as in oil. Compare the returns from real estate, from loans on mortgages, from banks, or from any industrial proposition with the 27 per cent on the investment paid by the Eastern Consolidated Oil Company in 13 months.

The Standard Oil Company declared dividends amounting to 45 per cent. during the past year! The Standard Oil Company's stock is quoted at nearly $700 a share.

The Eastern Consolidated Oil Company's stock sells at 50 cents a share for six days longer.

There is no other investment on the market that offers anything like so large returns.

Properties and Oil Wells.

The Eastern Consolidated Oil Co. has over 21,000 acres of rich oil lands. About 1,200 acres are in Ohio, consisting of oil leases on 18 farms and containing 107 producing oil wells.

The oil is sold to the Standard Oil Co. with a cash settlement each month. Ten acres in the heart of the rich Kern River district in California, owned outright and paid for, has four big producing wells. Also 19,000 acres in Santa Barbara, Cal., upon which development work has begun.

Enormous Oil Production.

Some two months ago, when drilling was begun on the Kern River property, the superintendent promised a production of 50,000 barrels monthly from this tract alone when ten wells should have been finished.

He is more than keeping his promise. With four wells down in Kern River the production has already increased at the rate of about 30,000 barrels monthly—with room for six more wells!

Will Build big Refinery.

The company is now receiving bids and estimates for the construction of a modern oil refinery on its property in Kern River.

This fact alone shows that the company has attained a marked success and has come to stay.

While the profit on oil as a natural product is large, refined oil sells in California for about eight times as much as crude oil.

This refinery will largely increase the company's revenue, for, besides refining their own oil, they can refine for other wells at a good profit.

Stands High With Investors.

During the past month or six weeks fully 80 per cent. of the present stockholders have increased their holdings in anticipation of the rise in price.

For the small investor who has only $25, $50 or $100 to put in it offers an unheard of opportunity. Such an opportunity to realize over 2 per cent. a month in dividends and to double the sum invested in a few days comes to the big capitalist sometimes, but seldom indeed to the small investor.

Remember that $25 invested now will double in value by Saturday night; $50 will be worth $100 at the same time!

Interview With the Fiscal Agents.

In an interview with C. B. Heydon & Co., Rooms 401 and 402 Manning Chambers Building, 72 Queen street, west, Toronto, who are the only authorized fiscal agents for the sale of stock in the Eastern Consolidated Oil Co., this firm expressed the utmost gratification at the successful financiering of this company.

They declared that in their 12 years' business they had never handled a stock that compared with the Eastern Consolidated Oil Co. as a rich paying and at the same time safe investment, and that it was with real regret that they were terminating their connection with the sale of the 50c. allotment.

"Will the stock be oversubscribed?" was asked.

"Yes, it is quite probable; but in that case we shall fill the subscriptions in the order of time in which they are received. The money will be promptly returned to those whose orders are received too late."

Moral, act promptly and send in your orders early.

FIRE DOWN BY SEA.

Petit Codiac Visited By a Blaze Costing $30,000.

Petit Codiac, N.B., Dec. 27.—The most serious fire for seventeen years occurred yesterday morning. It broke out in McLean & Ryan's clothing store. The building was occupied on the second floor by John Murray as a dwelling. The flames spread to J. J. McFee's large two-storey store and dwelling, then to Bleakney Bros.' general store. All these and two large warehouses belonging to W. Church were burned. Practically all the stock in the burned stores was lost, and the occupants of the dwellings lost all their household goods. The total loss is about $30,000.

CHRISTMAS WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Mary A. Bradley and Mr. Joseph Arthur Ash.

On Christmas morning at ten o'clock a quiet wedding was solemnized at the George street Methodist church, when Miss Mary A. Bradley was united in marriage to Mr. Jos. Arthur Ash. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. P. Wilson. Mrs. Mowat played the wedding march.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white organdie, trimmed with lace and insertion, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was given away by her father, and was assisted by her sister, Miss Bertha M. Bradley, who was similarly attired, and carried pink carnations. Mr. W. D. Greer of Cobourg, supported the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride, 625 Aylmer street, where a sumptuous wedding dejeuner was served.

The happy couple left on the G.T.R. for the west. On their return they will take up their residence on McDonel street. The presents received were numerous and costly and showed the esteem in which the young couple are held.

WITH THE CEREAL COMPANY

Ex-Mayor Denne Will Shortly Enter New Duties.

He is Retiring From the Flour and Feed Business—Succeeded by Mr. Roland Denne.

The announcement is made that Mr. T. H. G. Denne intends retiring from the flour and feed business he now conducts at No. 388 George street and that early in January he will enter the employ of the American Cereal Company, having accepted a position in the grain purchasing department of that well known company.

Mr. Denne will be succeeded in his business by his brother, Mr. Roland Denne, who for some years has been in the employ of Messrs. Richard Hall & Son.

The announcement of Mr. Denne's retirement from the flour and feed business, which he has so successfully carried on for the past fifteen years, will not come as a surprise to his more intimate friends, as it was generally known at the time he announced his retirement from municipal life, that it was due to a contemplated change in business.

While it was generally regretted that the town was to lose Mr. Denne's services to some extent, at least in municipal life, they were pleased to learn that his change in business was not such that they would lose him as a citizen, and they were further pleased to know that he was afforded greater opportunities for the exercise of his energetic and sound business qualifications which he is known to possess. As before stated Mr. Denne has been engaged in the flour and feed business for 15 years. During that time he has been successful to say the least, and while giving due attention to his own personal affairs he has made time for the consideration of municipal matters in which he has been very prominently identified for the past eight years. During the past two years he has been mayor of the town and it was with general regret to his friends that he could not see his way clear to accept the nomination for Mayor of Peterborough for a third term.

The American Cereal Company fully recognizing the ability of Mr. Denne, more particularly in his own line of business, of course, have offered him inducements which were too tempting to refuse.

Mr. Denne will enter upon his new duties in January and the American Cereal Company will have the services of an energetic and capable official in the person of Peterborough's ex-Mayor.

GOLF CLUB BALL.

Great Preparations Being Made for the Big Event.

The dance of the Peterborough Golf Club, which will take place in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening, promises to be a very enjoyable affair. The committee in charge of the arrangements is exerting every effort to make the dance the greatest social event of the season.

The band of the 57th Regiment has been engaged to play the entire programme of dances, and in addition to this the band will render a short programme before the dancing commences. Music will be rendered by the band from 9 o'clock. The hall will be decorated very handsomely, and the catering will be done by Mr. Harry Long.

DOING EVERYTHING POSSIBLE

To Give Peterborough a Better Supply of Milk.

Now that there are so many cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria in the town, there are many people who are prone to throw the blame on the milk supply of the town. It is only fair to our milkmen to state that they do everything in their power under the present system to ensure cleanliness and freedom from disease and people should not be so easy to put the blame on them.

At this time the proposed plan to have a central milk depot, and the cans, etc., sterilized, should find a great support among the townspeople, and everything should be done to forward the scheme. At present it looks as though the plans were going to mature, but this should not prevent the citizens from lending a helping hand to this praiseworthy object.

HIS NEW POSITION.

Mr. W. H. Foord now Superintendent of Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The many friends in Peterborough of Mr. W. H. Foord, who, for some years was superintendent of the Little Lake Cemetery, and who resigned to accept the position of assistant superintendent of Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto, will be much pleased to learn that he has been promoted to the position of superintendent. The change will not come into effect until the spring. Mr. Foord is well qualified to fill the position if his work in Peterborough counts for anything.

HOLIDAY SEASON HORROR!

Appalling Railway Accident Near London, Ont.

PETERBORO' PEOPLE INJURED

Miss Hattie Northey and Mr. James Northey, of Smith—A Head-on Collision Between Swift Express and Freight—Twenty-four Killed and Eighteen Injured—Partial List of Casualties.

(Special to the Examiner.)

London, Ontario, December 27th.—An awful accident occurred at 10.10 last night at Wanstead, a station on the Sarnia branch of the Grand Trunk Railway. A head-on collision took place between the Pacific express No. five and an east-bound freight train. The express was proceeding west at its usual high rate of speed. The freight was under slow headway, and was to have taken the switch at Wanstead to allow the passenger train to pass. Apparently neither engineer saw the danger ahead to avoid the accident, for the two engines came together near the west switch with a frightful crash, and overturning into the ditch. The baggage and express car telescoped into the smoker with appalling results.

THE WRECK IS COMPLETE, and it is thought that hardly a single passenger in the smoker escaped injury. As soon as the accident occurred, word was sent to the city and doctors were soon on the scene. The work of removing the dead and wounded was then proceeded with. Engineer Gillies, of Sarnia, and the fireman on engine 980 of the express are among the killed. The remainder are passengers. Later reports give the figures as 24 killed and 18 injured.

Later,—The following is a partial list of the killed: Nicholas Jeffries, London, commercial traveller for W. E. Saunders & Co.; Mr. Burwell, London; Engineer Gillies, Sarnia Tunnel, and firemen of both engines; Edward Debeau, of Brockville, died in the hospital here. Miss Geddes and Miss Beatrice Geddes, Sarnia; Mrs. J. S. Barnes, Woodstock; H. P. Lawrence, Watford; Geo. Stacey, Wanstead. The official list will be issued by the Grand Trunk at noon.

Later.—Among the wounded at Victoria Hospital, London, are Mrs. Hattie Northey, Young's Point, Peterborough, bruises, and James Northey, Young's Point, lacerations and wounds on the face and shoulders.

Later 3.30.—The following is the official list of killed:

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Stewart, of Petrolea, Ont.
Mr. A. Ricketts, Sarnia Tunnel.
Mr. J. Gillies, Sarnia Tunnel.
Mrs. Trotter, Petrolea.
Mr. Lawrence, Watford, Ont.
Mr. F. S. Freeman, Oil Springs, or Hensall.
Mr. Jeffrey, London, Ont.
Mr. Glen Roaley, Port Huron, Michigan.
Guy DePenier, ticketed Lacrosse, Wash.
Dr. Penwarden, ticketed Petrolea, and a lady supposed to be Dr. Penwarden's wife.
J. H. Brock, Brucefield.
O. B. Burwell, Port Huron, Mich.
Wilson Morton, Chicago, Ill.
Miss Geddes, Sarnia.
Mr. Cameron, Petrolea, Ont.
Several bodies still unidentified.

Montreal, December 27th, 3.45 p.m. —Superintendent McGuigan, of the G. T. R., says with reference to the accident at Wanstead, that he cannot understand how the operator at Wanstead, who is charged with the mistake resulting in the accident, made such a blunder. He is one of the oldest and most reliable telegraph operators on the system, having entered the service of the Great Western in 1871. It appears he failed to signal and give the passenger train orders to cross the freight at the station. Everything possible, Mr. McGuigan says, is being done for the injured.

MR. GRAY'S BEREAVEMENT.

He Lost by Death Yesterday His Little Daughter Meta.

The hand of death has once more entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gray, Water street, and their bright little daughter, Meta, aged 11 years, has been called away. Scarcely a week ago this promising young girl was striken with scarlet fever and was removed to Nicholls Hospital, where every care was given her. Yesterday about noon, however, she succumbed to the dreadful disease, making the second death in Mr. Gray's family within a week. The funeral took place this afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray have the sincere sympathy of their friends in their great trouble. Two bright children, a boy and a girl, summoned by the grim relentless Harvester is a bereavement that perhaps only those who have passed through can realise to any extent. The both of Mr. Gray's children, were possessed of those qualities of character which betokened a bright and prosperous future. Their untimely demise will be felt not only by the bereaved family but by their playmates and their friends in general.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

An Uninteresting Dispute Over Wages This Morning.

There was rather a protracted session at the Police Court this morning over a rather unimportant case. A young girl was demanding wages for picking peas from her employer, but owing to conflicting statements and lack of substantiating evidence the case was enlarged in order that each side might be in a position to confirm their statements.

BASKETBALL.

Considerable interest is being centred in the basketball match which will be played this evening in the Y.M.C.A., the competing teams being Toronto and Peterborough. The game will be preceded by a wrestling and tumbling exhibition, which will add variety to the event. The teams will be as follows:

Toronto—Brant and Hay, forwards; Harding, centre; Smith and Henderson, defence.

Peterborough—N. Miller and G. Robertson, forwards; Sandy Hall, centre; W. Richardson and W. Campbell, defence.

HOCKEY.

The rink received its first coating of water this morning and this with the advancement made in the roof leads one to the conclusion that skating will be here soon. If the weather holds, the management can give ice almost any day and it will be only a very short time before the ring of the steel on the ice will be heard.

MAIL SERVICE.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Morrison, "That the time has come when the town of Peterborough needs better and more accommodation for the distribution of His Majesty's mails in this flourishing town, and we would urge that the general mail delivery by carrier be established at once for the convenience of the public, and that the Town Clerk, Mr. Armstrong, be instructed to write the proper authorities in the matter."

The resolution was carried unanimously.

THE MAYOR WITHDRAWS.

At this juncture Mayor Denne asked leave to retire, and tendered his resignation as Mayor of the town of Peterborough.

Upon motion of Ald. Morrison, seconded by Ald. Rush, Ald. Batten was asked to take the chair.

The resignation of Mayor Denne was then accepted, and upon motion of Ald. Roger, seconded by Ald. Rush, Ald. Corkery was elected Mayor pro tem., to succeed ex-Mayor Denne.

Ald. Corkery was the recipient of congratulatory remarks from the members of the council. In reply he thanked his brother aldermen for the honour that they had bestowed upon him.

The council then adjourned.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

A POPULAR TAX COLLECTOR. What misnomer! The Chandos correspondent of the Examiner refers to the facility with which the "popular tax collector," Mr. Stephen Scott, has raked in the taxes. A popular tax collector is as rare as a popular bailiff in Ireland. The fact of the people of Chandos having paid their taxes promptly is simply evidence of the fact that prosperity has come to the farmers as well as the community generally. The majority of persons are always ready enough to pay their obligations, if they have the wherewithal. Besides it is good business to pay promptly.

A LARGE PROPORTION of the business difficulties and struggles arises from the failure to pay promptly, and there is nothing more dishonest, more thoughtless and more thoroughly selfish than for persons who make a big show and seem to have money, to "stand off" poor persons who do service for them. A poor seamstress works to midnight and deep into the next day, to finish a costly dress for some social function. It is taken home, and, to give an excuse for delaying payment, all sorts of fault is found in a nasty nagging spirit and the struggling seamstress, hardly able to stand from fatigue, is told grudgingly that she will be paid next week. though at the same time the children at home may be crying for bread, and the coal bin empty. "Next week" drags into months, the bill is not paid, and is only after the seamstress or other person drags weary limbs repeatedly to the door of the mansion to collect her hard-earned money—doubly-earned; in doing the work and in collecting the pay—that payment is secured. Nothing more contemptible can be conceived than this way of shirking obligations. The experience of merchants is that as a rule, servant girls are better pay than their mistresses.

THIS HOLIDAY SEASON has been a prosperous one for all classes. Money has been plentiful, and the merchants of Peterborough never had so booming a business; bank books bursting their creases with fatness. The public never bought so freely and paid so cheerfully and promptly. A Christmas present the donor pays for is the right thing; but the present the merchant who supplies it has to pay for, is a mockery.

THE SHOP KEEPERS have reaped a golden harvest this holiday season, and we can all enter 1903 with a hopeful outlook, and prospects of a happy new year—but only in proportion as we do our duty to our neighbour, and carry out the golden rule, can it be made generally happy.

IT IS A RARE THING, if not an unprecedented thing, in Peterborough, for a Mayor to resign his seat. Yet that is what Mayor Denne did last night. He proposes being a candidate for Water Commissioner, and, as Mayor, was ineligible by law.

MANY ELECTORS will be surprised to learn that they have lost their vote for Mayor. The Town Council, at a special meeting, took upon themselves to accept Mayor Denne's resignation and, on motion of Alderman Roger, elect his successor.

HIS WORSHIP Mayor Corkery, it is now. He was elected to the vacant position for the balance of Mayor Denne's term, and is now a full-fledged first magistrate of Peterborough, with power to sign and seal, in the name of the town. He will enjoy this dignity, of which his fellow-aldermen have worthily thought him worthy, till a new Mayor is elected the first week in January. Mayor Corkery has made an efficient and satisfactory alderman, and will, no doubt, fill the duties of Mayor in an equally acceptable manner.

THE PRESS representatives, and the city officials, are delighted with this arrangement. They will now, they think, have two mayorality oyster suppers, instead of one. It has been the custom of the new Mayor, when he comes to his own, to treat these favoured mortals to a bivalvular banquet — and they won't have to take their oysters raw now. It seems to be assured that henceforth we shall have a regular supply of coal.

ALDERMAN TURNER last night brought in a resolution advocating the free delivery of mail matter in the town, which was well received by the Aldermen, and would be welcomed by the people, to whom it would be a great convenience.

THE QUESTION is, however, the manner in which the Postmaster-General will receive the proposition. We have not the standing of a city, and very probably the rule of the Government, that no town, however large or important, shall have a correspondent of the Labour Gazette, because it is not a city in name, may be applied to city postal delivery.

THIS BEING SO, gives a new importance to the idea of Peterborough being incorporated as a city, a proposition which has its advantages and disadvantages. The question is, will the benefits which come to other nominal cities, not half so important industrial and commercial centres, and centres of population as Peterborough, be sufficient to justify the step? Will the game be worth the candle?

ASHBURNHAM ATTACHED to Peterborough, with which now it is socially and commercially one, would give us a population far in excess of the requirements for incorporation as a city, and far in excess of the other smaller cities of the Dominion.

THE UNION of Ashburnham and Peterborough is, however, confronted with a serious obstacle of a financial character. The village is indebted to the town, in respect of its water rate, to the considerable extent of seven-tenths of a cent. Unless the town, in justice to the ratepayers, can see its way to waiving payment of this sum, or unless the village authorities submit a bylaw at the January elections to authorize the issue of debentures to cover this obligation, it is to be feared that the civic annexation or amalgamation cannot be consummated on a satisfactory financial basis.

ANOTHER MATTER that cropped up last night was a batch of correspondence from Mr. Andrew Carnegie's secretary, in reference to a donation for a free library in Peterborough at the expense of the millionaire steelmonger and—at the expense of the ratepayers. One argument in favour of the town becoming bibliophilic paupers is the statement that the trustees of the Nicholls Estate, are willing to give a free site. That would be a fine beginning, but many ratepayers regard the conditions of payment, by the taxpayers, which Mr. Carnegie's deed of gift imposes as something of an objection.

IT IS AGREED that we have a good public library now, which has been well managed, and two good reading rooms — for males and females respectively. The question is, many urge, is the patronage given our present excellent library, such as to warrant the expenditure which a Carnegie "Free" library involves?

MANY PERSONS claim that the gift of a Carnegie free library is a good deal like making a present of a silk hat to a poor man—he has got to dress up to the "tile" to make it of any use, and spend more for clothes "to match" than he can afford.

THESE MATTERS are comparatively academic and unimportant compared with the subject of snow-plowing which is a live question, especially with some westenders, and residents in the outskirts. They claim that they pay their share of the taxes which snow-plowing costs, without getting the benefit, in as great proportion—as many people would pay taxes for a "free" library from which they would get no benefit—many of whom cannot afford to buy bread, not to say, books. Can't the Town Engineer on whose the Council imposes the responsibility stir up the contractors and speed the snow-plow.

HARDLY A HOLIDAY season passes without a holiday horror. It came to-day in Ontario in the terrible railway accident at London when about twenty-five persons were killed. Many of them were doubtless holiday travellers speeding their way to, or returning from, home re-unions.

THE CUEEN'S PETS.

Her Dogs Hold a Marked Place in Her Affections—Up-to-Date Kennels—Her Majesty's Horses.

Queens are just women when they "take off their crowns and sit on a chair"—that is, the best queens are—and that Queen Alexandra is one of the most womanly of queens is the fact that has made her so dear to English hearts.

In no way does Her Majesty show this more than in her love for pets. She has a collection at Sandringham that contains a wide variety, embracing dogs, chickens, doves, horses and parrots.

The dove cote had a poetic origin, its first member having been a present to the Queen when, as Princess of Wales, she visited Ireland many years ago. Someone gave it to her as "an emblem of peace and good will," and on her return to London she bought a mate for it. Their descendants are numerous, and the Queen always has one specially trained for her boudoir. This particular pet has its cage in the room, and will leave it at her call to perch on her finger or nestle on her shoulder. These doves are all white, with pink eyes.

A small island in a tiny pond is the home of a number of foreign birds. Among them are some curious specimens, of which several "oyster catchers" are regarded as particularly interesting by Queen Alexandra. They have black and white plumage and long red bills, which they use like scissors to detach mollusk. Three turtle doves are recent additions. They were on board the steamer when Her Majesty returned from Denmark last year, and she became so fond of them that she wanted them brought to Sandringham.

The Queen's kennels are extensive, and in them are deerhounds, Newfoundlands, collies and other breeds. Her personal pets are two Japanese spaniels, that travel everywhere with her.

Each kennel has a bedroom and a sitting-room. The former has an enamelled iron bedstead, with straw mattress, and the sitting-room has a supply of straw and fresh water. All the kennels open upon a large central yard. Close to the kennels is the kitchen, where "oatmeal mash" and broth of bullocks' and sheeps' heads are prepared for the dogs' 4 o'clock dinner. In the larder, which adjoins the kitchen, are sacks of biscuits and bins of Scotch oatmeal.

The hospital is a large, pleasant room, with an open grate for fires, and has a row of invalid boxes on one side. When a dog dies it is buried in a little cemetery, and a tombstone is placed over its grave. Sam, the poodle, who was a pet of Princess Victoria, lies here. The Princess used to have the clippings from his long and silky coat made into yarn for crocheting little shawls. Venus, the favorite of the late Duke of Clarence, also is buried here. She died last March. Both of these have tombstones suitably inscribed, and over another little grave is written: "Beatie; for ten years the faithful companion of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. Died at Sandringham, Jan. 13, 1893."

Queen Alexandra is so well known by every dog in her kennel that the sound of her voice brings them all to the gates. When at Sandringham she often feeds them and takes them to walk with her nearly every day. Sometimes seven or eight at a time go out with her, and she tries to give all equal privileges in this respect by taking them in turn. Her Majesty wears a large white apron when feeding the dogs.

The Queen has her favorites also among the bantams that are an important part of this royal "pettery." There are silver Sebrights, golden Sebrights, white-booted bantams with feathered feet; black-tailed Japanese bantams with yellow, squatty bodies; duckwing game bantams, Scotch grays, white and black Pekins and black and red Pekins that strut about with comic statelines.

In the pheasantry is an incubator for hatching the young birds. Over ten thousand are hatched annually at Sandringham. The Queen is greatly interested in these "incubator babies," and likes to hold the tiny, downy bodies, pressing them to her cheek.

The pheasantry is really the kitchen's

Speed of Racing Camels.

The racing camel is very carefully bred and valuable prizes are offered by a racing society at Biskra for the fleetest racer, says Pearson's Magazine. I have seen the start of a race and it reminded me, in a faroff sort of way, of a horse race. The camels were all arranged in line and they sniffed the air in their anxiety to be off. A flag was waved and they set off at a terrible pace, as if they were only racing for a short distance. They kept together until they were almost out of sight. Then they seemed to settle down to their habitual pace and the race proceeded with long intervals between the competitors. I have also seen the finish of a camel race, and it reminded me of the first motor car promenade between London and Brighton. The camels were certainly not so broken down and bedraggled, but they came in at intervals of several hours and great patience was necessary to watch them arrive.

FEET SWELLED. BACK ACHED.

Dr. Pitcher Completely Cured a Young Lady Subject for Years to Serious Kidney Trouble.

There are many young women at the present time earning an honorable livelihood as clerks in stores, operators in factories, dressmakers, bookkeepers, typewriters, etc., whose occupation, from its very nature, renders them more or less susceptible to pain in the back or side, frequent headaches, constipation and many other ailments resulting from disordered kidney and sluggish liver.

Any young lady suffering from the effects of kidney trouble will find no other remedy prove so effectual as Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They are small and pleasant to take, and their action, while thoroughly curative, does not disturb the weakest system.

Miss L. Francis, whose address is 14 St. Patrick Street, Toronto, Ont., after being cured by the Tablets, gave the following statement:—"I procured Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets two weeks before Christmas, and they worked like a charm in my case. I was a victim to kidney trouble and weak, painful back for a number of years, and have taken a great many patent medicines, but while some gave temporary relief, others made me worse, and I never expected to get anything to cure me this side of the grave. Dr. Pitcher's wonderful Kidney Tablets, however, have done me a world of good. They have taken away that awful pain in the small of the back that used to bother me so, especially in damp, cold weather. The swelling of my feet which worried and inconvenienced me greatly, has left, and I am in better health now than I have been in the past two years."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a bottle, at all druggists, or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

AT THE TO

It is a laudable ambition to rea top of the ladder of success. But a man who reaches the topmos finds his position a torment inste triumph. He has sacrificed his health to success.

A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in arms painted over them. Above each manger is a tablet on which the name of the horse is in raised letters of gold. The pillars are all brass mounted.

In the harness room, beside Her Majesty's saddles and pretty gold-mounted riding whips, are souvenirs of departed favorites. There are hoofs of various horses, and the ears and forelook of Viva, who died in 1899, aged twenty-eight years.

The gray donkey that is driven by the Queen's grandchildren, and a zebra that is being broken to harness, are interesting members of the stable family.

Dying by Slow Degrees.

Although not always aware of it yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Catarrhozone is the only remedy that will immediately prevent the spread of this awful disease. Every breath from the Inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration, and relieves the pain across the eyes. Catarrhozone erradicates every vestige of catarrh from the system, and is highly recommended also for Bronchitis, Asthma, Deafness and Lung Trouble. Price, $1; trial size, 25c.; all druggists. GIBRALTAR'S NEW CAVE.

Novel Discovery Made in the Famous British Rock.

A most interesting discovery was made lately on the eastern side of Gibraltar rock, a cave which from its dimensions bids fair to rival the celebrated St. Michael's cave, having been disclosed during the progress of blasting operations at the quarry beneath the Monkey's alameda, says The Westminster Gazette. The general direction of this cave is east and west, and its dimensions are approximately 350 feet in length and 70 feet in height, with a maximum width of 40 feet.

Like most caves, it diminishes in height and width as it penetrates inland until it dwindles to a mere fissure about eighteen inches wide, which can be seen to extend for some distance farther. About half way in there is an upper gallery or smaller cave, which extends only a short way. The stalactites and stalagmites are numerous and varied in shape and size. In several instances they have united to form complete pillars. The entrance to the cave is about 150 yards south of the eastern exit of the tunnel through the rock.

Remarkable Fishing Record.

The London Daily Mail says that the enormous catches at this year's Yarmouth herring fishing constitute a remarkable record. Herring are numbered by lasts, and each last contains 13,200 fish. The season's catch so far (Nov. 19) has amounted to 27,026 lasts, in itself a record, inasmuch as last year's catch was thus exceeded by nearly 7,000 lasts. The largest one day's delivery known in the history of Yarmouth, 4,000 lasts or 52,800,000 fish, was brought into port one day in the middle of the month (November.) The value of this catch to fishermen and boatowners is estimated at £25,000. The previous record day's work was 2,000 lasts. Never has the port known so large a fleet as that assembled this year. Over six hundred boats, of which 500 come from Scotland, have been on the grounds. When unloading the other day they extended nearly three miles along the harbor, and the fish were being piled on every vacant piece of land along the river-side. Three thousand Scottish girls are engaged in the preparation of the herring for export to Russia, Denmark, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy and Greece. Last year the shipments were 200,000 barrels, but this season the total will be increased, as a promising trade has been opened with Australia, the Cape and other colonies. Local speculators have made heavy purchases, the fish being put into huge vats of brine to be held until deliveries slacken. There is no record of failure to find herring off Yarmouth.

Legend of Roquefort Cheese.

Roquefort cheese, like many other unique food productions, has its legend of architectural origin. A shepherd lad, having for once more luncheon than he could eat, while tending his flock of sheep, laid a portion of the bread and cheese upon a natural shelf in one of the caverns nearby. Boylike, he forgot all about it until several months later, on returning to that cavern, he found his luncheon. The cheese, instead of being dried up or rotten, was rich, moist and creamy and streaked with greenish blue veins of mold, the remains of the bread which had lain on or under it. He probably told his mother of his discovery, and shared his piece of cheese with others. The villagers were quick to recognize the improved texture and quality of the cheese and henceforth all their cheeses were taken to these caves to ripen.

The caves are owned by a joint stock company, who employ about 600 women to tend the cheese. Oak shelves on which the cheeses are placed and so arranged that each cheese may have one side next the cold wall of the cave give over 65,000 square yards of storing room.

A Boiled Down Report.

An amusing story is told of the editor of a go-ahead London evening newspaper, who, in the eternal rushing to press to get ahead of the opposition was constantly impressing upon his reporters the necessity of condensing all news. A terrific boiler explosion had taken place on board a big ship lying at Portsmouth. "Get down there as hard as you can," he said to one of his men. "If you catch the 11.40 from London Bridge you'll be there soon after 2, and can just wire us something for the fifth edition, but boil it down." And the reporter went. Soon after 3 o'clock that afternoon they got a wire from him: "Terrific explosion. Man-o'-war. Boiler empty. Engineer full. Funeral to-morrow."—London Tit-Bits.

The Modern Fashion.

In speaking on the advisability of curtailing the study of the dead languages, a subject now interesting educators in Great Britain, Prof. Kirkpatrick, of the chair of history in the University of Edinburgh, is quoted as saying: "Indispensable as the study of Latin once was in higher education, that of one's own language and other modern tongues has now become more so."

What Did He Mean?

Higgins (with his youngest in his arms)—They say the little fellow looks like me. Wiggins—Oh, well, I wouldn't mind what people say: the best way is not to notice them.—Melbourne Weekly Times.

Wheat and the Boy.

Willie—Pa, what does "good as wheat" mean?

Pa—Don't bother me.

Willie—Pa, would you say I was as "good as wheat?"

Pa—I might after you were properly thrashed, and that's what will happen to you if you don't stop asking questions.

The Lucky Man in the Case.

"Do you remember Miss May, the girl who had such a bad disposition? Well, she is married."

"Indeed! Who is the lucky man?"

"Fred."

"Why, he is the one she discarded."

"Just so. That is why I say he is lucky."

Remember that four out of five bluffs are called and that a full hand seldom loses.—Atchison Globe.

The Old French Market.

There is the old French market in the Lower Town—"La Marche de Bonsecours"—where, every Wednesday and Saturday, in the great market place surrounding Jacques Cartier Hall, are the French-Canadian peasants and hundreds of carts laden with their wares, which they have driven in "de bonne heure" from Lorette, Sr. Charles, Beauport, Montmorency, Sillery and other suburbs of Quebec. There is no more picturesque sight than this in all Quebec.

In every cart the high priestess of barter is a woman. Some are red-cheeked and pretty, others nearing the four-score mark, white-haired and wrinkled-face. They all wear broad-brimmed black straw hats, tied under their chins with ribbons, generally a black stuff gown and an apron of gayly flowered calico.

Many a handsome French mam'selle holds court in her cart behind a barrier of corn, carrots, red-cheeked apples, bunches of onions, birch-bark baskets filled with shelled hazelnuts, and great grey-green cabbages, the husky youths stopping on their way to the miller's or wharves to chat for a moment with as gay a coquette as ever smiled.

At one corner of the market sits at her little table, laden with herbs, roots, spruce gum and various concoctions famed as "Indian remedies," the remarkable figure of an 80-year-old woman, a half-breed from Lorette, who cries her wares in a curious patois of French, Indian and occasional English thrown in by way of emphasis.

Near by, another woman, wearing a broad, good-humored smile, sits by a pile of baskets, splint, wicker, sweet grass and rush, which, she proudly informs the passerby, she has "fit ellememe, tout a la main!" These are really very pretty, some of them in a quaint melon shape, ranging in price from a tiny one at four cents to one of lordly size at 50.

These are only two of many picturesque types of the old market, and the tourist who is afflicted with "Kodakia" is able to snap some interesting characters.—From Sketches in Quebec.

Completely Fagged out.

The world is full of sickly, despondent, tired, unervated people, all hoping to be well some day. The surest road to health is along the way of taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone is a great appetizer and enables one to eat plenty of wholesome food without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia. This results in the rapid formation of an abundance, of red, vitalizing blood, which will restore the nerves, increase flesh and vigor, and nourish and feed every organ of the body. Ferrozone is an ideal restorative and invigorant. It is a tonic of unequalled merit that anyone can use with benefit. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

Australia's Rabbits Are Valuable Now.

At one time, rabbits, when there was practically no demand for their skins or carcases, cost the Australian squatters hundreds of thousands of pounds annually to destroy, but at present (says The Adelaide Advertiser) men in the Commonwealth who trap them and also capture hares, kangaroos, wallabies, foxes, opossums, and native bears earn £500,000 annually. Twenty millions of Australian rabbit skins were sold in London last year. They represented a money value of £112,000. Besides 600 bales containing 1,800,000 skins were sent to France, while there were 2,656,440 frozen rabbits in their furs sent to England from Victoria alone. Thus the trappers in 1901 were responsible for the destruction of over 24,000,000 of rabbits, of the value of nearly £250,000.—London Chronicle.

Henty and Iodine.

G. A. Henty, the writer for youth, who died a few days ago, got letters from admirers all over the world, asking for his autograph, and offering criticisms of his books. In a story of the Peninsular War he made two boys disguise themselves by staining their faces with iodine. Shortly after the book was published he received a letter from a boy who said he was a chemist's assistant, stating that while that special incident was represented as taking place in 1808, iodine was not discovered until 1811—three years after.

Nerve Disorders of Women

Accompanied by Neuralgia, Irritability, Sleeplessness and Depressed Spirits,

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

The feminine organism requires an enormous quantity of blood, not only to sustain the network of nerves which are found in the womanly system, but also to make good the periodical loss which so weakens the body.

Consequently it happens that just as soon as the blood gets weak and watery, or is deficient in quantity, the nervous system suffers, and in women the effects are most severely felt in the form of irregularities and weaknesses of the feminine system.

At the beginning of womanhood, at childbirth, during the nursing periods, and at the change of life, calls are made for an extra supply of blood and as a result nervous disorders are exceedingly common at these times, and the health and happiness of the remainder of life may depend on the care of the system.

Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food actually forms new blood and creates new nerve force, it is the most effective preparation ever used by women to build up the system, and restore vigour and strength to the body.

Mrs. R. J. Huffman, 248 Reid street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is employed at the Canadian General Electric Company, states:

"For over a year I suffered from nervous headaches and feelings of weakness and dizziness would come over me. My nervous system seemed weak and exhausted, and hearing of the success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I began using it. I am now pleased to state that the headaches do no bother me any more and my system is entirely built up and restored."

WHY ?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

A BUFFALO DUEL.

Patriarch of the Herd is Still Absolute Monarch at Silver Heights, Manitoba—An Interesting Yarn.

Yesterday an understanding was arrived at in the buffalo family, says The Winnipeg Free Press. Silver Heights might have been the scene of a deadly battle between the old patriarch of the herd and young McCreary, but discretion evidently struck young Bill as the better part of valor, in this case, and he accepted the part of second fiddle without showing fight.

The question which has been decided is a momentous one. It was whether there was to be absolute monarchy or not, and now it is decided that there will be absolute monarchy, and McCreary, the four-year-old bull, who until yesterday considered himself capable of managing the affairs of the household has accepted the fact that he has to submit to the old bull's ruling in matters of state. All summer the old bull, for several reasons which will be enumerated, has been locked up in a stronghold. The walls of his cell are of heavy logs and are ten feet from the ground. It was built none too strong, for the old fellow would have broken loose from any place less secure. The reason for this means of close captivity arose from a domestic squabble in which young McCreary aided in a small way by Horace Wilson, the other baby bull, on the one side and the old patriarch, who is one of the original herd in Lord Strathcona's time, on the other side, upset the quietude of the herd and made it impossible for the five cow buffalo to know just exactly who was boss.

McCreary was not strong enough to go in and give the old bull a licking, though he had lots of courage, but Horace Wilson hadn't the nerve to even lift his voice against him. To show that he was boss the old bull made himself very objectionable and would bellow and roar himself into a fury of excitement to put fear and trembling into the hearts of the younger bulls. So far as Horace was concerned he succeeded and McCreary was left without an ally and sulked by himself.

The old bull at last got so dangerous that he was locked up. Then McCreary was chief and Horace Wilson good naturedly or from a faint heartedness, took second place. It was thought that by keeping the old bull locked up his spirit and temper would be broken. His temper, however, did not have a chance to improve for young McCreary would pass the morning, afternoon and part of the night roaring at him through the logs of his cage. He called him many bad names, and dared him to come out and fight. The spirit of the old bull was not broken, and he would rush wildly at the walls of his prison to get at young McCreary. The walls were too strong and when McCreary saw this he took even more delight in torturing his superior by bellowing.

Not long ago owing to McCreary's taunts the old bull broke out from his prison. McCreary must have made himself scarce. There was no fight, but when Mr. Preston, who has charge of the herd for the city, came to look after them on this particular day he found the paddock, usually occupied by the big bull, empty. Roaming about in a sulky way was young McCreary, but the others were nowhere in sight. Horace Wilson was gone, too. The herd were traced and found eighteen miles away at Champlain Lake, near La Salle. The old patriarch had led them away and they had stampeded with him in the lead over hill and down dale, caring for no obstacle. It was with some difficulty that they were got back.

For the rest of the summer the old bull was left in his paddock, and young McCreary grew and became stronger and more ready to fight. There was only one way in the mind of Mr. Preston to settle the question, and this week he decided the time was ripe for it. McCreary had been exercising all summer and the old bull had no chance to, so it was thought that McCreary could at last prove to the satisfaction of the herd by licking the old man that he was the rightful master. Mr. Preston sent word to Ald. McCarthy and obtained permission from the buffalo committee to allow the duel to take place. It was to be a great fight, and though means were to be taken not to allow it to be a finish, still it was expected that a good deal of blood would be spilled.

The day for the duel was fixed for yesterday. Several of the city aldermen were to attend, but owing to the muddy condition of the road to Silver Heights, they did not go out.

A Free Press reporter, who learned of the event, drove out in order to record the fight, and furnish to the public the details of "The buffalo battle, of Silver Heights."

It was a moment of intense excitement when Mr. Preston threw open the gates of the old buffalo's yard. Young McCreary, who had watched the preparations and seen the ropes ready to lasso the buffalo who conquered, and was in the mood to extract the death penalty, seemed to know there was something expected of him. He separated himself from the herd and eyed Mr. Preston at the gate.

The gate was thrown open. With a low, angry bellow the old bull walked out. Fire glinted from his eyes, set deep in the shaggy mass of hair. His mane became rigid and his tail curved like a piece of iron. Mr. McCreary looked at him and the fire in his eyes seemed to die out. The old bull walked up to him with determination in every step. He did not stop until their two noses were close together. Young McCreary never moved, but winked weakly, and though he too, crooked his tail and tried to look fierce, he showed no desire to fight. The two bulls blew into each other's nostrils for several seconds, and then the old fellow calmly turned his back to McCreary, walked off and the herd followed him. Horace Wilson included. Young McCreary stood still a few seconds longer and then fell in line and brought up the rear as the herd made slowly for better feeding grounds.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. TO-DAY.

So here hath been dawning another blue day;
Think, wilt thou let it slip useless away?

Out of eternity this new day is born;
Into eternity at night will return.

Behold it aforetime no eye ever did;
So soon it forever from all eyes is hid.

Here hath been dawning another blue day;
Think, wilt thou let it slip useless away?
—Thomas Carlyle.

A Mystic Volume.

A good story is told of the Russian police, who are very careful lest any literature of an atheistic character shall fall into the hands of the peasants.

A peasant in the province of Minsk went to a publisher's shop and asked for a Bible. Unwittingly the shopman gave him an algebra primer.

On opening the book when he reached home, the peasant was surprised to find it full of mystic signs and hieroglyphics. The peasant showed it to a policeman, who felt convinced that the signs were of an "extremely freethinking character," and so arrested the owner.

At the trial the peasant was discharged, and the policeman, instead of being rewarded for his religious zeal, was reprimanded.

Oil of Rattlesnakes.

In Pennsylvania the oil of rattlesnakes is preserved most carefully as a liniment especially good for sore joints and for rheumatism. In procuring the oil the dead snake is nailed head and tail to a board and cut open. The fat is taken out and laid upon a cloth in the hot sun, from which the filtered oil drips into a jar. From fear that the reptile may have bitten itself the clear oil is tested by dropping a portion of it into milk. If it floats in one globule, it is regarded as unaffected; if, on the other hand, it breaks into beads and curdles the milk, it is judged to be poisonous and thrown away.

He Knew Some Costly Ones.

In order to discourage the use of objectionable words, says the Chicago Post, the father had evolved a system of fines, somewhat after this fashion:

Hang it, 1 cent.
Darn it, 2 cents.
Gosh, 3 cents.
Gosh darn it, 5 cents.

The boy who was to be reformed by this method studied the tariff with considerable interest, but it was some time before he spoke.

"Well," he said at last, "I guess I know some words that would cost a quarter!"

To Clean Nickel Clocks.

Cheap nickel clocks that have proved their convenience through much popular use play tricks with their timekeeping occasionally for want of cleaning. This fault may be quickly remedied with naphtha. The backs should be unscrewed and the works taken out and immersed in the fluid, a treatment that will speedily restore their service unless some more radical defect than dust is the trouble.

Meanness of Brown.

Green—Brown told an acquaintance of mine that he could have beat my time and married you himself if he had wanted to.

Mrs. Green—The idea! I wonder why he didn't do it, then?

Green—Oh, I can readily understand why he didn't. He had a grudge against me.

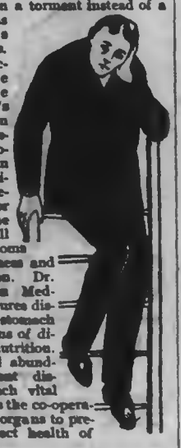
Her Idea of It.

"Do you believe in short engagements?"

"Yes, indeed, and lots of them!"—Detroit Free Press.

AT THE TOP.

It is a laudable ambition to reach the top of the ladder of success. But many a man who reaches the topmost rung finds his position a torment instead of a triumph. He has sacrificed his health to success.



A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in the ears, dizziness, spots before the eyes or palpitation of the heart; any or all of these symptoms point to weakness and loss of nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. By perfect and abundant nourishment distributed to each vital organ it enables the co-operation of all the organs to preserve the perfect health of the body.

"For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Secord, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not bear any solid food in my stomach for a long time; felt melancholy and depressed. Could not sleep nor follow my occupation. Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

"Anarchists vs. Socialists."

Rubino, who shot at King Leopold of Belgium, and hit the carriage next to that Monarch's, describes himself as a hater of Socialists, as Anarchists usually are. The Italian police, nevertheless, call him a Socialist, probably because they confuse Socialists with Anarchists. But these two sorts of root-and-branch men have nothing in common, except a wish to change the existing social order. The Anarchist theory is that there should be no Government whatever, that every person should do as he pleases. It would be practicable if human beings were all perfectly angelic, or perfectly Christian, acting with consummate wisdom on Christ's mandate. "Do unto others as you would they should do unto you." Philosophical anarchism is based on belief in human perfectibility, and the fantastic notion that this would ensue from abolition of Governments and force.

Socialism is the direct antithesis to Anarchism. Its theory is that all property and all things employed in creating utilities should be owned and operated by society at large, organized in groups, the whole directed by a central organization. Socialism proposes the acme of centralization; Anarchism the acme of decentralization. People in general view these irreconcilable opposites with "a plague on both your houses," and often with an opinion that the too-much-government of Socialism would be even worse than no-government-at-all of Anarchism. But it is easy to understand why Anarchists and Socialists hate one another. To be confounded with "the fellow who looks like you" is exasperating enough, but to be mistaken for the fellow whom you least resemble and most detest is a stroke of fate so woeful as to be properly part o the suitable punishment for the two classes of radicals named at the head of these remarks.—Montreal Star.

Eat Pie and Write.

Rudyard Kipling has an American wife and likewise an American mother-in-law. The latter, Mrs. Wolcott Balestier, lives in New York. The other day Mrs. Balestier sent her famous son-in-law a present. What do you think it was? A glass rolling pin for use in making pie crust. In making the purchase she explained that Mr. and Mrs. Kipling and all the little Kiplings are passionately fond of pie. Here is a pointer for those who would win literary fame. Pie is the stuff that dreams are made of.—Utica Press.

Some boundless contiguity of wood,
Where, with an ax and just a little stress,
A fellow'd be some ten cords to the good!

"All things come for him who waits,"

They never come to those who wait,
But to those who chase right after.

FRENCHES TRIED IT BEFORE.

Made Several Unsuccessful Attempts to Elope With Other Persons.

Berlin, Dec. 26.—The Vossiche Zeitung and Lokalanzeiger state that previous to the disappearance of the Crown Princess Louise with her children's tutor, Prof. Giron, she made several unsuccessful attempts to elope with other persons. These attempts the Crown Prince forgave.

A reporter making inquiries at the court of Saxony was informed that the court would take no further interest in the disappearance of the Crown Princess and will take no notice of the prevalent rumor. The latest report is that the marriage will be dissolved legally, but not ecclesiastically, as the Pope has refused to interfere. It is considered quite certain that Princess Louise will not return to her husband.

Prof. Giron's grandmother is an marquise who resides in Brussels. He has one brother who is a monk and another who is an engineer.

Body Found in a Ditch.

Belleville, Dec. 26.—The dead body of Timothy Hannifin, a farmer of Tyendinaga Township, was found in a ditch near the Shannonville station Tuesday. The body was frozen fast in the ice and had to be chopped loose before it could be removed. Hannifin had been in this city on Monday and had indulged freely in liquor. He went to Shannonville, a distance of eight miles, by train, where he got off and started to walk to his home. That was the last seen of him alive. Hannifin was 50 years of age and unmarried.
